Town turns down gun control; likes ERA; favors bottle bill

Winchester voted in favor of the equal rights amendment, the bottle bill, and oil refinery, and against the handgun, state power authority, and the graduated income tax.

When all votes had been counted by 3 a.m. Wednesday by Town Clerk Elsie Nelson and her staff, the referendum items came out like this:

1. The ERA, which passed in every district, received 5983 yes votes and 4783 against.
2. The graduated income tax was defeated nearly four to one, with 2293 voting yes and 8410 no.
3. Absentee voting had no trouble passing, except in a close 695-615 vote in district 6. The final count was 6268 yes, 4316 no.
4. State power authority received resounding defeat by Winchester voters who cast 1403 votes for its formation and 8953 against.
5. The handgun bill was defeated. The vote was 4092 in favor and 6593 opposed to turning in handguns.
6. The bottle and can control bill passed in Winchester by 2174 votes. The total count was 6376 yes and 4202 no.
7. By better than three to one, Winchester defeated uniform electric rates. The tally was 2531 for and 8088 against.
8. An oil refinery is a possibility, according to Winchester voters, who voted 6579-3748 in its favor.
9. The town just barely favored repealing the so-called "blue laws." By a vote of 5470-5126 Winchester indicated a desire to keep retail stores open on Sundays.
10. A local referendum item, whether clubs can have liquor licenses, passed 6231-4252.

Residential preference defeated, town manager lassoed at meeting

A motion to establish residential preference as a written town policy was voted down Monday night at the opening session of Winchester's fall town meeting.

The motion came under the second of eight articles dealt with by the meeting. Seven remain for the second session, which will meet, fifteen minutes earlier than usual, tonight at 7:30 in the high school auditorium.

Town Meeting Member Michael Saraco, who along with TMM Vincent Carroll put article two on the warrant and brought the motion to amend the policy guide to include residential preference in hiring, said his motion was directed in particular at part-time, summer employment for local youth.

He argued that equally qualified local youth should have preference for summer employment with the town over out-of-town youth. "This is your town, you're paying the bills, and you're the employer," Saraco told the audience, emphasizing that "the kids of the local taxpayers are the ones losing out."

Saraco added that "everyone I've spoken to on the streets is in favor of this, and the only ones I know of who aren't are your finance committee and board of selectmen."

The residential preference motion would amend the policy guide so that, should two "equally qualified" candidates, one a resident, apply for a non-supervisory, non-civil service job with the town, the job would go to the resident.

Selectmen Chairman John Sullivan countered that such a policy would "take the judgement out of hiring" and would be "impossible to administer." The selectmen recommended unfavorable action, Sullivan said, because hiring involves "judgemental calls" which go beyond standardized levels of achievement and qualification.

According to Town Manager Thomas Groux, the town already informally exercises such a policy when hiring town employees. He pointed out that only 53 of those presently employed by the town are non-residents, and of those, 19 come under civil service classifications (i.e. police and firemen). Groux added that he would "favor a resident when confronted with two 'equally qualified' persons."

Both the finance committee and the school committee registered their disapproval of the motion. The proposed policy would include teachers and other school personnel.

In defense of the motion, TMM Barbara Hewis noted that the policy guide is just that, a guide, not a by-law. "I don't think the hands of any hiring person would be tied," she said.

Saraco returned to the podium to defend his motion by stating that under Chapter 31 of

Fact-finding finding little in teacher dispute

After 14 negotiating sessions, four mediating sessions, and four fact-finding sessions, Winchester teachers are still without a contract.

The latest meeting was a 13 hour marathon last Thursday that lasted until 4:30 in the morning. The teachers and the school committee are in the process of fact-finding, in which an independent third party attempts to nail down the facts around each particular issue and advise the parties on final settlement.

Wages, teacher evaluation, and reductions in staff are the major issues, according to School Board Member Robert Frank, who is the committee's chief negotiator.

Under the heading of wages comes the ratios for specialists which were knocked out of the school department budget by the town meeting last spring. The school board went along with the meeting's advice with some hesitation.

The evaluation issue centers around the teachers' belief contention that the school board has acted unilaterally to change the teacher evaluation system and solicited parental comment without prior agreement from the teachers. The evaluation process is one of the items subject to collective bargaining.

The teachers also favor a seniority system for determining staff reductions, whereas the school board would rather have reductions based on merit alone.

There are in addition a number of smaller issues, which, according to Frank, have been taking up a lot of the negotiators' time. "We may be spending a good deal of time on the bigger issues, when we get to them," Frank added.

"We are not close to a resolution," Frank told Monday night's town meeting. "But we intend to keep what we believe to be the desires of town meeting," he added, indicating that the school committee was willing to hold out at least for the elimination of the teacher ratios.

The teachers have been working without a contract for two months now, and their leading negotiators have expressed concern over the effect of this on the staff's morale. Pending before the state labor relations board are complaints of unfair practices against the school board, based both on their actions concerning evaluation and on the elimination of ratios from the budget.

The teachers are meeting again this week to determine what their next step will be. The next fact-finding meeting is slated for November 16.

Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson and Assistant Town Clerk Margaret Connolly count the absentee ballots for the presidential election.

Rotondi in

Winchester's Sam Rotondi won election to the state senate by overwhelmingly defeating his Independent opponent, Helen Metros.

The total vote for all cities and town's within the Fourth Middlesex District is Rotondi 46,141 and Metros 15,004.

The individual totals are:
Winchester: Rotondi 8487; Metros 1638.
Arlington: Rotondi 17,848; Metros 7968.

Lexington: Rotondi 4199; Metros 1646.

Medford: Rotondi 3199; Metros 988.

Woburn: Rotondi 12,408; Metros 2764.

Town opts for Ford-Dole, then turns to Democrats

Winchester went for the Ford-Dole ticket in Tuesday's presidential election.

All other contested offices went to Democrats.

The final figures for Ford-Dole were 6006, while Carter-Mondale received 4869 votes. Carter took only districts 2 and 8. The closest district race was the one in district 1 where Ford took in 711 votes to Carter's 660.

In the election for United States Senator, Edward M. Kennedy received 6739 votes and his Republican opponent, Michael S. Robertson received 4155. In every district Kennedy topped the election, although his margin in district 5 was only 68 votes.

Democrat Edward J. Markey defeated his Republican opponent, Richard Daly, by better than 2-1. He took every district for a total count of 6919 to Daly's 3129. He won the seventh Congressional seat handily.

In a close race, Edward J. Sullivan, who lost in four of Winchester's eight districts, garnered a total vote of 5068 in his bid for clerk of courts for Middlesex County. His opponent, Joan R. Needleman of Arlington, received 4335 votes.

Another close race, this one for register of deeds for Middlesex County Southern District, gave the top vote to John F. Zamparelli with 4962 votes to Republican Lester W. Bowen's 4312.

In the race for county commissioner, the three men running each gathered a substantial number of votes, with S. Lester Ralph coming out ahead with his 5074. Carl J. Cincotta received 4683 and Michael E. McLaughlin 3408.

The other contested seat, senator on Beacon Hill, gave Samuel Rotondi an overwhelming margin over Independent Helen T. Metros. Rotondi, in his first major bid for office, received 8487 votes from his fellow townspeople. Metros received 1638.

Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., who ran unopposed for his second term as representative in general court, received an even 9000 votes.

Joseph A. Langone III, lone candidate for councillor in the sixth district, received 6437 votes.

Time for special thanks

By LEONOR M. RICH

The Steering Committee for the Winchester Seniors' Association Building Fund is appreciative of the hundreds of invitations sent to friends and acquaintances by public spirited people who opened their homes during the past year to those who showed potential interest in the multi-purpose Senior Center. Presentations were made to familiarize those invited with the hopes and plans for the Senior Center. Pertinent questions were answered by members of the Winchester Seniors' Association in attendance and new ideas developed as a result of open discussions.

We are in the process of winding up the raising campaign but we wish to give special thanks to those who were willing to become involved by giving members of the steering committee attractive surroundings in which to elaborate on the need for a center, the history of the development of the fund-raising campaign, and plans for the expansion of programs for senior citizens.

Among the residents of the town who extended warm hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hood, Dr. and Mrs. George Marks, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gardner Bradlee and Mr. and Mrs. Vito Giarrizzo.

Almost weekly for the past year, Mrs. Margaret Harrigan had gatherings in her home to enable the committee to inform those in attendance about the philosophy applied in program planning for older adults, services, activities and programs currently available, information and referral and other services. These included transportation, I.D. cards, recreation, morning coffees, weekly bowling and weekly card groups, special interest classes in art, music, and physical fitness, and the Keep-Well Clinic twice monthly sponsored by the Council on Aging, the Winchester Board of Health, and the Tri-Community Health Services, Inc.

Housing income tax assistance, tax abatement information, hot meals, Church Women United luncheons, and volunteer opportunities were discussed during the dissemination of information to interested people, many of whom were motivated to give to the Building Fund.

The Council on Aging and the Winchester Seniors' Association are grateful to those who opened their homes. The support given by these hosts and hostesses, their courtesy, their interest, and the delectable collations they served when group meetings were scheduled displayed the element of caring by very busy people who feel a common sense of community. To them we owe a great debt of gratitude that we can partially repay by expressing deep appreciation through the courtesy of The Winchester Star.

Attorney Colella will head Winchester's UW campaign

Attorney Paul M. Colella of Winchester has been named Winchester community chairman for the 1976 United Way of Massachusetts Bay fund raising drive, it was announced by Campaign Chairman David R. Palmer.

Colella is organizing and coordinating the United Way campaign in Winchester, which so far has raised $6,506, or 22 percent of its goal of $29,485.

The United Way of Mass. Bay "Breakthrough" drive for $18.6 million is underway through November 18. This figure is a 17 percent increase over last year and represents the amount needed to support more than 165 human service agencies throughout the Massachusetts Bay, including the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association and the North Metropolitan Homemaker Service project.

A graduate of Lowell State College, Colella earned his J.D. at Northeastern University. He is a member of the Boston, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire Bar Associations, and in a previous United Way campaign served as chairman of the Professional Gifts Division.

Dr. Philliou leads program for Saudis

The United States was the classroom for 32 students from the University of Petroleum & Minerals in Saudi Arabia this past summer in an experimental program coordinated by Wentworth Institute.

Coordinated by Dr. Peter J. Philliou of Winchester, director of Wentworth's Curriculum Center, the program was devoted to improving the English language proficiency of the students and to providing a deeper understanding of American culture and its industrial society.

Principal reason for improving the English language proficiency is that all major courses at the University of Petroleum & Minerals are taught in English. It was felt that students would do better academically with a more fluent use of English.

Initially, the students spent three weeks at Wentworth where an intensive course in English was conducted. The next eight weeks were spent living with American families in Boston, Winchester, Arlington, Carlisle, Sudbury, Lynn, West Peabody, Rochester, N.Y., and Princeton, N.J.

While living with families, the students were split into four groups and attended programs at Wentworth, M.I.T., Princeton and Rochester Institute of Technology.

According to Dr. Philliou, the family stay, in the original proposal, was considered the key to the entire project. In preliminary evaluations made in tests prior to the departure of the students, the use of the English language and understanding of the American way of life was increased tremendously during the time the student visitors lived with the families.

Motorized bikes require stickers

To clarify the law relating to operation of motorized bicycles, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Robert A. Panora, said today that operators of motorized bicycles must be at least 16 years of age and be in possession of a valid driver's license or a learner's permit.

To be operated, motorized bicycles must have a sticker issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles affixed to the rear fender. Stickers may be obtained by applying in duplicate to any Registry office upon payment of a $3 fee. The sticker will remain valid to the end of the calendar year following the calendar year in which it is issued or until the ownership of the vehicle is transferred, whichever occurs first.

★ Meeting

the state statutes regarding civil service employment, residential preference is already given in the hiring of police and firemen. However the motion was defeated on a voice vote.

Under an amended version of article three, town meeting authorized the town manager to apply for a federal grant under the Public Works Employment Act of 1976, Title 1, to construct a public works facility.

The original motion would have allowed the town manager not only to apply for and accept but begin spending the federal funds. Proponents Groux and Selectman Sullivan argued that this authorization was necessary because of a time limit attached to the program which would require the town to begin construction within 90 days of approval of the grant.

Groux conceded that Winchester has little chance of receiving the funds because of economic qualifications listed in the application; but he urged trying for the funds because of the large amount of funds involved in a public works facility project.

The amended motion which passed the meeting directed the town manager to seek the funds but did not authorize him to spend any money he may receive.

TMM Arthur Hewis objected to giving the town manager what he called "a blank check to spend federal funds however he pleases," and moved to amend the motion to delete the part allowing the town manager to spend the money.

Groux was criticized for what one TMM called "a miserable presentation" and questioned as to what he intended to do with the money. Groux responded that although there are no specific designs in mind, he intended to build a public works garage, calling the existing facilities at the town yard "inadequate and obsolete."

Sullivan backed up the town manager. "We haven't robbed the store yet," he said, adding that the town meeting would have time to stop any actions they disagreed with by calling a special town meeting.

The finance committee, behind the original motion, came out in support of the amendment; however when the vote was counted, only three of the FinCom members voted with the majority of 81, while eight members voted with the 70 against the amendment. Chairman John Williams later explained, "They must have changed their minds."

The meeting approved an appropriation of $275 to settle a lighting bill with Boston Edison. The money was a figure agreed upon Boston Edison to cover the cost of lighting at Ginn Field between December 1973 and April 1974.

Requiring a four-fifths vote, the motion passed 143-5.

The sum of $17,000 was taken from general surplus funds under article eight to cover the costs of group insurance.

Groux explained that the actual increases in insurance rates had exceeded the $365,000 estimate approved by town meeting last spring.

Article one dealt with town reports. Moderator Raymond Kenney noted that the rules committee was working on regulations for the meeting which aimed "to further the efficiency and businesslike approach" of the meeting.

Selectmen Chairman Sullivan reported that the new director of the department of public works and the town manager were working on the organization of the department. Sullivan said, "it looks as though the future impact will be an overall reduction in the number of personnel." He added that the budget process had begun and that the budget "would be in the hands of the finance committee by February 15" and in town meeting members' hands "well before" the spring town meeting.

Harrison Chadwick of the rules committee presented the results of a TMM survey, including informal tabulations of how members felt about ten questions concerning rules and procedures at meetings. The response to one question has initiated an effort to run parliamentary courses for members. In other categories, TMM's strongly favored beginning town meeting in April; disapproved meeting more than twice a week; favored a fixed starting time regardless of whether or not there is quorum; favored starting meetings at 7:30; and by a narrow margin favored a 10:30 adjournment.

The TMM survey also revealed that they would like to keep the recess; strongly approved of three sets of budget figures, one each from the current year, the town manager, and the FinCom; favored printing of the main motion under each article; and favored (by 65-32) turning in attendance cards when leaving the meeting.

The TMM's split, in the survey, on whether or not stronger district organization is desirable, four precincts in favor, four against.

Article four, dealing with appropriations for a teacher contract settlement, was laid on the table, as the teachers and the school committee have yet to come to agreement.

School Board Member Robert Frank reported that after 14 negotiating sessions, four mediating sessions, and four fact-finding sessions, the two groups are "not close to a resolution." Frank said the school board "intends to keep what we believe to be the desires of town meeting."

Article six, regarding money for the 1977 budget for workmen's compensation, was indefinitely postponed. Town Manager Groux said he could not yet nail down how much more the town would need to cover pending settlements.

Article seven was also indefinitely postponed. It deals with funds for indemnification, and again the figures are not yet in.

Still pending on the warrant are controversial articles on the sanitation budget and the closing of an elementary school.

Adjournment came at 10:30. Of 190 TMM's, 164 or 86 per cent showed up, according to the town clerk's office's records.

Residents win new brush patent

Two Winchester residents were recently awarded a U. S. patent for a new toothbrush design. Professor Percy Hill and Associate Professor John Kreifeldt of the Department of Engineering Design of the College of Engineering at Tufts University were awarded U.S. patent number 240981 for an improved manual toothbrush.

This patent was the result of two years of research in home dental care. It has been assigned to the fabrics and finishes department of E.I. duPont de Nemours and Co. of Wilmington, Del. The toothbrush called "Reach" is being test marketed in the Chicago, Ill. area by DuPont.

Hill resides at 11 Stratford rd., and Kreifeldt resides at 16 Prospect st.

How to make gold out of lead.

Grab a pencil and figure out how much the Shawmut Way NOW is worth to you.

No matter how you figure it, no other bank NOW offers more.

1. 5% NOW checking account.

A personal checking account which pays 5% annual interest, compounded continuously. Over a year, if you have an average daily balance of $1,000 (excluding interest earned during the year) and if you leave all the interest in your account to accumulate, you earn $52.00.

2. Fully personalized checks.

All the checks you need, at no extra charge. They're imprinted with your name and address and are sequentially numbered. Some "free" checking or NOW accounts charge for similar checks, as much as $3.50 for every 200. Figure out how much you'll save over a year.

3. Overdraft protection.

This important feature eliminates the worry of "bounced" checks by loaning you the amount of the overdraft up to your available credit. Overdraw your account? Banks usually charge about $5 for each "bounced" check. What will you save a year with overdraft protection?

4. Preferred loan rates.

You get a 1/2% reduction off the ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE normally charged by the bank on all approved personal installment loans. Whatever reason for borrowing - home improvement, car, travel - figure on saving $8.52 a year on every $1,000 you borrow.

5. Traveler's checks.

All you wish to purchase with no fee. That's a savings of $1 per $100 worth of checks. Take $500 on a trip and you save $5. It adds up. (Money orders and bank checks may be purchased at no fee.)

6. "One time only" bonus.

Your Shawmut bank will deposit $1 for you in a regular savings account or will deposit an additional $4 when you first authorize an automatic transfer of $10 or more a month from your NOW account to your savings account.

Example of yearly savings with the new Shawmut Way NOW. Figure out what you'll make.

Plus. You have the benefit of one-stop banking and your Shawmut Way card helps you cash your Shawmut personal check up to $100 per day at over 120 offices of the 8 Shawmut banks. Figure out these savings in time and aggravation.

Now let us show you how little the new Shawmut Way NOW package can cost you.

As long as you keep an average daily balance in your NOW account of:	Your monthly service fee is:
$1,000 and over	Free
$500 to $999.99	$1
Less than $500	$2

(Transferring some money from your Shawmut savings to your NOW account at no loss of interest is one way to build your average daily balance.)

*Each loan is subject to finance charges at our regular rates.

**Based on a $3,000 loan payable in 36 equal monthly payments of $88.21 each at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 11.00%. Total of payments $3,135.56.

Whether you have a NOW account or not, why not compare what you get from your bank with what you can get from the new Shawmut Way NOW package. It's the best banking value in the state. But figure it out for yourself, then come in and apply for your own Shawmut Way NOW package.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Citizens came through

When the chips are down and it really counts, Winchester comes through.

We were hoping and almost believing that the town would turn out in a force equal to 90 percent of its voting capacity Tuesday, but didn't quite make it. Nevertheless, the town's registered voters went to the polls in large numbers, 83 percent of them. That's a respectable showing and manifestation of the democratic process as it should be.

We are also pleased to report that the town meeting's first session Monday night had 86 percent attendance. That's fine, but it could be better. But we are not being critical about that figure, only mildly disappointed.

But we do reserve the right to expect that town meeting members will continue that record, or do better, for the second session tonight, and for the third, if one is necessary, next Monday night. By then it should be all over.

The idea of two sessions of the annual town meeting seems to be a good one, broken as it is in segments. This second session in the fall deals with matters for the most part other than fiscal. Most of the finance questions are dealt with in the spring session.

One of the principal roadblocks to getting more people interested in running for town meeting, and indeed, even getting the large majority of members to remain interested in current sessions, is that the sessions are too long and boring.

But steps have been taken to alleviate that situation as is witnessed by the two-year sessions and rules that aim at eliminating redundancies.

So keep it up, Winchester. We knew you could do it. Keep on coming through. The chips are always down in this day and age. —J.R.S.

...but I'm only 17!

You may have read the following sorrowful plea, a plaint of a teenager, any teenager, boy or girl, a teenager perhaps much like your own. They all have this in common: driving. Many times too fast, and danger, injury to themselves and others. And yes, death. Tragedy, deep and biting sorrow. Even if you have read it before, read it again.

But more important, clip it from the paper and hope your kids will read it and heed its vivid message.

It was sent in by a Winchester "Mother of Teenagers." She said that "even if just one teen is reached, I think it makes the printing worth it." She clipped it from the Boston Herald American's "Dear Abby" last June. We think it's worth printing, too. —J.R.S.

The day I died was an ordinary school day. How I wish I had taken the bus! But I was too cool for the bus. I remember how I wheeled the car out of Mom. "Special favor," I pleaded. "All the kids drive." When the 2:50 bell rang, I threw all my books in the locker. I was free until 8:40 tomorrow morning! I ran to the parking lot, excited at the thought of driving a car and being my own boss. Free!

It doesn't matter how the accident happened. I was goofing off — going too fast. Taking crazy chances. But I was enjoying my freedom and having fun. The last thing I remember was passing an old lady who seemed to be going awfully slow. I heard the deafening crash and felt a terrific jolt. Glass and steel flew everywhere. My whole body seemed to be turning inside out. I heard myself scream.

Suddenly I awakened. It was very quiet. A police officer was standing over me. Then I saw a doctor. My body was mangled. I was saturated with blood. Pieces of jagged glass were sticking out all over. Strange that I couldn't feel anything.

Hey, don't pull that sheet over my head. I can't be dead. I'm only 17. I've got a date tonight. I am supposed to grow up and have a wonderful life. I haven't lived yet. I can't be dead.

Later I was placed in a drawer. My folks had to identify me. Why did they have to see me like this? Why did I have to look at Mom's eyes when she faced the most terrible ordeal of her life? Dad suddenly looked like an old man. He told the man in charge, "Yes, he is my son."

The funeral was a weird experience. I saw all my relatives and friends walk toward the casket. They passed by, one by one, and looked at me with the saddest eyes I've ever seen. Some of my buddies were crying. A few of the girls touched my hand and sobbed as they walked away. Please...somebody...wake me up! Get me out of here. I can't bear to see my Mom and Dad so broken up. My grandparents are so racked with grief they can barely walk. My brother and sisters are like zombies. They move like robots. In a daze, everybody! No one can believe this. And I can't believe it either.

Please don't bury me! I'm not dead! I have a lot of living to do! I want to laugh and run again. I want to sing and dance. Please don't put me in the ground. I promise if you give me just one more chance, God, I'll be the most careful driver in the whole world. All I want is one more chance. Please, God, I'm only 17!

Pictorial editorial

Allen Hill, chairman of the Winchester Historical Commission, and Frank Curtis, former chairman, were among those who spoke at the dedication ceremonies Saturday at Ginn Field opening the Aberjona Bicentennial Bikeway, a 2.4 mile course along the Aberjona river from Ginn Field to the Woburn line. Also speaking were Rev. Dr. Leon Hatch of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, and Selectman Chairman John J. Sullivan. A couple dozen cyclists pedaled the distance to initiate the $12,000 project, half of which was paid by federal government matching funds.

Perspective

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am writing in an attempt to put into perspective the values involved in closing schools. The impetus to close schools has arisen from a desire to cut the school budget and a concern for the empty seats worldwide.

I would humbly like to propose two means by which the budget could be reduced and empty seats could be utilized. But before I do, I would like to talk about what should be the primary concern of the school department. And that concern is education. Education is their product.

The school department should be concerned with maintaining that product, improving it, guarding the quality of it, and supervising the implementation of it.

Standard business practice dictates that the least detrimental way to effectuate cuts is to begin at the top administrative level and not at the bottom by diminishing the product. This brings me to my first suggestion.

The towns of Andover, Bedford, Burlington, Braintree, and Haverhill employ one assistant superintendent. We presently employ three assistant superintendents and one director of pupil services. This is not a luxury; this is administrative overkill.

If we reduce the number of assistant superintendents from three to one we shall realize an annual savings of $73,250 ($53,050 for combined salaries of two assistant superintendents, $20,200 for two secretaries). The figure of $73,250 represents a trade-off equivalent for the supposed $70,000 savings by closing Wyman School.

My second suggestion is to relocate the administrative offices in Lincoln School, either by selling or leasing the Sanborn House. The trade-off argument for closing Sanborn versus closing Wyman goes as follows:

1. The funded debt on the Ambrose-Sanborn House package totals half a million dollars. The sale of the property would offset this debt. Wyman is paid for.

2. The relocation of the administrative offices to an existing school can be justified on the premise that it is a simpler matter to relocate a small number of adults and office furniture than to relocate 200 or more children with the residual upheaval for parents and staff.

3. An added bonus would be having the administration in the downtown area with the rest of the town offices.

4. The following school systems have all or part of their administrative offices in operating schools: Andover, Abington, Bedford, Wakefield, Watertown, Wellesley, Westfield, and Stoneham.

In conclusion, I understand that two assistant superintendents are retiring. There is also a management reorganization committee at work redefining administrative roles. Here is a prime opportunity for the superintendent to set an example of fiscal responsibility by reducing his staff.

In regard to the empty seats in the elementary schools other than Lincoln, a creative effort can be made to take out the empty seats and make libraries, art rooms, music rooms, and special education rooms. This has, of course, been done when space has been made available.

These letters are difficult to write. I hope the tone of this one is not vindictive. I meant it to be constructive.

President, Wyman Parents Association

Another zero

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I rush to add a zero. Last week's Star reported me as saying that $400 worth of loan-product came from the Winchester leaf-composting program during the past year. The figure should have been $4000. Even better news, this represents only half of the material that can be "harvested." Cheers and gratitude to the men of the highway department who are doing such a good job com-

Markey heads for D.C.

By The Observer

We had a chat with Winchester's new Congressman-elect Ed Markey a couple of weeks ago and came away impressed and with a good feeling about him.

The 30-year-old Malden bachelor, who bailed "bossism" in his crowded campaign, (there were more than a dozen candidates), won easily in the Seventh Congressional District.

He struck us as sincere, knowledgeable and untouchable by the clichés of action, speech and manner so familiar to sometimes cynical politicians and would-be politicians. We expect that he will remain that way and believe, on the basis of his record in the legislature, that he will make a good congressman. Obviously, of course, so do the voters.

Markey will be appointed by Gov. Dukakis to serve out the unexpired term of the late Congressman Torbert Macdonald, whom he succeeds anyway by his election. But the appointment now will give him seniority over all other freshmen congressmen and that means that he will receive consideration over them for committee appointments. And that is a very important edge. So he will serve in the appointment until the end of the year, then be sworn in on his own Jan. 2, 1977.

Michael Saraco, director of public health for Winchester, has announced the second flu clinic to be held from 10 to 1 on Saturday, November 20.

Calling the first clinic on October 25 "a fantastic success", Saraco said that this clinic differs from the first because it will be monovalent — swine flu only — vaccine. The earlier shot consisted of A. Victoria and A. Swine together.

Those persons 18 and under who received their first shot last month should return for another bivalent inoculation in order to receive total immunization, Saraco said. Those who missed the first clinic will be able to receive the bivalent, as well.

Those who are healthy, as opposed to the chronically ill, will be able to receive the monovalent shot on November 20.

Scheduling arrangements have not yet been completed, Saraco said. "I am very proud of the work of everyone who helped in the first clinic. And the state is very impressed by the way things went."

Coffee will once again be offered to those persons who receive their shot.

The opponents of the plan to close the Wyman School, active as ever, were handing out a broadside at town meeting Monday night entitled, "School Committee Claims — Fact or Fancy?"

The oppositions arguments listed in retaliation to school committee "claims" on the sheet are at best incomplete. The issue is a complex one, loaded with facts and statistics and projections and tangled with emotions (maybe it should be — life is far from logical). School Board Chairlady Mary Pronski said she has a pile of information eight inches high on her desk, all related to the issue.

However Mrs. Pronski had no immediate arguments against the "fact or fancy" sheet, only a comment: "It's coming through loud and clear that the Wyman parents want to keep Wyman open at any cost."

Like a bolt from the blue?

Tonight may prove interesting for students of parliamentary law. Town meeting will open with a request for money to pay for hauling uncompacted trash from the town yard.

Uncompacted trash costs more to haul, about 50 cents a ton, than compacted trash. And the trash isn't compacted because the compactor is not yet in operation.

Nearly three months ago it was estimated that the transfer station would be operative within two or three weeks, oh, at the most four or five. Apparently that statement is now inoperative, as is the station.

Not only that, but there are some problems with the new facility, logistically speaking, and at the moment there doesn't see to be much work at all going on over there.

The incinerator stack is down, which is great for the atmosphere up above, but down below there's no going back. Town meeting will probably vote the money; but wouldn't it be nice to know why it was necessary? Or when the transfer station will finally get going?

For those who listen in, WHSR-FM will carry live tonight's town meeting, starting at 7:30.

Reconsider Halloween 'tricks'

By Karen Whittlesey-First

They came to the door Sunday night, some of them barely old enough to walk themselves. Some came even though they were really a little too old.

The witches and the ghosts, the robots and the princesses came out looking for treats and administering very few tricks.

The costumes this year seemed so much more imaginative than they have been in previous years.

There were the two kids fitted into a giant size pair of slacks and wearing a "Price" and "Pride" apron.

There were the three Humpty Dumpty's falling off the wall and generally cavorting. There was the nursery school-aged flower and his younger sister who wouldn't wear her petal headgear no matter what.

There was Dracula in the flesh. No pony this one — at least the kids screamed when they saw him coming up the sidewalk.

The haggard old ladies with their canes and sinister looking rags, the little ones who just walked along for fun and didn't bother with a costume, the ones who asked for treats for UNICEF, were all filled with fun and good spirits.

Some came with parents and friends and others braved the night air and chill alone. There weren't as many of the little goblins as there have been before. The usual large wooden bowl of chocolate bars and lollipops was only half filled and still there was candy leftover.

That may be a good thing. In Winoski,

Vermont, this year, certain dangerous and sharp items were mixed in with the candies for the kids. Through some miracle — and it was a miracle — there were no injuries.

Winchester has been pretty lucky over the years, too.

Perhaps the best idea is not to eliminate Halloween because a few sick minds can destroy the happiness and health of a few, but to have the community take over the celebration.

The little ones are precious and they have a good time, but maybe there should be town-wide events, like the haunted house sponsored by the Jaycees and church and school parties where the kids dunk for apples and stretch for doughnuts on a string.

Remember when you walked through the back of the auditorium and put your hand in a bowl of whatever your imagination could conjure?

In a really good party, you just couldn't believe those were peeled grapes and cold spaghetti.

Let's not push our luck where the kids are concerned. The police department did a good job with "all hands aboard" for traffic, phone calls, and possible tricksters who got out of hand.

Let's think about involving the older kids in providing parties on Halloween for the younger ones. Two important goals would be served — the teenager with no place to go and the little ones with their minds on spooks and ghost stories would both be the winners.

parents and students. The question arises: "for what purpose are we considering radical surgery on our school system now that it is enjoying a relatively high level of success?"

Out of all the cross currents and uncertainties related to the proposals for major changes in the school system, one fact stands out among the few undisputed elements in the situation: each of our present elementary school buildings represents valuable fully-paid-for classroom space which, if needed again in four, eight, or 12 years, would cost millions to replace.

Surely we will be wise enough to hang on to our reserve classroom space. As it stands, it is relatively cheap insurance against the potential multi-million dollar cost of tearing classrooms down now and then rebuilding them again four, eight, or 12 years from now.

To throw away assets worth millions in an effort to save questionable and "iffy" small amounts in next year's budget could, in the longer run, be a million dollar mistake.

Dick Sampson
8 Sheffield rd.

Complaints

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester High School Cross Country Team is enjoying one of its best records since Coach Joe Cantillon took over five years ago with a 5-3 record to date, J.V. 7-1. Their glory is being overshadowed by the residents of the area where the meets start, namely the streets of Elm, Bridge and Kendall, all directly behind St. Mary's Church.

There is a meet on the home course at least once a week for six weeks of the school year.

★ Letters

The confusion and intrusion lasts about 15 minutes, occurs again 40 minutes later for another 15 minutes when the varsity starts the course and is over until the next week.

The neighbors do not like the team members milling around before the meet starts. They have called the high school and complained several times and last week the meet was started one block up but another neighbor complained. Mr. Collella, the athletic director is trying to make amends but it looks like the course will have to be changed next year.

I have been to the start of every home meet this year and this is what bothers me. There are three or four small boys in the neighborhood ages about 5-7 who own Big Wheels. They start at the top of Bridge st. and ride down the middle of the street. The noise is much more noticeable than the cross country team. The danger is another story. They fear nothing! I had the misfortune of coming around the corner from Washington on to Bridge to meet a little daredevil in my path. He scooted to the side of my car and used his hand on the side of my car as a break!

If the neighbors can put up with the kids of the neighborhood every afternoon, why can't they try to tolerate the cross country team? I might add that the high school band receives the same complaints whenever they practice, school mornings and Saturday mornings. They have so little time to prepare a half-time show. Then when they are not at a game playing, there are more complaints.

It boils down to damned if you do and damned if you don't.

Ah, Paradise!

MaryLou S. Leach

Grateful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Saturday, October 30, the Mothers' Association of The George Washington School held a Halloween Carnival. On behalf of the parents and children of the school, I wish to thank publicly Rose Limerick and Mimi DeMarco for planning and organizing this most successful event, and all those parents and friends who worked, decorated, donated, and did so much to make this carnival an enjoyable day for the children.

It is only appropriate, too, I think, to acknowledge our gratitude to George Flynn, principal, and the marvelous staff of The Washington School for giving up a day of their weekend to come and work, help, and support this undertaking. We appreciate the time they so freely gave; their dedication to our children is greatly appreciated.

Thistle theed

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We have our bird feeders going early this year. One is a flat platform about one and a half by two feet in area, with vinyl covered wire enclosing it on all sides and across the top to keep out pigeons. It sits atop a ten-foot aluminum pole in a southeast alcove of the house and sun-room. With the prevailing winter wind coming mostly from the northwest it is beautifully sheltered here. Fortunately, too, it sits close enough to the big picture window to give us a good close view of the birds that come to feed. Also, its location enables me to pour the feed down through the wire mesh out of a plastic bottle tied to the end of a light spruce spar, simply by sliding the small side window open. I hope this year never to have to wade out through deep drifts to fill the feeders. (It is when the snow lies deep that too many feeders do not get filled and that is just when the birds are most in school sponsored "Winchester Night" last year and, since everyone who attended was duly impressed, this school year is the first time Winchester has filled its quota and we are now boasting a waiting list of 13! Mrs. Pronski has been working with the school to organize another "Winchester Night" scheduled for December 1st. Everyone is welcome. Even if you have never considered a vocational school for your son or daughter, you owe it to yourself to take a tour of the facilities and to see what is available for our students.

The fact that there are NO vandalism and discipline problems is food for thought. Perhaps if all the students attending the Winchester Public Schools had the same pride and respect for their facilities we could cut down on the vandalism and discipline in our town. The vocational students have a full schedule. During their academics week, they have time allowed for gym, and their heated pool, but not for study periods — but they do study. The students know that if they fail a subject they have to make it up during the summer or if they fail shop they are out. There is no coasting through, accomplishing nothing. These students graduate prepared to go into the business world or to further their education in college.

There are no "free" periods or open campus. The students are busy working the entire day — and thankful to be there.

Last May we hired two graduates from the plumbing department. One is from Winchester. These boys came to work well prepared, well trained, and very much qualified as apprentice plumbers. They have had on-the-job experience as the senior class builds an entire house with all the trades working together.

Perhaps the parents of Winchester students need to further their education. Learning a skill or a trade, plus the academics, may be another alternative for a child who may not be college material or who may just prefer working with his (or her) hands. Hope to see a good turn out on December 1 for "Winchester Night."

Diane Plunkett

Thanks everyone

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As chairman of The Drury Lane Fair, I would like to thank everyone involved for making it such a happy successful occasion.

A special thanks to my co-chairman, Alison Taper; decorations, Jackie Leonard, Nadine Suhribier and her devoted sewing group, and a wonderful publicity lady, Ann McGovern. Also The Star, and the general public for their support.

It is indeed a pleasure to work with and be one of the Women of Epiphany.

Hallo'ween

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We of the elderly housing, now called Mary Murphy Apartments on Palmer street, had a very nice social night on October 29.

Muriel Bacon (president) in our housing decorated all the tables and one of our nice ladies here made nice bags of candy for each plate. It really looked like Halloween as the tables looked so nice.

We have one nice lady who makes cakes for these parties. "No name please," she says. We had as follows: lobster rolls or chicken rolls, potato chips, pickles and olives of all types, ice cream and beautiful angel and chocolate cakes, cider and Ritz crackers and cheddar cheese from Lynch's Market (very nice).

Cooks and workers are wonders ("No names please.")

Sunshine

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I recently attended a tea honoring Miss Ann Dolan who has transferred from Wyman kindergarten to the Washington School. While there I was reminded once again of the first time I met her, and I would like to share the story with you.

When we first moved to Winchester, I took my older son over to Wyman to register him. After doing so the secretary asked if we would like to visit the kindergarten, as my younger son was not yet of school age and she thought he might like to see what it was like.

We were graciously greeted by Miss Dolan and a happy group of budding artists. After a short visit it was time for recess, and we were asked to join the class outdoors. When we told Miss Dolan our house was visible from the school right around the corner, she announced, to our surprise, that the entire class was to escort us home.

And right in front of our house the boys and girls sang us a lovely song about spring. It was a rather dismal, misty day, but I can assure you there was sunshine in all our hearts.

What a truly wonderful introduction to Wyman School and the town of Winchester. As we waved good-bye and went back into the house, it didn't seem to matter that there were unpacked cartons everywhere and no curtains at the windows.

Thank you, Miss Dolan, for that beautiful experience. My family and I shall never forget it.

And best wishes to you in your new teaching assignment.

Old days

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My father was an owner and editor of the Stoneham Free Press and Enterprise. I was born in 1901. He was already printing the Enterprise in the 1800's.

I remember so much about the open electric car — ten cents to Melrose — the ten cent loaf of bread and all the rest. We had good times — in those days everyone helped each other, which is more than I can say for these days. Neighbors, no matter what religion or color were good neighbors, not fair weather friends.

We walked a mile to school and a mile back — of course with no complaints.

People today have it too easy. Can't get up early in the morning because most are lazy.

If someone wants to write something interesting for our kids, it would be nice to write about Winchester and what the Indians who lived here were called; also where and what part of town they occupied. Wasn't Winchester a part of Woburn in 1800's — early 1900's?

I also remember our small police force in Stoneham. If police told a bunch of kids to move on, in those days they did or else got hit with a billy club.

Discipline counts. In those days no one talked back to their parents unless they were brought up wrong. Sundays were sacred and everyone dressed up — even the farmers were clean — and all went to church.

Louise Chase

Personal exploration

Youth invited to probe, find out what police are all about

Do you recall the ad on Television a few years back? "Do you know where your young son or daughter is tonight?" Well for the parents of interested youth in Winchester, ages 14 through 21, the answer may well be, "at the Winchester Police Station." That is if it happens to be the night of November 16 between 7 and 9.

Police Chief John P. McHugh, has developed and made available a new program for today's young boys and girls. The law enforcement exploring program is a concept where "hand on" is the rule and fun in doing, is shared by each member of the group. Areas to be explored include police K-9, fingerprinting, photography, firearms, drugs, police equipment, ambulance and first aid methods, mounted patrol, crime scene search, and special trips to see other agencies and how they operate, such as the Boston Police turrel.

The chief indicated that the main thrust of the program is to provide the young people with an opportunity to gain insight into police work and to get to know some of the men and routines that an officer expects to deal with on the street.

If the majority of the group wishes to pursue one area over another, then that is the way the program will head. "It is really up to the kids as to which areas will be covered," Chief McHugh stated. He has selected several officers who expressed an interest in this type of activity to set up and coordinate the group. Other officers in and out of Winchester will be acting as advisors and guest subject experts.

The chief explained that the youth meet twice a month at the station and will elect their own officers to conduct activities. The youth officers of the group will plan general meetings, special activities and trips.

An invitation is being extended by Chief McHugh to all people interested in this type of a program. Moms, dads, boys and girls join with the officers at the Police Station for the first meeting on November 16 at 7 for a special program and complete details on the law enforcement exploring is all about.

Seton Club plans social

The third dance of the Seton Club for widows and widowers will be held Saturday, November 13 at 8 p.m. at the Blessed Sacrament Church Hall, 14 Summer st., Saugus.

Music will be provided by Dick Brogna's Orchestra from 8-12 in the evening. Refreshments will be served. Additional information may be had by writing the Seton Club, Box 978, Saugus, 01906.

Lewis A. Shattuck, 9 Stone ave., was among 140 business and association leaders attending a recent White House Briefing. The briefings were conducted by James T. Lynn, director, Office of Management and Budget and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors. Shattuck is the executive vice president of the Smaller Business Association of New England, Inc., (SBANE), Waltham. A regional Association of some 1200 smaller businesses throughout New England.

Student attends Hub workshop

Karen Hansen, a student at Cambridge School of Weston, was one of more than 75 high school students from throughout New England who attended an open house on early childhood development and education at Wheelock College in Boston last week.

The local student attended workshops on different areas of early childhood education, toured the Wheelock campus, and met with faculty, students, and administrators.

Early Birds

The Sparrows of the Winchester Early Birds Bowling League have maintained their first place position. Team members are MaryJane Brooks, Ilene White and Della DiMarzo. The Starlings are in second place. Team members are Lorraine Staniewicz, Marie Palumbo and Pat Nicoletti. The Woodpeckers are in third place. Team members are Elaine Binding, Heather Bass and Karen Pollen.

The high team single game of 403 was captured by the Pheasants. The Pheasants team members are Rose Bezjian, Susan Lippman and Eleanor Bazylnski. Bowler of the day was the Pheasants team captain, Rose Bezjian, who bowled the high individual game of 190 and the high individual series of 480. The high team series of 1140 was earned by the Chickadees whose team members are Roseann Berkley, Irene George and Turdy Pinelli.

New bowlers are welcome and should contact Rosemarie Vita of 19 Cox rd. Free babysitting is provided.

Rev. Jack Snook to receive honor

This Sunday during the 10:45 worship service Crawford Memorial Church will honor The Rev. John Snook, Jr. who served as minister there from 1948 to 1958. Mr. Snook, Jr. who served as minister there from 1948 to 1958. Mr. Snook will preach in the service and will be proclaimed "Minister Emeritus", the first in the history of Crawford Memorial.

He and his wife, Phyllis will be guests of honor at a reception which will follow the service in Gifford Hall. Jack (as he was always known) entered the ministry after a ten-year business career. He attended Asbury College and received his S.T.B. from Boston University. He served the Methodist church in Marblehead, served ten years in Winchester, moved to Reading then Maynard and retired at the last Annual Conference.

His ministerial career was full and active. In addition to service on several Conference Boards, he was an evangelist for the New England Area. Conducted preaching missions for the Air Force in North Africa, Greenland and Newfoundland. He received the Air Force citation for mission preaching and was recipient of the Stowell Scholarship and went to the Holy Land.

Financial aid meeting for high school students, parents

After the speakers' presentations, the audience will have an opportunity to ask questions. Questions may be submitted in writing to the guidance office at the high school before Nov. 9 or may be handed in at the door. Questions from the floor will also be answered.

A free informational pamphlet "Meeting College Costs," prepared by the College Scholarship Service of the College Entrance Examination Board, is excellent background material for this meeting and is available in the guidance office. It contains information on how to assess your need for financial aid and how to apply for aid at the right time.

High school seniors and their parents are invited to attend a meeting on financial aid for post-high school education in the Winchester High School auditorium on Tues., Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

The speakers will be Grant Curtis, financial aid officer at Tufts University, and Robert Costello, chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Curtis will speak on ways of financing education beyond the high school level and Costello will speak on the local scholarship program. Applications for aid from the Winchester Scholarship Foundation will be available.

Inquiry class at St. Mary's

A series of 14 classes exploring the basic teachings of Catholicism has begun recently at St. Mary's School.

These inquiry classes, open to all adults of any religious background, will be held in the Conference Room of St. Mary's School, 162 Washington st. on Monday evenings, from 7:30-8:30. (The Conference Room is located on the ground floor of the school, adjacent to the parking lot.)

Rev. Mark S. Sheehy, moderator of religious education at St. Mary's will be the principal instructor, assisted by Rev. Arthur L. Reardon, pastor, and associate pastors, Rev. Leo X. Lynch, and Rev. Roger C. Cormier.

Noonan flea market on November 13th

The Noonan School Parents Association, under the supervision of Mrs. Marilyn Davis, ways and means chairman, will conduct a flea market Saturday, November 13, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Noonan School auditorium.

Come and browse through their attic and garage treasures, used books, toys, white elephants, and usable clothing.

Special Ed group coordinator guest

The Advisory Committee on Special Education will hold its first meeting of the current school year on Wednesday, November 10 at 7:30 p.m. at Sanborn House. Frank Bianco, Winchester's new coordinator for special education will be introduced to the committee at this time. Mr. Bianco came to Winchester from the State Education Department, Special Education Division, Northeast Regional Office in North Andover.

The advisory committee is made up of four constituent groups: school staff, parents, citizens-at-large, and providers of professional services. Meetings are open and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Form group to aid Orione Home

Formation of the Knights of Don Orione, a membership organization of community leaders to support the work of the Don Orione Home for the sick and elderly and the Madonna Shrine in East Boston, was announced last week.

U.S. Ambassador John A. Volpe, former Winchester resident and a long-time supporter of the East Boston facility, is honorary chairman of the group, and Joseph R. Perini, Jr., of Framingham, president of the international construction and land developing firm, Perini Company, will serve as general chairman.

The Knights of Don Orione is open to membership to all individuals. Dues are $250 annually.

Purpose of the new organization is providing financial support to lessen the fiscal needs of the Home and Shrine which is staffed by the Don Orione priests and sisters.

The Home cares for 200 sick and elderly patients and its facilities include a chapel donated by the Volpe family and a health infirmary by the Kennedy Foundation. The Home also conducts an Adult Day Care Center for people needing day time health care in Perini Hall.

Persons interested in becoming a member of the Knights of Don Orione may obtain an application by writing to the organization at Don Orione Home, 111 Orient ave., East Boston, Mass. 02128.

T. F. Lordan named to Suburban National Bank of Arlington

Timothy F. Lordan, 66 Dow ave., has been elected Vice President of the Suburban National Bank of Arlington.

Mr. Lordan has been active in the Arlington banking community for 20 years. Starting as a teller he became Assistant Cashier of the Arlington National Bank when it was merged with the Coolidge Bank and Trust Company in 1971.

Appointed an Assistant Vice President of the Coolidge Bank, he served as the Arlington branch manager until 1974 when he became supervisor of the Coolidge Bank branches in East Lexington and Bedford.

In accepting the appointment Lordan says he is "very pleased to be on the staff of Arlington's only independent community bank, the Suburban National Bank of Arlington which offers personalized community banking service to consumers and businessmen of Arlington which out-of-town branch banks do not and cannot offer."

Edward J. Duffy, Jr., Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Suburban National Bank, said he was happy to welcome Lordan to the staff of Suburban National Bank, "because of his banking expertise and his many civic and other activities in the Town of Arlington. He will be a strong addition to the Suburban National Bank over the coming years."

Lordan is married, and he and his wife Arlene have three children.

He attended Boston College

Fifty four of the nation's seventy or more Blue Cross plans include some form of home care. Private insurers are also jumping on the bandwagon, experts say. Coverage includes such costs as the rental of hospital beds and other equipment, visiting nurses and physicians, therapists, drugs, and ambulance trips to the hospital for checkups. The model plan Blue Cross urges on its members also includes speech and occupational therapy at home, electrocardiograms, oxygen treatment, nutritional guidance, and many others.

Phyllis L. Grabau of 9 Manchester rd. and Paul A. Silva of 179 Orchard st., New Bedford, were married at St. Anthony's Church in East Falmouth Saturday, October 2.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Grabau of 9 Manchester rd. and Great Harbors, East Falmouth. Mr. Silva's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Antonio L. Silva of New Bedford and Mattapoisette.

The former Miss Grabau was given in marriage by her father, Rev. George E. Amaral officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Nimrod Inn, Falmouth.

The bride wore a pearly, venise-trimmed qiana gown. The gown featured a cathedral train, trimmed with venise lace and pearls, a high crown neckline and long sleeves. She wore a matching turban headpiece of qiana, pearls, and a floor-length veil.

The bride carried a presentation bouquet of white and pink, long-stem roses.

Mrs. Suzanne O'Hearn of Lowell, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a polyester knit in a lovely shade of wine, styled with a v-neckline and detailed with a banded wine and white grograin ribbon. The gown was complimented with a short jacket of knit and chiffon with a wrap-around tie at the waist. She carried a presentation bouquet of pink, long-stemmed roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Elisa Johnson of Winchester, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Maureen Libby of Limerick, Me., cousin of the bride. Yvonne Grabau, sister of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid. All were attired in similar gowns of wine color. They carried the same flowers as the matron of honor.

The flower girl was Gretchen Grabau, the bride's sister. She wore a gown styled after those of the bridesmaids, only in white. She carried a white winter basket with pink rose petals.

Richard Bateman of Acton was best man. Ushers were Robert and Steven Silva of New Bedford, brothers of the groom; and Frederick Grabau Jr. of Winchester, the bride's brother. Virginia White of Falmouth attended the guest book.

Mrs. Frederick Grabau wore a long-sleeve, dusty pink knit gown with high neckline and maribou trim.

The groom's mother wore a long-sleeve, teal blue knit gown with a cowl neckline. Both mothers carried one long-stemmed rose.

The newlywed couple left on a wedding trip to New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, and they plan to reside in Falmouth on their return.

The former Miss Grabau attended Winchester High School, graduating in 1969. She also attended Career Academy and trained at Harvard School of Dental Medicine for dental assisting.

Mr. Silva graduated from New Bedford High School in 1969. He graduated from Central New England College of Technology with a BS in engineering technology. He is employed with Colony Communications Company.

McGoverns waltz to victory at Friends' ball

The Silver Anniversary Ball of the Friends of Winchester Hospital was held on October 23. Bernice Kimball did a superb job as M.C. for the evening. Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh gave a short speech on the hours and monies the Friends have given to the hospital over the years.

The fun part of the ball was the waltz contest. Many couples joined in the event. The judges had a difficult time picking out the winners for this year, because there were so many excellent dancers on the floor. Mr. and Mrs. Lane McGovern were the couple to win first place. They were presented with an engraved Revere bowl. The second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Donahue who also won a Revere bowl donated by Anderson's Jewelers of Winchester.

The lucky persons who won prizes from the drawing are Roman DeSantis, dinner for two, Cafe Escadrille, Ann Parkhurst, wine from Martignetti, Agnes Sarmarian, ladies wallet from McCormack's.

Gift certificates from Europa were won by Jean Donahue, Tom Craig, and Jean Bernard. D'Agostino's gift went to Peter Sarmarian who also won liquor from Winter Hill Liquor Mart. Continental Cheese shop's donation was won by Ted Parkhurst. Sophia Bower won the gift from Gloria Steven's.

Murphy-Pickul wedding

Debra Ann Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murphy of Stoneham, and Stephen Frank Pickul, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Pickul of Ipswich, were married by Rev. Leo Lynch at St. Mary's Church on October 18.

A reception at the Winchester lodge of Elks followed the 1 a.m. service.

The bride's gown was qiana with long, fitted sleeves, scoop neckline and fingertip veil, accented with lace and baby pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Lynn Murphy of Stoneham, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Patricia Pickul of Ipswich, Liz Freedman of Peabody, Patricia Boyle of Stoneham, and Gay Aubrey of Winchester.

They wore gowns of dotted swiss in rainbow colors of peach, yellow, blue, pink, and green with matching picture hats. Each one carried a bouquet of carnations dyed to match.

Joseph Pickul of Ipswich was best man for his brother. Ushers were Michael Murphy of Stoneham, David Costopolos of Ipswich, Terry Forshier of Brookline, and James Dowd of South Hadley.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Winchester High School, is administrative secretary for the American Mutual Insurance Company. Her husband, who attended Boston College, Boston University, and Boston State College, is district executive for the Minuteman Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple is making their home on Shore Drive, Peabody.

Brown-Shull nuptials at St. Mary's October 10

Kathleen Marie Brown, daughter of Mrs. Kathleen J. Brown of 15 Royakston ave., was married the afternoon of October 10 to Warren D. Shull II of 2008 Davis st., Elmira, N.Y. The ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church with Rev. Leo X. Lynch officiating. Mr. Shull is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Shull Jr. of Enira.

The reception was held on board the SS Peter Stuyvesant, Pier 4 in Boston.

Mrs. Kathleen Shull

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Russell A. Yoi. She wore a princess-lined gown of organza with lace appliques encrusted with see pearls. The gown had a chapel-length train, and the headpiece was a camelot cap with flowing, applied veil with blusher. Appliques were encrusted with iridescent pearls.

Matron of honor was the sister of the bride, Mrs. Russell A. Yoi of Atkinson, N.H. She wore a beaded, mocha qiana gown with a cape and a beaded camelot cap. She carried a basket of white mums, blue tea roses, wheat and cat-o-nine-tails.

Bridesmaids were Dorothy A. Brown, sister of the bride; Mrs. Henry Ouellet of Littleton; and Linda Zafarana of Wakefield. All wore beaded, light blue, caped qiana gowns and beaded camelot caps. Their flowers were baskets of white mums with blue tea roses, wheat and cat-o-nine-tails.

James Moles of Florence, Ky. was best man. Ushers were William Shull of Houston, Texas, brother of the groom; Harry Chen of New Canaan, Conn.; and William Schmidt of Arnold, Md. Douglas Yoi, nephew of the bride, served as ring-bearer.

Mrs. Brown was attired in a honey-colored qiana gown with a chiffon cape trimmed with pearls. She also wore a corsage of stephanotis and wheat. Mr. Shull Jr. wore a yellow qiana gown with an orange, green and yellow floral print jacket of chiffon.

The former Miss Brown graduated from Winchester High School in 1968 and continued her studies at the Andover Institute of Business. She was formerly employed by Geotechnical Engineers, Inc. as an executive secretary.

The groom graduated from Clarkson College in New York with a degree in electrical engineering. He earned his masters in business administration from Boston University. He works as a financial analyst for Mobil Chemical Company in Rochester, N.Y.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco, the couple plan to set up house in Rochester.

Mrs. Lucille Kaloyanides

Malzone-Kaloyanides

Lucille Malzone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Malzone, and Donald P. Kaloyanides, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement J. Kaloyanides of Somerville, were married October 9 at an evening ceremony at St. Mary's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Malzone reside at 113 Cambridge st.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Montvale Plaza in Stoneham, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to the Catskills in New York. They will be making their home in Somerville.

The bride, a graduate of Somerville High School, is attending Boston State College. Her husband, also a Somerville High School graduate, is attending Bentley College.

Betsy Thoms, Paul Granger exchange vows September 25

Betsy Thoms and Paul Granger were married on September 25 at the First Congregational Church in Chatham by Reverend Richard K. Bailey.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Thoms of Winchester and Chatham, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rocheleau Granger of Leicester and York Beach, Maine were attended by Debra (Lewis) Boehm of Plymouth and Dr. Jeffrey Fine of Newton Corner. Charles Thoms from Chatham and Robert Thoms from Winchester, brothers of the bride, and David Granger of Worcester, brother of the groom, served as ushers.

Luanne Benshimol, Winchester, attended the guest book. The Chatham Bars Inn was the setting for the afternoon reception.

Mrs. Granger is a 1969 graduate of Winchester High School and has an associate degree from Vermont College, Montpelier. She is presently employed in the student activities department at Simmons College. Mr. Granger graduated from Assumption Preparatory School in 1966, from Clark University in 1970, and from Suffolk Law in 1973.

Betsy Thoms and Paul Granger were married on September 25 at the First Congregational Church in Chatham by Reverend Richard K. Bailey.

Santa Claus is coming to town, at noon on November 20. He will be welcomed and paraded by The Queensmen of the Immaculate Conception Parish of Woburn and Winchester to The Holly Fair in the Parish Hall. Santa will preside over pony rides and games for the young.

The Holly Fair will include "Linda's Tearoom," where tea and homemade Irish bread will be served all day Sat. and Sun. Luncheon will be served from 12-2 p.m. both days with sandwiches, desserts, coffee and cold drinks.

Cider and doughnuts will be served in the "Country Store" while one is browsing through the varied selection of gifts on sale. "The Yum Yum Shop" will feature home made goodies and the "Jewelry Boutique" will have a tempting selection.

Busy fingers are finishing Christmassy craft items and attics and cellars are being scoured for white elephants.

The Holly Fair will be held Saturday, Nov. 20, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 21 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Fortnightly to hold guest day

The Fortnightly will enjoy a talk on "Beauty with Flowers" by Jack Kean of Kean Flower Designs at its November 8 meeting at Crawford Methodist Church. Arrangements for Thanksgiving and Christmas will be demonstrated.

Tea will be served at 1 p.m. by Mrs. Gerald Mosher and committee. Mrs. Mosher, Art Committee Chairperson, has asked members to display their art work.

This is Guest Day and invited guests will be made welcome.

Mrs. Richard Sheppard will preside at the business meeting.

Church auction set for Saturday, Nov. 6

Second Congregational Church will hold their Annual Auction on Saturday, November 6, at 7:45 in the church hall.

Fine articles have been collected for this auction and will be offered for sale, including antiques, furniture, and small pieces,

Winchester crushes Warriors 34 to ouch!

By John F. Parrell

Coach Manny Marshall's Sachem eleven put together 48 minutes of good play Saturday afternoon as they smothered the visiting Wakefield Warriors by 34-0 at Knowlton Stadium. This was by far their most consistent performance of the season and after the first five minutes the result was never in doubt.

Wakefield kicked off to open the action and by the time the Sachems had run four plays Bob Blasi gathered in an aerial from Don Allard at the Wakefield 37. Three plays netted only a yard and then Allard again hit Blasi for a first down at the 19. Mike Cavaretta picked up four and then Tony Macinanti roared into the end zone for the first Sachem touchdown. Brian O'Connor added the extra point on a high placement kick to make the score Winchester 7, Wakefield 0.

The Warriors found trouble penetrating the Winchester defenses with only Mike Quinn able to make much headway. The passing efforts of Lenny Vining were hurried by the onrushing Sachem forwards and were mostly ineffective. The period ended near midfield with the pigskin in possession of the Marshalls.

Mike Cavaretta opened the second period by breaking through the Warrior line and then twisted his way through several defenders and was in the clear as he stumbled near the ten and fell at the seven. Anthony Davis picked up a couple and then smashed across the goal. Once again O'Connor hit for the extra point and it was now Winchester 14, Wakefield 0.

Mike Quinn carried three times in a row for Wakefield and made 15 yards before Vining took to the air. His first pass fell incomplete and then Bill Monson broke through and sacked him for a loss. The punt by the visitors was shanked and carried only to the Winchester 48. Davis ground out eight and after a pass failed Tom Murray broke through for a first down at the visitors' 30. Davis rambled for 12 and another first down at the 18. Tony Macinanti made two and Don Allard added seven. Tom Murray appeared to have made a first down but Winchester was hit with a 15 yard penalty.

Don Allard faded back to pass but was hit illegally and Wakefield was penalized to the 10. Allard made six and Anthony Davis tallied his second touchdown. O'Connor again split the uprigths and it was Winchester 21, Wakefield 0 at the half time whistle.

Brian O'Connor opened the second half by booting to Mike Quinn who ran the ball from the 15 to midfield with O'Connor making the tackle. He made seven yards more on the next play but the defensive line tightened and Winchester took the pigskin.

The offense was stalled and O'Connor punted into the end zone. Wakefield was stymied and kicked out once more. Anthony Davis sped to a first down at the 20. Then Don Allard swept to his left and went in for the fourth Sachem score. O'Connor booted his fourth placement and Winchester was in front 28-0.

This came early in the fourth quarter and at this point the reserves took over after the kickoff. Included were several members of the sophomore team. John D'Alessandro made a substantial 23 yard gain before he was upended by Fred Jones. Monson and Mike Wise sacked Vining for a loss of 13. The teams exchanged punts with O'Connor's stopping at the Warrior four.

Mike Quinn broke away for 15 but on the next play the ball was fumbled and Brian O'Connor gathered it in on the fly and went to the four yard line. Two belts by Sammy Mike Cavaretta (13) breaks through Warrior line as he starts on 35 yard jaunt which ended as he stumbled near 10 yard line. This set up second Sachem touchdown.

Bellino netted his first varsity touchdown and the try for two points failed. This brought the count to Winchester 34, Wakefield 0. The remaining three minutes were quite uneventful except for the game experience gained by the Winchester reserves and sophomores.

To summarize the game: This was perhaps the best showing in several years by the Winchester varsity. Mistakes were made but they were few. They hit Wakefield with an early and effective attack which seemed to take all the wind out of the Warriors sails and all the steam out of their attack. The ground gaining was well divided among the Sachem backs and there were four boys who scored touchdowns as well as the four extra points by O'Connor who also had a good punting day.

The line play was well coordinated and the offensive group provided the necessary holes for the running game. On defense the Sachems gave very little ground and kept Vining always under pressure to snuff out his passing threat. The tackling was well distributed but John Della Grotte who returned to action after being handicapped by injuries early in the season was the statistical leader.

The backs ran with authority and the blocking was both crisp and effective. It was a fine team effort without any one outstanding star. If the team continues this style of play they have a very definite chance of upsetting Joe Hoague's Melrose Red Raiders next Saturday. Their record is now 2-4-1 and they have not been scored on since the first play of the final quarter against Lexington. Both Belmont and Wakefield have been shutout. Remember, the opening kickoff Saturday has been set back to 2 p.m. because of the college examinations. If the day is cloudy the final period may well be played in gathering darkness.

The team is now playing its best football of the year and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout at Knowlton Stadium for the last home game of the year. Remember, fans, this team started out slowly and might well have won many of the early games. But if they continue to improve as they have in their victories they may have a good shot at closing up with some shocking victories against Melrose, at Watertown and in the grand finale in Tannertown on Turkey Day morning.

Record now 7-8-2

Bouley's booters win pair, look to a .500 season slate

Coach Gene Bouley's soccer team posted two victories against one defeat last week as the soccer season draws toward its close. They beat Burlington 3-1 and Reading 3-0 and dropped a hard-fought 3-2 decision to tournament-bound Wakefield.

This brings the season's record to 7-8-2 with only the finale left to be played tomorrow at Woburn starting at 3:15. Considering the fact that they dropped their first five games before winning, the Winchester team has had a rather good season. They hope to top the Tanners and thus close out the season with an even .500 record.

Last Monday they went to Burlington and things started out poorly for the Sachems as the home team netted an early goal to take the lead. But it was not long before Winchester knotted the count and finally went on for two more goals and a 3-1 victory. Co-captain Paul Austin tallied all the goals and on each he was assisted by Co-captain Mark Nelson. John Waite in Winchester's goal made a diving save of a penalty shot and he also made another later in the week. Reading, a newcomer this year to the Middlesex League, managed to tie the Sachems in the first round. However, this time was quite another story with the Bouleymen winning handily by 3-0.

The Sachems took an early lead on another goal by Co-captain Austin and Seth Goodman was credited with the assist. The co-captains, Austin and Nelson teamed to give Winchester a 2-0 lead with Austin putting the ball into the net.

At this point the bench was cleared and the less experienced boys battled hard to prevent the ball getting into the goal. Gary Tedesco had many busy moments but they did not allow Reading to score. The reserve group added a goal as Dave McLaughlin converted a pass from Charlie Mahoney.

The Sachems played good soccer against the Wakefield Warriors but were frustrated in their victory bid as the visitors scored three goals to their two. Fresh from their triumph over previously undefeated Belmont the Warriors with a 15-1-1 record did not plan on being defeated by Winchester.

They took advantage of an early Sachem defensive error to tally the first goal and the teams battled on even terms until Winchester evened the score as Paul Austin took a pass from Mark McGoldrick. But then came another slip up on defense and Wakefield and a 2-1 half time lead.

They moved in front by 3-1 on a third period penalty kick. The teams battled evenly near midfield for several minutes and the Sachems closed the gap to a single goal early in the fourth period. Mark McGoldrick got the goal on a penalty kick. The local team tried every possible means to get the equalizer but the visitors would not give up a goal and went on to a 3-2 win.

It is hoped that there will be a good turnout of Red and Black fans for the game at Woburn tomorrow as the Sachems battle for an even season's record as well as a win over their arch rivals.

Jan Oehm 2nd in state meet

Jan Oehm representing Winchester High finished second in her division of the meet held last week at Franklin Field course. The race was won by Johanna Forman of Falmouth in 16:47 with the local girl just 16 seconds behind.

Audrey Leach and Donna Senna of the Sachemettes finished 24th and 28th respectively to give Winchester 3 girls out of the first 30 in an overall field of 210. The team was ninth with a total of 309.

The boys team finished eighth with a total of 277 in Division 3 of the meet.

Jan is the only Winchesterite scheduled to compete in the state wide finals to be held next Saturday over the same course.

Bantam A team defeats Newton

The Bantam A's of Winchester Youth Hockey beat Newton 7-2 on Sunday in Middlesex Youth League play.

Mark Ockerbloom opened the scoring for Winchester at the four minute mark of the first period on assists from Bill Ferry and Ian Donaghey. Newton tied it at one all a minute later. However J.M. Gagan came right back to the face off with a real "hustle" goal to put Winchester ahead to stay. Captain Ian Donaghey put Winchester up 3 to 1 at the close of the first period following some smooth set up passing from defenseman Marshall White and Brad Johnson.

In the second period Steve Bosco scored on assists from his wingmates Jeff Lavey and Mike Moros. Bill Ferry scored the first of what was going to be a three goal night (hat trick) for him. The line of Ferry, Ockerbloom and Donaghey finished with five goals and six assists between them. They measure up to any line in the League.

The young third line of Erik Johnson, Jim Surrrette and Jay Berardi again played a good steady checking game. The defensive units rounded out with Tony Donlon and J.M. Gagon and Jerry Kimball paired with Joe Donlon continued their aggressive play.

Steve Noble had another big night in the nets and newcomer Mark Kenney showed well in his first game.

Mites over Malden 8-2

The Winchester Mites won 8-2 over Malden in their Middlesex League game Friday night at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Winchester's two goalies, Kevin Boyle and Jim Chute, had little action as Winchester's line of Chip Fortin, Dave Butt and Sukjong Chung keep the pressure on in the Malden end.

With assistance from Lorne Wilson, the Mites' line of George Nowell and Cort Pomeroy each scored a goal.

Pete Heggen scored Winchester's other six goals. His second goal came on an unassisted, rink-long rush in which he shot a wrist shot from 15 feet out which hit the crossbar and dropped behind the goalie. Regan's other goals were assisted by Brian Griffin, Greg Winn, Derek Binding, Billy Coppins, John Lampassi, and Mike White.

The Mites are made up of boys eight years old and younger and show excellent promise this year of finishing near the top of their division.

St. Mary's CYO to hold hockey tryouts

Tryouts for St. Mary's CYO hockey team will be held on Monday, November 15, at 9 p.m. at the Arlington MDC Rink.

Candidates must be enrolled as full-time students in a public or private high school or junior high school. They must be under 19 years of age on January 1, 1977, and not have been a member of a high school varsity team during 1975-1976.

Players do not have to live within the borders of St. Mary's Parish.

For further information, contact coach Kenneth Donaghey, 36 Eaton St.

The Lobsters of the Girls' Ambrose Soccer League were undefeated for the season in six games and two practice games. Coached by Peter Philiou and Arthur Papastathis, the offense was led by Paula Papastathis, Sarah Richardson, Laura Accardo, Patricia Taylor, Melissa Ford, and Karen Kirk. Supporters for the offense in halfback positions were Thea Philiou, Elizabeth Rowley, Barbara Hallisey, and Sara Hebb. The defense was led by Kate Harris, Joan Fiore, Linda Koenig, Susan Mullen, and Amy Cagnina. High scorer for the season was Paula Papastathis followed by Sarah Richardson, who also played goalie when she was not in forward position. Lauren Hartnet shared goalie position with Sarah. Thea Philiou was the leading halfback with outstanding offense and defense playing.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

Many recipes for everything from lobster to desserts, including Crepes Suzette, specify flaming Brandy and liqueurs are most often called for because they have the high proof or high alcoholic content required for flaming: 80 or 90 proof is usual. When buying examine the label; some liqueurs have far too low a proof, as low as 20 or 25 proof. This is one of the reasons why wine cannot be burned; the proof of wine is even lower. Some imported cordials indicate the percentage of alcohol rather than proof. Just remember that the proof figure is twice the percentage; Thus 43% would indicate "86 proof." And that burns listily!

Whether you are planning a quiet dinner party for 4 or a large wedding for 400, we at BUSA LIQUORS can provide you with wines, liquor, cordials and champagne. Our staff has had experience in party planning and is willing to help you with all your needs. Famous labels and "Spirit of '76" products are carried at BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington and Lexington. ## Sunk by Marblehead

Sachem girl swimmers swamp Melrose High team by 48-35

The Winchester High Girls Swim Team defeated the Melrose High Swim Team Wednesday, October 27, at the Melrose Y.M.C.A., by a score of 48-35.

The meet started off with Winchester taking a first and second place in the 200 yd. medley relay, with the relays of K. Conley (back), B. Dexter (breast), C. McCarthy (fly), and L. McDonald (free) (2:09.9). The second relay of S. Nichols (back), M. Kennedy (breast), P. Hennelly (fly), and J. Karp (free) placed second (2:16.5).

Winchester also packed first and second in the 200 yd. freestyle, with S. Stackpole (2:30.0), and K. Kerrigan (2:33.2). These two swimmers also took first and second in the 500 yd. freestyle with the times of 6:57.1 and 7:12.1, respectively.

The Sachem Sprinters won the 50 yd. freestyle with L. Grant placing first (27.2) and L. MacDonald placing second (28.8). Melrose took first in the 100 yd. freestyle, with B. Dexter placing second, and S. Nicholas placing third. The respective times were 1:04.9 and 1:08.0.

The 200 yd. Individual Medley event saw Winchester take a first and third, with C. Minutoli and C. McCarthy.

Harriers in Woburn sweep

Coach Joe Cantillon's cross country teams swept the Woburn Tanners as they completely dominated the varsity, junior varsity and girls races. The varsity ended the season at 6-3, the junior varsity at 8-1 and the girls 4-1.

The varsity swept the first six spots and took nine of the first eleven places against the Tanners. The junior varsity had their first eleven places and twelve out of the first fourteen finishers. Jan Oehm led the girls group by over a minute and a half as the girls bested the Tanneries.

McCall faces unbeaten foe

There will be a collision of unbeaten teams tomorrow afternoon as Coach Pat Ladd's McCall eleven meets the strong Kennedy team from Woburn at Knowlton Field. A large crowd is expected to witness the meeting of the best junior high teams of this town and Woburn.

McCall's record dates is: McCall 6, Joyce (Woburn) 0; McCall 27, Burlington 0; McCall 36, Watertown East 0; McCall 16, Clarke (Lexington) 6.

The Woburn eleven has similarly conclusive victories in all their games to date and are rated among Tanner sports followers as "the best" junior high team in recent years. The McCall starting lineup includes: RE Brad Cowan, RT Dave Vozzella, RG Marshall White, C Steve Grainger, LG Peter Tracey, LT Robert Cooke, LE Craig Polleys, QB Ron Dokus, RHB Kerry Goodwin, LHB Charlie Capone, FB Lenny Bellino.

Defense reserves include: Jeff McGoldrick, John Delsolio, David DeMarco, Steve Wolfe and Gary Errico.

Singled out for exceptional performances in games to date are: Brad Cowan, Peter Tracey and Dave DeMarco on defense and Craig Polleys, Kerry Goodwin, Charlie Capone and Lenny Bellino on offense.

Double A team in third victory

The Winchester Pee-Wee AA's coasted to their third win blasting Malden 10-3 in another solid team effort Saturday night.

In a game that was only close for the first period, the Hawks repeatedly kept the pressure on with their aggressive forechecking leading to numerous scoring opportunities.

The Hawks opened the scoring on their first shift as Paul White unloaded a quick blast following a neat set up from Chris Parker. An indication of the tempo of the game was evident from the outset as the Hawks completely controlled the action in the Malden end. Malden capitalized on a breakaway midway through the first period, but neither team was able to score further and the first period ended with the teams deadlocked at 1-1.

The Hawks posted six unanswered goals during second period action paced by Tommy Sullivan's hat trick. Chris Parker opened the scoring following a well timed fake on the goalie with an effort that featured an excellent centering pass by Kurt Lawson from behind the Malden net. The Hawks scored twice within 50 seconds on their next shift with both goals being registered by Tom Sullivan and assists to Paul White and Tony Celli. Paul White and Chris Parker teamed up again minutes later with Chris scoring on a strong wrist shot from in front making the score 5-1. Winchester kept the pressure on as Ned White picked up a Steve Marino blast off the boards and scored with a quick wrist shot, catching the upper corner. Tom Sullivan scored late in the second period with assists to Tony Celli, his second, and Paul White, his third. Next, it was Chris Parker scoring while the Hawks were short-handed to register his third goal of the game. Ned White and Tony Celli completed the Hawks scoring as each tallied late in the third period.

Paul Tucci played a spirited game and was impressive along with Mike Griffin with good forechecking preventing Malden from generating much offense.

Winchester was defeated this past Thursday, October 28, by the Marblehead Girls Swim Team by a score of 51-32. Winchester's Surname effort was overcome by Marblehead's many A.A.U. calibre swimmers. The meet took place at the Northeast Regional Vocational School in Wakefield.

Sophs smash Belmont 14-0

Belmont High's high flying sophomore eleven came to Knowlton Stadium last Thursday boasting a consecutive victory streak that went back three seasons and included a 6-0 shutout of this year's Woburn sophomores. They were confident of maintaining their string at Winchester's expense but had a rude jolt coming to them.

When the final whistle sounded the Marauders were on the short end of a 14-0 count and their long line of successes was gone. The Sachem Sophs under the coaching of Dave Berman and Mike Houghton completely dominated the action as they scored two touchdowns, both by Sam Bellino and added two extra points on a pass for the conversion from Mark O'Neill to John McPhee.

Belmont had an exceptional passer in its quarterback and he might well have fared better if he had stuck to shorter flips. His first was good for a ten yard gain. But then he resorted to waiting to have uncovered receivers down field and he was sacked several times.

The game was hard fought up until the final whistle. However when one recapitulates the action it was Winchester all the way for a well deserved victory. There was no question nor any excuse. The score really told the whole story.

Field hockey building year

Although this is a building year the Winchester High girls have had an active schedule in the Middlesex League. The varsity team is coached by Marge Sexton while the junior varsity team is being handled by Joan Rosazza.

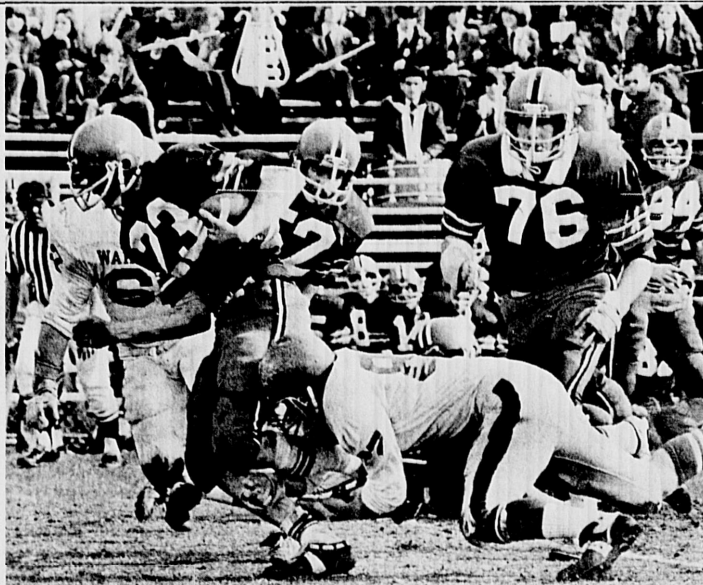

The varsity record to date is 2-8-1 while the J V team is 5-2-4. Considering that this is a building year the girls have shown good spirit and have fought hard against more experienced opposition.

Lisa Ulwick has been high scorer for the varsity team with three goals and the co-captains are Kim Perenich who plays fullback and Denise Driscoll who plays in the goal. Beth Noble, a sophomore, has been a starter for the varsity and should develop into a great player in the next two seasons.

The varsity record to date is: Burlington 5 Winchester 1

Lexington 2 Winchester 0
Woburn 2 Winchester 0
Wakefield 3 Winchester 0
Melrose 3 Winchester 1
Winchester 0, Belmont 0
Reading 2, Winchester 0
Winchester 1, Stoneham 0
Winchester 2, Watertown 0
The J V record to date is:
Lexington 2, Winchester 0
Belmont 3, Winchester 0
Winchester 1, Wakefield 1
Winchester 0, Melrose 0
Winchester 0, Reading 0
Winchester 1, Woburn 1
Winchester 3, Burlington 0
Winchester 4, Stoneham 0
Winchester 3, Watertown 0
Winchester 1, Wakefield 0
Winchester 3, Burlington 0

The season closes with both junior varsity and varsity matches with Melrose and Stoneham to be played this week.

Tom Murray (23) sophomore Sachem fullback moves ahead for Substantial gain in Winchester's 34-0 rout of Wakefield.

Pee Wee A team wins two in row

The Winchester Pee Wee A's posted their second win in a row against a strong Malden team. Getting off to a fast start, Stephen Masiello scored within 31 seconds of the first period, assisted by Jim Coppins and Stephen Viglas.

After Winchester gained the lead, the game became a defensive battle with hard hitting on both sides. Malden finally tied the score at 6:21 of the first period, at the tail end of their third power play attempt. Malden's goal was scored by Eli, assisted by Burns and Gallagher.

Bantam AA team beats Malden 7-5

Brendon "Bang" Nolan got the Bantam AA Team of Winchester Youth Hockey on the road to a 7 to 5 win over Malden on Sunday, when he took a pass from Fran Murray on a two on one rush and slammed it home on the short side lower corner.

After falling behind two to one Buddy "Pistol" Pronski came down the chute with Fran Murray carrying. Fran passed to Murray McCarthy on the wing and Maury put it right on Buddy's stick in front, and bang, it was tied. Ned "Knock" Fortin closed out the first period attack when he combined with Bud Pronski off the face off to unload from the point with a real screamer just off the ice.

Jon "Blast" Boyle opened it up in the second period when Eddie Ducharme got a face off to Daryl Parker and Daryl found John at the post. John slid it under the goalie's pads as he was going down. Next it was Kevin "Crash" Conley who unloaded from the right point with a scorcher after Daryl Parker broke up a Malden rush and found Kevin loose at the point.

Dougie "Rip" Ross got number six when Brendon Nolan and Danny Hines broke it out of a scramble in front and Doug popped a backhand high and left on a downed goalie.

In a game that ended up close there was no breathing room until "Flying" Fran Murray triggered an empty net goal with one second left on passes from Maury McCarthy and John "Flash" Ferullo who played another fine game at defense.

Malden was stymied time again at the blue line by the checking of Eddie Doherty and at the strings by Bobby "Scrap" Surabian and "Jumpin" Jack Bonner.

Little League set to hold annual meeting Nov. 10

The Annual Meeting of the Winchester Little League, Inc., will be held on November 10, at the Elks Home, 375 Cambridge, starting at 7:30 p.m.

President Dr. E.T. (Dick) Blanch urges all senior and major league managers to be present, as members of the board of directors. Also required to attend are the director of CAP League, chairperson of the Women's Auxiliary, the equipment director, the sponsor director, the insurance director, the safety director, umpires-in-chief of the senior and major-minor leagues, the fund drive chairmen and the vice presidents and player agents of both leagues.

The primary purpose of the meeting is to complete the 1976 season and starts the 1977 season. Reports will be made of all 1976 activities, and plans will be started for the 1977 season.

A new set of By-Laws will be proposed, and this is the only meeting at which this important function can be voted upon. There will be an election of officers for the 1977 season, under the recommendations of James P. McGoldrick, chairman of the nominating committee.

Changes in the playing schedule will be offered at this meeting and new plans for the use of fields will be brought up for the consideration of all attending.

Travel Along with

If you are planning to be in Rome for any length of time, order some custom-made blouses or shirts. The Italians are among the few shirt-makers in the world who really know how to make shirts to American tastes. Remember that you are expected to bargain in Italy, and the price on merchandise is the asking price, not the selling price, in all except the largest department stores. The technique in bargaining is to offer less than you are willing to pay for the article, and then work your way up slowly to a point between two-thirds and three-quarters of the asking price.

You will obtain additional travel hints from the agents at MCGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE, 14 Eaton Avenue, Woburn. It's true Rome wasn't built in a day and you won't see it all in a day either, though every corner you turn reveals a new delight. You'll see more beautiful things in one day in Rome than you'll find anywhere else in a month of Sundays. Call 935-0600. Open Monday-Friday 9-5 Saturdays & evenings by appointment.

TRAVEL TIP:
To be admitted duty free, articles must be for personal or household use, or small souvenirs.

Toastmistresses to meet here Nov. 8

"What is Toastmistress: What Can It Do For Me?" will be the subject of a public demonstration meeting to be presented by the Winchester Toastmistress Club on Monday, November 8, in the Suter Room of the Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church St. at 6 p.m.

Miss Lois T. Hamilton of Malden, program chairman, will serve as the commentator-analyst for the evening. Participants will include Mrs. Joseph Darish of Malden, Mrs. Kenneth Weiss of Lexington, and Mrs. L. John Pappalardo of Medford. Miss Hilda G. Hope of Winchester, Mrs. Daniel Murray of Somerville and Mrs. Aldo Pietrantonio of Medford will speak on the theme for the year—"achieve with Pride." An induction ceremony will formally welcome Mrs. Mario Gianelli of Melrose to club membership.

Mrs. Preston S. Johnson, club president, has invited women's clubs in the area to attend this meeting, which is open to the public.

Women's program set at YWCA

Women in the 70's is a unique course for women in 1976. Topics such as: asserting oneself and feeling O.K. about it; the difference in aggressive and assertive behavior; how to say "no" nicely; concerns about women's health and feeling O.K. about one's body will be included in the course. The film, "Why Me?" and "Cats and Dogs" will be shown.

This six-session course will be held on Monday evenings 7 - 9 beginning November 8 at the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd., Burlington.

Course leader is Ann Marie Sigdestad. Call the YWCA to register while there are still openings.

Youth group in Maine session

The Senior High Youth Fellowship of the Crawford
Methodist Church has started another year of activities, holding weekly meetings on Sunday evenings at 6 p.m. at the church. Leaders of the fellowship are Mr. and Mrs.
Ira (Buz) Parry and Mr. &
Mrs. Don Goodell.
One of the first activities of the year for the group was a week-end retreat in West Bath, Maine at the summer home of the Parrys, where discussion focused on the qualities of strong friendship.
Minicourses on "Building Good Friendships," led by Grace Hatch and Carol Breuer have just been completed.
Members of the fellowship have answered a questionnaire concerning the planning of this year's activities and have set dates for a paper drive Nov. '6 and a smorgasbord Jan. 8. Future activities include a bike trip, day ski trip and a spring musical.
Active members of the fellowship are sophomores Ben Atkinson,
Susan Flaherty, Andy
Bowker, Kris Hatch, Jeff
Goodman, Kyle Hersee, John Hauenstein, Julie Parry,

Westwood st.

Old fashioned T'giving service at Crawford

A congregation dressed as colonials; a "liner" leading the hymns; a "proctor" or "tithingman" on patrol to keep sleepy awake; these are only a few of the special events to occur in the Thanksgiving service at the United Methodist Church on November 21 at 10:45 a.m.
The congregation will be "drummed" to service that morning in keeping with the custom of the day when many towns could not afford bells for their churches and the time of the service was announced by a drummer.

High school update

Praise for WHS Band

By Rick Pearl

There was some controversy a few weeks ago concerning the absence of the band at the high school football game October 11, a Monday afternoon. Some people were quite upset with the situation and were quick to criticize members of the band, feeling that it was their obligation to perform at all games. What they failed to take into consideration was that the band was ready to perform...when the game was supposed to be played, and in fact the following day also.

Members of the Winchester High School band are told at the beginning of the year to keep not only game days (Saturday afternoons and Thanksgiving Day) open, but also Sundays in case bad weather forces the cancellation of the contest. The football game in question, however, was postponed for both Saturday and Sunday, and thus scheduled for Columbus Day.

There is no such performance agreement for Mondays, and because that day was a holiday, many musicians had made prior plans to be with their families. So, if anything, the weatherman, not the band, was to blame for the lack of music at Knowlton Stadium three weeks ago. Although many people would think so, the band is not formed for the sole purpose of playing at football games, although it is one of their more important services.

In addition to playing and practicing (every Saturday morning and some afternoons at Knowlton Stadium) for the football season, the band is involved in at least two town parades, plays at the graduation exercises, plans on performing in at least three formal concerts each year, and in the meantime its members are constantly preparing for district, state, and New England music festivals and auditions.

A small part of the marching and concert band make up the stage band, which, in essence, is the honors band group. They have an even heavier schedule, as, in addition to performing in all of the above events, they participate at many other functions and places such as "open houses," the New England Rehabilitation Center, etc. These highly talented students also compete in two audition festivals which occur on separate Saturdays in the school year.

The band, although a rather large part of the music department, is not the only one. There are also the Concert Choir and Orchestra, both of which practice every day, and maintain a great many obligations throughout the school year. Many of the students from both organizations participate in the annual High School musical, tryouts for which are being held November 29 and 30. (The musical itself will be held next March, the 11th through 13th, and details will be forthcoming from Mr. Burton Cowgill, the director of the music department.) The Concert Choir, at Christmas time, annually presents a concert at each elementary school.

Besides these courses of the curriculum, there are a number of extracurricular activities for the student wishing to participate in a musical group. Mrs. Eleanor Thistlethwaite continues her excellent job as the director of Les Troubadours and Los Companeros, two groups that concentrate on French and Spanish music. There is also the jazz band, and students who can be found in their free periods forming their own groups and practicing.

The four areas of the music curriculum are treated just as any other course would be, say, in a math or science. In fact the students get a quarterly grade as they do from all their other subjects. Mr. Cowgill cannot emphasize enough the great amount of time and effort put into the program, not only by the students but the teachers as well.

To chastise these hard-working kids for not appearing at a rescheduled football game, without recognizing the amount of work they put into making our band a proud representation of WHS, is totally unfair. They should be commended, not criticized, for indeed, they do a fine job when they are at the games.

(Rick Pearl is a senior at Winchester High School where he is a member of the general program gaining on-the-job training at The Star as the newspaper's high school intern and correspondent.)

Mike Quinn (33) the most effective of the Warrior ball carriers brought down after short gain by John Della Grotta leading Winchester tackler in this game.

Resident joins school's board

Mrs. Stewart C. Myers of 8 Chesterford rd., has joined the board of the New School of Music, Inc. at 181 Concord ave, Cambridge.

The school, under the direction of Composer Nicholas Van Slyck, and with a board headed by Mrs. Richard Chapin, offers a wide variety of music instruction. Faculty members include Olga Averino, voice, John Bultrick, piano and John Ferris, organ.

With studios in nearby towns, the New School of Music is looking forward to playing an active role in community music development.

Three at Dartmouth

Three students from Winchester were among the approximately 1050 students entering the freshman class at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H. this fall.

The three were Daniel P. Holmes, son of Mrs. David Holmes and the late Mr. Holmes, 3 Fairlane ter.; Virginia M. Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Taylor, 10 Edgehill rd.; and Ronald A. Martignetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Martignetti, 70 Myopia rd.

Martignetti is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy, where he played hockey. Both Holmes and Taylor are 1976 graduates of Winchester High School. Holmes was a member of the National Honor Society and received a letter of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Program. He was also vice president of the band and captain of the swim team.

Miss Taylor was vice president of the National Honor Society and, in 1975, received an achievement award for mathematics. She was also a member of the band and a Junior Volunteer.

Dr. Ryan named to medical post

Dr. Richard M. Ryan, Jr., director of the West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital, has been named medical district director of VA Medical District No. 1 which covers all of New England except the state of Connecticut.

As medical district director, Dr. Ryan will direct the regionalization of VA health care facilities in the five-state area which each year serves 48,000 hospitalized inpatients and 3,200 patients in nursing homes.

Considering an additional 944,000 outpatients visits to VA facilities in the area, the position of VA medical district director is one of the most important Federal health services administration posts in New England, with a budget in excess of $160,000,000.

Prior to Dr. Ryan's VA experience, he served as special assistant to the dean, assistant dean for clinical programs and coordinator of rehabilitation planning at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Ryan is a faculty member at the Harvard School of Public Health and the Harvard Medical School. He holds a degree in doctor of public health in health services administration, Harvard School of Public Health. His home is at 6 Madison ave.

Parents Invited To Heart Defect Talk

PACT, a parents organization aiding children who have congenital heart problems, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Countyway Library Minot Room, 10 Shattuck st., fifth floor, Boston.

Several leading specialists who deal with infant cardiac care will discuss what the Infant Regional Cardiac Program is, what it offers and also will discuss data that has been accumulated regarding physical and psycho-social evaluations of children with heart defects.

Further information about PACT and the meeting is available from Mrs. Nancy Gown, chairman, 25 Coolidge rd., Arlington.

Karen Kelleher of 190 Forest st., is a member of the women's tennis team at Suffolk University, Boston. A junior majoring in Accounting at Suffolk, she was graduated from Matignon High School in 1974.

Youth soccer

The Rowdies faced their toughest challenge of the season this past week when they faced the Golds. The Rowdies fell behind 1-0 when the Golds capitalized on a breakaway through the Rowdy defense.

The Rowdies then adapted their attack to the wet field conditions by going to a short, accurate passing game. The Rowdy defense stiffened and allowed the offense to put tremendous pressure on the Gold secondary.

The accurate passing of Bloch, Pywell, Sughrie, Keller, and the Donnellan twins presented several scoring opportunities which the Gold goalie thwarted.

MacIntosh finally capitalized on this strong offensive pressure with a three-goal hat trick. Halfbacks Zombeck, Bairnsfather, and Bokil played well and set up the forward line.

Final score Rowdies 3, Gold 1.

MERIT!

Letters confirm low tar MERIT as taste-science breakthrough.

"Thanks for considering the people's taste rather than the manufacturers' gimmicks.... Merit is a boon to smokers everywhere."

—Ms. Sharon Kessler York, Pennsylvania

"Thank you for making the biggest breakthrough in smoking in all the years I have smoked. The taste and pleasure I get from MERIT is unbelievable."

—Marc A. Nolan
Akron, Ohio

"And they said it couldn't be done. Some one has finally produced a fine cigarette with low tar, but excellent taste."

—Miss Dolores Taylor
Arlington, Virginia

"Your new Merit cigarettes are great. I have tried every low tar and nicotine brand on the market and have finally found one that truly tastes like a smoke should."

—Phil Hill
Kirkland, Washington

"I've finally found a menthol cigarette with good taste and low tar. I wouldn't switch now for anything."

—Beth Herbert
Boston, Massachusetts

"I switched to MERIT cigarettes. Great cigarette, and best switch I ever made."

—Ernest Balish

"Verdict: FINALLY, a low tar cigarette with taste."

—Bianca Doeschner
New York, New York

"Thanks for a low tar cigarette that tastes like a cigarette and not just like air!"

—Ms. Diane Smith
Franconia, Pennsylvania

"All that taste and low on tar too.... With MERIT around, I won't be reaching for anything else."

—Alan L. Vaughn
Columbia, Missouri

"I have tried all the low tar cigarettes and I believe if they had a horse race for low tar cigarettes, MERIT would win by several lengths!"

—Ms. Victoria M. Lowry
Provo, Utah

"These things have so much flavor, it's very difficult to believe the nicotine and tar ratings, even though they're printed right on the package."

—Thomas R. Zentner
Cayuga, New York

"MERIT is the GREATEST! A truly remarkable low tar cigarette that leaves me satisfied."

—Mrs. Richard H. Walther
Richmond, Virginia

"I couldn't believe how good they taste and how low they are in tar and nicotine."

—Ms. Roselyn Hall
Minneapolis, Minnesota

"By golly, it's true what people say about Merit. I tried them, I switched! They're satisfying, while I'm cutting down on tar."

—Mrs. Dawn Rauh
Burbank, California

"I was amazed! I can't believe that a low tar and nicotine cigarette can taste so good."

—J. Thomas Ellicott, Jr.

Minneapolis, Minnesota

"I would like to compliment you on a fine blend of tobacco. Thanks for a great cigarette."

—Joseph Commiskey
Elmira, New York

"I've tried all the low tar, low nicotine cigarettes and they all lacked taste and flavor. Then came 'MERIT', voila! The flavor is fine and I enjoy them."

—Mrs. Jeannette Trebilcock
Virginia Beach, Virginia

"Thank you Philip Morris, for living up to your word! MERIT is truly the best-tasting low tar and nicotine cigarette I've ever smoked."

—Terry Stewart
Springfield, Ohio

"MERIT will be my steady brand from now on. They are a truly satisfying smoke."

—Mrs. Joan C. Gottlieb
Pompton Plains, New Jersey

"When I spotted your ad about MERIT, I decided to try them. I was not disappointed. Your claims about MERIT are fully justified."

—Mr. Karlis Veits
Danbury, Connecticut

"Merit surely is everything you say it is, right down to the taste. I can have low tar and nicotine and pleasure too."

—Miss T. M. Fredericks
St. Louis, Missouri

"Man, was I surprised. This cigarette has taste. Your advertisements really mean what they say.... Thanks for doing the impossible."

—John E. Ehrenberg
Suitland, Maryland

"You've done it; made a good-tasting cigarette, low in tar and nicotine. I've switched to MERIT!"

—Mrs. Frederic Shaw
Jenkintown, Pennsylvania

"The very first pack of MERIT Menthol did it. I was immediately impressed with the taste."

—Raymond T. Abdoo
Suffield, Ohio

"The taste is outstanding.... I, for one, thank you for MERIT cigarettes. They are really refreshing."

—Douglas B. DeMaris
Minneapolis, Minnesota

"My husband and I tried switching to a brand lower in tar. Neither one of us could. Then we tried MERIT. We really like them and have been smoking them ever since."

Lansing and Margaret Taylor, 6 Blossom Hill rd., turn to the "bicycle built for two" — or is that "four" — to help initiate the 2.4 mile Aberjona Bicentennial Bikeway. The dedication Saturday brought a couple dozen cyclists out for the ceremonies which included speeches by Allen Hill, chairman of the Winchester Historical Commission, Frank Curtis, former chairman of the Winchester Historical Commission, and Selectmen Chairman John J. Sullivan. Rev. Dr. Leon Hatch of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church delivered the benediction. Joining the parents at Ginn Field, on end of the bikeway, are Donnie and Tommy. The cyclists pedaled from the field to the Woburn line, following pretty closely the path of the Aberjona River.

Thanksgiving

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

The twenty-pound pumpkin grinned malevolently in the middle of the breakfast table Monday morning.

Purchased hurriedly at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge on Sunday and carved into a masterpiece before small witches and goblins descended for trick or treats on Sunday night, it seemed a shame to toss it out, less than 24 hours later.

After all, my success with jack-o-lantern skills have made me the Pumpkin Lady of the neighborhood on Halloween night. Smiling, frowning, snarling, the pumpkins lined the steps. At least one small sized Superman wouldn't go near the door when an older child warned that the "witch who lives there turns little children into pumpkins."

But November has arrived and so with a bowl of freshly toasted pumpkin seeds to nibble on, I set about to find some interesting Thanksgiving recipes.

In this bicentennial year, very traditional recipes seem in order. Jean Mortensen suggested two very American dinner menus that she planned in the past for a gourmet dining group.

The club meets four times a year with one couple planning the menu and passing out recipes to the other three couples. All costs are totaled and shared.

In a festive native American foods dinner, Jean and husband David were inspired by pre-Revolutionary Boston. Foods included English cheddar, bread sticks, mussel soup, game hens with wild rice, winter squash and Indian pudding.

On another occasion the theme was Mount Vernon and the foods more in keeping with the tastes of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and other Virginia planters and statesmen. Onion soup, roast ham, rice, candied sweet potatoes, baked celery beaten biscuits, sweet pickled peaches and tipsy squirrel trifle were on the menu.

Jean's interest in history and our English heritage also led her to try ambitious dinners with an English theme including a medieval banquet with jugged hare and beef and kidney pie, and a Christmas dinner menu based on Charles Dickens. "Christmas Carol" story.

The following were selected from the American menus.

Bread Sticks

1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup milk

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Melt butter but do not brown in a 13-by-9-by 2-inch baking pan. Combine dry ingredients in mixing bowl. Add milk. Stir with fork until dough just clings together. Turn dough out onto floured board; roll over to coat, then knead lightly with floured hands about 10 kneading strikes.

Roll dough one-half inch thick into 12-by 8-inch rectangle. With floured knife cut dough lengthwise in half, then crosswise into 16 strips. With both hands pick up strips, one at a time. Dip both sides into butter in pan. Arrange close together in two rows. Bake 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown.

Add 1/2 cup grated cheddar with dry ingredients if desired. Garlic salt may be sprinkled just before baking if preferred.

Candied Sweet Potatoes

6 to 8 sweet potatoes
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar
3/4 cup water
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cook the sweet potatoes in their jackets in boiling salted water until nearly tender. Drain, peel and cut into slices about one-half inch thick. Place in greased shallow baking dish and sprinkle with salt. Cook together brown sugar, water and butter in a separate pan for several minutes. Then stir in lemon juice and pour over potatoes. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, basting occasionally with the syrup.

Guide for publicity chairmen

As a public service The Winchester Star is printing these pointers for publicity chairmen to help make their job of getting publicity used by area newspapers and radio stations easier.

The easier you make it for the news media to use your press releases, the more success you will have in getting publicity for your group.

So, first, know the medium and its deadlines. Make sure your copy is early or on time.

Make sure that your name and phone number appear on each release so that you can be contacted if there is a question.

Be brief. Newspapers and radio stations sell space and time. They will use your release as a public service, but don't try to impose with excess verbiage, nonessentials, and routine information and reminders of interest only to your members.

Make sure that you supply the pertinent information. If you feel that you cannot write a news release, send the information in outline form. The 5 W's should appear first in your story: who, what, where, when, why. Thus your meeting announcement would start with the name of the group, the event planned, time and place.

Type your releases so that they are easy to edit and read. Double or triple space. Do not send carbons and weak photocopies that are difficult to read and messy to handle.

Do not type your releases in capital letters. Someone at the newspaper will have to remark all of the letters which should be capitalized, and it is easy for errors to be made, such as MacDonald or Macdonald.

Be accurate. You should check your typed releases to make sure they are correct. Double check the spelling of all names and make sure that people are properly identified.

Write for the community. All clubs have presidents who preside, secretaries who read minutes etc. Generally the fact that they did this is not news. Often, after the fact, a meeting is of little community interest. The time to publicize your events is before they happen.

Keep on the lookout for news: club honors received, awards given, elections, community projects, guest speakers and the like. These are news. Many newspapers will refuse to publish the routine reminder announcement of closed meetings which are of interest to members only.

Do not forget that as publicity chairman you are the correspondent of your club for the whole community, and you are writing for a newspaper or broadcasting station. Leave out the "we," "our," the exclamations about beautiful table decorations and the exhortations for everyone to "come out and support us." This is not good newspaper writing, and an editor will edit out such references.

Do not try to impose on your wife's friendship with the editor's wife, your children going to school together, your membership in a civic club, or by reminding the editor that you bought an ad. Most newspaper editors are offended by this kind of pressure for good play to a news story because they do the best they can to give fair and equal coverage to all of the many groups which compete for time and space.

Do not telephone a newspaper or radio office with your "news" which you were too lazy or to write or which you forgot. Most media offices are too busy to handle routine publicity items this way and there is chance of error in oral transmission.

After the story has appeared. Don't ask the newspaper to run your story a second week. If it is that interesting or important, it is your job to come up with a second version.

Don't call and ask why your story has been changed or give orders that it must not be changed. Most newspaper editors take their job seriously—that job is to see that all stories conform to good newspaper writing style and to the particular paper's style in terms of good news leads (first paragraphs that are timely), concise writing, and style on abbreviations, capitalizing and the like.

Newspapers which are mailed under second class permits are prohibited by law from promoting raffles, lotteries and games of chance. Do not be put out when references to such events are deleted or changed.

When your story is not used immediately, do not call the editor. A newspaper first has to use dated and timely news. If your function is not happening for several weeks, chances are good that the editor will use it later and first had to give priority to events happening in the coming week.

Do not ask for a copy of the paper or pictures to be sent to you. The least you can do if you deal with the paper is buy it, or send a stamped, addressed envelope.

Add Above

If your news release will be going to news media in several towns, localize it for each by supplying the names of the local members, contributors, exhibitors etc.

Getting Photographs: If you would like a picture taken to help you publicize an event, schedule it well ahead with the newspaper. Don't expect the paper to be able to take this kind of picture at night or on weekends. Try to schedule it at the paper's convenience. Arrange for a small number of people to be in the picture and make sure they are on time for the appointment. You can help the photographer by having caption information ready.

If you want to submit a picture, make sure that it is a good sharp black and white. Many publicity chairmen are not the least bit embarrassed to submit pictures which are too dark, grey, out of focus, scratched, blurry and otherwise terrible. They will look worse in the paper, so do not be surprised when this kind of picture is not accepted for publication.

A fault of many pictures which are submitted is that they include too many people and the photographer stood too far away. If you will look at professional newspaper pictures, you will see that many cut people off at the waist and get close to the faces. It is a rare picture in which the feet are important.

When too many people are crowded in, the faces cannot be recognized and the picture is full of extraneous foreground floor and background ceiling.

If you want to submit a picture for your group to several area newspapers, localize it, again by pulling out just the local people. A group shot of 35 people, 3 of whom are from the town, is often too large and of too little local interest for a newspaper to use.

When you do take a publicity picture, show some action. People standing in front of a wall, passing a gavel, receiving a check are not very interesting.

With each picture submit a typed caption which makes clear what is going on and who the people are.

Be on time. A lot has to be done to a press release after a newspaper receives it. It must be edited so that it conforms to news style and it may have to be rewritten if it did not have a good news lead or if it was full of extraneous information.

After that, a headline is written. Then the story goes into production where it is typeset and proofread. The process takes many hours and involves many people.

If you submit a typed, well-written release in plenty of time before the deadline, the chance of your press release being used is good.

Lenny Vining, Wakefield quarterback is a talented passer but he did not have the necessary blocking Saturday to make much progress against the Winchester defense. Here he is being harrassed by Co-captain Jim Covino (67) and Mike Wise

Belmont quarterback and passer found receivers covered and elected to run but was smeared at the line of scrimmage by Sachem sophomore defender at game last Thursday.

Library films

Nov. 7 and 9

The Astronoughts - The neighborhood gang builds a "space ship" from an old boiler and the fun begins.

Bremen Town Musicians - As they roam the countryside of Germany - the four musicians encounter adventure and robbers.

The Mole and the Lollipop - The mole discovers a lollipop and then must discover what to do with it.

On Sunday afternoon, the family program is held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library and will begin at 2. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. There will be a Tuesday afternoon program for school age children at 3:30 p.m.

Hobby books at junior library

Harry Zarchy - Here is Your Hobby: Whatever your interest - there's certainly a hobby that will appeal to your taste, fill your leisure hours, learn something new from Mr. Zarchy's most enjoyable book.

J. Leeming - Fun for Young Collectors: A very outstanding book about thirty-two collection projects for boys & girls who can find new fun through starting collection of objects for a fascinating hobby. Many household necessities of bygone years are now collectors items.

Bill Olcheskie - Beginning Stamp Collecting: Fun for all - a new hobby no further away than your nearest post office - It's a hobby you can collect alone - share with your friends - join a stamp club.

Bill Gunston - The Philatelist's Companion: This book gives the collector a thorough understanding of why some stamps are worth more than others - how they can be bought - and why stamps are a fine investment and will give any reader in detail the financial aspects of collecting - and ways to preserve your stamps.

R.S. Yoeman - 1976 Handbook of United States Coins with Premium List: The annually revised editions of this handbook offers a helping hand to a new collector with detailed explanations of one of the world's oldest hobbies, how to appraise, care for and what coins to buy. The premium list gives representative prices paid by dealers for various U.S. Coins and Mint Records.

New books

NON-FICTION

Kurt Vonnegut - Slapstick or Lonesome No More!: The memoirs of Dr. Wilbur Daffodil, a pediatrician, and former President of the U.S., comprise the bulk of Kurt Vonnegut's most recent novel. Their climax is his description of how he was compelled as President to sell the original Louisiana Purchase to Stewart Oriole Mott, the King of Michigan. Hi ho.

Francine du Plessix Gray - Lovers and Tyrants: A funny novel which chronicles the history of Stephanie, who engages herself in the major conflicts of modern time. Her life story provided new perspectives into the relationship between love and liberation, security and freedom.

Fay Weldon - Remember Me: An original, satiric and disturbing novel which delineates the essential forces which conjoin parent and child, husband and wife, and lover and lover. Vance Nye - Bourjaily - Now Playing at Canterbury: This unique novel, which embodies the spirit of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, is a celebration of American life and of the American people. A joy in life and a profound understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of human beings are qualities which characterize this entertaining novel.

Pierre La Mure - The Private Life of Mona Lisa: After years of hunting through the archives of Florence, Milan, Paris and the Vatican, the author has recreated the life of the woman who sat for Leonardo da Vinci for the most famous portrait ever painted and has woven her story into a panorama of the Renaissance.

Erich Fromm - To Have or to Be?: Erich Fromm's thesis in this seminal book is that two modes of existence are struggling for the spirit of humankind: the having mode, which concentrates on power; and the being mode, which is based on love. This summary of a lifetime of thought by a leading social analyst is a major manifesto for a new social and psychological revolution.

Betty Rollin - First, You Cry: "Fact is, I'm the same car I always was except now I have a dent in my fender." So writes NBC-TV news correspondent Betty Rollin in an intimate, witty and moving account of her operation for breast cancer.

Maya Angelou - Singin' and Swingin' and Gettin' Merry Like Christmas: In this third volume of her autobiography, Maya Angelou moves into the adult world. Her writing is charged with a sense of life and love and a unique celebration of the human condition.

Lansing and Margaret Taylor, 6 Blossom Hill rd., turn to the "bicycle built for two" — or is that "four" — to help initiate the 2.4 mile Aberjona Bicentennial Bikeway. The dedication Saturday brought a couple dozen cyclists out for the ceremonies which included speeches by Allen Hill, chairman of the Winchester Historical Commission, Frank Curtis, former chairman, Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, and Selectmen Chairman John J. Sullivan. Rev. Dr. Leon Hatch of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church delivered the benediction. Joining their parents at Ginn Field, on end of the bikeway, are Donnie and Tommy. The cyclists pedaled from the field to the Woburn line, following pretty closely the path of the Aberjona River.

Hearthstone Thanksgiving

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

The twenty-pound pumpkin grinned malevolently in the middle of the breakfast table Monday morning.

Purchased hurriedly at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge on Sunday and carved into a masterpiece before small witches and goblins descended for trick or treats on Sunday night, it seemed a shame to toss it out, less than 24 hours later.

After all, my success with jack o-lantern skills have made me the Pumpkin Lady of the neighborhood on Halloween night. Smiling, frowning, snarling, the pumpkins lined the steps. At least one small sized Superman wouldn't go near the door when an older child warned that the "witch who lives there turns little children into pumpkins."

But November has arrived and so with a bowl of freshly toasted pumpkin seeds to nibble on, I set about to find some interesting Thanksgiving recipes.

In this bicentennial year, very traditional recipes seem in order. Jean Mortensen suggested two very American dinner menus that she planned in the past for a gourmet dining group.

The club meets four times a year with one couple planning the menu and passing out recipes to the other three couples. All costs are totaled and shared.

In a festive native American foods dinner, Jean and husband David were inspired by pre-Revolutionary Boston. Foods included English cheddar, bread sticks, mussel soup, game hens with wild rice, winter squash and Indian pudding.

On another occasion the theme was Mount Vernon and the foods more in keeping with the tastes of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and other Virginia planters and statesmen. Onion soup, roast ham, rice, candied sweet potatoes, baked celery beaten biscuits, sweet pickled peaches and tipsy square trifle were on the menu.

Jean's interest in history and our English heritage also led her to try ambitious dinners with an English theme including a medieval banquet with jugged hare and beef and kidney pie, and a Christmas dinner menu based on Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" story.

The following were selected from the American menus.

Bread Sticks

1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup milk

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Melt butter but do not brown in a 13-by-9-by-2-inch baking pan. Combine dry ingredients in mixing bowl. Add milk. Stir with fork until dough just clings together. Turn dough out onto floured board; roll over to coat, then knead lightly with floured hands about 10 kneading strikes.

Roll dough one-half inch thick into 12-by-8-inch rectangle. With floured knife cut dough lengthwise in half, then crosswise into 16 strips. With both hands pick up strips, one at a time. Dip both sides into butter in pan. Arrange close together in two rows. Bake 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown.

Add 1/2 cup grated cheddar with dry ingredients if desired. Garlic salt may be sprinkled just before baking if preferred.

Candied Sweet Potatoes

6 to 8 sweet potatoes
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar
3/4 cup water
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cook the sweet potatoes in their jackets in boiling salted water until nearly tender. Drain, peel and cut into slices about one-half inch thick. Place in greased shallow baking dish and sprinkle with salt. Cook together brown sugar, water and butter in a separate pan for several minutes. Then stir in lemon juice and pour over potatoes. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, basting occasionally with the syrup.

Guide for publicity chairmen

As a public service The Winchester Star is printing these pointers for publicity chairmen to help make their job of getting publicity used by area newspapers and radio stations easier.

The easier you make it for the news media to use your press releases, the more success you will have in getting publicity for your group.

So, first, know the medium and its deadlines. Make sure your copy is early or on time.

Make sure that your name and phone number appear on each release so that you can be contacted if there is a question.

Be brief. Newspapers and radio stations sell space and time. They will use your release as a public service, but don't try to impose with excess verbiage, nonessentials, and routine information and reminders of interest only to your members.

Make sure that you supply the pertinent information. If you feel that you cannot write a news release, send the information in outline form. The 5 W's should appear first in your story: who, what, where, when, why. Thus your meeting announcement would start with the name of the group, the event planned, time and place.

Type your releases so that they are easy to edit and read. Double or triple space. Do not send carbons and weak photocopies that are difficult to read and messy to handle.

Do not type your releases in capital letters. Someone at the newspaper will have to remark all of the letters which should be capitalized, and it is easy for errors to be made, such as MacDonald or Macdonald.

Be accurate. You should check your typed releases to make sure they are correct. Double check the spelling of all names and make sure that people are properly identified.

Write for the community. All clubs have presidents who preside, secretaries who read minutes etc. Generally the fact that they did this is not news. Often, after the fact, a meeting is of little community interest. The time to publicize your events is before they happen.

Keep on the lookout for news: club honors received, awards given, elections, community projects, guest speakers and the like. These are news. Many newspapers will refuse to publish the routine reminder announcement of closed meetings which are of interest to members only.

Do not forget that as publicity chairman you are the correspondent of your club for the whole community, and you are writing for a newspaper or broadcasting station. Leave out the "we," "our," the exclamations about beautiful table decorations and the exhortations for everyone to "come out and support us." This is not good newspaper writing, and an editor will edit out such references.

Do not try to impose on your wife's friendship with the editor's wife, your children going to school together, your membership in a civic club, or by reminding the editor that you bought an ad. Most newspaper editors are offended by this kind of pressure for good play to a news story because they do the best they can to give fair and equal coverage to all of the many groups which compete for time and space.

Do not telephone a newspaper or radio office with your "news" which you were too lazy or too busy to write or forget. Most media offices are too busy to handle routine publicity items this way and there is chance of error in oral transmission.

After the story has appeared. Don't ask the newspaper to run your story a second week. If it is that interesting or important, it is your job to come up with a second version.

Don't call and ask why your story has been changed or give orders that it must not be changed. Most newspaper editors take their job seriously—that job is to see that all stories conform to good newspaper writing style and to the particular paper's style in terms of good news leads (first paragraphs that are timely), concise writing, and style on abbreviations, capitalizing and the like.

Newspapers which are mailed under second class permits are prohibited by law from promoting raffles, lotteries and games of chance. Do not be put out when references to such events are deleted or changed.

When your story is not used immediately, do not call the editor. A newspaper first has to use dated and timely news. If your function is not happening for several weeks, chances are good that the editor will use it later and first had to give priority to events happening in the coming week.

Do not ask for a copy of the paper or pictures to be sent to you. The least you can do if you deal with the paper is buy it, or send a stamped, addressed envelope.

... Add Above

If your news release will be going to news media in several towns, localize it for each by supplying the names of the local members, contributors, exhibitors etc.

Getting Photographs: If you would like a picture taken to help you publicize an event, schedule it well ahead with the newspaper. Don't expect the paper to be able to take this kind of picture at night or on weekends. Try to schedule it at the paper's convenience. Arrange for a small number of people to be in the picture and make sure they are on time for the appointment. You can help the photographer by having caption information ready.

If you want to submit a picture, make sure that it is a good sharp black and white. Many publicity chairmen are not the least bit embarrassed to submit pictures which are too dark, grey, out of focus, scratched, blurry and otherwise terrible. They will look worse in the paper, so do not be surprised when this kind of picture is not accepted for publication.

A fault of many pictures which are submitted is that they include too many people and the photographer stood too far away. If you will look at professional newspaper pictures, you will see that many cut people off at the waist and get close to the faces. It is a rare picture in which the feet are important.

When too many people are crowded in, the faces cannot be recognized and the picture is full of extraneous foreground floor and background ceiling.

If you want to submit a picture for your group to several area newspapers, localize it, again by pulling out just the local people. A group shot of 35 people, 3 of whom are from the town, is often too large and of too little local interest for a newspaper to use.

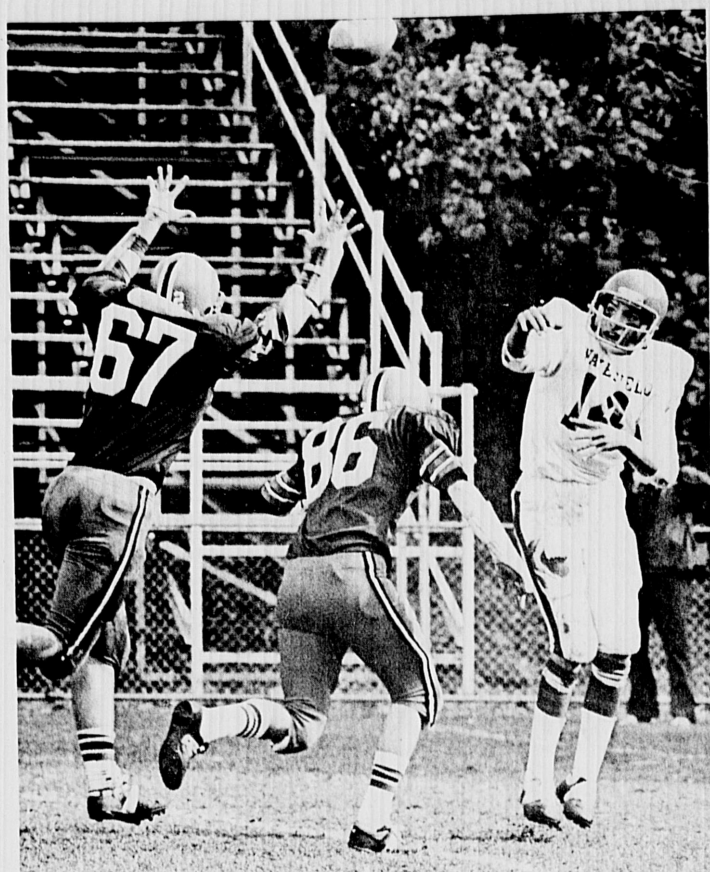

When you do take a publicity picture, show some action. People standing in front of a wall, passing a gavel, receiving a check are not very interesting.

With each picture submit a typed caption which makes clear what is going on and who the people are.

Be on time. A lot has to be done to a press release after a newspaper receives it. It must be edited so that it conforms to news style and it may have to be rewritten if it did not have a good news lead or if it was full of extraneous information.

After that, a headline is written. Then the story goes into production where it is typeset and proofread. The process takes many hours and involves many people.

If you submit a typed, well-written release in plenty of time before the deadline, the chance of your press release being used is good.

New books

NON-FICTION

Kurt Vonnegut - Slapstick or Lonesome No More!: The memoirs of Dr. Wilbur Daffodil, a pediatrician, and former President of the U.S., comprise the bulk of Kurt Vonnegut's most recent novel. Their climax - is his description of how he was compelled as President to sell the original Louisiana Purchase to Stewart Oriole Mott, the King of Michigan. Hi ho.

Francine du Plessix Gray - Lovers and Tyrants: A funny novel which chronicles the history of Stephanie, who engages herself in the major conflicts of modern time. Her life story provided new perspectives into the relationship between love and liberation, security and freedom.

Fay Weldon - Remember Me: An original, satiric and disturbing novel which delineates the essential forces which conjoin parent and child, husband and wife, and lover and lover.

Vance Nye Bourjaily - Now Playing at Canterbury: This unique novel, which embodies the spirit of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, is a celebration of American life and of the American people. A joy in life and a profound understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of human beings are qualities which characterize this entertaining novel.

Pierre La Mure - The Private Life of Mona Lisa: After years of hunting through the archives of Florence, Milan, Paris and the Vatican, the author has recreated the life of the woman who sat for Leonardo da Vinci for the most famous portrait ever painted and has woven her story into a panorama of the Renaissance.

Erich Fromm - To Have or to Be?: Erich Fromm's thesis in this seminal book is that two modes of existence are struggling for the spirit of humankind: the having mode, which concentrates on power; and the being mode, which is based on love. This summary of a lifetime of thought by a leading social analyst is a major manifesto for a new social and psychological revolution.

Betty Rollin - First, You Cry: "Fact is, I'm the same car I always was except now I have a dent in my fender." So writes NBC-TV news correspondent Betty Rollin in an intimate, witty and moving account of her operation for breast cancer.

Maya Angelou - Singin' and Swingin' and Gettin' Merry Like Christmas: In this third volume of her autobiography, Maya Angelou moves into the adult world. Her writing is charged with a sense of life and love and a unique celebration of the human condition.

Obituaries

Henry K. Spenser

A memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. on Saturday at the First Congregational Church for Henry Kendall Spenser of 1 Central Green. Mr. Spenser died October 31 at the Winchester Hospital after a long illness. He was 88 years old.

Funeral services were private for the retired president of the Blanchard Machine Company of Cambridge.

Born in Rhode Island in 1888, Mr. Spenser graduated from MIT with the class of 1909. He was employed by the Blanchard Machine Company as general manager and treasurer for many years before becoming president.

Mr. Spenser was a founding member of the Conomo Yacht Club in Essex. He was also a Winchester town meeting member for many years, serving on the finance and other town committees. He was an active member of the MIT alumni association and a member of the alumni council for many years.

Mr. Spenser, a Winchester resident for 55 years, recently celebrated his sixtieth wedding anniversary with his wife Madge (Hovey), who survives him.

Also surviving are sons Kendall H. of Amherst, New Hampshire, David E. of Waltham, and Richard W. of Wellesley. Also daughter Mrs. Janet Mosman of Winchester and six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the MIT alumni fund or the First Congregational Church, of which Mr. Spenser was a member.

Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Allen Prescott

Funeral services were held in Malden for Allen Prescott, 68, who died October 28 at Winchester Hospital after a brief illness. Burial was in Salem Street Cemetery, Malden.

Mr. Prescott moved to Winchester 18 years ago and was a retired salesman for Brown and Bigelow Company, a Boston-based advertising firm.

He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the United States Army.

Mr. Prescott was a member of the West Medford Congregational Church, the Winchester Seniors Association, and the Winchester chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

He is survived by his daughter Janet A. Ford of Dedham, and sons Alan Prescott of Michigan and David Gregory of Alabama. He also leaves 14 grandchildren.

The Weir Funeral Home of Malden handled the arrangements.

Hugh Marshall

Hugh M. Marshall of 8 Elm St., a retired foreman with the Boston and Maine Railroad and a Winchester resident for the past 39 years, died at Winchester Hospital October 31 at the age of 72.

He was born April 4, 1904 in Marshalltown, Nova Scotia to Edward and Sarah (McLarren) Marshall. He belonged to the Episcopal Church and was a member of United Transportation Union Local 1331 for over 30 years.

He is survived by a nephew, Edward S. Marshall of Stockton Springs, Me.; and two nieces, Linda Marshall of Boston and Mrs. Carol Timberlake of Strong, Me. He was the husband of the late Margaret (McCue) Marshall.

Rev. John Bishop officiated at funeral ceremonies held Wednesday at the Church of the Epiphany. Interment was at Forest Glen Cemetery in Reading.

The Costello Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Charles Fitzgerald

Charles S. Fitzgerald, 80, who coached and taught at Boston Latin School for 37 years, died recently at the Soldiers Home in Chelsea.

Mr. Fitzgerald taught French and coached football, track and baseball until his retirement in 1959.

He was graduated from Boston Latin in 1913, and from Boston College in 1917. In his senior year, he was quarterback and captain of the football team. Although a broken ankle sidelined him for most of the season, he came onto the field in a cast to kick the winning point after a touchdown in the final game against Holy Cross.

After service in the Army, Mr. Fitzgerald coached for a year in Ohio before being chosen to coach at Latin.

He was a former president of the Massachusetts Coaches Association and the Gridiron club. In 1964, he was voted into the state high school football coaches hall of fame.

Funeral services were held in St. Francis Xavier Church in South Weymouth. Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Surviving Mr. Fitzgerald are a daughter, Mary Louise Fitzgerald of Berkeley, Calif.; a sister, Sister Frances Paula, S.N.D., of Philadelphia; a niece, Mrs. Edward A. Livingstone of Winchester; and a nephew, Stephen D. Barry of Winchester.

Esther Hennessey

Funeral services were held from the Doane, Beal and Ames Funeral Home in Hyannis for Mrs. Esther G. Hennessey, a long-time Winchester resident, who died September 28. She was 75 years old.

Mrs. Hennessey, wife of the late Thomas M. Hennessey, was a member of the Winchester Country Club and the Guild of the Infant Savior. She taught music at Marycliff Academy in Arlington for several years after graduating from the New England Conservatory of Music in 1921.

She was also a member of St. Pius X Church in South Weymouth, the Cape Cod Community Concerts Association and its former president, the South Weymouth Garden Club and the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Hennessey moved from Winchester to South Weymouth in 1968.

Surviving are two sons, James T. Hennessey of Media, Pennsylvania, and Thomas M. Hennessey, Jr., of Scituate; a daughter, Anne Hennessey of South Weymouth; a brother, Edward H. Dwyer of Camden, Maine; a sister, Mrs. Frank Haley of

Russell Taylor

St. Mary's Church was the site of a funeral service offered Tuesday for Russell John Taylor, 56, a resident of 20 Mystic ave. Mr. Russell died at Winchester Hospital October 29 after a long illness.

A self-employed interior decorator, Mr. Russell had been a resident of Winchester for the past 50 years. Born in Billerica February 28, 1918 to Gladys (Plude) and Russell Taylor, he attended schools in Winchester and belonged to St. Mary's Church.

He is survived by his wife Violet (Anderson) Taylor of Winchester; son Russell Taylor Jr. of Billerica; daughter Eileen McDaniel of No. Reading; and sister Shirley M. Foley of Boston. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Officiating at the funeral services was Rev. Mark S. Sheehan of St. Mary's. Burial was at St. Anne's in Sturbridge.

The Costello Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Pietro Caputo

Pietro Caputo, of 62 Swanton st., a resident of Winchester for 63 years, died at home October 28 after several months' illness.

A native of Italy, Mr. Caputo was 78 years old.

The son of Joseph Caputo of Italy, Pietro Caputo came to Winchester at the age of 15. For 50 years he was a gelatin worker at the J.O. Whitten Company in Winchester. He was a member of the Christopher Columbus Club and of St. Mary's Church.

Services were held October 30 at St. Mary's, with Rev. Ernest Serino of St. Catherine's Church, Charlestown and Rev. Roger Cormier of St. Mary's officiating. Burial was at the Calvary cemetery in Woburn.

The husband of Angelina N. (Tranfiglia) Caputo of Winchester, Mr. Caputo is also survived by four children: Joseph A. of Winchester; John P. of Burlington; Vincent J. of Framingham; and Mary C. Valentino of Revere.

He also leaves eight grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Soricelli of Italy.

Donations in his name may be made to the American Cancer Society, 85 Devonshire st., Boston.

Arrangements were by the Lane Funeral Home.

Women offer

UNICEF Cards

Once again the Church Women United of Winchester are assisting in the sale of UNICEF Cards. In more than 100 developing countries from Afghanistan to Zambia millions of children will also receive your good wishes. Your season's greetings will mean healthier, happier New Years because of improved health care, nutrition, clean water, and education made possible through profits realized through the sale of UNICEF cards.

This year's selection of classic, traditional, and contemporary cards, designs from five continents will be on sale from November 8 through November 27, from 9 to 4:30 at the Post Office, and from November 29 through December 11 at the Star Market, Woburn Plaza. The card sales are staffed by representatives from all the Winchester churches.

Polaroid names

ex-local man

Lawrence Capodilupo of Southborough, formerly of Winchester, has been appointed marketing services manager for Polaroid Corporation, according to an announcement by Peter Wensberg, senior vice president.

In his position, Capodilupo is responsible for the Company's marketing research, sales planning and forecasting, information systems and computer applications, and marketing information center.

Capodilupo joined Polaroid in 1967 as a marketing representative and became military sales manager in 1968. In 1972 he was made manager of sales training and dealer education. Last year he was marketing manager for U.S. sunglasses sales when Polaroid entered this field with its own branded sunglasses.

Guzzi to visit Regional Voke

Secretary of State Paul Guzzi will present awards and speak to the students at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School on November 17.

Winners of the annual essay contest on citizenship will receive citations at the morning assembly. The contest is unique in that it equates citizenship with the responsibility of curbing vandalism and has resulted in a keen respect for property among Northeast students.

But an added aspect to this year's citizenship awards assembly is an examination of citizenship in action in the form of the several referenda questions on the November ballot. The students have been studying and discussing the referenda and are looking forward to an exchange with Secretary Guzzi on the voting results and the value of the referendum as a means of obtaining citizen opinion.

Although the assembly will include students of all levels, the contest is limited to the school's 320 freshmen and is conducted by the social studies department headed by John X. Crowley.

The Greater Boston Massachusetts Chapter of the American Heart Association recently received contributions in memory of or honoring residents of Winchester.

John S. Banas, Jr., M.D., president of the Greater Boston Chapter, said, "Gifts honoring late friends and relatives are immensely important to the Heart Association. They support heart research and educational programs offered to community and professional people that may help to prevent others from being stricken prematurely by heart attacks."

Dr. Banas went on to say that cardiovascular disease is still the nation's leading cause of death and disability. "The job of the Heart Association is to reduce this 20th century epidemic," he stated.

The Heart Association accepts and gratefully acknowledges all memorial contributions, regardless of the amount. They can be sent, along with the name and address of the deceased, to: Greater Boston Massachusetts Chapter of the American Heart Association, 112 Cypress st., Brookline, MA 02146. Contributions also may be made to honor friends on special occasions.

Lt. William Haggerty, assisted by members of several other police departments, looks over some of the 61 Oriental rugs seized in a raid in Framingham early Sunday morning. Several recent housebreaks in Winchester have resulted in the theft of the rugs here. Residents who have had their rugs stolen may identify them at McCall Junior High School on Saturday between 10 and 2.

Burglary ring smashed as police arrest seven and recover much loot

What may turn out to be a one million dollar ring involving stolen Oriental rugs, stolen cars, drugs, and guns, has been cracked by the efforts of Lt. William Haggerty and other members of the Winchester Police Department.

With warrants still out and arrests still pending, Police Chief John P. McHugh is confident that "the dogged determination of Lt. Haggerty has led to the discovery of a great many illegal operations" in several cities and towns of the state.

Seven persons have been arrested after a four-week investigation of housebreaks which culminated in an early morning raid Sunday at 693 Concord st., Framingham.

According to Lt. Haggerty, Richard Mackenzie of Revere, David Hall of Newton, Sharon Burke and Maryanne McNis of Medford, Richard Wolf and John Cuijanovic of Cambridge have been charged with breaking and entering, larceny, and receiving stolen property.

On October 17 a break was reported at the home of Edward French, 2 Ledgebrook road, Lt. Haggerty said. A neighbor took note of the registration number of a suspicious car driving back and forth on that street and, although the digits were somewhat off, police were able to trace the number through the registry of motor vehicles.

The car was traced to a Cambridge woman and her boyfriend who offered to meet with Lt. Haggerty at the Robin Motel in Malden "to tell us the story of how the car came to be involved in the break," Lt. Haggerty said.

Vets invited to march in parade today

John T. Horn, chairman of the Veterans' Day Committee in Winchester, announced last Friday that the committee extends to all Winchester veterans "a most cordial invitation to participate in the observance of Veterans' Day, Thursday, November 11."

Commanders Warren T. Bolivar of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and William S. Stevenson of the American Legion welcome all veterans to participate. Uniforms are optional.

The veterans marching in the parade are to meet at the corner of Vine and Park streets, by the American Legion Home, at 10:30 a.m. to depart at 10:45 for the war memorial at Main street and the Mystic Valley parkway. The group will then proceed to the honor roll at the Town Hall for the placing of the wreaths to honor those men and women who served their country in the armed forces.

Participating in the line of march will be members of the board of selectmen, Town Manager Thomas Groux; Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh; members of the police and fire departments; and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion. Members of the senior high school band will play taps at the war memorial at the new Lincoln School and at the honor roll at Town Hall.

Also appearing will be the Immaculate Conception Drum and Bugle Corps. Horn's announcement concludes, "We hope that this year's Veterans' Day program will be well attended by all Winchester veterans and townspeople."

Stores offer free turkeys

Here's an opportunity to get your Thanksgiving turkey early — and free. Local stores are offering the turkeys to their customers without cost, and all you have to do is visit them and fill out a coupon to be eligible.

They have set a deadline of Nov. 20 by 5 p.m. Then a drawing will be held and each store listed in the free turkeys advertisement in today's paper will award at least one free turkey. Turn to page 24 for the list of stores.

Favorable town vote will sway school committee on Wyman

Though the school committee apparently leans towards closing the Wyman Elementary School, they will probably not vote to close if the town feels otherwise.

Wyman parents have initiated a referendum petition to put the question before the town, and if they succeed, the town-wide vote could come by mid-December.

School Committee Chairlady Mary Pronski has stated that she will abide by the wishes of the town as expressed in such a vote.

Board Member Catherine Fallon said that while "a good case can be made for closing, that doesn't necessarily make it right for the town." Mrs. Fallon noted that though Monday's Town Meeting vote to close was a close 75-72, she knew of at least 15 town meeting members who favor closing but who, for one reason or another, did not vote or could not be present at the meeting.

"Two or three votes is not a mandate to close a school, especially with 50 members absent or abstaining," said Board Member John Noble, who apparently saw the Town Meeting vote in a different light. Noble indicated that a referendum would have some influence on his final decision.

Committeewoman Constance Pappas is "still pondering the Town Meeting vote." She said if there was "a reasonable doubt" about closing the school, she would elect to keep Wyman open.

"If the town wants to spend the money to keep the school open, I have no objection," said Board Member Robert Frank. "However," he added, "I am not persuaded that keeping the school open would be educationally cost-effective."

Expressing what seems to be the school committee's present stand, Mrs. Fallon said, "It's not worth rocking the boat if the town feels otherwise." She concluded: "Either way, there's no joy in winning this one."

The referendum drive was initiated by Wyman Parents Association President Sandra Pomeroy, who is seeking town-wide assistance in order to obtain the necessary signatures of three per cent of the town's voters by the Tuesday deadline. If she obtains the signatures, the selectmen have ten days to act on the question. From that point they have 14 days to put the question before the town. The school board has indicated that they would delay voting on the issue until after the referendum, should it take place within the next several weeks.

School board denies request for busing from Aristotle dr.

The school committee turned down a request for transportation from Aristotle drive residents at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The committee acted on and discussed several other matters as well, including an overrun in the special education budget; administrative evaluations; a new, four-part humanities course for the high school; new coaches for girls' basketball; and proctors for social functions at the junior high schools.

Richard E. Ashley of 11 Plato ter. presented the case of the Aristotle drive parents, who claim that lack of a sidewalk

Second flu clinic set for Nov. 20

The board of health, with support from the physicians at Winchester Hospital, are sponsoring a second flu clinic to be held Saturday, November 20, from 10 to 1 at the health office in Town Hall.

This clinic will be primarily for those healthy individuals between 18 and 64 who wish to receive free immunization against the A. swine flu virus. This monovalent vaccine does not contain immunizing factors against A. victoria.

Those chronically ill and those over 65 years of age who missed the first flu clinic will be able to obtain the bivalent vaccine at this time. This vaccine provides immunization against both A. victoria and A. swine virus strains.

In addition, the board of health urges that those persons under age 18 who are chronically ill and who received the bivalent vaccine at the first clinic return for another shot in order to receive complete immunization.

Once again the Red Cross has offered to provide transportation to the clinic and arrangements may be made through the chapter house, 729-2300.

Dr. Lawrence Quigley, chairman of the board of health, and Michael Saraco, director of public health, urge anyone with questions to contact his or her physician.

Coffee will be offered to those receiving the shots and physicians and nurses will be in attendance for the duration of the clinic.

The following suggested schedule is recommended by the board of health. If your last name starts with the letter as noted, the board urges that you make an effort to come at the designated time. In no case, however, will anyone be turned away for coming at other than the designated time if such time is inconvenient.

A to F — 10 to 11.
G to M — 11 to noon.
N to Z — noon to 1.

Meeting recommends closing elementary school, parents circulate referendum papers

Monday session

As its final act, the fall session of town meeting voted 75-72 to advise the school committee to close one elementary school, continuing a long-standing controversy. Now the voters may have to decide.

The very close vote, coming after more than three hours of discussion at Monday night's meeting, brought groans of disappointment from the audience in the high school auditorium gallery, most of whom were Wyman School parents. Wyman, while not specified in the warrant article, has been named by School Superintendent William C. MacDonald as the school he recommends

To referendum

Sandra Pomeroy, president of the Wyman School Parents Association, has informed The Star that the opponents of town meeting warrant article 13 — to see if the town will close one elementary school — will seek to put the question to the voters of Winchester as a referendum question during the week of December 6.

"The town meeting vote of 75-72 in favor of the closing was not a clear mandate to the school committee," she said. "We are going to allow all town voters the chance to let their feelings on this matter be known."

According to the town charter, the proponents of the question have five days after the town meeting in which to gather the signatures of three percent of the voters. Selectmen, within ten days of receiving the petition for the referendum, call a special election to be held within 14 days.

closing.

The arguments for keeping or closing the school remained basically the same as they have been at other public forums. Proponents of the closing point to declining enrollment, declining birth rate, and inefficiency of maintaining an undercapacity school building.

Those in favor of retaining all nine elementary schools speak of the neighborhood school concept, house starts, and lack of savings should the school close.

Superintendent William C. MacDonald, while emphasizing that "the problem along with the solution is emotional," said, "There are educational dangers in allowing schools to become too small. Bigger does not mean better, but smaller can mean not as good."

"My crystal ball may be no better than yours," he told the meeting, "but if we do not close a school, materials, maintenance, and specialists — the vulnerable areas — will have to be the first to feel the effects of inefficiency."

Cathy Fallon, school committee member, pointed to the declining enrollments. By 1980, she projects, enrollment will be down 640 to 4306 students in the system.

Responding to the number of housing starts in Winchester, a point brought up by Marion Crandall at the public hearing last month, Ms. Fallon said, "There are 72 more houses now than there were in 1972, but there are 519 fewer school children."

She went on, "Even if housing starts double, and in addition each new house has three times the number of children now in Winchester houses, the number of new school children still would not be significant." According to her figures, there is an average of 38 children per house in Winchester.

Ms. Fallon concluded her presentation by saying that "as school size decreases, the cost per pupil increases." She cited the Wyman School, with 215 pupils, costs $161 per student per year, whereas the Muraco School, with an enrollment of 363, costs $99 per student per year.

School committee member Constance Pappas said that by 1982 the equivalent of two elementary schools will have been closed. "There will be an average of 291 students per school if one elementary school closes," she said. "With declining enrollments there will be empty seats equivalent to two schools by 1982."

Sandra Pomeroy, president of the Wyman parents association, asked about the "educational rationale" for closing a school. "Studies have shown that people living in dense areas are subject to alienation, anger, and frustration. It is the same in crowded elementary schools."

She offered two suggestions, as she has in the past. First, make cuts in administrative personnel. Second, relocate school department offices into the Lincoln School and sell or lease Sanborn House.

Marion Crandall emphasized again the housing starts in Winchester. "The single most important attraction bringing families to Winchester," she said, "is the neighborhood school."

New building starts are 50 percent ahead of the 1975 figure, with more than 350 lots to be developed. In addition, she said, birth rates are up 17 percent this year.

Concluding her presentation, Ms. Crandall said, "The issue of closing an elementary school is bigger than any one school."

Richard Santos, a Wyman parent, said

MacDonald says no to cut back in administration

Superintendent of Schools William MacDonald has flatly rejected a proposal that he eliminate two assistant superintendent positions. "No, we couldn't cut and survive," MacDonald said.

The proposal to phase out two of the school department's three assistant superintendents was made by Wyman School Parents Association President Sandra Pomeroy in a letter to The Star last week, and again by Mrs. Pomeroy at her presentation to Town Meeting Monday night, as one alternative to closing the Wyman School to save money.

Noting that some surrounding communities operate with only one assistant superintendent, Mrs. Pomeroy suggested that more than $70,000 could be saved, an amount equivalent to the estimated savings involved in closing down Wyman.

Two of the department's top administrators are retiring at the end of this year: Howard Niblock director of pupil services (not an assistant superintendent); and Henry Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel. Mrs. Pomeroy argued that these men should not be replaced and their duties picked up by others in the administration.

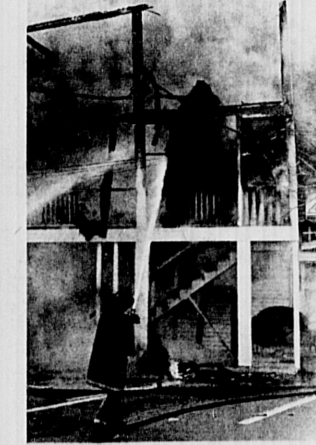

(There are two other assistant superintendents: Walter Gleason, curriculum; and Jack Fallon, administration and budget.)

MacDonald said there "certainly would be some consolidation." But he added that while some other communities may not have as many assistant superintendents, the functions of those positions are handled by other administrators with different titles and at times by outside consultants.

The superintendent noted however that the role of the assistant superintendent for personnel has changed. Originally established to help the school system find the best qualified teachers, the position, according to MacDonald, has taken on new responsibilities.

Now that teachers, for the most part, are searching out the jobs, rather than vice-versa, the personnel administrator has been spending his time with labor negotiations, labor relations, grievances, and appearances before the state labor relations board, according to MacDonald.

MacDonald suggested that perhaps the job description and title would change, but not the need for such a position in the administration.

Heavy smoke and plumes of water characterized the three alarm blaze in Woburn's Main street and Crane's court. Winchester responded to the call for mutual aid and remained on the scene for six hours. This was the second blaze in the now vacated eight family tenement in the past two weeks.

Winchester firefighters responded for six hours when a three alarm fire broke out in a vacated eight family tenement located at the corner of Main street and Crane's court. Call and off-duty firefighters responded, as well as Engine 2 and 3, ladder 1, and the rescue truck. The first alarm was struck at 10:30 Monday morning. Winchester did not return to quarters until 4:30.

Task Force report says town school enrollment trend down

The task force charged with looking into available space in the town's schools said at Thursday night's session of town meeting that by 1982 it expects enrollment in all schools to be "just shy of 2000 seats."

The report, given by James B. L. Lane, said that space is adequate within the elementary schools right now to handle 2764 children. That figure is based on the Ambrose basement being unfinished, enrollment at Lincoln set at 500, and the portables at Mystic giving seats to 45 students.

The actual number of students at the elementary level is 2330, a total of 434 empty seats.

Lane explained that there are various methods used to come up with elementary school capacity, but using any one of them, the town's enrollment is less than capacity. The building inspection code sets 3965 as the capacity of the nine elementary schools, Lane said. The 1970 school study gives 3547 as the number, while the so-called "ideal" of 45 square feet per pupil would give 3270 students. The school administration has recommended 2985, Lane said that the committee suggested that the Sanborn House, the site of the school administration offices, is "fully utilized."

"We see no compelling reason to divert from use of the Sanborn House now," Lane said.

Proponents of keeping neighborhood schools open have suggested that administrative offices could be put into existing schools and the Sanborn property sold.

According to the task force report, the Ambrose School has an unfinished basement space of approximately 7000 square feet. If renovated, "with a cost factor," the school department could use that space. The Lincoln School has unfinished space of about 11,000 which could also be renovated, the report says.

The charge to the committee to come up with two long-range plans for the school system resulted in using the high school for grades 9-12, a total of 1400 students. The two junior highs would continue to operate under this plan, but with an enrollment of 1000 sixth to eighth graders. That would leave grades K through 5 with 1500 pupils. The committee did not say how many elementary schools would remain open under this plan.

The second plan would be similar to the first, but would put the fifth grade into a middle school housing students through the eighth grade.

The task force recommendations were made before the town meeting article on the closing of an elementary school.

involved three "dialogues on performance" per year between the superintendent and school principals.

"The major purpose of the evaluation," said MacDonald, "is not to rate or rank the administrators, but to create a dialogue that hopefully will result in improved performance."

The school board asked MacDonald to revise the evaluation form to apply to the assistant superintendents and the superintendent himself.

MacDonald said he would welcome such a dialogue. And Robert Frank added that he too, would appreciate some form of evaluation from the administration as to the performance of school committee members.

Board Member Catherine Fallon called the evaluation form "an interesting, lively, workable document." She continued: "I am optimistic that it will work and work well."

The school board also got a good look at a new "humanities" course to be offered at the senior high school for seniors.

The course was designed jointly by Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Walter Gleason, Tom Tracy, director of art, William O'Connor, director of social studies, Frances Russell, director of English, and Burton Cowgill, director of music.

Designed as an interdisciplinary course in history, music and art history, and literature, the course would run two consecutive periods and substitute for other English and social studies requirements now at the high school.

Mrs. Russell said "this is not going to be an easy course" and suggested some limitations on who might take it. She said she would discourage a student who needed more work in English language skills from taking the course, in particular because there will be a lot of writing.

"I'm very pleased to see this," commented Frank. "I think this is really a step forward," Frank added that he'd like to see a budget breakdown on the course before final approval.

The new coordinator of special education, Frank Bianco, told the school board that because of certain professional therapeutic services being provided by the school department, the special education budget would overrun its appropriation by more than $5000. Some of the therapy involves counseling sessions with parents as well as children.

Bianco explained that the therapy had been written into the educational plans of some children and recommended they be continued through this year. However he also recommended that the procedures for writing up education plans and determining exactly what the school department is responsible for be tightened up.

Although the special education law, Chapter 766, makes a distinction between "educational" and "non-educational" psychological problems, Bianco indicated that the line between them is hard to draw.

Robert Frank noted that if the state could draw the line, so could Winchester, and he suggested that the school department look more to the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center as a provider of psychological therapy.

In other business, the board accepted the appointments of Barbara Holace as head coach of girls varsity basketball and Betty Crowley as assistant coach for the junior varsity.

The board also reinstated a $1640 allocation in their budget for proctors at school social functions at the two junior high schools. The money goes to pay for teacher chaperones at dances and other events.

Although there are parental volunteers for the various functions (including the upcoming Thanksgiving Day Dance), there was general agreement that faculty members were used to the large numbers of students and better prepared to keep the situation under control.

★ Burglary

members of the Malden police department met the parties at the motel, where they learned that the couple had lent the car to two men who had used it on that date for the housebreak. The couple had received $50 and two tires from the proceeds of the sale of the stolen goods, which included an expensive Oriental rug.

After many leads and dead ends, Lt. Haggerty said he was able to come up with the name of Albert Mostardi, 693 Concord st., Framingham. With a search warrant from Framingham District Court, which he obtained at 1 a.m. Sunday, Lt. Haggerty and several other police officers were able to raid the premises. They seized 31 Oriental rugs, a quantity of drugs, and other stolen property.

They also found two rent receipts for a garage at 39 Clark st. in Framingham. That evening, Lt. Haggerty said, they were able to raid the garage where they found about 30 more Oriental rugs, stolen cars, and motorcycles from Arlington.

Also found in the original raid at Mostardi's apartment were bank account numbers. With search warrants, police were able to get into two bank deposit boxes in Newton. On Monday, Lt. Haggerty says, the police seized more narcotics, three handguns, nine vehicle identification tags taken from motor vehicles, and a notary public seal.

On a tip from an informer, Lt. Haggerty was able to obtain a search warrant for a jewelry store at 333 Providence st., Boston. He said they seized a suitcase containing silverware stolen in three Marblehead housebreaks.

Lt. Haggerty says that other search warrants have been issued and more arrests can be expected.

Trial date has not been set for those already arraigned. Lt. Haggerty expects that one date will be set for all those arrested and charged.

In addition to Sgt. Roy, Lt. Haggerty was assisted by Officers Joseph Perritano, James Gallant, and James Pierce, and by Inspector William Nash, who broke his foot while taking part in the Sunday morning raid.

Police Chief McHugh commends also the efforts of the police departments of Belmont, Weston, and Framingham.

Chief McHugh said, "We have seen a new kind of housebreak in recent weeks, one in which the target of thieves has been Oriental rugs. Until the October 17 break, we had not been able to get any leads to solving these breaks. Lt. Haggerty is a good example of what police work should be."

Stolen rugs on display for victims

The 61 Oriental rugs seized by police in raids Sunday will be on display for purposes of identification on Saturday, November 13 from 10 until 2 at McCall Junior High School.

Police Chief John P. McHugh says that documentary evidence of receipt of a rug or other proper identification will be necessary to prove ownership of a rug which was stolen in a housebreak.

Other means of proof include a police report recording the theft, an insurance claim if paid, and cleaning tag receipts.

The rugs are available for identification purposes only and will be returned at a future time, Chief McHugh said.

Hold open house at Ambrose School

On Wednesday October 27, the parents and teachers of the Ambrose School met at an open house.

The teachers gave parents a general idea of the curriculum and then more specifically the schedule that their children follow during the school year. After a discussion period parents went to their children's home bases to acquaint themselves with materials used in the classroom and to see some of the work the students have done.

Afterwards coffee and cake was served in the auditorium.

that "it is possible that enrollment trends are reversible." He and another parent, Richard Sampson, both town meeting members, pointed to the impossibility of certain trends. Said Santos, "we have to keep options open for the future. We may need to rebuild a school at some future time if we close one now."

Clarence Borggaard, a town meeting member who often speaks out on issues involving senior citizens, said, "It is heartless to ignore the feelings of Wyman parents. This is altogether too drastic a measure for what is not a matter of life and death."

School committee member Robert S. Frank took the podium to explain his impression that "there has been a good deal of misinformation." He said that the school department will be reducing administrative positions "whether or not we close Wyman School."

He said that if Wyman closes, there will still be space to put administrative offices in the remaining schools.

It is expected that director of pupil services, Howard Niblock, and Henry Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel will be retiring at the end of the year.

Regarding the birth rate, Frank said that "Winchester had its second lowest birth rate in 12 years" during the past year.

He continued to take up each of the arguments of the warrant article's opponents, saying, "Until 1990 we do not need any more space. Recession will end and the birth rate trend will reverse. Births are not related to economics. If we close Wyman we will not have busing costs and extra heating and maintenance."

He concluded, "Buildings don't teach children, people teach children."

The standing vote was taken at 10:45 and the fall session of the annual town meeting ended.

Thursday session

At the Thursday session of town meeting, the members voted to appropriate $5000 for overtime compensation at the transfer station, to appropriate money for the collective bargaining agreement reached with the town's clerical workers, and to postpone until the next session the article dealing with the closing of an elementary school. (See accompanying story.)

They voted against meeting three times a week to complete the business of future town meetings and indefinitely postponed action on selling the property at 22 Highland ave. back to George D. Whitten, from whom the land was taken by eminent domain in 1966.

Introducing discussion on article 9, to see if the town would appropriate $5000 for overtime payments to town employees at the rubbish transfer station, Town Moderator Raymond Kenney said, "The chair will not accept discussion under this article on the entire history of the incinerator."

Problems with the building of a rubbish transfer station and the transition from the old incinerator method of disposal to the out-of-town hauling of compacted rubbish, have plagued the town for months, according to Town Manager Thomas J. Groux.

Explaining that there have been breakdowns and delays in completion of the compacting unit of the transfer station, Groux said he was asking for $5000 in addition to the $85,026 already appropriated for personal services.

The $5000 would cover additional overtime expenses incurred by the breakdown of the facility, the heavy July 4 holiday load, and contingencies for sick leave and vacation time.

Groux went on to discuss other expenses connected with the construction of the transfer station. The $169,500 budgeted for hired equipment, based on estimated 300 tons a week of refuse, is just shy of the new estimate of $170,232. The breakdown cost $3200, hauling uncompacted rubbish from August 23 until October 23 cost $31,568, hauling uncompacted since that time is estimated at $20,795. Assuming hauling of compacted rubbish will be in effect from November 27, that cost will be $114,669 until the end of June.

The transfer station was to have been completed by August 19, but delays in construction and receiving parts caused the delay since then.

According to Town Counsel Doug Randall, "there is certainly a good chance of attempting to recover some of the money we have lost because of the contractors' delays." There is a penalty clause of $250 a day for work not completed on time, he said.

Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis, Jr., spoke against the appropriation of the $5000. He began to read a prepared statement to the town meeting but was ruled out of order by Moderator Raymond Kenney. Kenney maintained that Hewis was "not addressing the matter at hand, the appropriation of $5000 for personal services."

Hewis read the first three paragraphs of the statement, the complete text of which follows:

TOWN MEETING MEMBERS:

I have taken Section 3.2 of the Town By-Laws to the letter. Without the cooperation of countless numbers of people, in and out of Town Government and especially the ability and durability of Miss Hewis, this could not have been accomplished.

I am definitely opposed to the passage of Article 9...no matter what the dollar figure appears to be now or if later amended.

This expenditure was and is, unnecessary and wasteful...at no time was input included from the people of this town. We have been consistently hampered, harassed and deceived.

The incinerator should never have been closed-down...and it definitely should not have been partly demolished! It probably would not be in order to advise you that the P.B.C. contract forbids the demolition of the stack until after the compaction station is operable and satisfactorily tested.

The records of the selectmen's meetings are in order and they clearly show that no effort was made to continue operation of the incinerator, until completion of the transfer station.

There is no memo or letter of agreement or arrangement signed by the executive office of the town manager with S.C.A. for the disposal of uncompacted waste. There is no record from P.B.C. of the known facts as to the length of delay that would be necessary to justify the action of the manager.

All we have heard is two to three weeks delay...we are now nearing fifteen weeks and still counting, and the selectmen and manager still say "two to three more weeks"...one of these times they'll be right.

This ARTICLE 9 of $20,000, other expenses and $5,000 personal services, only takes us up to September 28th, that is eight weeks ago...when will we be asked for the next payment and the next...at the rate of more than $3,000 per week!

It was my contention, made to the board of selectmen two weeks after this started, that the delay was of major proportions. With no help from the board or the manager we were able to find out where the rubbish was being delivered and the price being charged of $13.80 per ton. We also found that the town had little or no provision for checking tonnage.

I do not want to pay this bill because I don't believe in legalizing illegal actions in the name of "moral obligations" especially when I can prove that good judgment and reasonable or accepted business practices were not followed. People who appeared before the board of selectmen with complaints or suggestions regarding the disposal area were endured and ignored. A continuing hardship was imposed on all, who were deprived of nearly 40 percent of the use of that facility.

Even if this management policy had to be followed...even by breaking the existing contracts...did the selectmen and manager use good, accepted business practices?...No!

During the break-down period, in the first week of August, the town engaged Charles George trucking of Woburn to remove un-compacted waste. Charles George Co., charged $12.50 per ton, that is $1.30 per ton less than S.C.A. is charging, and it's $1.80 per ton less than S.C.A. is charging for Saturday pick-ups.

The George Co. told the town, at that time, that they would service us indefinitely at that price. They further assured me that they are ready, willing and able to start immediately to remove un-compacted waste for that price of $12.50 per ton.

The waste disposal committee, the manager, selectmen and town meeting could have saved the taxpayers nearly $400,000. We did not need the transfer station, to haul uncompacted trash away. And we know we can haul-it-away, for $12.50 per ton.

We have no obligation to pay a bill which was incurred without authority!

I have all kinds of documentation, including material of the P.B.C. and waste disposal committee, to substantiate my statements.

Do not vote a blank check to anyone! Do not encourage your employees or elected officials to indebted the town without coming to you first! You are the town! This is the only body that can commit the town financially!...that can make appropriations! That part of our Government has not changed.

Hewis moved indefinite postponement of the motion. He said, "That compactor will not work. The only possible way you have control of this situation is indefinite postponement."

Referring twice to "dirty slide tricks" being played on the town by town officials, Hewis was twice admonished and told by Moderator Kenney to refrain from making "those comments."

The article passed.

Article 10, to construct sidewalk curbing beginning at 518 Washington st. was indefinitely postponed.

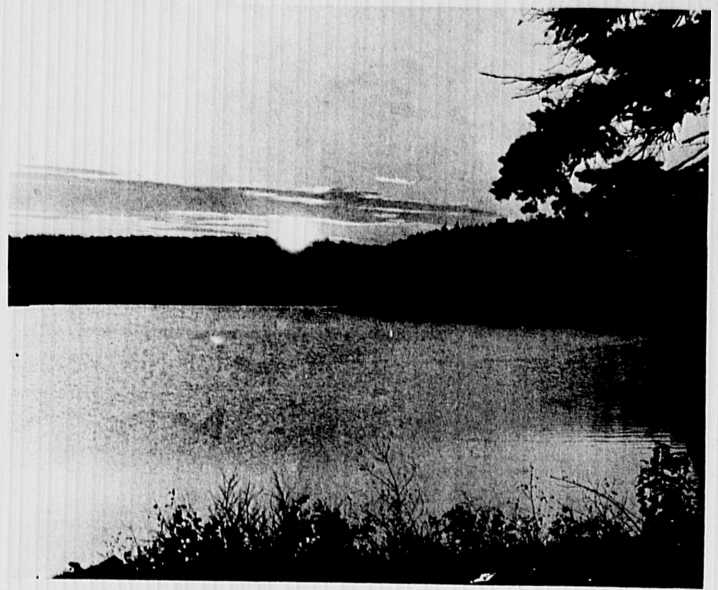

Article 11 re-established the by-law revision committee for the purpose of paying a bill outstanding to the Blanchard Press for printing 500 copies of the by-laws.

A problem with dissolution of the committee and the date of by-laws publication left an unpaid bill. The committee, which has to authorize the payment, dissolved on May 31 ten days after ordering the printing.

The article passed.

Article 12, a citizens' petition to sell the property at 22 Highland ave. back to George Whitten, from whom it was taken by eminent domain in 1966, was also indefinitely postponed.

Article 13, the school closing article, was put at the end of the warrant so that the town meeting members could hear the report of the task force committee charged with studying the use of school space.

Article 14 was to hear the report of the rules committee, established by spring town meeting and charged with finding ways of improving town meeting sessions. The chairman of the group, Richard Wilsack, made a motion that the maker of an article for town meeting would be required to state the main motion under that article. Until now, the article has been submitted to the finance committee for its recommendations without a motion.

A motion to hold meetings more than twice a week during sessions of town meeting was defeated.

Article 4 was taken from the table and voted favorably to allow the collective bargaining agreement between the town and the Winchester Organized Clerical Association to be signed.

The agreement calls for a 5 and 3-4 per cent wage increase for the period July 1, 1976 through June 30, 1977. The second year the increase would be 5 and 1-2 per cent.

The total implementation cost for the first year is $14,254.

The task force made its report to town meeting on the available space in the town's schools and its possible use. (See separate story.)

Wyman School closing

It appears that the town at large will have an opportunity to decide the controversial elementary school-closing question.

The controversy has been raging for more than a year, when school Superintendent William C. MacDonald first broached the subject because of declining enrollment, and recommended that Wyman School be phased out.

Naturally, parents were up in arms and launched a strong attack. They succeeded in buying more time and prevented the school from closing last year.

But the question, which was to have been decided by the school committee, may not be now, for a petition for a referendum is being circulated by Wyman School parents who are going to seek the support of the entire town to keep their school open, mainly on the contention that it will be only the beginning, and that other elementary schools will be closed sooner or later, and the neighborhood concept will be gone forever.

We have wondered editorially in the past about the wisdom of closing this school, especially since there was so much opposition in that area, and little, if any, support to close it from any other quarter other than from the school administration itself.

Even the school committee, which had been polled and found to be in favor of the closing, hasn't formally voted to do so as it awaited the pleasure of the town meeting's sense-of-the-town vote. That occurred Monday night, and the vote was a not at all decisive 75 to 72 in favor of the closing. That was a non-binding vote, merely providing a sort of guide for the school committee, which is expected to vote formally by Dec. 1.

Now that a petition is being circulated to get the question on a referendum ballot, they may not have to vote at all.

We urge everyone who is eligible to sign the petition to do so, for signing will only assure a referendum which will put the matter before the voters.

In our democratic system, it is perhaps best that the voters at large express their wishes in this important matter, for while it may not involve them in its current narrow parochial confines, it very well may involve them sooner than they think.

It is necessary to face up to the problem now, not only for the Wyman School, but for the entire system as well.

If the voters do not wish to close Wyman, they will most surely be providing a message to the school committee to leave the neighborhood concept intact, at least for now. And if so, it should put the matter to rest until developments in definite pupil enrollment trends make a decision for closings an absolute necessity. No one is really sure about it now, anyway. —J.R.S.

Job well done

Winchester residents have been deeply concerned for some time now about the number and frequency of burglaries committed in this town, and with good reason.

But this week, at least, they can breathe somewhat easier with the announcement by police Chief John P. McHugh of an important break in the so-called suburban burglary gang.

Working almost single-handedly since October 1, local police Lieutenant William Haggerty solved the case as far as Winchester is concerned, with the arrest of seven persons, including two women, who were charged with a variety of offenses directly involving breaks in homes in Winchester.

His work also brought about the recovery of an estimated $300,000 worth of stolen oriental rugs, many of them taken from homes in Winchester on a basis of startling regularity, all of which was reported in The Star.

While it was regrettable to have to report those breaks, and of course, such crimes will continue to be reported as long as they occur, it is a pleasure to be able to report the results of this fine example of splendid police work, not only by Lieutenant Haggerty, but by his brother officers in Winchester and in the communities into which the case spilled.

We concur with Chief McHugh in extending congratulations for a job well done. —J.R.S.

A memo from Mom and Dad

To: Our Teen-Age Driver

Let's have a grown-up look at the problems involved. We want you to have car privileges. It's great to have an additional careful, sensible driver around the house. The more careful and sensible you are, the more you'll get the car!

And that's a promise.

A teen-ager isn't a child. But some are older than their years in the matter of driving. Some are younger.

Which are you? Do you have the poise and judgment to drive with care? Or are you going to let your friends talk you into jack-rabbit starts, zooming around corners, high speed, races, and all the rest of the things the goof-offs do?

It's up to you. Remember, you can be a good driver. Many teen-agers are. But you have to try, and keep on trying. Even when no one can see you, for Pete's sake.

In other words, be an adult... about driving. And, just among us adults, will you cast your eyes over the general rules below... and take them to heart?

Watch out for pedestrians, especially kids. Stay within speed limits. Slow down at sundown; be extra careful at night. Never overload the car with people! Obey all traffic signs, please. Don't throw litter from the car. Be courteous; make way for other drivers. Don't double park to talk to people. Don't let anyone talk you into drinking. Remember, the lives of your friends are in your hands. Let us know when, where and how you are going, with whom... and what time you'll return! Have a good time!

Pardon the preaching. But this driving business is real serious. And we do happen to have a certain affection for you. To put it bluntly, we want you to come home safe and sound.

Pictorial editorial

On Saturday afternoon, November 6, about 30 Mystic School parents and their children gathered on the school grounds to paint the portable classrooms. These portable classrooms house the Mystic School's 5th and 6th grades. With everyone busily painting, the portables regained their original barn red and black trim colors within three hours. Some of the volunteers then proceeded to rake the school grounds. By sundown on Saturday afternoon, Mystic School looked just like new.

Why?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
AND AN OPEN LETTER TO TOWN MANAGER:

On Saturday Sept. 25, The Winchester Young Womens Club held a fund raising activity. The Cranberry Puppeteers presented a performance for one hour at the Lincoln School auditorium. The price of each ticket was $1. Although 200 adults and children attended, our net profit was $25.

During the last week of preparation for the show, after the tickets had been printed, the auditorium reserved and the puppeteers hired we found ourselves in a turmoil. We were informed at this time by the town manager's office that in order to hold such an activity a license for recreation had to be obtained. It was also necessary to have a fireman and a policeman present. To go ahead with this necessitated a form to be presented to the selectmen requesting permission for the license, and also several telephone calls to both the police and fire departments. The police and fire departments both told the person calling them that they weren't responsible for getting in contact with them, but it was the town managers office who was to do this.

At this time we were informed that there was a three hour minimum charge of $92 each for the policeman and fireman. Many of the women in our club have run other fund raising activities either for different organizations or schools. None was ever asked to obtain a license and on some of the prior occasions a policeman or fireman was not required.

We also sent a letter to the town manager's office requesting permission to put up a sign in the rotary in the town center advertising the puppet show. After a few days it was necessary to phone them and ask the outcome. Permission was granted, but 24 hours later we were called upon to remove the sign immediately. We have since received another bill of $21 for the custodial fee for the use of the auditorium.

The Winchester Young Womens Club is a non-profit organization. Its purpose is to encourage members to be active volunteers in their community, state and nation. In the two years since we have been in existence we have contributed money to the state ACLD program, the Winchester Scholarship Fund, the Winchester Dog Pound and the Mass. Cancer Society. We have run two courses at the high school for two successive years open to the public entitled The Law And Where It's At, and Teenagers And The Law. We have run two successful Breast Cancer Detection Clinics for the residents of Winchester and surrounding towns. Both free of charge and open to the public.

Why is it so difficult for us to hold a fund raising activity? Why are all its members who are residents of Winchester and pay already high taxes, who are trying to better their community, subject to such inconvenience and exorbitant charges? All for a one hour show! Why is it necessary for a non-profit organization to have to pay a three hour minimum fee for a one hour performance to three town employees? Why does one function require a fireman and another a policeman and still another neither or both of them? Where are these rules explaining all this, but most of all why don't some town leaders know what others are doing or supposed to be doing?

I hope that the town can clarify and uniform its procedures and modify its charges, so as not to discourage future fund raising activities that eventually benefit the town and its citizens.

Diane E. Maher
Young Womens Club
Of Winchester

Rotondi's thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I'd like to thank you, the people of Winchester for your expression of trust and support which has given me the opportunity to serve you in the Massachusetts Senate.

I especially appreciate your willingness to share your ideas and concerns with me during my door-to-door campaign. This dialogue allowed me to grow as a candidate with a better understanding of how it feels to actually "live" some of the problems facing our state.

As I pledged, I will begin conducting public monthly forums in January. The schedules will appear in this paper, as will periodic legislative reports, highlighting activity on Beacon Hill.

In the next few weeks, I will be meeting with your local officials in order to establish lines of communication, as well as defining major problems and their possible legislative solutions.

Anyone interested in discussing legislation or in filing same, please contact me. The filing deadline for the 1977 session is December 1.

I look forward to working for you and with you.

Again, thank you,
Sam Rotondi
Senator-Elect

Thanks voters

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Your overwhelming endorsement on Tuesday, November 2 of my efforts as your state representative is deeply appreciated.

To have been accorded the highest vote cast in the town was both an honor and a challenge. I assure you I shall endeavor to merit your strong support by exerting maximum effort in your behalf during the next two years.

Rep. Whip Saltmarsh

Town watch...

Teachers ponder no-contract

By The Observer

Winchester's teachers met Wednesday afternoon after school to decide what to do about their contract stalemate with the school committee. They've been working without one since school began in September.

Though the Winchester Education Association's Action Committee unanimously voted on what course of action to take, they would not reveal their decision until the rest of the teachers got a chance to discuss it at the general meeting, which came well after press time for The Star.

According to Richard, head of the action committee and a member of the math department at the high school, the teachers would be likely to accept the decision of the action committee.

However WEA President Bernard Silva said Wednesday morning that he didn't know what the action committee had decided and indicated that it would be up to the general meeting of the teachers to decide what course to follow.

Silva said a strike is unlikely, as it is illegal and against his own stated policy. "I am on record with both the school committee and the administration to never call a strike vote," Silva said. He added that he would resign if a strike were called.

One possibility for teacher action is the so-called "work-to-rule." In such an action, teachers arrive for their first class and leave after their last, working as strictly to contract as possible.

Whatever they are to do was to be decided to late for us to let you know this week.

High school update

Plenty of extracurricular activity at the high school

By Rick Pearl

Four weeks ago, in the Winchester High School newspaper The Red and Black, there appeared a front page article entitled, "Seven Period Crunch." Written by senior John Hogan, the piece, in general, made the conclusion that because of the seven-period day (as opposed to eight, the number of periods last year) the student body was finding it hard to participate in extra-curricular activities, for some reason or other.

Hogan believed that because of an "extreme buildup of work" caused by the new system, students were faced with two alternatives. "The most obvious" was for the academically oriented student to "cease all club and athletic participation." Secondly, he suggested that the students could drop out of an extra class "to alleviate the pressure and provide time to work on assignments outside the classroom." Hogan believed that either choice would "deprive the student of the chance to acquire a well rounded and balanced education."

The administration in general (which has taken a great deal of criticism because of the switch to seven periods) and Mr. Vandy French high school vice-principal, in particular, raised their eyebrows at Hogan's conclusion. It was two years ago when French, then on sabbatical, conducted a survey of extra-curricular participation in the high school and found out that over 50 percent took part in some activity. Taking into consideration that some pupils worked after school, French believed this to be a fairly high percentage. He didn't feel that it could drop that much just because of the period loss and thus began another investigation.

He unveiled facts he had uncovered for the first quarter of the current school year. The number of students who signed up for non-athletic clubs and organizations was 820. Of that number 723 actually participate or roughly nine out of every ten persons (88.2 percent). In athletics there are 169 boys and 87 girls who play fall sports, for a total of 256. This figure is up from last year's total of 245 (155 boys and 90 girls). Although some people participate in more than one activity, and this would lower the total number of 979, one can see that it doesn't appear that anyone is having much problem in playing sports or joining clubs because of the seven-period day.

The above figures don't even include those students who show up at intramurals on four days a week after school. Generally some 15-40 students are at these sessions, playing paddleball, basketball, running, weight lifting, etc., and that number is increasing as the weather gets colder.

Some of the statistics Mr. French gave us are truly remarkable. For instance, the Spanish Club, which is directed by Miss L. Alvarez, has a total enrollment of 217 students! They have already had their annual Halloween party, which this year never had less than 100 members in the school cafeteria the whole time. The cross country team has

The contract talks have bogged down in what School Committee Negotiator Robert Frank calls "minor" issues, with the larger issues of salaries, ratios, evaluations and staff reductions still to be settled.

According to Silva, "the teachers are just about fed up." He added that teacher morale is "pretty low."

Selectmen were saddened at the death of Hazel McGuire on Friday. Mrs. McGuire had served the board for nine years as secretary.

Chairman John J. Sullivan expressed the sympathy of the board at their Monday night meeting. He said, "Hazel was very close to many of us for a long time. On behalf of the board, I would like to extend our deepest sympathies to her family."

Town meeting members observed a moment of silence at their final session Monday, at Sullivan's request.

There seems to be an early morning audition program coming over the police airwaves, 45.12 on your police scanner dial.

This past Sunday, a couple of baritones were heard to be testing their vocal chords at 6:45 a.m.

Now there's certainly nothing wrong with a little levity to brighten the day of the force, but remember, fellows, those airwaves are public.

Keep it light.

Although it may indeed be harder for the students to take part in extra-curricular activities, as Hogan has said, it doesn't seem to be affecting the turnout that much. Hogan said he got the impression the seven period day was a problem by "asking around."

It seems that perhaps John asked the few people who were affected. He also thought that Mr. French's figures were "superficial" in that many people belong to as many as four or sometimes five organizations at once. Still, with a total school enrollment of 1295, even if one figures that 300 or 400 students do belong to two or more organizations, this still means that anywhere from 45 percent to 53 percent (not including intramurals again) are active.

What Mr. Hogan considers a problem certainly doesn't appear that way. Granted, figures are nothing but that; numbers, and this problem affects human beings. But in this case the number do represent people, and appear to enforce Mr. French's belief that extracurricular activity has never been better, seven period day or not!

HIGH SCHOOL UPDATE NOTE: The Curtain and Cue Society is performing this Friday and Saturday evening at the high school auditorium. They are putting on the play "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and tickets will be available at the door. Be sure and attend one of the performances to support these budding actors and actresses.

The seniors benefit from the goodwill of churches

The churches of Winchester have extended their good will to the Winchester Seniors Association in multiple ways. Most recently, their philanthropies have gone beyond the four walls of each institution to benefit the Senior Center Fund Raising Campaign.

The united ecumenical efforts in outreach to a major community project will assist people of all religious persuasions in the near future. The spirit of general good will engendered by the churches has encouraged seniors who are laboring in the vineyard to get the cornerstones of the center ready to lay. Contributions from several Church women's associations, missionary and benevolence committees, luncheons and other extensions of generosity are worthy of commendation.

Other organizations and special interest groups who to date have put their shoulders to this wheel of progress are:

The Aberjona Civic Association, Inc., EnKa Society, Fortnightly Club, Knights of Columbus, Seniors Bridge Group, Seniors Bowling Group, Sons of Italy, Winchester College Club, Winchester High School Class of '51, Winchester Jaycees, Winchester Jayceettes, Winchester Mount Holyoke College Club, and Winchester Seniors Cookout.

Over and above their individual contributions, the seniors themselves have worked assiduously to increase the fund raising results. Through programs in progress, organized bridge and bowling teams plus other social activities have brought forth significant funds for the new building.

The generosity of many groups and individuals has created a togetherness that encourages maximum effort in the completion of a major undertaking such as the multi-purpose senior center. Bricks and mortar will soon begin to shape the edifice that will provide for the expansion of programs for the older citizens of Winchester. A vision is becoming a reality.

Arachis Hypogea

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I usually plant about 35 different vegetables in my New England (Yankee type) garden. True, I do plant Kentucky Wonder beans every year; and I have tried the edible Hibiscus known as Okra; also the "soul food", called "collards", but none of these last two ever made it back after the first year's trial.

This year I tried a 36th vegetable. A friend living in a little town north of here was experimenting with a new vegetable which he felt had a great future in this country. He said it was a member of the Leguminosae or Pea family called Arachis Hypogea. He called it "peanut" for short, and gave me one, potted like a geranium. He said that as far as he could see, he already had "more than enough of them."

My garden was all planted by that time, so I looked around for a place to put it. I found a gap in a row of parsnips and put it there in the gap.

It grew very well all summer and seemed to me to promise a great deal. However when it came time to harvest the promised crop I found that it could not, or would not, produce as much as it seemed to promise. The picture which accompanies this letter will show what I mean. I think the plant tried hard, but was just not able to produce all that it had promised. Not suited to this Northern climate, I'm afraid!

We could have gone (sic) into the junk business. It was disgraceful. As you can see it's not to (sic) safe for little kids. And we don't think that's good. We think people in Winchester should try to keep their town clean.

You're invited

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

If someone walked up to you and asked, "What is Curtain and Cue?" What would you say? Uh-a sewing circle or a new way to shoot pool. Well you would be slightly incorrect. Curtain and Cue is the Winchester High school Drama Society.

Under the direction of the new advisor, Ms. Hester Keller, the club is about to present the first of four productions. The Three-Act play, The Man Who Came to Dinner, by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, will be presented, tomorrow, Friday Nov. 12 and Saturday, Nov. 13. Tickets are being sold at Baskin Robbins and will be sold at the door. So come and pay us a visit at around eight 8:00 p.m. on either Friday or Saturday at the high school auditorium.

Three other productions; the three one-act plays, the competition play and the musical are also scheduled to be presented this year. Watch the coming events column in this newspaper, the Star, for the dates and mark your calendar. Make sure you come and see The Man Who Came To Dinner, and you will laugh harder than you ever have.

Being counted

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It has often been said that everybody gripes about soaring taxes but nobody ever does anything about them.

Fortunately, this is not the case in Winchester where citizens are willing to stand up and be counted. Proof of this is the hundreds of town residents who signed the initiative petition to force the legislature to consider a bill next year calling for revenues realized from the new numbers game to be distributed to the cities and towns according to a local aid fund formula.

The money would be used to offset increases in property taxes caused in large measure by state-imposed programs. This, of course, was the original intent of the lottery bill, yet our efforts to bring this vital matter to a vote in the House last July failed when we couldn't garner the two-thirds vote necessary for the bill's admittance.

It was, indeed, heartening to me to be able to collect 358 signatures during one Saturday morning at the dump. Several of us in the legislature who are working on this effort anticipate meeting the quota of 57,000 valid signatures required by November 22.

May I express a sincere thank you to all who took time out during the busy pre-election season to support the petition drive.

Change to Greek cooking

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

The subtle flavorings and seasonings of Greek cooking do not require unusual or exotic ingredients. It is a marvelous cuisine for the new experimenter in international recipes to try for this very reason.

Helen and Peter Philliou, Sachem Rd., were born in this country but their parents came from two different areas of Greece. Helen is an enthusiastic cook whose family and company meals reflect the Greek influence.

Greek cooking is neither oily nor hotly seasoned, said Helen, instead Lemon.

Commends police

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to take this opportunity to write a letter of commendation to the Winchester Police Department.

My house was recently burglarized. Thanks to your local police, especially Officers Perritano and Nash, my belongings were returned.

The insurance adjuster who called on me said it was the first time in his career that items such as were stolen from me had been found and returned.

Lucky? Maybe — but my hat will always be off to the Winchester police.

My sincere gratitude.

Meredith M. Craig

oregano, tomato, mint, feta cheese, a touch of cinnamon in main dishes as well as desserts are common touches. Lamb, fish, and of course, flaky pastries and delectable cookies are highlights of most menus.

"At holiday time, Greek touches flavor my menus," said Helen. "For Thanksgiving, I don't use bread stuffing for the turkey. Instead I make one using rice, raisins, and chestnuts. The family prefers Greek salad with greens, feta, olives instead of a molded salad. The kids don't care for pumpkin pie so we may have baklava pastries and a caramel custard."

The traditional phyllo dough used in desserts also found at the beginning of a festive meal in the form of feta cheese-stuffed triangles or classic spinach-cheese pie.

Helen's skill at preparing Mediterranean style recipes impressed visiting Saudi Arabian students last summer. The students, who were part of her husband's curriculum center at Wentworth Institute, did not expect to find foods prepared as they preferred in the U.S.

"Actually, the seasonings vary from one country or area but the basic dishes remain," she commented. Mint may be substituted for oregano but the lamb and rice remain."

Her children, Jimmy, 9th grade, Thea, 6th grade and Christine, 4, do have a sweet tooth and enjoy their mother's desserts.

Helen contributed these recipes, which she calls Greek-American, to the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School Cookbook.

Orange Trate

1/2 pound butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup farina
1 cup flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 eggs, well beaten
1 orange rind, grated
1/2 cup orange juice
1 cup finely chopped almonds

Mix butter and sugar well; add farina gradually and continue to mix. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with juice and grated orange rind. Stir in almonds. Pour in 13 by 9-inch greased pan and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until top springs back when touched.

For syrup topping: boil together two cups sugar and two cups water with one thick slice lemon. Boil 15 minutes. Cool slightly and pour over cake. When cool, cut into diamond pieces.

Greek Butter Cookies.

1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
sesame seeds

1 tablespoon lemon or orange juice
Cream butter. Add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add eggs after setting aside one egg yolk for glazing. Beat well. Mix in sifted dry ingredients and blend in citrus flavoring. Knead well by hand until smooth as dough will be to thick for mixer. Pinch off pieces and roll on board lightly to desired shape and length (circles, bars, etc.) Place on cookie sheet and paint with a wash made with remaining egg yolk and two tablespoons water. Sprinkle with sesame seeds and bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

Sheridan Whiteside (played by Jim Gerard), the "Man Who Came to Dinner," grinds his teeth with joy at the thought of a present from a friend, shown mounted on the table at right: it's a miniature city populated by 10,000 cockroaches. The tale unfolds this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the high school, with tickets available at Baskin-Robbins and at the door. The play, written by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, includes a cast of about 25 and is being directed by Mrs. Hester Keller.

Jennifer Paterson to sing lead role

Jennifer Paterson is singing a new song these days. This talented young soprano is appearing in the leading role of Gianetta in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers" for the Maynard "Savoyards".

Jennifer has given solo recitals in Canada and England, and has appeared in several operas in Canada, England and Boston. She is now contributing her talents to the Maynard Savoyards presentation of the "Gondoliers" on November 12, 13, 14, 19 and 20.

Jennifer Paterson is Mrs. David Marr in private life. She moved to Winchester from Cambridge two years ago and lives at 106 Ridge st. Her husband is a neurophysiologist at MIT.

Jennifer Paterson

Jennifer started singing at the age of seven and began piano at nine in her home town of Nelson, British Columbia. She won numerous scholarships in Canada since 1955, and spent two years of study at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden. Since returning to America she has sung with the New England Chamber Opera Group, the Cecelia Society, the Boston Summer Opera Theater, and the Belmont Dramatic Club. Besides enjoying a heavy performing schedule Jennifer teaches private students in piano, singing and guitar at her studios in Cambridge and Winchester, as well as at her recently opened studio in Boston.

The "Gondoliers" will be playing at the Maynard High school Auditorium on November 12, 13, 19 and 20 at 8 and on November 14 at 2. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

Law enforcement exploration set to start Nov. 16

Last week Police Chief John P. McHugh announced the formation of a Law Enforcement Exploring program for young boys and girls, ages 14 through 21. The program is starting next Tuesday, November 16 at 7 at Winchester Police Headquarters.

The chief has indicated that interested young people and their parents are invited to attend the first meeting which will be an explanation of the program by the chief and officers involved.

Officer James Pierce has been assigned as the program assistant advisor, working with Officer John W. McKinley, the advisor coordinator.

Topics to be explored will be developed by the youth group directed by its own elected leaders. Topics available will be finger printing, photography, firearms and related law enforcement subjects.

"This is the first law enforcement exploring group to be formed in Winchester," explained Chief McHugh, who has high hopes that the program will provide a form for youths to learn while having fun and sharing experiences.

Police blotter

There were several housebreaks in the past week, according to Police Chief John P. McHugh.

There was a break on November 6 at 36 Forest st. where two women occupants of the house were raking leaves in their yard. Thieves apparently entered the house and took $90 and charge cards from pocketbooks. That date a break at 18 Glen rd. netted thieves silverware and jewelry. The house at 14 Glen rd. was ransacked, with jewelry reported stolen. Sterling and a television set were stacked by the back door.

A break on November 4 at 4 Parker rd. resulted in the theft of jewelry. A break the night before at 115 Wildwood was reported, with rings, cash, and a television sets reported stolen.

Several incidences of vandalism were reported Friday night. The glass door at the post office was kicked in, a seven by six foot window at Puffer Insurance was destroyed, and a window at the Winchester Savings Bank was kicked in.

Deadline near for filing legislation

All citizens interested in filing bills to be considered during the next legislative session were invited this week to contact Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh.

The deadline for filing is Wednesday, December 1, and Saltmarsh is offering assistance with the preparation of content and, if necessary, technical assistance via the House legal counsel.

Any citizen has the right to file a bill through the local representative, whose sponsorship does not necessarily involve personal support.

Sachems tie Raiders 8-8 in edge-of-seat contest

by John F. Parrell

Coach Joe Hoague, one of the oldest mentors in the Middlesex League, brought his Melrose Red Raiders to Knowlton Stadium last Saturday and when the final whistle blew the scoreboard read Winchester 8, Melrose 8. It had been a hard-fought battle with most of the thrills coming just at the start and again during the final few minutes of action.

More than 20 years ago the veteran Melrose coach was at Natick and brought a Natick team to play North Quincy. If the uniform colors were changed even the most expert football student could detect little difference in the style of the two teams.

The line hit hard defensively and cleared the way offensively for some hard fast backfield play with Kevin McCormack as the speedy battering ram who carried on 22 plays for an average of better than five yards each time he handled the pigskin.

Winchester had the better of the first half action except for two injuries, one to Don Allard's nose which produced plenty of blood and the other a hair line fracture which put sophomore fullback Tom Murray out for the balance of the season.

Melrose fumbled early in the game and Co-captain Jim Covino was on top of the ball as the pile of players was untangled. A pitchout to Mike Cavaretta gave the Sachems a first down at the Melrose 33 and two plays later Tony Macinanti had another just three inches outside the Raider ten yard stripe. Don Allard was held twice for no gain and a pass failed. Then Brian O'Connor came out for a field goal attempt. However, Don Allard flipped the ball to Bill Murphy and he sprinted for the goal and seemed to have plenty of room to get across.

However, he landed just fifteen inches short of the goal and a foot short of the first down and Melrose took over the pigskin. John Muse made a first down at the eleven and McCormack brought it to the 23 for another first down and quarter ended with the Raiders in possession at their own 27.

On the second play of the second quarter McCormack carried again for a first down at the 34. The Sachem defense stiffened and a poor Melrose punt went out at the Winchester 27. Anthony Davis carried twice for a first down at the 40 and Don Allard picked another at midfield. Allard made six more but was hurt on the play apparently as he fell on the sideline stake. He left the game because he was bleeding profusely and Co-captain Chris Gill took over at quarterback.

The Sachem attack bogged and Melrose took the ball on a close call at their own 41. Bill Murphy ran the punt back ten yards and Allard was now back in the game. He flipped one to Kevin Foley for a dozen yards and Winchester was again in Melrose territory.

An eight yard gain by Cavaretta was followed by completions to Keith Perkins and Bob Blasi produced a first down at the Raider 17. However, time was running out and Winchester set up for a field goal attempt at the 33. The kick by O'Connor was high but it went to the left of the uprights for no score. This time the visitors did not play for a fake and rushed in on masse to rush the kick. This time a fake would have worked with no Raider coverage of anything but the field goal shot. But the half ended with the teams in a scoreless deadlock.

The second half kickoff was a low bouncer which was taken and lost after a nine yard gain. Captain Peter Nolan tried a pass which was intercepted by Murphy at the 17. Cavaretta and Davis combined gains for a first down at the 29 but O'Connor was forced to punt. Then came two more series with neither side making progress and this time the punt went out of bounds at the Melrose 29.

Nolan completed his only pass of the day to Hirschfield for a gain of nine. Chiuvie made a first down at the 42 and Melrose was underway with a long drive on which McCormack gained 43 yards with his speed and driving force ripping the Winchester defenses.

The Sachems seemed powerless to stop the fierce attack and the raiders had a first down at the one yard line. But then came a fumble by the visitors at the six and once again Captain Jim Covino was on the loose ball. However, there was also an official flag on the play as one of the Sachems had lined up off-side. Nolan carried himself for the score and John Muse added the two extra points on a run for an 8-0 Raider lead.

Anthony Davis took the bouncing kickoff and started down the sidelines. He stepped over one defender and jumped over another and raced all the way for a 75 yard touchdown. A pass to Keith Perkins was good for the two points and only 15 seconds after the Melrose score the game was once again even at 8-8.

The teams battled on even terms but near the three minute mark the Sachems moved across midfield. A funnel pass was completed for a good gain but after running another half dozen yards the ball carrier lost control of it and Melrose recovered near the 20.

Don Allard releases pass which was completed despite rush by onrushing Melrose lineman as teams played 8-8 deadlock.

Failing to gain consistently they punted with less than a minute to go. The Winchester receiver fumbled and then attempted to bat the pigskin out of bounds instead of falling on it. But because of the shape of the football it stayed in bounds and was grabbed by a Melrose player who raced for an apparent touchdown.

However, schoolboy rules do not permit advancing a fumble and so the Raiders had possession at the 40. With 11 seconds to go Hoague reached into his trick bag and called a running play that made ten yards. The next and final play saw him call a counter pass from the same formation.

Nolan arched a long high pass into the right corner of the field. It came down right on the goal line but not into Melrose hands but into those of Winchester's basketball co-captain Fred Jones. He started off on a weaving course but eventually straightened out and scurried down the left sideline. The only Melrose player left ahead of him was Captain Peter Nolan who had thrown the pass. One of the Sachem blockers was there to take care of him and threw the block. However, he let his arm slide above the waist and the football wise Nolan locked his into it and the official immediately called holding.

Jones sped the entire distance into the end zone but it was to no avail and the game ended with the score Winchester 8, Melrose 8. It was a hard pill to swallow for the home team's fans but as the game was played it was just about a reflection of the play.

Unfortunately the game film ran out before the final seconds so it will probably never be known exactly what happened. Spectators near the interception point at the goal exactly what happened. Spectators near the interception point at the goal hinted at possible pass interference which might have provided another Melrose goal line shot. The call on the holding was questioned by others with each based on the position of the individual spectator.

However, the officials also had their view and they called it as they saw it and so the final count stands officially at Winchester 8, Melrose 8.

Next Saturday the Sachems journey to Victory Field in Watertown to meet Coach John Barbati's strong eleven. Winchester will work hard to regain the sharp edge which they had for the Wakefield game and hope for a victory as a fitting preliminary to the annual Turkey Day game at Woburn.

SUGGESTED ROUTE: Go to Belmont shopping center and take right under railroad bridge which is Common St. Continue on this street up over the hill into Watertown. At foot of hill take Orchard street to the right which takes you to Victory Field.

Kennedy tips McCall 22-0

The meeting of the undefeated teams of McCall and Kennedy of Woburn proved to everyone's view the superiority of the visiting contingent. The final score showed Kennedy 22, McCall 0.

Supporters of the young Tanner eleven had been proclaiming that this was the best junior high team in the football history of Woburn. From what they showed in speed and aggressiveness this may not be an overstatement.

Another day might prove to be a different story, but as last week's game went McCall just couldn't cope with the winners.

Sophs to face Melrose today

The undefeated Sachem sophomores coached by Dave Berman and Mike Houghton will play Melrose this morning. The game will be at Knowlton Stadium with a ten o'clock kickoff.

The Winchesterites have a strong eleven, many of whom figure to move into the varsity line-up next fall. This will be their last game before the clash with the Woburn Tanner sophomores a week from today. That game will be played at Woburn.

Jan Oehm wins coaches meet

For the first time in the history of the State Coaches' Association cross country meet there was a division for girls. It was run over a 2.8 mile course and the Division One winner proved to be Winchester's Jan Oehm.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Oehm, 51 Fells rd., and she is a member of the junior class at the school. Last spring she won the girls division and her father the mens division of the annual Winchester road race.

Jan got away to a good start and before long she pushed to the lead of the well strung out pack of runners. She maintained a fast pace and finished the course in 15:59, 28 seconds better than runner up Nancy Cullinane of Billerica.

She will run again on Saturday morning in the all-state cross country test to be staged at Franklin Field but over a different course than she ran in winning. The field will include girls from all over the state and will mark the windup of cross country racing locally for the 1976 season.

CYO basketball tryouts are set

St. Eulalia's will hold tryouts for their C.Y.O. Basketball teams on Saturday, November 13. The tryouts will take place at Lynch Jr. High, from 2 to 5 p.m.

All 12, 13 and 14-year-olds living in Winchester are eligible. There will be two teams, each playing a 14-game schedule. Don Hoffman and John Astill will be conducting the tryouts and, coaching the two teams. Contact either for more information.

Lynch-McCall to meet tomorrow

The annual football game between McCall and Lynch junior high school teams will be played tomorrow afternoon at Knowlton Stadium. Kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Both teams fared badly against the overpowering Kennedy eleven from Woburn with McCall losing by 22-0 while Lynch fell by a 26-0 count.

However, both are in high gear for the annual clash which will determine the junior high championship of Winchester.

Plays key role in Tufts soccer team

Brian Flanagan, a junior forward of Winchester, has played a key role in Tufts University, soccer's Greater Boston League Championship.

Tufts defeated Boston University, Boston College, Brandeis and M.I.T., this season. All four victories came by a single goal.

Brian is a former soccer and hockey letterman at Winchester High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Flanagan, of 242 Highland Ave., Winchester, Ma.

Soccer team season even

The Sachem soccer team coached by Gene Bouley wound up its season last week by beating the Woburn Tanners 2-0 at Woburn. This victory enabled the Sachems to end their season with a record of 8-8-2.

After opening the season with five consecutive losses the Bouleymen compiled a fine 8-3-2 record. They defeated every team in the league once except for the co-champions Belmont and Wakefield who have now reached the semi-final round of the Eastern Massachusetts tourney. They lost three out of four games to the titlists by just a single goal.

The improvement in the record dates from a change to a 3-4-3 alignment which gave Winchester more control of the ball in the middle of the field. This also moved Co-captain Paul Austin into the center of the line instead of at halfback. This enabled him to score 14 goals in the last 13 games as he was the leading scorer in the Middlesex circuit.

John Waite also took over as regular goalie for the Sachems and did a fine job over the remaining 13 games. Mark Mulvaney, Tom Shirley and John Roche formed a solid defense cordon and eliminated the early season errors which cost the team several defeats.

The four halfbacks required in the new system put Mark McGoldrick and George Casey in the center with Chris Hall and Willie Strazzulo on the outside. Seth Goodman and Co-captain Mark Nelson combined with Austin in the front line of the new system.

Several members of the bench stepped in at times of need to help the starters in practice and in games. Coach Bouley was very pleased with the new style of play and the adaptability of the players to rise from a weird start to a successful season's record.

The first goal against Woburn was tallied by Co-captain Paul Austin on a pass from Mark McGoldrick and the other tally was recorded by Seth Goodman with an assist for George Casey. At half time the bench took over for Winchester and played well for the second half. The defense of goalie Gary Tedesco and fullbacks Jim Gebhard, Tim Skehan and Moustafa Koprucic did an excellent job of shutting off the threatening attack of the Tanners to preserve the 2-0 victory.

Youth soccer

As the soccer season comes to a close the excitement at the games increases as the teams try to improve their standings.

The Shamrocks took first place in the Junior Division by defeating the Panthers soundly 5-0 and tying the Warriors 2-2. Marc Steranka, Chris Julian and Jim Barger were outstanding players, and Brad Houlihan did an excellent job as goalkeeper. Chris Parker, Tim Casey and Kevin Scully tried very hard to change the result and played an excellent game. Tommy Lee and Steve Tucci were also outstanding. John Ulrich and Kevin Feeney also starred for the Shamrocks. Scott Bowen and Chris Parker scored for the Warriors.

The Patriots clinched the Bantam Division with a 6-3 win over the Astros. Randy Fassas scored 2 goals with David Parker, Bob Horne, Frank Virnelli and Bill Mees each scoring once. Duffy looked good on net and kept the opposition from mounting any real attack. Jamie Accardo scored 2 goals and Benji Block 1 for the Astros. Andy Schneller and Pete Papastatis were outstanding offensively, and Jim Fallon at fullback.

The fighting Minutemen surprised the Warriors by scoring three quick goals and never gave them a chance to come back by scoring a fourth one and winning 4-3 and topping them off the first place spot which they have held all season. Chris Parker and Tim Casey worked hard but unsuccessfully against the attacks of David Champoux and Eric Paskerian and their teammates.

The Knights came out of their last place spot to play a great game against the Celtics and won 8-2 with goals by Laslo VonLazar, and David Suvak. The Eagles beat the Tigers 3-1 and are threatening to take the number 2 spot in the Junior Division.

The 76'ers defeated the Cardinals 4-1 with goals by Billy Budd and Barry McQuillan. John Brosnan was outstanding in net and allowed only one goal in. Gary Martin played a very good game for the Cardinals.

The Rangers defeated the Bucks 4-2 in spite of the efforts of Ned Fortin, Reupen Marjanian and Don Layten. Scott Fackert and Jim Herbrich played well for the Rangers.

November 13 will be the last week of regular Youth Soccer. On November 20 at 9 a.m. there will be the Junior Bantam All Star Game, and at 11 a.m. the Senior Bantam All Star. On November 21, Sunday, at 1 p.m. will be the traditional annual game of the Senior All Star team against the coaches.

Hawks post fourth win

The Winchester Pee-Wee AA's rolled to an impressive 6-1 victory, defeating Melrose Saturday night in a game that once again was highlighted by the Hawks' superb team play.

Following the pattern of their earlier games the Hawks came out flying and scored early in the game. On their second shift, Steve Tucci scored from in front with a good wrist shot, concluding a play that featured good passing by Mike Griffin and versatile Paul Tucci. Melrose come-back to tie mid-way through the first period with what would prove to be their only goal.

Second period action featured some excellent penalty killing, particularly by Chris Parker, Paul White and Mike Gorrasi. At one point, the Hawks were two men short because of penalties, but held Melrose to one shot on goal.

Tom Sullivan put the Hawks out in front at 7:45 of the second period as he was well set up after fine efforts from Eric Donaghey and hard working Kurt Lawson. Less than one minute later, Tony Celli scored unassisted as he dug the puck out from in front of the Melrose goal and put it home.

The Hawks kept the pressure on during the third period as their good conditioning and teamwork began to tell the story. Repeatedly, the Hawks' defensemen controlled the puck in the corners, in front of the net and on the points as the forwards excellent passing and playmaking led to three unanswered goals. A Steve Marino blast from the right point was cleverly tipped in by Chris Parker to give Winchester an insurance goal at the two-minute mark. In another penalty killing situation, Chris Parker put the icing on the cake at 5:41. Gaining control of the puck in the Winchester end, Parker faked and weaved through the entire Melrose team, scoring on a soft backhand shot surprising the Melrose goalie.

Tom Sullivan closed out the scoring on an alert play, stealing the puck before Melrose could clear and scoring unassisted. Steve Marino turned in another solid performance and Mike Gorrasi was impressive with his quick glove saves. Boyle, playing his best game to date, made several key saves during the second period while the game was still close.

The Pee-Wee's plan scrimmages against Lowell and Somerville this week as they tune up for the Stoneham Spartans next Saturday night.

Paul Tucci and Eric Donaghey again demonstrated their proficiency at playing either forward or defense equally well. Forwards Coley Wilson and Mike Griffin showed well and the backchecking of Lawson and Steve Tucci was important in keeping Melrose from generating much offense.

Goalies Pat Falla and David Boyle were consistently sharp for the Hawks. Pat Falla showed his usual coolness under fire with his quick glove saves. Boyle, playing his best game to date, made several key saves during the second period while the game was still close.

The Pee-Wee's plan scrimmages against Lowell and Somerville this week as they tune up for the Stoneham Spartans next Saturday night.

Mites lose 5 to 3 to Melrose team

The Winchester Mites suffered their second loss of the season to Melrose 5-3 at the Burlington Ice Palace Saturday morning.

The game remained close through two periods, but the excellent passing of the Melrose team helped put them ahead in the third period. Winchester pulled their goalie for a sixth skater and kept the action on the Melrose goalie for over one continuous minute, but superior goal tending by Melrose kept the score from being changed.

Pete Regan scored two of the three goals for Winchester, while Brian Griffin with constant hustle and desire throughout the game scored the other goal.

Bantam A's come back to win 3-2

The Bantam A's of Winchester Youth Hockey beat Malden 3-2 Sunday in Middlesex Youth Hockey League play. After falling behind 2-0, Winchester came fighting back in the second and third periods to tie the game and to finally win on a break-away goal by Billy Ferry with 2:59 left to play.

Winchester's first goal came with 7:05 left in the second period. Mark Ockerbloom and Ian Donaghey broke up a Malden rush in their own zone. Billy Ferry picked up the loose puck, quickly broke away and beat the goalie with a blast into the lower left corner of the net.

The tying goal came on a real bang bang play. Mike Moros passed to Steve Bosco on the doorstep. Bosco fired but the Malden goalie made a beautiful stop. However, Jeff Levey scooped up the rebound and put it home.

With time running out Ferry again became the opportunist. After defenseman Brad Johnson and Marshall White had broken up a Malden rush, Ferry jumped on the loose puck. Before Malden could regroup, Ferry broke away free, cruised in on the goalie, faked right and then tucked it home.

Lynch winds up winning season with 5-1-3 record

The Lynch field hockey team wound up a 5-1-3 season against Watertown West November 4 with a 1-0 victory.

After a tough battle, Kathy Heffernan came through with the game's only tally for the win.

In the previous game October 27, Lynch tied 1-1 with Lexington's Clarke Junior High. The game was played in freezing-cold weather on a soaking wet field. The Lynch goal was made by co-captain Chris Driscoll.

The other co-captain was Marion Quinn. Team members included: Jeanne Cresse, Kathy Day, Annette Ferry, Darcy Fitzgerald, Mary Grassi, Moira Grozier, Kathy Heffernan, Stephanie Johnson, Colleen McGann, Marlene Metrick, Margot Van Rosenvinge, Mary Cresse, Andrea DeMars, Amy Dillon, Carol Donahue, Mara Reece, and Lisa Vozzella. Mary Boghigian was coach.

The team's record was Lynch 0-Diamond 0, Lynch 0-McCall 2, Lynch 1-Burlington 0, Lynch 0-Melrose 0, Lynch 1-McCall 0, Lynch 0-Watertown East 0, Lynch 1-Stoneham 0, Lynch 1-Clarke 1, Lynch 1-Watertown West 0.

Early Birds

The Sparrows of the Winchester Early Birds Bowling League have again maintained their first place position. Team members are MaryJane Brooks, Ilene White and Delia DiMarzo. The high team single game of 448 and the high team series of 1249 were both captured by the Sparrows Team.

The Starlings are in second place. Team members are: Lorraine Staniewicz, Marie Palumbo and Pat Nicoletti. The Woodpeckers are in third place. Team members are Elaine Binding, Heather Bass and Karen Follen.

Bowler of the day was the Pheasants Team captain, Rose Bejian who bowled the high individual game of 182.

The high individual series of 452 was earned by both Pat Dean of the Warblers Team and MaryJane Brooks of the Sparrows Team. Right behind them with a 451 was Roseanne Berkley of the Chickadees.

New bowlers are welcome and should contact Roseanne Berkley at 19 Cox Road. Free babysitting is provided.

Girl swimmers win a pair

The Winchester Girls Swim Team defeated the Greater Lawrence and Arlington Girls swim teams in their last two meets of the season, by the scores of 50-27 and 57-24 respectively.

The Arlington meet started off with Winchester taking first and second place in the 200 yd. Medley Relay, with the relays of S. Nichols (back), M. Kennedy (breast), P. Hennelly (fly), and J. Karp (free), and L. Walsh (back), T. Burns (breast), D. Dobbins (fly), and K. Peirson (free). Their times were 2:19.3 and 2:30.2 respectively.

Kathy Kerrigan was the victor in the 200 yd. freestyle (2:38.2), with Afaf Georgis placing third (2:48.1). Afaf took first in the 500 yd. freestyle with the time of 7:34.8, with Carol Thomas placing second with the time of 7:56.5.

In the 200 yd. Individual Medley, Karen Vrotsos finished first, but was disqualified because of an illegal breaststroke kick. Winchester did not give up their victory, however, as Dotty Dobbins took first place with the time of 3:12.0.

Arlington took first and second places in the 50 yd. freestyle, with Winchester's Erin Dougherty and Therese Fiorillo placing third and fourth with the respective time of 33.8 and 35.4. In the 100 yd. freestyle, Jennifer Karp placed first (1:08.9) and Maureen LeHane placed third (1:19.2).

Gaye Pollino placed first in the diving, accumulating 129.80 points. Stephanie Ruta placed third, with the total of 105.80 points.

In the 100 yd. butterfly, Paula Hennelly came out on top with the time of 1:28.5, and Dotty Dobbins took second place with the time of 1:38.0, her personal best for the year.

Winchester was victorious in the 100 yd. backstroke with Karen Vrotsos taking first (1:23.0), Donna Hart came in fourth (1:53.2). The 100 yd. Breaststroke was won by Arlington, with Therese Fiorillo placing second (1:32.5), and Lynn Foden placing third (1:41.2).

In a repetition of the medley relay, Winchester again took both first and second places in the 400 yd. freestyle relay, with the relays of P. Hennelly, M. Kennedy, K. Kerrigan and S. Nichols placing first (4:42.8), and T. Burns, J. Karp, L. Walsh, and P. Reiddy placing second, (5:11.2).

In retrospect, the girls were an extremely enthusiastic group, with an unusual amount of spirit. Their ending record was 5 wins and 5 losses, which does not reflect the time and effort that each of the girls put in this season.

From the Winchester High Girls Swim Team, four girls, Cathy Conley, Betsy Dexter, Carol Minotoli, and Laurie Grant, will be participating in the E. Mass. Championships which will take place in Attleboro this Saturday, Nov. 13.

Elizabeth Morandi wed to Michael Bonish Sept. 26

Elizabeth Ann Morandi was married September 26 to Michael Phillip Bonish at St. Barbara's Church in Woburn with Father Fredrick Cartier officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Morandi, 14 Hill st. Her father gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza with venise lace details, fashioned with a high neckline, sheer yoke, and full bishop sleeves. The empire waist A-line skirt flowed to a chapel length train. There were details of venise lace on the neckline, bodice, sleeves, and front panel, and edged on the hemline through to the train. Her veil of silk illusion was a mantilla with venise lace on the camelot cap and lace edging and tiny lace appliques. She carried a cascade of white orchid and stephanotis trimmed in fern and eucalyptus leaves.

Deborah Morandi was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a cranberry knit gown with matching ruffled edge cape. She carried a cascade of bridal pink roses with eucalyptus leaves.

Bridesmaids, who wore matching dusty pink gowns, were Cheryl and Kathy Morandi, the bride's sisters, Debbie Bonish of Woburn, sister of the groom, and Donna McGrath of Stoneham. They carried cascades of pink roses.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bonish, 8 Columbus rd., Woburn, was attended by Phillip Bonish, his brother. Ushers were John Bonish, the groom's brother, Joe Morandi, the bride's brother, Peter McGrath of Stoneham, and Joe Sallase of Woburn.

The groom's cousin, Phillip Oddo, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Bonish, a graduate of Winchester High School, and her husband, a Woburn High School graduate, will be making their home in Woburn following a wedding trip to Hawaii.

LaLeche League sets meetings

Successful breastfeeding often begins with a happy childbirth experience. Many options are open to parents today in the Family-Centered Maternity Care programs in our hospitals. How will the arrival of your new baby affect your relationship as a couple or as a family?

These topics will be explored when the Lexington Group of La Leche League of Massachusetts will meet to discuss "Baby Arrives: The Family and the Breastfed Baby." Tuesday, November 16, 9:30 a.m. at the home of Jane Boynton, 2 Aerial st., Lexington; and Thursday, November 18, 8 p.m. at the home of Mary Casela, 104 Bedford st., Lexington. Dual meetings have been established to enable as many interested women as possible to attend.

This meeting is the third in the current series of four monthly meetings open to nursing mothers and their babies, as well as pregnant and other interested women. The discussion is informal, with opportunity to ask questions and share experiences. The group maintains a lending library of books on breastfeeding, childbirth, and child care. La Leche League may be called at any time for immediate help, encouragement, and practical suggestions regarding breastfeeding, or to obtain the manual, The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding.

For directions and further information, please call group leaders Mrs. Robert Berger, 10 Burnham rd., Lexington; or Mrs. Stephen Mudrick, 72 Prospect Hill rd., Lexington.

Jaycee-ettes sports equipment sale set

The Winchester Jaycee-ettes will hold their annual sports equipment sale on Saturday, November 13, at the Sons of Italy Hall on Swanton street, from 12 to 3 p.m.

The purpose of this community service is to provide residents with an opportunity to buy at reasonable prices a variety of used sports equipment. Those who provide equipment set their own prices with only 10 percent per item fee being charged by the Jaycee-ettes in order to cover costs. This fee is charged to the seller.

For items sold money may be collected at 3 p.m. at the Sons of Italy Hall; also at this time items not sold may be picked up.

Items to be sold should be taken to 9 Ledyard rd., Friday, November 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., so they may be priced and tagged. If any further information is needed, please contact Mrs. Joseph Catalano or Mrs. Mitchell Aswad.

The Window Shop Of Medford Inc.

ELLEN KIMBALL, posing above in the bathroom boutique at The Window Shop, is their Interior Decorator. Right off Rt. 93 at 215 Salem St., Medford. The Window Shop has two telephone numbers, 396-4498 and 396-4499.

It's amazing what good color coordination, design and arrangement can do to a room, and a house interior from top to bottom. It isn't always the cost of furnishings and decor that make a room look its best. If things just don't go together the most expensive purchases can look mediocre.

glad to help you choose coordinating wallpaper, carpeting and drapery, or slip covers. You can also arrange for her to come to your home and supply you with personal service and advice on planning and coordinating your home.

Some people enjoy watching for the new window displays every week at The Window Shop. They make a point of trying to see each new arrangement. Even if the shop isn't open they stop and look at the windows.

There are so many things at The Window Shop to delight and surprise the discriminating home owner, even an inspiring home decorator book, one just has to go there and see for themselves. For information on interior or exterior decorating or their "Shop at Home" service they can be telephoned at 396-4498 or 396-4499.

All types of blinds and shades, including custom made are displayed in such a way as to make it easy for you to choose which you like best. There is also a Kirsch display which includes handsome drapery hardware and dual shower rods.

Morrison-Fiorenza in candlelight ceremony

Susan Elizabeth Morrison and Robert C. Fiorenza were married August 7 in a double-ring, candlelit ceremony at the Old South United Methodist Church in Reading.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Morrison, 508 West st., Reading. Mr. Fiorenza is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Diego J. Fiorenza of 36 Pickering st.

Rev. William Cummings of the Immaculate Conception Church and Rev. Ward Coleman of the Old South Church officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Music was performed by organist Wendell Hodgkins and soloist William Gurriss.

Attending as matron of honor was the bride's sister, Anna Simson of Colrain, Mass. Bridesmaids were Mary Lou Fiorenza, sister of the groom, from Winchester; Carolyn Bellenghi of Reading; Dawn Berardi and Marlene Bonasera, both of Winchester; and Denise Thompson of Reading.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of imported organza featuring a Victorian neckline and bishop sleeves. Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls enhanced the tucked bodice. From the waist fell a flared floor-length skirt. A layer of peau d'ange trimmed with chantilly lace formed the cathedral train. She wore a cathedral-length veil of imported illusion trimmed with matching chantilly lace.

Her flowers were pink roses, pink carnations, white daisies, and baby's breath with streams of ivy.

The bridal attendants wore sleeveless gowns of mint green polyester knit with capes of flowered organza and matching picture hats. They carried bouquets of white daisies, talisman roses and mint green baby's breath. The matron of honor wore an identical gown and hat in yellow and carried a bouquet of white daisies, yellow roses, and mint green baby's breath.

Richard Fiorenza of North Reading, brother of the groom, served as the best man. Ushers included Timothy and David Morrison, the brides' brothers, from Reading; Joseph Bonasera of Winchester; Jack Hashem of North Reading; and James McNulty of Stoneham.

Cheryl Ann Fiorenza, niece of the groom, of Lawrence, served as the flower girl.

Mrs. Morrison wore a floor-length gown of yellow and orange flowered nylon organza over yellow taffeta. The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of rose polyester knit with matching finger-tip length cape of chiffon.

The reception was held at the Casa di Fior in Wilmington, with Susan and Jane Bergin, both nieces of the groom, serving as guest book attendants.

The former Miss Morrison attended Reading Memorial High School and the Bryn Mawr School. She is employed by Winchester Medical Associates, Inc.

Mr. Fiorenza is a graduate of Winchester High School and Control Data Institute. He is the owner of Town Way Realty, Inc. of Reading.

The couple took their wedding trip to Maine and have been living in Andover since their return.

Winchester Players 'Picnic' takes to the stage tomorrow

Picnic will be presented by the Winchester Players Friday and Saturday nights, November 12, 13, 19, 20, at 8:15, Winchester Unitarian Church on Main street.

The actors, some almost professional in ability and experience in community theatre, and project to the audiences a love of theatre, an understanding of the characters in this particular play, and a pleasure in bringing good theatre to Winchester.

Luanne Benschimal, a WHS graduate, plays a lovely Madge, content at first with safe and comfortable Alan Seymour, attractively portrayed by Peter Prescott - but no match for flamboyant Hal Carter (Hugh Fraser, a versatile and experienced actor) who is "passing through" and sparks the lives of the residents of a small town in Kansas.

Madge and her little sister Millie (Christine Dwyer of Woburn, a drama and speech teacher who gives a vigorous performance, are daughters of Flo Owens - a warm, motherly lady, created by Grace Smith of Waltham, a fine character actress, who, even off-stage, refers to Madge and Millie as "my girls."

Bomber is a small part, but Adam Leach, a 12-year-old student at Lynch, creates an interesting scene and is called "a natural talent" by Director Robert Storer.

Rosemary Sydney, a school-teacher boarder of the Owens is Dot Rowell of Belmont and she and Steve Brown as Howard Beavans will bring tears to your eyes and cause you to cheer passage of the ERA and women's newly found self-recognition - unheard of in Kansas in the 50's.

You will be delighted with Pam Boerner

Members of the cast of Picnic which will be staged by the Winchester Players at the Winchester Unitarian Church Nov. 12, 13, 19 and 20 with an 8:15 curtain time. Front, seated, left to right, Connie Blanchard and Pam Boerner; rear, Steve Brown, Lib Hoxie, Luanne Benschimal, and Hugh Fraser.

and Connie Blanchard of Winchester, old-maid teachers (dreadful term) Irma and Christine, and you will be sympathetic with their description of lunch and "an afternoon out."

Last is not least. Millie Owens says, "I just love Mrs. Potts."

Mrs. Potts, neighbor of the Owens is Lib Hoxie of Winchester, and it is impossible not to love her because she loves you. Mrs. Potts had a husband once, but she never lived with him because her mother had the marriage annulled on the very day of the wedding. Now she spends her love on her neighbors and friends, particularly young people and the young man, Hal, whom she takes into her house and heart.

Lib Hoxie played last year with the Arlington Friends of the Drama in Noel Coward's Hands Across the Sea from Tonight at 8:30; in 1974 she acted for Arlington in I Never Sang for My Father. Her last Winchester role was in The Man Who Came to Dinner, also directed by Mr. Storer and she regrets very much not being able to see the WHS production.

Ms. Hoxie as Mrs. Potts is the dear woman we all wish to have next door, and we cheer her return to the Winchester Players in Picnic. Don't miss a superb performance.

The set for Picnic is designed by Pete Hamilton, an architect, and is genuine Kansas, 1950. Al Leach does the sound, Steve Funk, Ken Astill, and Don Chipman, president of the Players, do the lighting.

Tickets may be ordered from Mrs. Richard Spencer or bought at the door.

Local actress plays in Belmont 'Brigadoon'

When Nawrie Campbell was a child she dreamed of visiting Scotland and seeing the famous mists and purple heather.

Her dream came true in two ways. She honeymooned there and saw what she described as "mysterious mists, black lakes, old castles and harsh landscapes."

This fall her dream comes true on stage when she performs the famous leading role of Fiona MacLaren in the Belmont Dramatic Club's production of "Brigadoon" this weekend.

Performance time is 8 p.m. Nov. 13, 14, 19 and 20 with a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday in the Belmont Town Hall. Tickets are available at the door.

"I loved the idea of performing in Lerner and Lowe's classic musical," she said, as she described her childhood enchantment with the mysterious land.

In the plot of the musical, Brigadoon is a town that disappeared 200 years ago only to reappear from the mists one day every century due to the prayers of a minister in the Town. He feared that the evil forces of the world were encroaching on the good people of his village. His prayers were answered with a miracle.

In her role, Mrs. Campbell sings the soprano part of Fiona who falls in love with a 20th-century American who stumbles into the magical village while hunting on the moors.

The Rangeley Ridge resident has a vivid memory of her visit to Scotland when she and her husband saw what appeared to be a castle rising out of the mists of a Scottish lake. They took a rowboat out to see if it was real and discovered an abandoned fortress on a small spit of land.

Although Nawrie is busy with three children ages 9, 7, and 3, and husband David who is a physician with Massachusetts Eye and Ear, she has found time to pursue her interests in community affairs, singing and creative expression.

Music was not her major at Mt. Holyoke College, but she directed college shows, wrote lyrics, and studied voice briefly while studying in Europe.

More recently she has studied at the Longy School of Music in Cambridge, done solo work at the Parish of the Epiphany and worked with Luther Enstad, musical director at the Unitarian Society.

Nawrie Campbell

Residents of the Mt. Vernon Home for seniors were treated to a concert by Nawrie and her talented sister Patience Meigs featuring voice, piano and recorder.

Her outgoing manner and expressive talents led her into teaching in an observation nursery in Winchester for the Mystic Valley Mental Health, past office as a town meeting member, and involvement in the local Environmental Protection Agency and Wyman School activities.

The Health Education Department of the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, will conduct a "5-Day Plan to Stop Smoking," Sunday through Thursday, November 28 - December 2 and Sunday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital auditorium.

This very successful method, first introduced in 1960 by Dr. Wayne McFarland (at that time based at NEMH), is held five times each year by the hospital.

The 5-day Plan contains no "gimmicks." It emphasizes ways of coping with the physiological, psychological and nutritional problems associated with breaking the habit. Since 1960 over 17,000 persons have participated in the clinics at NEMH.

Health educators, dietitians and a team of physicians will provide expert assistance and instruction for those who are serious about giving up their tobacco habit.

For further information call the Health Education Department at NEMH. There is a $10 registration fee.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

Marinade is the liquid, usually wine, containing spices, herbs, and seasonings used to enhance the flavor of foods left in it for 24 hours or longer; some marinades make meats more tender. A marinade composed of one part vinegar, one part Worcestershire sauce, five parts Burgundy, and ten parts oil will tenderize and improve the flavor of steak or chops. Have meat at room temperature and brush on marinade about four hours before broiling. Turn occasionally.

When time to cook, put meat under flame, marinade and all.

"Merit Delivers More Taste Than Higher Tar Cigarettes."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste testing shows Merit delivers flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The bottom line was conclusive:

In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion,* smokers from across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1976

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Less tar. Yet more taste.

That's the report on a remarkable new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT.

Unprecedented smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

Colonial service set at Crawford

The "Good Methodist Cooks" are preparing a fine refreshment to follow the Thanksgiving Day Colonial Bicentennial service at the church on November 21, at 10:45 a.m. The nimble fingers of the church ladies have been busily sewing garments of that by-gone day to be worn in the congregation to celebrate the gala day. The young people are most interested to see history enacted and are eager to be a part of the service.

The church members are being asked to bring contributions of food to go to the needy—these "victuals" will be collected in the church narthex before the service and taken to the sanctuary as the service starts.

The "proctor" or "tithingman," is ready with his long pole with its very "tickly" feather on its end to arouse any drowsy churchgoers or any mischievous youngsters during service on that day. The "liner" is practicing his hymns and the drummers are ready to call the community to the service. All are invited to see and hear this unique service as it re-enacts a colonial church service as Samuel Adams or John Hancock might have attended in the fiery days of the 1700s.

The minister, Rev. Leon S. Hatch, Jr., will exhort his flock to give thanks to the bountiful Providence for the bountiful harvest. The sermon will be adapted from an actual colonial sermon delivered 200 years ago in New England.

Have Thanksgiving Dinner with Us, at Dunfey's Tavern.

It's Thanksgiving time again. Time for you and your family to get together, to share in that traditional Thanksgiving feast. And this year, we'd like you to share that time with us.
On Thanksgiving Day, we'll be serving up all the warmth and festive spirit of a real old-fashioned family Thanksgiving, with a holiday dinner that'll beat the stuffings out of anything you've ever had before.
It wouldn't be Thanksgiving without a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. And to make sure you have a Thanksgiving dinner you'll long remember, we'll all be on hand to welcome and serve you.

This Thanksgiving, give thanks at our table. Join our family as we celebrate the joys and blessings of the holiday season.

"Merit Delivers More Taste Than Higher Tar Cigarettes."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste testing shows Merit delivers flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The bottom line was conclusive:

In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion,* smokers from across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Less tar. Yet more taste.

That's the report on a remarkable

new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT.

Unprecedented smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

Colonial service set at Crawford

The "Good Methodist Cooks" are preparing a fine refreshment to follow the Thanksgiving Day Colonial Bicentennial service at the church on November 21, at 10:45 a.m. The nimble fingers of the church ladies have been busily sewing garments of that by-gone day to be worn in the congregation to celebrate the gala day. The young people are most interested to see history enacted and are eager to be a part of the service.

The church members are being asked to bring contributions of food to go to the needy—these "victuals" will be collected in the church narthex before the service and taken to the sanctuary as the service starts.

The "proctor" or "tithingman," is ready with his long pole with its very "tickly" feather on its end to arouse any drowsy churchgoers or any mischievous youngsters during service on that day. The "liner" is practicing his hymns and the drummers are ready to call the community to the service. All are invited to see and hear this unique service as it reenacts a colonial church service as Samuel Adams or John Hancock might have attended in the fiery days of the 1700s. The minister, Rev. Leon S. Hatch, Jr., will exhort his flock to give thanks to the Almighty Providence for the bountiful harvest. The sermon will be adapted from an actual colonial sermon delivered 200 years ago in New England.

Have Thanksgiving Dinner with Us, at Dunfey's Tavern.

It's Thanksgiving time again. Time for you and your family to get together, to share in that traditional Thanksgiving feast. And this year, we'd like you to share that time with us.

On Thanksgiving Day, we'll be serving up all the warmth and festive spirit of a real old-fashioned family Thanksgiving, with a holiday dinner that'll beat the stuffings out of anything you've ever had before.

It wouldn't be Thanksgiving without a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. And to make sure you have a Thanksgiving dinner you'll long remember, we'll be on hand to welcome and serve you.

This Thanksgiving, give thanks at our table. Join our family as we celebrate the joys and blessings of the holiday season.

Bright sunshine and brighter smiles accompany Daphne Pizaris of Winchester as she led her third grade class in the annual outdoor Halloween parade at Belmont Day School. Daphne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stylianos Pizaris.

When is a yard a metre? When it is a loaf of traditional French bread. And for Jonathan Smollen and his mother, Mrs. Lawrence Smollen of Winchester, French bread is just right for the cheese (Fromages de France) displayed and nibbled at a recent French language assembly at Belmont Day School. Jonathan, a fifth grader at the school, has been studying French for two years and enjoys cheese equally in two languages.

Religious news

Trinity Baptist Fairette Nov. 20

The Trinity Baptist Church will hold a "Fairette" next Saturday, Nov. 20, from 1 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall, 115 Mass ave., Arlington.

Sisterhood hold supper

On Tuesday evening, November 16, the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom Emeth is having a Pot Luck Supper. June Manning and other representatives of the Stretch and Sew of Burlington will be giving a tee-shirt demonstration with a variety of fabrics as well as a fashion show of mix and match clothing.

Joins fellowship at Marietta Coll.

Marietta College Freshman Kathy McKenna of Winchester, is a member of the Fisherman Christian Fellowship. The Fellowship is affiliated with the Inter-University Christian Fellowship—a nationwide organization for college students.

The Fellowship through prayer meetings, Bible studies, and other activities encourages Christian growth in its members.

The group painted the new headquarters of the Washington County Society for Crippled Children and Adults for one of their projects. Kathy, a 1976 graduate of Winchester High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKenna of 49 Ledyard rd.

'Bonanza' set at Matignon

On Thursday evening, Nov. 18, the Matignon Mothers' Guild will hold their annual "Bonanza" at 7:30 p.m. in the Matignon High School cafeteria.

There will be a speech contest followed by the drawing of 50 prizes including a 12 inch color TV. An invitation is extended to all by the chairlady, Mrs. Mary Haigh. Refreshments will be served.

Santa Maria to hold social 18th

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria No. 150, will hold its monthly social at the Immaculate Conception School Hall on Sheridan circle at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 18, for the benefit of its charitable endeavors.

The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Townpeople to observe fast for world hunger crisis

To dramatize their concern for the world hunger crisis, and as a symbol of their desire to eat less so that others may live, a number of Winchester people will be fasting from 6 p.m. Wednesday, November 17 until 6 p.m. Thursday, November 18. They will then gather in Chidley Hall at First Congregational Church for a light meal together at 6:30 p.m. Any family or individual who would like to participate is urged to do so.

Rev. George W. Easton, Winchester co-ordinator for the fast, reminds the community that Winchester youth have raised thousands of dollars to fight world hunger through former fasts and challenges adults and family groups to join them in the observance this year. He reminds potential participants that fasting does not include giving up liquids. Funds may be raised by donating what would otherwise be used to purchase food for the 24 hours or by soliciting sponsors who will pledge an amount per hour of your fast.

Funds raised should be made payable to Oxfam-America and sent to Rev. George W. Easton at First Congregational Church, Winchester, who should also be notified if you will be present for the supper November 18.

Gowns and fabrics by Priscilla of Boston will be on sale. Plants, books and white elephants will also be featured.

Mrs. Elena Bradlee and her committee will serve a luncheon on Thursday with a menu of chicken, rice and green bean casserole, tomato salad, french bread, coffee and dessert. Apple pie and coffee will be served Wednesday evening. Morning coffee and afternoon tea will be served Thursday. Tickets for the luncheon may be purchased in advance at the church office.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Lombard is the co-ordinator for the fair.

Census survey for voters here

Did you vote November 2? Were you registered but did not vote?

The Bureau of the Census will ask these and other questions about voting activity in the 1976 national election of persons 18 and older in a sample of households in this area during the week of November 15-20.

Arthur G. Dukakis, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston, stressed that no questions will be asked about party affiliation or for whom a person voted. The survey will provide a profile of the typical American voter and non-voter - age, sex, residence, education, labor force status, and family income.

These voting questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in September the survey indicated that of the 95.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 87.8 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.3 percent, down from 7.9 percent in August but substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Locals to host

Toastmistresses

Winchester Toastmistress Club will host the fall meeting of New England area Toastmistress Clubs to be held on Saturday, November 13, at the Ramada Inn, 15 Middlesex Canal Park rd., Woburn, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Miss Mary Meaney of Quincy, council president, has announced that Miss Ethel Austin of Travelers Insurance, Hartford, Connecticut will present a workshop, "Public Relations: A New Approach to an Old Subject," at the morning session.

"Tensil Painting" will be the subject of the luncheon speaker, Miss Kelley Yancey of South Yarmouth. Following the luncheon "Beyond Black and White: For the Woman in Business," a film, and discussion will be presented by Mrs. Emma Doran, manager, Management and Development Department at Enhart Corporation, Hartford, Connecticut.

International Toastmistress Clubs train women, through self-development, to communicate effectively, develop poise and self-confidence, and to become skilled in leadership and parliamentary practice. "Enlightenment in a Changing World" is the council theme for the year.

This meeting is open to the public.

Local vocalists

with Masterworks

Nine Winchester residents will sing with the 146 voice chorus of the Masterworks Chorus when that group performs Handel's Messiah December 4 at 8:30 in the evening, and again December 5 at three in the afternoon. The performances will take place in Cary Hall, Lexington.

Local members of the chorus include Judy Duker, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kingsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Larson, Richard Pharo, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rahmeier, and Linda Smith.

To complete the musical forces, the chorus has engaged a full symphony orchestra and four accomplished soloists. Tickets to the concerts are free, but the supply is limited.

Open house at YMCA Tuesday

The North Suburban YMCA will host an open house November 16.

Included in the open house will be demonstrations by various classes at the "Y" from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

This event will be the 85th annual meeting of the local YMCA.

Joan and Ken Blank of Park Avenue recently opened up the Hallmark Cards Gift Shop on Main street, and business is already bustling. Behind the register, Mrs. Blank handles a transaction. The store will offer seasonal selections of greeting cards for all occasions, in addition to other gifts.

Guild to hold Christmas Bazaar at Crawford Church

The Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour is holding their annual Christmas Bazaar in the Gifford Hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church (corner of Church and Dix streets) Winchester, Tuesday, November 16 from 10 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Coffee and doughnuts will be available for the early morning shoppers.

Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, Chairwoman of the Luncheon and Snack Bar has arranged a luncheon menu which will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There will be plenty of parking space available in the church yard and on both sides of Church street.

Alice O'Leary, president, is general chairwoman assisted by a large and dedicated committee who have been working during the past months preparing for their various tables which will be stocked with hand knits, aprons, home-baked goodies, jewelry and gift items and the ever-popular attic table.

Mrs. Clarence Dunbury is chairwoman of the apron table, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Mullen and Mrs. Frederick Patton as co-chairwomen. Mrs. Albert Marasca is chairwoman of the attic table, assisted by Mary McLaughlin and Mrs. William Wadden as co-chairwomen. Louise Noone is chairwoman of the jewelry and boutique table, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Flynn and Mrs. Ernest Bernier as co-chairwomen. Mrs. Frank Smith is chairwoman of the knit table, assisted by Mrs. Edward James as co-chairwomen. Mrs. Charles McLaughlin is chairwoman of the luncheon and snack bar, assisted by Mrs. Patrick Curley as co-chairwomen. Mrs. C. Philip O'Rourke is chairwoman of the pantry table, assisted by Mrs. Walter Crotty and Mrs. Jeremiah McCarroll as co-chairwomen.

All proceeds from the bazaar help support the Infant and Maternity Department of the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston.

Children's Theater posters on display through November 18

The Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., Children's Theatre Division, will be having an exhibit of color drawings on posters from which the scenery for their production of "Pinocchio" will be chosen.

The children put the story of Pinocchio into paintings as another aspect of children's theatre, in addition to acting, singing, and dancing.

The exhibit will be on display in the children's room of the library from Monday until Friday, November 18. Those posters chosen the best by the children will be adapted for scenery.

John Horn, 8 Ravenscroft rd., financial analyst at Boston Edison Company, participates at a debate between public and private utilities held at Northeastern University's Boston campus recently. Sponsored by N.U.'s College of Business Administration, the debate centered on Question No. 4 on the November Massachusetts ballot which advocates state participation in the business of producing utilities. Mr. Horn represented Boston Edison in opposing state action for utility companies.

Library films

Nov. 11 & 16

Blind Bird - This feature film was produced in Russia. It is the story of a sightless pelican who is treated by a doctor in Moscow. The beautiful scenery in this film makes it memorable.

On Sunday afternoon, the family program is held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library and will begin at 2. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. There will be a Tuesday afternoon program for school age children at 3:30 p.m.

The third in a series of four young adult film programs will be presented Wednesday.

The 10th grade class from Winchester High School and their teacher, Margaret Sexton (center) receive a lesson in pewtersmithing from an Old Sturbridge Village interpreter during a visit to Boston's Prudential Center October 28. The students were among the first to view Old Sturbridge Village's four-week exhibit and series of craft demonstrations, which is open free to the public through November 19 and located in the Center's tower lobby. The exhibit is highlighted by demonstrations including pewtersmithing, coppering, broommaking, bootmaking, pottery, spinning and a special herb garden. Also featured at the exhibit are authentic 17th and 18th century artifacts such as household items and costumes as well as photo murals. Demonstrations take place from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. weekdays.

Obituaries

Jeane F. Cook

Jeane F. Cook, 56, of 10 Mayflower rd., died suddenly on November 8 at Winchester Hospital. A funeral service was held Wednesday at Ripley Chapel, First Congregational Church, with Rev. Walter Davis officiating. Burial followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Cook was the daughter of the late John F. Cook and Katherine Greig Cook, both born in Scotland. She attended New Castle (Pennsylvania) High School and Johns Hopkins University, where she graduated with the class of 1943.

After college, Mrs. Cook served as a flight nurse with the United States Navy in World War II. She was a lieutenant and saw duty between February 1944 and November 1946. Mrs. Cook, a Winchester resident for the past 20 years, leaves her husband, Theodore F. Cook, Sr. of Winchester, one son, Theodore F. Cook, Jr. of Tokyo, and two daughters, Mrs. Carole Jeane Rivinius of Ipswich, and Cathy-Lynne Cook of Winchester. Also surviving are brother John F. Cook of New Castle, PA, and sisters Mrs. Margaret Pasarella and Mrs. Helen Long, both of Miami, and Mrs. Marion Walczak of Youngstown, Ohio. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Richard A. Hansen

Memorial services were held Tuesday at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in East Boston, for Richard A. Hansen Sr., 62, of 21 York rd. Mr. Hansen died November 6 at Bay Side Nursing Home in South Boston following an illness of several months.

Rev. Denis Orsen officiated at the 2 p.m. services. Burial followed in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Hansen, a resident for 25 years of Winchester, was a salesman for Captain H. Hansen and Son in Boston for 28 years until his retirement eight years ago. The company is in the ship chandler business.

He served in the United States Army Air Force in World War II as a staff sergeant.

The former Everett resident was the son of the late Hartman Hansen, born in Norway, and Mrs. Agnes Hansen of Everett, who survives her son.

Also surviving Mr. Hansen are his wife Mary (Fahey) Hansen and his son Richard A. Hansen Jr., both of Winchester. Also two daughters, Mrs. Donna F. McLean of Medford and Nancy E. Hansen of Winchester. Mr. Hansen also leaves his sister, Mrs. Adelaide Olsen of Burlington and three grandchildren. Funeral arrangements were by Lane Funeral Home.

Varsity player

Maria Cosentino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony V. Cosentino, of 6 Nassau dr., is a member of the women's varsity tennis team at Boston College.

She is a freshman there and is majoring in political science and history.

Anne H. McGuire

Anne Hazel (Nagle) McGuire of 26 Winthrop st., secretary to the Winchester Board of Selectmen for nine years, died November 5 at Winchester Hospital after a short illness. She was 63.

Rev. Howard Krueger of the First Baptist Church officiated at private graveside services in Wildwood cemetery Monday afternoon.

The wife of William P. McGuire of Winchester, Mrs. McGuire was born here April 15, 1913 to Frank and Gertrude (Hunnell) Nagle. Her mother was also a Winchester native.

She attended schools here and graduated from the high school with the class of 1930. She studied in the business program at Burdett in Boston.

She began serving as the selectmen's secretary in September 1969 and also was a notary public for the town. She belonged to the First Baptist Church and was a mother-advisor in the Winchester Assembly No. 50, Order of the Rainbow for Girls. She also received the Grand Cross of Color (service) from Rainbow.

In 1975 she was recognized as a "Distinguished Citizen of the State of Massachusetts" by Who's Who in Massachusetts.

Surviving her are her husband and two daughters, Priscilla R. McGuire of Colebrook, N.H., and Lois D. Garneau of Winchester.

Memorials in her name may be donated to Winchester Assembly No. 50, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in care of the Norris Funeral Home, 1 Elmwood ave., Winchester.

Albert M. Thompson

Albert M. Thompson, 78, of 15 Garfield ave., died on November 4 after a brief illness. Funeral services were held on Saturday at the Norris Chapel with Rev. Alan Ferguson of the Second Congregational Church officiating. Interment followed at Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Thompson was deputy warden at Walpole State Prison until his retirement 13 years ago. A Winchester resident for more than 50 years, Mr. Thompson was a member of Adelphi Lodge A.F. and A.M., the American Legion, Central Massachusetts Police Association, Disabled American Veterans, and the Canopy Club.

He attended the University of Vermont and graduate from Tufts University with the Class of 1925. He was a member of ATO fraternity. He served in the United States Navy during World War I.

Mr. Thompson is survived by his wife Christina Thompson of Winchester, a daughter, Lois Souza of Centerville, and sons Richard B. Thompson of Londonderry, and Robert G. Thompson of Reading.

Donations in his name may be made to the Winchester Second Congregational Church building fund. Norris Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Successful sale

The Election Day bake sale at the Mystic School was hailed as a success by Mrs. Elaine Binding, ways and means chairman.

Mrs. Binding and her committee sold the baked goods which the mothers of Mystic students had donated.

Mystic School parents and teachers concluded a series of grade level mini-meetings this week when Mrs. Catherine Sullivan and Mrs. Judy Pomeroy presented the philosophy and objectives of the fourth-grade program in all curriculum areas.

In this series, the teachers of all grades discussed with parents the scope and sequence of the elementary school curriculum and their educational and behavioral goals for the year.

Themes developed were individualization of instruction, use of independent study, and the options and responsibilities that involve children in the process of their own learning.

Parents were shown educational kits and programs which are used to supplement instruction. Handouts were available for parents seeking further understanding of the school's program.

A social period preceded and followed each presentation through the hospitality of room mothers, and room mothers chairperson, Mrs. Nancy Goodell.

Meetings were held in the newly renovated Mystic School Raymond J. Dickman Library. The series was jointly sponsored by the Mystic School Association of which Mrs. Ann Matrudola is president, and the Mystic School principal, Dr. Martha C. Grenzbeck.

Mystic parents in mini-meeting series

Math team places third in meet

The Winchester High School Mathematics Team participated in their first meet on October 28 at Wayland High School. Of the 40 schools participating in the competition, the Winchester Team received a high score of 51 points placing the team in 5th place.

Jeffrey Sample, was the highest scoring junior in the North Division. Susan Hankins, a senior, was also a high individual scorer.

Team members for the October meet for Winchester were: Susan Hankins, senior; Stephen Deininger, Jeffrey Sample, juniors; Stephen Watts, Patricia Hankins, and Peter Lee, alternate.

The math team is a member of the North Division, one of four divisions in the Greater Boston Mathematics League. Team ranking is determined by the divisions belonging to the Boston Math League. Meets are held at the high schools belonging to the North Division.

Mrs. Pouliot and Miss Mirka are advisers of the team.

The next meet will be held in Lexington on December 1.

Local scientists lead laser program

Winchester residents Dr. Jack D. Daugherty, vice-president for laser research and development at Avco Everett Research Laboratory, Inc., and Michael Sirchis, AERL principal research scientist, will direct laser fusion power production research program at AERL.

Avco will undertake its first direct role in the U.S. effort to develop laser-induced fusion for electric power production in experiments to be conducted for the Energy Research and Development Administration.

The leading U. S. facility for development of high energy gas lasers, AERL will investigate a problem of parasitic lasing that is a current limitation to achieving the bursts of carbon dioxide laser energy needed for laser-induced fusion. The AERL research program, which will involve six AERL scientists and engineers directed by Sirchis as program manager and Dr. Daugherty, vice-president for laser research and development, will begin under an $800,000 ERDA contract.

The AERL experiments will support research utilizing CO<sub>2</sub> gas lasers centered at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory which is aimed at developing six 16 kilojoule laser beams to fire in nanosecond (billionth of a second) pulses to compress and heat tiny deuterium-tritium pellets to release fusion energy for power production. AERL will explore the use of flowing saturable gas absorbers to control the parasitic lasing that restricts the amplification capability of the oscillator-amplifier laser chains that would produce the high energy pulses for the LASL system.

Since joining Avco in 1970, Sirchis has been doing research in the Laser Advanced Research Program, with primary responsibility in the area of generating and amplifying nanosecond CO<sub>2</sub> pulses with electron beam ionizer sustainer electric discharge laser devices.

His current investigation include operating the discharge in a breakover mode to achieve high energy gain switched laser pulses, as well as methods of mode-locking, single pulse extraction and isolation techniques. He has been involved in the design and fabrication of the Humding Jr. experiment. Prior to his research in EDL CO<sub>2</sub> laser programs, Mr. Sirchis did research in developing flashlamp pumped dye lasers.

Working at Honeywell and General Laser Corporation since 1966, Mr. Sirchis was Program Manager responsible for laser and electro-optic systems R & D. He was responsible for solid state and dye laser programs, non-linear optics programs for Q-switching, harmonic and parametric generation, modulation and deflection of laser beams. He was also responsible for a laser in-flight obstacle detection system, as well as new laser recording techniques.

Sirchis is a member of the Optical Society of America. Dr. Daugherty received his bachelor's degree in 1957 from Iowa State University. He received his M.S. (1963) and Ph.D. from Purdue University. At Purdue he studied under a National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship. He also attended the 1964 Princeton University Plasma Physics Summer Institute sponsored by an N.S.F. grant.

As a principal research scientist at Avco, Dr. Daugherty has conducted research in various areas of plasma physics, high voltage electron devices, gas discharge physics and lasers. In plasma physics, his experience includes the design of an experiment requiring a large vacuum chamber, high voltages and high electrical currents.

He is presently active experimentally and theoretically in the development of high energy, pulsed electric lasers. His experimental experience includes the design of laser optics, high voltage and high uniformity electron beams. His theoretical interests include optical design and laser kinetics.

From 1957 to 1961 Dr. Daugherty was attached to Naval Reactors, USAEC, where he worked on the structural, electrical and nuclear engineering of Naval Nuclear Propulsion Reactors. Dr. Daugherty is a member of the American Physical Society and several physics, engineering, and scholastic honor societies.

Music club holds meeting, recital

The first meeting of the Winchester Music Club took place November 7 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kilmer McCully of 15 Wildwood St. Mrs. Sue Cowen coordinated the evening's program, and Tim Cummings served as master of ceremonies.

Mary Hartman, pianist, played the first movement of Beethoven's Sonatina in F. Tim Cummings' piano selection, Allegro, by Mozart, was next. Julia Gittleman, pianist, chose Prelude in F by Bach.

Julie Farman and Christi Davidson played a flute duet, the Finale from the first movement of the London Trio by Haydn. Chris Wilde, pianist, played Minuet in E Flat Major by Mozart. Kathy and Ann Chen played two piano duets by Stravinsky and Schumann. Sherri Daugherty, cellist, played Lento by Schumann, accompanied by Linda Feldmann, pianist. Variations by Bartok was played by pianist Charles Abbott. Sue Harris, pianist, selected Prelude by Debussy. Mark Pharo, violinist, and Anne Pharo, flutist, played the First Duet, Opus 8, by Pleyel.

The first movement from the Sonata in D Major by Mozart was performed by pianist, Karen Anderson. Ellen Stoddard, pianist, played Prelude and Fugue in B Flat by Bach.

Kathy Davidson, violinist, Christi Davidson, flutist, and Sherri Daugherty, cellist, played the trio from the Sonata in C Major, the Moderato Movement, by Karl Friedrich Abel, accompanied by Mrs. Carol Davidson, pianist.

The final selection, Mazurka, by Chopin was played by pianist Susan Doron.

It was quite pleasant to see members of a family and friends getting together to play various pieces.

Participating teachers were: Edith Bolster, Sue Cowen, Ted Eletherakis, Carol Fieleke, Walter Knight, Kitty Laber, George Seaman, Alice Wilkinson, John Willis, and Max Winder.

Fall session

Hospital Friends hold 26th annual meeting, election

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital held their 26th annual Fall meeting October 21 at the home of Ruth DeSanctis. The meeting was called to order by the president, Loretta Pharo who shared her thoughts on the purpose of the annual meeting.

"It is an opportunity for each of us to recommit ourselves as volunteers. We are truly an integral part of the hospital and fill a real need for the patients."

Nancy Hunter read the secretary's report which had been prepared by Agnes Sarmanian. Last year the Friends gave the hospital $2200 for audio-visual aid equipment. A committee has been established for the research and development of new services for the hospital. This new standing committee will be constantly evaluating current services and updating their operation as well as looking into new areas of need and possible ways to meet them. Four new services were added last year, and this year the Friends will provide tours of the hospital for first grade classes.

Shirley Black read the Treasurer's report, indicating that the Friends had a balance of $2650.11 as of September 1, 1976.

Ellie Josephson, nominating chairman, read the proposed slate for 1976-1977. President, Loretta Pharo; Vice president, Helen Craig; Recording Secretary, Nancy Hunter; Corresponding Secretary, Pat Aylward; Treasurer, Agnes Sarmanian; Assistant Treasurer, Betsy Hurley; Directors Marge Kaufman, Bernice Kimball and Linda Hertig.

The standing committees are: volunteer services, Nan Blowney; Vice Chairmen Marie Johnson and Pat Sanford; reading Chairman Mary Kennedy; ways and means, Marilyn Georgis; publicity, Carol Mullin; Newsletter, Lillian Costello; program, Helen Craig; hospitality, Claire Selvitelli; nominating, Bea Erickson, public relations, Chris Mapes; legislative chairman, Linda Norberg; development of new services, Shirley Grieve and Dot Macdonald. The slate was approved and elected as read.

Claire Kenney read a clever poem she had composed urging support for the 25th Annual Ball which took place that week. It was a great success.

Leonor Rich, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, David Kinzer. Mr. Kinzer is a native of Pittsburgh. He graduated from Allegheny College in Meadville, Pennsylvania, and after serving in the navy as a dive bomber and fighter pilot in World War II, continued his graduate work in journalism at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois and in sociology at the University of Stockholm in Sweden. He is presently the president of the Massachusetts Hospital Association and has recently been elected first vice president of the American Association of Hospital Planning.

Mr. Kinzer addressed himself to the impact of government regulations on hospitals. The government appears to be of the opinion that inflationary hospital costs are the primary cause for spiraling health costs. While agreeing that hospital costs are increasing, Mr. Kinzer explained that part of the reason for this is that hospitals are admitting a different type of patient, one who is sicker and requires more extensive surgery. Length of hospital stays have not decreased in spite of medical advances, but this is because the patients now hospitalized are more seriously ill. There has been an increase in outpatient surgery of 40 percent, and an increase in ancillary services of 60 percent. While some of these diagnostic tests may result from physicians practicing defensive medicine, the increase also comes from physicians running these tests on an outpatient rather than admitting the patient to the hospital.

Another reason for the rise in health care costs is advanced technology. Dialysis in five years will cost $5 billion, and if all the coronary by-pass surgery were performed, it would cost $100 billion in ten years to train the surgeons and provide the facilities.

The difficulty, as Mr. Kinzer sees it, is that there is not enough money in the treasury to pay for all that the state has become committed to provide. We have come to think of medical care as a right, but we still do not know how to pay for it. Mr. Kinzer would like to see physicians take a more active part in establishing the norms used by Medicare and Medicaid, pointing out that there are more exceptions than norms.

Referendum needs 20 per cent vote

Special election set for Dec. 7 on the school closing question

Selectmen set Tuesday, December 7 as the date of a special election to consider a referendum which will give the school committee "the sense of the town" in determining whether an elementary school should be closed.

Town meeting voted 75-72 on November 8 to recommend that a school be closed. Although unnamed in the warrant article, the Wyman School is expected to be the school chosen for closing, according to public statements by Superintendent of Schools William C. MacDonald.

Opponents to the closing canvassed the town immediately after the close vote and by the Tuesday deadline had gathered more than 1300 signatures. To put a referendum before the town, 400 certified signatures are needed.

Selectmen, expecting to have no problem with obtaining 400 certified signatures, set the date for the election. They have ten days to act on the petition and must call an election within 14 days. The board will legally sign the necessary documents permitting the December 7 date at a special board meeting on November 23.

Although not binding, "the referendum will give the school committee a better sense of what the town really wants," according to Sandra Pomeroy, president of the Wyman parents organization.

Twenty per cent of the voters must go to the polls, according to Town Counsel Douglas Randall. Otherwise, the vote of town meeting holds.

The school committee members have already expressed their intention to consider the vote on the referendum. They are expected to make a final decision on a school closing after December 7.

Vets parade, observe their day

Winchester Veterans' of Foreign Wars Post 3719 and American Legion Post 97 observed Veterans' Day with the massing of colors at the Legion Home on Vine street. The line of March then proceeded to the War Memorial at the corner of Main street and the Mystic Valley parkway and the Honor Roll at the Town Hall.

Leading the parade were Commander's Warren Bolivar and William Stevenson of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars and American Legion. The Police Department was led by Lt. James Cogan and Officers John Gaudente, Joseph Peritano, Daniel McGee and Thomas Faulkner. The Fire Department was led by Chief Robert McElhinney and Capt. Mike Connolly.

Commanders Warren Bolivar and William Stevenson placed wreaths in honor of departed veterans. The Prayer and Meditation was delivered by Father Roger C. Cormier of St. Mary's Church. Taps were played by Bob Noel and Kathy Connolly of the Winchester High School Band. Drummers from the band were Richard Champoux and Gerry Flanagan. Leading the Veterans' group were Robert Powers and Henry Connors.

Speaking at the Honor Roll were John T. Horn, Selectmen Chairman John Sullivan, and State Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr. Also in attendance were Selectmen Barbara Hankins, Arthur Dunbar, Harry Chafalo, Edward O'Connell, Town Manager Thomas J. Groux, and Senator-Elect Samuel Rotundi, and Veterans' Administrator Howard Chase.

The Immaculate Conception Queensmen Drum and Bugle Corps added much color to the parade, under the direction of Father William C. Cummings. The Drum Major is Paul Tenney and the Color Guard Captains are Brenda Duran and Nella Barrmw.

Town set to fill two school jobs

Two positions are open for work in the schools. The high school is looking for a janitor (SC 4) to work for $3.60 to $4.20 an hour. A custodian is needed at the Ambrose School. That salary range for a SC 9 position is $4.72 to $5.34 an hour.

Applications will be received by Henry B. Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel, until Monday, November 22. Address resumes to him at Winchester Public Schools, 15 High st.

The town manager's office, Town Hall, is accepting applications for a civil defense director. Inquiries and applications may be made to him until Monday, November 22.

'In the mood...'

Star writer wins national first prize for column

Star staff reporter Karen Whittlesey-First was named first place winner in the "best column" category in the annual Suburban Newspapers of America Editorial Contest. She flew to Pittsburgh, Pa., last week to accept a plaque and to take part in a panel discussion for members of the industry from all over the nation as part of an SNA editorial seminar.

Karen is a Winchester resident and regularly covers the selectmen, police, fire and other news beats for The Star.

The judging included a series of three columns from her "In the mood" writings which are a regular feature on the editorial page of The Star.

Two of the judges, William F. Johnston and Fendall Yerxa of the University of Washington School of Communications in Seattle, said the Whittlesey-First columns "represented the most consistently excellent writing of any of the contest entries."

They wrote of her three columns considered that "these human relations columns combine the effective advocacy of the skilled editorial writer with the sensitivity of an artist. Karen Whittlesey-First treads the thin line between sentimentality and inspiration with nary a stumble. She brings warmth and wisdom to her writing. Her feeling and caring smooths the way for her sound advice. She writes with a simple eloquence, saying precisely what she means to say, wasting no words and never forgetting her goal."

Karen is married to Donald McNamee. They have four children in the Winchester school system, Andrew 11, Laura 10, Matthew 7, and Alexander 5.

She has a long-time interest in journalism which stems from her father, Wesley First of New York City. First was managing editor of the New York World-Telegram and Sun for many years and is now editor-in-chief of Psychology Today.

While working at The Star, and raising a family, Karen is also studying at Simmons College.

The public address system was manned by Auxiliary Fire Department members Peter Brownell and Donald Smith.

The V.F.W. Color Guard included members Jim Rae, Bill Carroll, Danny Reardon and Richard Horn.

Second flu clinic set for Nov. 20

The board of health, with support from the physicians at Winchester Hospital, are sponsoring a second flu clinic to be held Saturday, November 20, from 10 to 1 at the health office in Town Hall.

This clinic will be primarily for those healthy individuals between 18 and 64 who wish to receive free immunization against the A. swine flu virus. This monovalent vaccine does not contain immunizing factors against A. victoria.

Those chronically ill and those over 65 years of age who missed the first flu clinic will be able to obtain the bivalent vaccine at this time. This vaccine provides immunization against both A. victoria and A. swine virus strains.

In addition, the board of health urges that those persons under age 18 who are chronically ill and who received the bivalent vaccine at the first clinic return for another shot in order to receive complete immunization.

Once again the Red Cross has offered to provide transportation to the clinic and arrangements may be made through the chapter house, 729-2300.

Dr. Lawrence Quigley, chairman of the board of health, and Michael Saraco, director of public health, urge anyone with questions to contact his or her physician.

Coffee will be offered to those receiving the shots and physicians and nurses will be in attendance for the duration of the clinic.

The following suggested schedule is recommended by the board of health. If your last name starts with the letter as noted, the board urges that you make an effort to come at the designated time. In no case, however, will anyone be turned away for coming at other than the designated time if such time is inconvenient.

A to F — 10 to 11.

G to M — 11 to noon.

N to Z — noon to 1.

Rug victims come from afar to claim stolen orientals

Police Chief John P. McHugh announced that 58 oriental rugs, out of the 93 on display Saturday at McCall Junior High School, have been identified, some by persons coming as far as Connecticut for the event.

Under the direction of Lt. James Cogan, with assistance all day from Officers Peritano, Gallant, and Mawn, persons who thought their stolen rugs might be among those spread out on the gymnasium floor came through the doors, filled out identification forms, and received property tags.

Winchester police are retaining all rugs and other items involved in the rug operation which has so far included eight arrests.

After a housebreak in Winchester in October, police were able to trace the rugs to a Framingham apartment belonging to Albert Mostardi, 693 Concord st. Although Mostardi is still at large, several other persons have been arrested and charged with larceny, receiving stolen goods, and other charges.

According to Lt. William Haggerty, who is leading the investigation, the total value of

The Queensmen literally made the parade, which consisted of their corps and color guard, a local color guard, officials, a few veterans, and a four-man drum and bugle unit from the high school band.

Business center is 'dirty, dreary,' say merchants to study committee

By David Funkhouser

The Winchester Center Study Committee, set up by Town Meeting last spring to determine what could be done to improve the business climate in the downtown area, is running up against two formidable stumbling blocks: lack of interest; and lack of a problem to focus on.

After meeting for two and a half hours with more than a dozen local merchants, the committee seemed to conclude that there is little, besides cleaning up the physical appearance of the center, that the town could do.

Besides the state of the sidewalks, the center businessmen also criticized zoning restrictions, traffic problems, parking arrangements, and the "little harassments" of local government red tape.

"I'm pointing the finger at ourselves, too," said clothing store operator Jack Chitel, who criticized his fellow merchants, as well as himself, for their unwillingness to pool their resources to promote local business.

The center study committee was established to research past center studies carried out by other organizations; receive public input; and return to town meeting with a set of alternatives for action — or non-action — by the town.

Chairman Sam Perkins noted that since the committee began meeting in late August, only one member of the public at large had appeared at a meeting without the specific invitation of the committee.

Perkins said there was "no indication so far that any problems exist in the center," and he asked the merchants, "What do the people who work downtown want?"

The most frequent complaint of the businessmen was the physical appearance of the downtown area.

"The appearance is atrocious," said Chitel. He complained of cracks in the sidewalks and poor lighting. He added that the faces of most of the buildings were "not presentable," calling the center "dirty, dreary."

Criticizing the limitations placed by the town on Christmas lighting, card shop owner Ken Blank compared the center to other towns and said the area "looks like a morgue" at Christmastime.

Blank also complained of "hassles" with the town and police in putting up a sign and a new awning for his recently-opened card shop. "The town needs a better business climate," he said.

Chitel seemed to feel that traffic was the number one problem. "There has to be a catalyst for pedestrian traffic," he said. He noted "an underlying current of apathy" and a generally negative attitude about the business climate in the center.

Mike Boodakian berated Town Meeting for "emasculating" proposals for apartment developments on downtown lots. He suggested establishing rules and regulations that "apartment developers can live with."

Other suggestions regarding zoning included by-laws that would encourage closer concentrations of stores for easier pedestrian access; and "mixed" zoning that would allow retail and professional businesses to share buildings. Hugo LaFauci indicated that a liquor store and restaurants with liquor licenses would improve local business.

Joan Blank suggested the town provide extra conveniences for the elderly, such as better parking arrangements to discourage day-long parking in the center and benches for shoppers to rest on.

A local bus service around the downtown area was suggested by Bettie Donald, again to provide better access to stores.

Most present at the meeting seemed to concur that competition with the malls was a major factor. "The main thing is the education of the public," according to Mike Berlow. He pointed out that in recent years, small town businesses have "lost out to the shopping centers." He explained that the merchants and the town should get together to promote, through media advertising, the advantages of shopping in the center.

"We have to give them the things that are unique, tell them what they can get, such as easy parking, good service, the merchandise they want, the atmosphere," Berlow said.

Chairman Perkins noted his personal opposition to the town spending any money for the advertising of local business. Chitel agreed that promotion was not the town's function. He said the Winchester Business Association "can't function" for both lack of interest and lack of funds. Nonetheless, "it's up to us," he said.

Early copy

The Star will be issued one day early next week, on Wednesday, Nov. 24 due to the Thanksgiving holiday on Thursday. All advertising copy must be in the office of The Star by Monday, Nov. 22 by 5 p.m. News copy must be in by 5 p.m. tomorrow. The Star's annual Thanksgiving football supplement will be included in the Thanksgiving week paper.

Merchants offer free turkeys

Here's an opportunity to get your Thanksgiving turkey early — and free.

Local stores are offering the turkeys to their customers without cost, and all you have to do is visit them and fill out a coupon to be eligible.

They have set a deadline of Nov. 20 by 5 p.m. Then a drawing will be held and each store listed in the free turkeys advertisement in today's paper will award at least one free turkey. Turn to page 24 for the list of stores.

New program administrator named to Council on Aging

The Council on Aging has recommended the appointment of Mrs. Edward W. Hurley to replace Gretchen Batra, who has taken another step professionally as an instructor at the Gerontology Center at Boston University. Mrs. Hurley, who resides at 9 Harrison st., has been a resident of Winchester for several years. She has begun her work in the office of the Council on Aging while winding up her responsibilities in her present position as administrative assistant in the Office of Religious Education at St. Eulalia's Church.

Mrs. Hurley, a native of Wichita, Kansas, obtained her B.A. degree with distinction at the University of Missouri. After moving to the East, she continued graduate work at Northeastern University, Bridgewater State College and Salem State College.

Her administrative experience has been interesting and diversified. As a teacher in Rural School, District No. 45, Barton County, Kansas, she had full responsibility for purchasing supplies, maintenance of buildings and grounds, community use of the school, first aid, organizing the curriculum and materials, plus teaching 8 grades. This was a real test of administrative ability.

Later she served as coordinator for the Great Books Reading-Discussion Program at Kansas City Public Library, helping to train discussion leaders and presenting talks for churches, schools, and other groups in the city. This responsibility encompassed working with several hundred volunteers of all ages.

She had a deep and abiding interest in developing programs for senior citizens to encourage them to be active participants in many avenues of interest. Her performance in previous positions indicates that she is creative and well-qualified to handle the multitudinous responsibilities that accompany the job of program administrator for the Council on Aging and the Winchester Seniors' Association.

Mrs. Jean Hurley

Since her arrival in Winchester, she has participated actively in community affairs. Among her services are the second vice presidency of the League of Women Voters and membership on the Winchester Interfaith Adult Education Committee. Keenly interested in music (piano, guitar, voice), she has been an accompanist for vocal and instrumental groups as well as for soloists.

WHS students enrich program with study at Northeast Voke

Nine students at Winchester High School are presently taking advantage of an opportunity offered by the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School to enrich their high school program with intensive work in one of 15 courses offered by the vocational school.

These students take at least three subjects and gym at Winchester High School, then board a bus at 2 p.m. for the vocational school, where they spend three hours each weekday afternoon working in such areas as applied design, auto body repair, basic electronics, food service, machine shop and data processing.

This late afternoon program (LAP) is designed as a three-year commitment and leads to a certificate of proficiency from the vocational school in addition to a Winchester High School diploma.

At present, Winchester is entitled to send eighteen students to the late afternoon program. Students who would be interested to apply in the future may obtain a complete course list and other information from their junior high or high school guidance counselor.

Alcoholics Anonymous

Every Monday night at 8:30 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Kids to practice bus evacuations

Safety Officer John W. McKinley has issued the following information to parents of children who ride school buses:

If your child comes home from school between November 9 and December 9 and tells you they had to evacuate the school bus for an emergency, don't be alarmed. A new state law requires all children in its school systems receive classroom instruction and participate in at least two actual bus evacuations.

The Winchester school system has arranged for the classroom presentation and bus evacuation drills during the next month. School officials, cooperating with the police and Bertini Bus Company, explain that each student will be shown the proper steps to take if it ever becomes necessary to leave a bus during an emergency situation.

How to open emergency doors and windows, how to leave the bus from the rear, where to group up after leaving the bus, and who is to do what will be explained to all students.

We all hope it never becomes necessary to evacuate a bus, yet realize that in emergency situations prior knowledge of what to do saves valuable minutes.

Bloodmobile receives 92 pints of blood

The Red Cross Bloodmobile visited St. Mary's School Hall on November 8 and collected 92 pints of blood from 102 potential donors.

Two bloodmobiles a year are scheduled at St. Mary's to help provide coverage for the blood needs of parishioners and all other residents of Massachusetts. The new Northeast Regional Red Cross Blood Program aims to provide the total blood needs for every patient hospitalized in this state and to have all blood and blood components used by a resident of this state who is hospitalized in this state and to replace all blood and blood components used by a resident of this state who is hospitalized anywhere in the U.S. and Canada. To provide this coverage 1300 pints of blood must be collected from volunteer donors each day in Massachusetts.

Volunteer workers at St. Mary's Bloodmobile: Mary McLaughlin, Betsy Brickley, Patricia Lyon, Lillian Costello, Dorothy Mueller, Nancy Burgatti, Grace Mahoney, Sister M. Michealinda, Sister M. merchants revolved around young persons concentrating in the square. Boodakian urged more stringent enforcement of the public drinking laws, and others commented that the sometimes large groups of youths "hanging around" on the sidewalks and in front of stores did little to improve the climate for would-be shoppers.

Perkins said most of the merchants' suggestions could be handled through existing budgets in the town. "I don't see anything Town Meeting can do here," he concluded.

The study committee will continue to examine previous studies and current input and invites public comment. The meetings are scheduled for Tuesdays at 8 p.m., usually in the planning board offices at Town Hall.

Hub's traffic reroute-rejam will affect local commuters

Winchester commuters who use MBTA bus route 700 (Burlington to Park Square) will be directly affected by the traffic experiment at Charles circle in Boston.

The City of Boston and the MDC have rerouted traffic at the Charles street - Cambridge street rotary - A on the map - so that the 700 bus will terminate at Haymarket Square rather than Park Square. This change went into effect Monday and may be made permanent.

Route 700 will no longer have access to the Longfellow bridge (B) from Charles street on outbound trips to the Burlington, Woburn.

Winchester area, according to the MBTA.

Consequently, route 700 will no longer operate to Park Square (C) in downtown Boston, but will terminate at Haymarket Station (D), where passengers can transfer to either the orange line or the green line.

The bus stop for route 700 at Haymarket will be at the corner of New Sudbury and Congress streets. Schedules for route 700 will remain unchanged, the MBTA said.

If the new MDC-City of Boston traffic pattern is successful, it will continue to operate permanently after the 60-day trial period.

Kiwanis Club inaugural

On November 6 the Winchester Kiwanis Club held its annual Inaugural Ball at the Montvale Plaza. Over 200 Kiwanians and guests were present to celebrate the 1976-1977 presidency of William F. Caci.

President Bill had the pleasure to present the Kiwanis past present award to Robert Simpson for his outstanding leadership during 1975-1976. Representative Sherman Saltmarsh read a citation from the Commonwealth congratulating Bob for his successful year which included the "Jaws of Life" project. Marilyn Simpson received a bouquet of roses in appreciation of her support of Kiwanis.

Other dignitaries at the ball were Senator-elect Sam Rotondi, Selectman Harry Chelafalo and Fire Chief Bob McElhinney. John Mercuro Jr. was the Master of Ceremonies for the evening. The "Kiwanian of the Year" award was presented to Clark Schuler, secretary of the club. Special awards were given to Thomas F. Derro and Romeo Lucentoni for exceptional service to the club.

The event also marked the 25th anniversary of the club's service to the community. In this regard, James Loftus was presented the Kiwanis International "Legion of Merit" award for being an active charter member of the Winchester club. At the ball was Gershon Salter, president of the Woburn Kiwanis Club which sponsored Winchester into Kiwanis International in 1951.

Club hears designer

The Winchester Estates Garden Club met Monday, November 8, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Cancelliere.

The members listened intently to Colleen Wilson, an environmental and interior design specialist. Colleen discussed several practical ways to have a beginning in the interior design of a home, among them a suggestion to analyze oneself thereby determining if one would prefer a room to convey a gay and social atmosphere, a dramatic, or other atmosphere.

Coffee and dessert followed assisted by the co-hostess, Mrs. Janice Coakley.

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Have your 'say'

Winchester voters will have a chance to have their "say" about the controversial school closing question in a special referendum election December 7.

That date probably immediately rings a familiar bell among our older readers, and should do so for younger readers if they have been paying attention to the lessons in history in school.

It is ironic that a whole town will have the opportunity on that day to exercise the franchise treasured by free men everywhere the opportunity to vote in an open and free election, an election in which the losers are not shot and the winners don't become dictators.

In this case, of course, the facts are different but the principle is the same.

What rings the bell and raises the irony is, of course, that December 7 is the 35th anniversary of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, in what was then the Territory of Hawaii, on that infamous day in 1941.

If you were around then, you know that the attack brought America to its collective feet and the nation mobilized as never before. If ever there was an occasion for a so-called "just war," that was it. (The reality is that ideally no war is "just" and no war is "civilized.")

But America was definitely threatened, and the manner in which it was done - a sneak attack by hundreds of Zero fighter and small bomber planes - made it all that much worse. It came at 7 o'clock on a quiet Sunday morning, when most were still in their beds where they died.

Well, you know the story: This nation answered the call of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and willingly put its shoulder to the wheel. The day after Pearl Harbor, school boys and young and old men swarmed to offices of the army, navy and marines to enlist. They waited in line for hours and in many cases as much as three days, to sign up.

America would not stand still. This nation would not take such effrontery lying down. Mothers would send their sons to far-off Pacific islands and atolls of nearly unpronounceable names, certainly unfamiliar names and places. No sacrifice was too great. Our freedom was threatened and we meant to preserve, protect and defend it and our homes and loved ones at any cost. On that we were all agreed.

Perhaps it is another irony that it took an event of such momentous portents to awaken us to our unique heritage. For the talk after Pearl Harbor, as the nation responded to war bonds rallies and kids bought war savings stamps in school, was of how precious indeed, was our freedom. Our entry into the war in Europe after that only served to send more sons off to "far away places with strange-sounding names." And that brought the nation even closer together, if that was at all possible, in a rally to the ramparts for freedom.

Perhaps observing such a day will serve to jog our memories, if not to the very real threat in '41, at least to the precious right and privilege we have today in being able to make a choice, either of issues or candidates.

In this case, of course, the question at issue has to do with whether or not the town at large wishes to close an elementary school, and unofficially, the Wyman School.

As for our editorially, we favor keeping the Wyman School open, as we have stated in the past. There is new evidence that may serve to strengthen that position in today's Star in a guest column written by Harrison Chadwick, who has another approach to the possible solution. We have attempted to lean over backward to provide access to all points of view in this matter since it first came to public attention more than a year ago. Many sides have been heard from, at hearings, in letters, columns and articles. We feel that the public by now must have a reasonably good idea of which way they want to go on this question.

At least 20 percent of the total registered voters must cast ballots in this special referendum election in order to make it valid. By voting, the townspeople will be handing a mandate to the school committee, telling them which way they want them to go.

There are 13,389 voters; at least 2677 will have to go to the polls to do it. Their vote will not bind the school committee, but it will at least provide a solid "sense of the town" vote. That is, if the voters turn out in large numbers.

We don't mean to goad you into a corny "Remember Pearl Harbor" attitude, but it will do no harm if you do remember.

Freedom, once lost, may be gone forever. Cherish it while you can, nurture it and keep it alive and growing. Vote Dec. 7. Have your say.

Keep Wyman open

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Winchester is a community composed of large homes which are very desirable to families with children. Houses are continuously being sold to families with children and it is likely that Winchester's number of school age children will remain fairly constant despite the slight decrease over the past few years.

To have a school nearby is an attractive selling point as well as convenience and safety factor. To force children to walk through the dangerous downtown section unnecessarily is unfair and unreasonable. To spend money renovating large schools to become larger does not seem economically or educationally sound, especially since we now have enough school space and good educational system.

The Wyman district will always have enough school age children to warrant a school in that area. To close Wyman could be shortsighted and it would be far more expensive to reopen a school that has been torn down or leased to an outside agency. Wyman is operating close to full enrollment and is not a waste of taxpayer's money when one looks at the quality of the education children are receiving there.

Let's not close Wyman or any of our other elementary schools at this time. Be sure to vote on the referendum question.

Carol McIntosh
86 Church St.

Financial problem

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Why is the closing of an elementary school being considered? For two reasons:

1. Winchester is a town with a declining elementary school enrollment. This year there are 435 empty seats and next year there will be over 500 empty seats.

2. Winchester is a town that has stopped growing financially. The tax base that determines how much money is available for spending has remained the same for two years. Yet the expenses for operating the town have risen by five or six per cent each year. Therefore, our tax rate goes up.

It is time to slow down this spending beyond our income. What more logical way than to use our school buildings more efficiently? Each school building has basic costs: a principal, a custodian, a secretary, repairs, heat, light - costs that continue to rise. Because the school population is decreasing it is about time that the operating costs reflect the decrease. Let us fill the empty seats and eliminate the costs of a building. We need less space and less administration.

Many Winchester taxpayers do not have children in school. Never have the taxpayers refused to pay school costs, but must they pay for increasing inefficiency?

The Wyman School parents have initiated a referendum, probably to be scheduled for December 7. At that time all the taxpayers will have an opportunity to indicate it is time to close a school so that school tax dollars will buy education, not empty seats.

Close a school

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The nation is presently in the midst of a several year decline in school population which experts say will continue for some time. As a result of this decline in enrollments we are faced with an educational, economic and social problem which has wide ramifications. Should we close a school or should we not close one?

We should all be mindful that education here and throughout the country will face continuing and increasing pressure to increase school budgets because of inflation and collective bargaining while simultaneously being pressured to make budget cuts because of declining enrollments and higher tax rates. The truth of the matter is we're not going to be witnessing a decrease in the school budget from last year. What we are asking for is less of an increase.

It is imperative that the money the town appropriates for education be allocated in the most cost effective and educationally sound way. If buildings are kept open in response to public demand for convenience and adherence to traditional concepts, then either the school budget will have to be increased or additional savings will have to be found in other areas.

In my judgment redistricting a portion of the Wyman population to Lincoln School and the remainder of the population to Ambrose School is not deviating from the neighborhood school concept. There will be no busing costs involved in this move.

The school committee has been examining its options in terms of personal services savings. It has a unique opportunity at the conclusion of this year to consolidate by attrition and improve the efficiency of the central office management team. These decisions will be made final during upcoming budget deliberations and will be reflected in the FY '78 school budget whether or not we close a school.

Since I have been on the committee we have eliminated one principal, ten teachers and three aides, and the secretarial and custodial staffs have been reduced. We have embarked upon a pilot program this school year which has one principal responsible for two schools, one teaching principal, and extra duties for the remaining principals. We have in fact closed a school - what we didn't do was close a building. We have been responding to and continuously addressing enrollment declines. The only sensible alternative at this point is to consolidate.

There is no suggestion of changing the present pupil-teacher ratios. We were led to believe via the results of the Attitudinal Survey that the community preferred to maintain the present ratios.

The majority of the school committee feels it is incumbent upon us to notify the town that the facilities that have been provided for school use are no longer necessary for the number of students we are presently servicing. The current elementary enrollment is 2330. The projected enrollment for September 1977 is 2230, or one hundred students less than presently enrolled. The Town Meeting Task Force projects that by 1982 the elementary school enrollment will decline to 1806. We have a potential elementary capacity of 2985, which leaves us with 655 empty seats currently and 755 in September of 1977, or the equivalent of two small schools. The future of 434 empty seats identified in the Task Force report does not take into consideration the potential capacity of the Ambrose and Lincoln Schools. In view of this situation I, for one, cannot in all honesty justify keeping in operation nine elementary schools.

The one thing I have strived for as a member of the school committee is systemwide consistency and equality of education. There are great variations of per pupil operating expenditures between a

Ye editor is very pleased and proud about the achievement of a member of our staff. Karen Whittlesey-First won first prize for the best column of newspapers in the annual Suburban Newspapers of America contest and picked up her plaque and participated in a panel discussion concerning her work in Pittsburgh, Pa., last week. Karen's work was selected from a multitude of columns from all over the country. Her "In the mood" column appears regularly in The Star. (See story)

Parents circulating the petition for the referendum election concerning the Wyman School closing question, were only required to get 400 signatures, but they wanted no slip-ups and got well over 1300 just to make sure. The referendum will be held Dec. 8. (See story)

If you have noted a slight decline in the level of the lower Mystic Lake, it's because the elevation of the Mystic River has been lowered about five feet to allow repair of engineering problems at the Amelia Earhart Dam in Medford.

The project began Nov. 14 and is expected to be concluded by Nov. 24. If you are planning to move your boat down-river before Nov. 24, don't. You can't.

Winchester's own representative to the General Court, Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., has scored well with Citizens For Limited Taxation in that state group's Index of Fiscal Responsibility. Rep. Saltmarsh was rated 100 percent for his votes on various issues, including: the 1977 budget, the 1977 budget amendment to divert state lottery funds from cities and towns; the graduated income tax; the tax package amendment in the 1976 budget to cover the budget deficit; and the $45 million bond issue to cover the state deficit.

Selectmen Chairman John J. Sullivan reported to the board last week that the USA rink on Conant road, long the source of irritation to the neighbors, is in compliance with restrictions to a license and that the license should be granted.

Sullivan, Town Manager Thomas J. Groux, Police Chief John P. McMugh, and rink owner Ralph Todesco met and agreed that all rules governing the rink would be followed with some additions.

There will be two policemen outside and one inside the building. The owner agreed not to use the lit sign which had been bothering some of the neighbors. He will instead use a spotlight placed so that it faces the sign.

Bumps will not be added to the parking lot because of possible bodily injury to children. A street light will be placed so that it will shine on the policeman on duty outside the rink.

All the requirements and restrictions were placed on the license in response to numerous complaints of lighting, traffic, and noise problems in the Cross Street-Conant road area.

Perhaps this long-standing feud will finally come to an end with all parties concerned able to function harmoniously together.

It was a very long time coming.

The board of health reminds townspeople that a swine flu clinic will be held Saturday from 10 to 1 at the health office, Town Hall. This clinic is designed to immunize healthy persons between 18 and 65 against a possible epidemic of swine flu.

The bivalent (A. Swine plus A. Victoria) vaccine will be available to those chronically ill of any age (over 3) and healthy persons over 65 who missed the first clinic.

Those chronically ill under 18 who did receive vaccine last month should return for a second shot in order to be totally immunized.

The clinic will be open, free of charge, for those whose names begin A-F from 10 to 11; G-M from 11 to noon; N to Z from noon to 1. If you cannot make your scheduled time, the board of health urges you to come when convenient. No one will be turned away.

Any questions should be directed to your family physician.

There will be doctors from Winchester Hospital, nurses from the state, Red Cross drivers, coffee and relaxation.

The school dilemma: Close Lincoln instead of Wyman

By HARRISON CHADWICK

The recent town meeting vote on closing an elementary school was virtually a draw. It gave the school committee no basis whatever on which to act. Some town meeting members voted on the presumed question of whether the Wyman School should be abandoned, others voted on whether the town has excess elementary school capacity and a school should be closed.

The arguments of the superintendent of schools that the ideal elementary school, both administratively and educationally, should have an enrollment of 300-500 pupils, I found persuasive. The arguments of Mrs. Fallon that other good school systems operated within that range were reassuring.

I also found convincing the arguments of Mr. Frank that, despite fluctuations in the birth rate and the proposed home building on the west side hill, that there was an ample cushion of available seats if one school were closed. Therefore, I voted affirmatively to close a school.

Which one? Not necessarily Wyman. From the overall standpoint of the good of the town, I think it would be more logical to close Lincoln.

The location of Lincoln is unsuitable for an elementary school. It is surrounded on three sides by streets that carry some of the heaviest traffic in town. Its nearest neighbors for the most part are not homes but the library, the Town Hall, the fire and police stations, a bank, a professional building, stores, the railroad station, the post office, a church and another school. Furthermore, it accommodates upwards of 600 pupils, - a far greater number than desired for an elementary school. It has playground space for only the kindergarten.

Wyman, which is at the hub of the largest contiguous area of homes of any school in Winchester, if closed, would almost certainly be torn down.

Since Lincoln is ideally situated to be converted to other public or civic uses, it would continue to stand. The town is short of space. The quarters of the police department have long been inadequate, the town manager does not have an office of his own, there is a growing shortage of hearing rooms to conduct the business of the town, etc.

Lincoln should be keyed in when seeking a solution to these problems and the school committee should take no definitive action on closing any school until an exhaustive study has been made of all the public space needs of the town.

There are other reasons for making haste slowly. The four-year senior high school is estimated to be five years away. Rephasing the various schools of the town can best be correlated into that time span. Moreover, the open enrollment program is barely off the ground and with imaginative thinking it might rework the usefulness of some of the elementary schools. Lastly, because of the startling decline in the college board scores over the past ten years, curriculum changes down to the lowest level may conceivably have an effect on our elementary schools.

Yes, as things stand now, the closing of an elementary school is in order, but subject to an intensive review of the twin questions, which school and when? The dollars saved by so doing are unimportant until the right solution involving all factors is agreed upon. The answer to our tax rate problems does not lie here. The chairman of the Board of Selectmen put that matter squarely on the line when he said at the opening of the spring town meeting that the alternative to the curtailment of services is the broadening of our tax base.

school with a population of 200 and a school housing 400. For instance, the per pupil operating expense at Muraco is $99 and at Wyman $161.

It seems to me the time is ripe to consolidate. I urge the taxpayers of this town to go to the polls on election day and to vote to close a school.

Mary G. Pronski,
Chairman
Winchester School Committee

Who's next?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As a former school committee chairman and a consistent supporter of the committee, I am sorry to have to take issue with the recent actions on the closing of an elementary school. However, I speak for many townspeople when I suggest that Winchester has consistently requested that actions in regard to our schools be part of a cohesive, long range plan.

Winchester would not be the community it is today had we not early been blessed with a planning board who foresaw the need for zoning, parks, schools to serve neighborhood needs, and population forecasts. Town boards have done their best to adhere to having long range goals, and have, in the main, discussed such goals and the steps necessary to achieve them.

We are now being told that perhaps Wyman may be the first school to be closed, and perhaps Noonan may be the next.

Perhaps Lynch-the one modern junior high-may be put to other uses while McCall, a much older school becomes the sole junior high. We would retain Lincoln, the oldest school in town, built as a senior high school, and abolish Parkhurst, built after World War II, perhaps.

Take a look at the town map, and view the district bounded by the railroad tracks, Cambridge street, the Arlington line and the Woburn line. In this area are many of the older and larger houses of the town. School forecasts in this area have been confounded many times, because as older people gave up these large houses, young people with families moved in to them - they attract large families - particularly in this day and age when new houses are small and costly. Despite the fact that many young people have no children today, there are still many who have large families, and will continue to have them. Yet within the next two years we could see this entire section of the town without a grade school - and don't you believe that the railroad tracks and Cambridge street are not barriers for small children.

What happens to the large houses - are they to become rest homes, boarding houses or be cut up into apartments? Will the Wyman Noonan School sites become apartment buildings? And how about Parkhurst, not yet 25 years old - what goes there?

Will the school committee and the superintendent provide a detailed step by step, year by year, keyed to population

For first graders

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to express my appreciation to the Friends of Winchester Hospital who extended an invitation to all first graders of Winchester to visit the hospital.

The children were very enthusiastic and were able to see and handle those "mysterious" pieces of equipment, such as the ophthalmoscope, the stethoscope, ace bandages, slings, blood pressure machine and many more.

The children were also given a tour of the emergency room, the pediatrics area, and their favorite room, the x-ray room.

I want to thank all the members of the Winchester Hospital staff and volunteers who were so kind and patient with the children. A special thank you to the mothers who helped with transportation.

Disappointed

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I read with disappointment Superintendent William MacDonald's flat rejection of the proposal to eliminate the two assistant superintendents' positions (which are about to become vacant due to retirement). Mr. MacDonald was quoted as saying, "No, we couldn't cut and survive."

We as taxpayers have had to "cut" in many areas in order to foot the educational bill we are presented each year.

This administration is further asking the Town of Winchester to "cut" one elementary school. Our children are being asked to take "cuts" in the quality of their education.

It appears that we have a unique school system here. I am beginning to feel that this school system exists for the administrators.

We all want to cut (or at least hold the line on) our taxes. However, the places (where) the administration proposes cutbacks are at the heart of our school system.

I think many parents and taxpayers would agree that the last place we want to feel a cut is in our children's classrooms. The teachers and principals are the core of our educational system. They have been asked to make sacrifices in these times of belt-tightening.

The teachers are dealing with larger classes. They have even been working without a contract for quite a while. Our principals' workload has increased. I know of one instance where a principal has just been made principal of a second school. The teachers and principals have made these sacrifices and given more of themselves.

The parents of Winchester have made many sacrifices to live in a town like ours with a reputable school system. In many instances parents volunteer their time for library and enrichment activities in order to improve the quality of the education of their children.

Now I am calling on the administrators to make some sacrifices. We have a very large administration. The work involved in the two positions could be absorbed by our many and varied administrators. They receive salaries comparable to towns in this area. They have the added benefit of working in a pleasant town. Certainly they could be asked to each take on a few more duties.

Secondly, I would ask that they sacrifice their physical comfort somewhat and consider moving their offices into the available room at the Ambrose and Lincoln Schools.

I realize I am asking quite a bit. However, as I pointed out, everyone involved has been called upon to make sacrifices in times like these. I feel these sacrifices would show us the good faith our administrators have in trying to hold the line on school spending.

Neither of the above moves would touch the children at the classroom level. Here we are talking about saving a substantial amount of money with a truly minimal impact on the quality of education in Winchester.

If the administration is willing to make these sacrifices, then I am sure they would find a more receptive ear townwide to the proposal of closing a school.

Frustrated

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As a Winchester teacher for the past five years, I feel the need to express my deep sense of frustration with the present lack of moral, educational leadership provided by the school administration. This past May I accepted the challenge and responsibility of teaching a new math offering, computer science, at the high school, with the understanding that the course would receive the support of the administration.

It was promised that the course would be a "hands on" approach to learning, that there would be sufficient curriculum materials available and that a new computer would be purchased to insure that each student would receive a minimal amount of computer time.

To date, the computer has not been purchased, textbook materials have not been obtained, and as a result, forty-nine students are suffering. My frustration builds each day as I try to teach a program without the necessary materials and hardware. Compounding my frustration is the fact that the administration has chosen to evaluate (in written form) my teaching ability and effectiveness based on classroom observation of the computer science course!

In an effort to protect my credibility among parents and students as well as to fulfill my obligations as a teacher, I chose to notify all concerned parties of the existing situation. However, I have since received a request from Assistant Superintendent Jack Fallon that I become silent on the issue and not communicate the situation to the parents and students involved. It is my belief that to comply with this suggestion would be highly unethical.

I hope that Winchester residents can understand my outrage against the administration, my frustration with the existing situation, and my overall concern for the students.

Special thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We wish to extend our thanks for the many kind expressions of sympathy received by our family. The remembrances are truly appreciated.

Also, a special thanks to the Winchester Police Department for their assistance.

Tongues in cheeks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My tongue gets stuck in my cheek now and then, as I write these letters, but I am usually quite sober and serious when I write them. It was always a disappointment, therefore, when, as frequently happens, nobody bothers to comment on what I write.

It was, therefore, a very pleasant surprise when I received the following letter in yesterday's mail. I quote it with the writer's permission. As will be immediately evident the author is a very learned man — note how he throws that Latin around! — He is also unusually observant, much more so than I, I am afraid! He certainly sees things that I never see. Quote:

"Dear Clarence:-

"Some months ago I refurbished our bird feeders, knowing that November would soon find our birds on short rations.

"One of the agricultural facts of life is that the 1976 failure of the milo maize crop, which is grown near the King Ranch in Texas between the Nueces (sp?) River and the Rio Grande. The crop is, as you know, used mainly for cattle feed; but last summer's heavy floods made it useless for this purpose, but not altogether unsuited for bird seed. I put in a supply and our birds have come back to us, but with a difference.

"Yesterday, I had a pair of ostriches (Struthio Camelus) at the feeder, but they rejected the maize altogether. For a long time they just stood around, first on one foot and then the other. Finally the male came over to the house and started to peck away at the putty in the south window. In no time at all he had consumed a prodigious quantity.

Meanwhile the female started chewing on a biodegradable placard put out by the local League of Women Voters which was awaiting transportation to the rubbish transfer station. I could not determine her views on referendum question number one, but I hold her suspect!

"The parrots (Psittaciformes) which usually come to our feeders in great flocks have been scarce this year.

"The storks (Ciconiidae) seem to have lost their appetites. I suspect that the decreased Winchester birthrate, (see Vol. XCVI, no. 12, pp. 1 Winchester Star, Nov. 11, 1976, quoting Cathy Fallon (Homosapiens) minimizes their work these days, and thus accounts for their loss of appetite.

"The most unusual migrant feeders we have is a family of peafowl (Pans or Afropans) which come only on holidays. Their favorite food is Jordanian Almonds, which are usually very expensive, but this year the price is much lower. We suspect that once again soon we shall see these delicious morsels on the bar at the Savoy and the Ritz, or perhaps at the forthcoming Senior Citizen's Center!

"I must end this note hastily. The ostriches are pulling up the fence posts. They are building a nest for the Cuckoo (Cuculus Canorus). I wonder, does this structure violate the Zoning law? Do I need a building permit?"

Signed, "Dick"

All I can say, is, you should know, Dick. Have you forgotten that you were once the building commissioner of the City of Boston?

Now, gentle reader, just what do you make of all this? The point I get is that the female ostrich knew right away what the placard from the League of Women Voters was good for. As far as I can see, most of them are strictly "for the birds."

Clarence S. Borggaard

Costs are up

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As representative to Northeast Regional, I am writing this article to give an account of various school committee happenings at Northeast. In addition to representing the town at monthly meetings, there are also sub-committee meetings, Open House, graduation, and dinners to attend.

The representatives of the 11 cities and towns involved are responsible for the budget and hiring of faculty and maintenance personnel. Because of differences between cities and towns, attitudes and priorities of school committee members differ.

At times, a smaller town like Winchester is out-voted by larger communities. Although I have been present at all monthly meetings since elected, representatives from other towns have occasionally missed. When this occurs, some of the larger communities are able to push through policies or appointments more conducive to their interests.

For instance, I have vigorously opposed creating the position of property accountant because we already have a business manager. However, after many attempts, the position was created and filled on an evening when other opponents were not present. The position was filled by the son of the school committee member from Revere.

The administration at N.E. feels that the school should be enlarged. However, as Winchester representative, I feel that existing facilities are adequate for our town. The school is less than ten years old. Rather than increasing taxes with additional building, I would prefer utilizing existing time and space differently. Of course, larger communities with long waiting lists feel differently.

My main objection to expansion is that Winchester is already paying for the late afternoon program which it does not utilize fully. I have made many motions for a Fair

AN INTRODUCTION TO SKIING FOR BEGINNERS

In 2 exciting parts

SPONSORED by

Colman's Sporting Goods

and the

Blizzard Ski School

Part 1:

Is a ski trip to Loon Mountain on Saturday, December 18. The trip is limited to beginners 8-18 years old. Parents are welcome; however, adult supervision will be provided. Buses leave from Colman's parking lot in Danvers at 8:00 am and return at 6:00 pm. Trip includes transportation, ski lesson and lift ticket. The purpose is to introduce youngsters to a sport that will widen their world for a lifetime. The cost is $6.00; equipment rental will be an additional $4.00.

Part 2:

Is an Apres Ski Day at Colman's in Danvers on Sunday, December 19 from 2-5 pm. This is an opportunity to learn about ski equipment from the Colman's team of experts. The clinic is geared to the beginner and intermediate skier with emphasis on outfitting youngsters. Refreshments will be served and door prizes awarded. Apres Ski Day is open to the public free of charge.

To Register:

Fill out this coupon and BRING IN PERSON TO Colman's on Saturday Nov. 20 between 10 am-5 pm. or Monday evening Nov. 22 between 7 pm-9 pm. There you will meet your Colman's and Blizzard staff and receive a free prize.

How to make gold out of lead.

Grab a pencil and figure out how much the Shawmut Way NOW is worth to you.

No matter how you figure it, no other bank NOW offers more.

1. 5% NOW checking account.

A personal checking account which pays 5% annual interest, compounded continuously. Over a year, if you have an average daily balance of $1,000 (excluding interest earned during the year) and if you leave all the interest in your account to accumulate, you earn $52.00.

Example of yearly savings with the new Shawmut Way NOW.
You save $26.

2. Fully personalized checks.

All the checks you need, at no extra charge. They're imprinted with your name and address and are sequentially numbered. Some "free" checking or NOW accounts charge for similar checks, as much as $3.50 for every 200. Figure out how much you'll save over a year.

Charge for 200 checks.
You save $3.50.

3. Overdraft protection.

This important feature eliminates the worry of "bounced" checks by loaning you the amount of the overdraft up to your available credit. Overdraw your account? Banks usually charge about $5 for each "bounced" check. What will you save a year with overdraft protection?

Your credit limit overdrawn at $5.
You save $20.

4. Preferred loan rates.

You get a 1/2% reduction off the ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE normally charged by the bank on all approved personal installment loans. Whatever reason for borrowing — home improvement, car, travel — figure on saving $8.52 a year on every $3,000 you borrow.

$3,000 loan.
You save $8.52.

5. Traveler's checks.

All you wish to purchase with no fee. That's a savings of $1 per $100 worth of checks. Take $500 on a trip and you save $5. It adds up. (Money orders and bank checks may be purchased at no fee.)

$1,000 in traveler's checks.
You save $10.

6. "One time only" bonus.

Your Shawmut bank will deposit $1 for you in a regular savings account or in a deposit an additional $4 when you first authorize an automatic transfer of $10 or more a month from your NOW account to your savings account.

Open automatic savings account.
Bonus $5.

Plus,

You have the benefit of one-stop banking and your Shawmut Way card helps you cash your Shawmut personal check up to $100 per day at over 120 offices of the 8 Shawmut banks. Figure out these savings in time and aggravation.

Add up your savings:
$73.02

Now let us show you how little the new Shawmut Way NOW package can cost you.

As long as you keep an average daily balance in your NOW account of:

$1,000 and over Free
$500 to $999.99 $1
Less than $500 $2

Your monthly service fee is:

Free

*Transferring money from your Shawmut savings to your NOW account at no fee of interest is one way to build up your average daily balance.

*Each loan is subject to finance charges at our regular rates.

*Based on a $3,000 loan payable in 36 equal monthly payments of $88.22 each at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 11.00%. Total of payments $3,235.96.

Whether you have a NOW account or not, why not compare what you get from your bank with what you can get from the new Shawmut Way NOW package. It's the best banking value in the state. But figure it out for yourself, then come in and apply for your own Shawmut Way NOW package.

Red Cross classes set WHS students on news

Hubert LeFever, Red Cross instructor, has announced that the December class in "Standard First Aid and Personal Safety" will start Tuesday, December 7, a week later than at first scheduled.

The class, meeting twice a week for three hours each evening, will have its final session on Tuesday, December 21. Red Cross certificates of proficiency will be awarded to all who pass the course.

The class meets at the accessible Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st. Those who wish to receive additional information should telephone Winchester Red Cross, 729-2300.

Students in the Winchester High School resource room will be featured on the Channel 2 Ten O'Clock News on Monday or Tuesday. Filming in the resource room will take place today.

The students, in response to the recent Channel 2 program on learning disabilities ("The Puzzle Children"), invited the station to come here and talk to them. All are looking forward to an interesting and positive news feature next week.

The Bible was meant to be understood.

And it can be, through regular guided study. Many people have found what they need in the Christian Science Quarterly.

Here weekly Bible Lessons take subjects like "God," "Life," "Man," and explore them through selected Bible verses. Related passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy help to unlock the Bible's deeper meaning.

Come in and see how the lessons in the Quarterly can aid your understanding of the Bible.

Mr. and Mrs. David Carpenter

David Carpenter, Miss Hogg married in N.H. Oct. 2

Mr. and Mrs. David Carpenter are making their home in Henniker, N.H. following their marriage October 2 at the Valley Inn in Hillsboro, N.H.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Windsor Carpenter of Winchester. The bride is the former Miss Sharmen Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogg of Henniker.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John D. Shule Jr. of the Henniker First Congregational Church at the Valley Inn in Hillsboro. A reception at the inn followed.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an off-white satin gown and train, styled with imported French lace bodice and cape sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion had a matching band of a lace and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, yellow roses, and baby's breath.

The attendants had yellow and green gowns.

Steve Carpenter of Winchester served as his brother's best man. Ushering duties were carried out by Wayne Carpenter of Winchester, brother of the groom.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Henniker High School and is employed by New England College of Henniker.

A 1975 graduate of New England College, Mr. Carpenter is employed by Evans Electric of Concord, N.H.

Elks to host Bloodmobile 27th

The Once-A-Year Visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile hosted by the Winchester Elks, 375 Cambridge st., is announced for Saturday, November 27, from 10 to 3:30.

John Mawn is in charge, and he will be assisted by a corps of Winchester R.N.'s and clerical assistants supplied by the local chapter of Red Cross.

Mr. Mawn has emphasized that this will be an open visit of the Bloodmobile. Anyone 18 through 65 years of age (17 with parental consent) is welcome. Drop-ins will be accepted, but it will be more satisfactory to phone the Winchester Red Cross, 729-2300, for an appointment.

The Saturday after Thanksgiving, says Mr. Mawn, will be an appropriate time to show your appreciation of good health by donating blood to aid someone who is ill.

Young adult film program offered

The last in a series of four young adult film programs will be presented Wednesday, Nov. 24 in the Meeting Room of the Winchester Public Library at 3 p.m.

The program is entitled "It Depends On Who's Telling the Story." The Eye of the Beholder deals with perception and the theory that no two people see the same thing in exactly the same way. Neighbors, winner of an Academy Award, is a simple parable about two neighbors who come to blows over the possession of a flower. Bill Cosby on Prejudice is a funny, satiric view of the absurdity of prejudice by the well-known television personality.

Students invited to Hub College Fair

Winchester students and parents are invited to attend the Boston National College Fair at Hynes Auditorium on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

Anthony DeBiase, head of the Guidance Department at Winchester High School, is helping organize this event, which gives students an opportunity to meet representatives of two and four-year colleges, universities, military academies, and a small number of career colleges.

The Fair is sponsored by the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, a nonprofit organization of 1900 schools and colleges, and is open to the public free of charge.

In addition to the institutional information booths, local area counselors and admissions and financial aid officers will provide group counseling sessions and individual counseling. These professionals will answer questions about careers, majors, programs of study, testing, scholarships, financial aid, and expenses.

Each student who attends the Fair will receive a free National College Fair Directory which lists basic information for each of the institutions represented at the Fair: enrollment data, application deadlines and deposits, college costs, and principal majors.

For additional information and a copy of a student newsletter listing participating institutions, see the Guidance Department at Winchester High School.

Flea market held at Noonan School

The Noonan School Parents Association recently held a Flea Market in the school auditorium.

An array of very unusual items were of great interest to the many buyers. Mrs. Marilyn Davis, ways and means chairman and her enthusiastic ran a very organized and successful Flea Market. Through their combined effort the proceeds will provide Noonan students with various enrichment programs throughout the school year.

St. Mary's set to hold turkey shoot

On Monday, November 22, at 8:30 p.m., St. Mary's will hold their annual "Turkey Shoot" in the school hall.

In addition to ten turkeys which will be awarded, there are also prizes of cider, candy, vegetable baskets, and wine. There will be many opportunities to win many prizes. Proceeds from this event will benefit St. Mary's Educational Fund.

Blood pressure clinic Saturday

The monthly Red Cross Blood Pressure Clinic is scheduled for Saturday, November 27 at the Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st., from 10 to 12 noon, according to Mary Fowle, the Winchester Chapter's executive director.

Anyone is welcome to have his blood pressure measured by one of the Red Cross nurses in attendance, says Mrs. Fowle. If the nurse finds the blood pressure suspiciously high, the patient is asked to see his own physician.

Drop-ins will be welcome Saturday morning if there is room on the schedule, but it is better to make an appointment by calling the Chapter House, 729-2300.

Auxiliary social moved to Nov. 29

The Aberjona Ladies Auxiliary No. 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its monthly social Monday, November 29, at the post quarters on River street at 8 p.m.

The event was originally scheduled for November 22 but will be held on the later date.

Chairmen Connie O'Kane and Marian Wright invite the public. Refreshments will be served.

Toastmistresses to hear about 'time'

"Time — Do you Manage It or Does It Manage You?" will be the title of a workshop to be presented by Mrs. Daniel Murray of Somerville at the next meeting of The Winchester Toastmistress Club to be held Monday, November 22, at 8 p.m. in the Suter Room, Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church st.

Mrs. Joseph Darish and Mrs. Myer Cohen, both of Malden, will present Table Topics and Education; Miss Hilda Hope of Winchester will serve as program toastmistress. Mrs. Preston S. Johnson of Melrose will preside.

Miss Lois T. Hamilton of Malden, club delegate, will present the report of the Council 3 meeting held at Ramada Inn, Woburn, on Saturday, November 13.

The public is welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. James DeSimone

Miss Collins married in September 18 nuptials

St. Barbara's Church in Woburn was the setting September 18 for the wedding of Joanne Marie Collins, 180 Pond St. and James Peter DeSimone of Everett.

Fr. Brunick officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony. A reception followed at the Montvale Plaza in Stoneham.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Rita A. Collins of Winchester, was given in marriage by her father, John T. Collins, Jr., of Dorchester. She wore an empire A-line gown with tradition sleeves and a keyhole neckline. It was trimmed with pearls and venise lace on the cuffs, neckline, and empire waist. A redingote skirt was attached with a full train. The headpiece was a matching mantilla headpiece of pearls and venise lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisy poms and apricot sonia sweetheart roses with baby's breath.

Cal Collins, 180 Pond St., was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a yellow three-tiered qiana wraparound waisted gown with a v-neckline and bell sleeves. A yellow picture hat with yellow ribbon completed the ensemble. Her flowers were a colonial harvest colored bouquet of yellow, apricot, and rust daisy poms with baby's breath.

Flowergirl was Miss Gina Marie Collins, niece of the bride, from North Lauderdale, Florida. She wore a yellow qiana empire gown with square neckline and bell sleeves, with one tier. The gown was made by Kathy Collins, sister of the bride. The flowergirl carried a miniature bouquet and wore a yellow picture hat with yellow ribbon.

Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Kathy Collins of Whittier, California, and Janet and Nancy Collins of 180 Pond St.; and the groom's sisters, Mrs. Joseph Green and Debbie DeSimone, both of Everett. They wore peach gowns matching the maid of honor and carried flowers with matching ribbons. They also wore peach picture hats.

Steve Lento of Everett was best man. Serving as ushers were Tommy Collins, 180 Pond St., and John Collins III of North Lauderdale, both brothers of the bride; Joseph Green of Everett, brother-in-law of the groom; Edward Brown of Everett; and Peter Quattrochi of Malden, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a rust empire A-line sleeveless gown with a floral cape. Her flowers were a wrist corsage of orange and white carnations with baby's breath. The groom's mother wore a baby blue accorcion pleated polyester skirt with a long-sleeved knitted lace tunic top. She wore a corsage of white and blue carnations with baby's breath.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School in 1971 and from the Massachusetts Bay Community College in 1973.

She is employed at the MITRE Corporation in Bedford. Her husband is a carpenter with Purity Supreme.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. DeSimone will be making their home in Everett.

St. Mary's show set for three-day run, 'Small World' theme

The members of St. Mary C.Y.O. and their friends are in final rehearsals for "It's A Small World," their 9th annual musical extravaganza, to be presented on November 27, 28 and 29 at the McCall Junior High School Auditorium.

A cast of nearly 300 young people, most of them students at Winchester High and Junior High Schools have been in rehearsals for the past few weeks for what promises to be the greatest and most spectacular of these popular shows.

Ed Rooney is again back in town as the director assisted by Peg McGlone as choreographer. Rev. Leo X. Lynch has taken over the duties of producer for the 1976 production.

Curtain time will be at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased on this coming Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 at St. Mary Hall on Washington St.

Lincoln fish to be used in "Pinocchio"

A fabulous creation of 30 or more sea fishes, two to three feet long, has been made by the Lincoln School's third grade. Their teacher, Mrs. Jane Sabin, and art teacher, Harvey Kornick, provided the guidance.

This creation will be used in the whale scene of "Pinocchio" as part of the scenery on December 10, 11, and 12 at McCall auditorium.

Singers

Winchester residents Kristine Santilli and Steve Zboya will sing in the Polymnia Choral Society's first concert of the season on Saturday, December 4.

The performance begins at 8 p.m., at Memorial Hall, in Melrose. It will be followed by a Christmas sing-a-long, during which the audience is invited to join the chorus in carols.

Aim program set for November 28

On November 28 Adventures in Music will present Buffalo Bill's Rodeo and California Indian Tales at the Lexington High School Auditorium.

The rodeo will be performed by the almost life-size Pickwick Puppets, who will set out a fun-filled and action-packed drama to the bouncy western music of Aaron Copeland's "Rodeo" and their California Indian tales will be portrayed to the guitar music of Rodrigo.

Adventures in Music has successfully used this group for the past three seasons and this year's All American program promises to be one of the Pickwick Puppet Theatre's best.

For tickets to this production, call Mary Golden, 3 Old Lyme rd.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

Here are two tasty recipes featuring red wine, a very popular wine. In a small saucepan combine 1 1/2 cups Cruse Beaujolais, 1/2 cup Martell Cognac, and 3 lbs. lemon juice. Stir in 1 tsp. potato starch, mixed to a paste with 2 tps. water, and a pinch each of cinnamon and cloves. Bring the sauce to a boil and remove the pan from the heat. Add sugar to taste and serve the sauce hot. To 1/2 cup Cruse St. Julien wine, add 1 small onion, grated, 3/4 tsp salt, and 1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper. Stir mixture and let it stand for

1/2 hour. Strain the dressing and add 1 1/2 cups garlic olive oil. Beat the dressing with a fork until it thickens.

"Keep Up Your Spirits With Spirit of '76 Products" handled exclusively by us at BUSA LIQUORS. We also handle a full selection of brand name liquor, imported and domestic wines and have a staff ready and willing to give you full assistance. BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington and Lexington, 861-1776 are open Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 10 p.m.

Give Thanks at Our Table.

Have Thanksgiving Dinner with Us, at Dunfey's Tavern.

It's Thanksgiving time again. Time for you and your family to get together, to share in that traditional Thanksgiving feast. And this year, we'd like you to share that time with us.

On Thanksgiving Day, we'll be serving up all the warmth and festive spirit of a real old-fashioned family Thanksgiving, with a holiday dinner that'll beat the stuffings out of anything you've ever had before.

It wouldn't be Thanksgiving without a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. And to make sure you have a Thanksgiving dinner you'll long remember, we'll all be on hand to welcome and serve you.

This Thanksgiving, give thanks at our table. Join our family as we celebrate the joys and blessings of the holiday season.

For reservations call 862-8700.

INTRODUCING A NEW EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.

Starting January 1, 1977, your son or daughter can accumulate up to $8100 for college or vocational-technical school during just 36 months in the Army.

Under this Educational Assistance Program, they can save from $50 to $75 each month, with their savings matched 2 for 1! And that adds up.

FOR EVERY DOLLAR THEY SAVE TOWARD COLLEGE, TWO WILL BE ADDED.

By participating in the new program, a young person gets three dollars back for every dollar saved toward college or vocational-technical school—the dollar saved plus the additional two dollars of matching funds.

If the maximum of $75 a month is saved ($2700 over 36 months), $5400 will be added for a total of $8100. If the minimum of $50 a month is saved ($1800 over 36 months), $3600 will be added for a total of $5400.

HOW DO THEY COLLECT?

Assuming your son or daughter has finished the 36-month enlistment in the Army and has deposited, for example, $75 to the educational fund each month, the $8100 accumulated under the pro-around the country now participate in Project AHEAD. It's a great chance for a young person to get a jump on the future.

YOUR LOCAL ARMY REPRESENTATIVE IS THE PERSON TO TALK TO NEXT.

This new Educational Assistance Program, along with all of the other educational benefits the Army offers, will help your son or daughter serve their country better as soldiers now, citizens later. There's no better time to start getting that education than now. Your local Army Representative has full details on all the educational and other opportunities for young people in today's Army. Or, if you'd like us to send the information to you, just mail the coupon. Or call 800-431-1976 toll free. In NY, call 800-243-5614.

THEY CAN ALSO GO TO COLLEGE WHILE IN THE ARMY AND WE PAY UP TO 75% OF THE TUITION.

If your son or daughter enlists in today's Army, all kinds of educational opportunities are open for earning college or vocational-technical credits right on post with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition. Under Project AHEAD, for example, a young person can enlist in the Army and enroll in college or vocational-technical school at the same time. Over 1400 colleges and universities

Church urges fast for hunger relief

Many Winchester people will be experiencing hunger this week so that others in the world may experience the lack of hunger. Townspeople taking part will take only liquids for 24 hours concluding their fast with a common meal in Chidley Hall. First Congregational Church, this evening at 6:30. Unitarians will conclude theirs November 21, with a meal together after Sunday service.

Fasting allows participants to:

1. demonstrate our concern for those who don't share in the earth's abundance which we will enjoy on Thanksgiving Day.
2. to experience a mode of spiritual expression that through the centuries many Christians have found meaningful.
3. to symbolize the need of people to adjust their life styles in the interest of a more equitable sharing of the world's harvest.

Funds are raised by donating what would otherwise have been spent for food or by soliciting sponsors who will pledge an amount per hour of one's fast. Contributions should be made payable to Oxfam-America and sent to The Rev. George W. Easton of the First Congregational Church, who is Winchester Co-ordinator for the fast.

Film at Epiphany deals with alcohol

An informative film, "Guidelines," dealing with the disease of alcoholism and its effects on the family, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church st.

A question and answer period will follow. The public is invited.

Fire, brimstone Sunday's sermon

The colonial church service at Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church to celebrate Thanksgiving on November 21, at 10:45 a.m. will feature a sermon as preached in those days full of "fire and brimstone." After the sermon the congregation will question the minister on his talk and witness as to their experiences relating to his expressed thoughts.

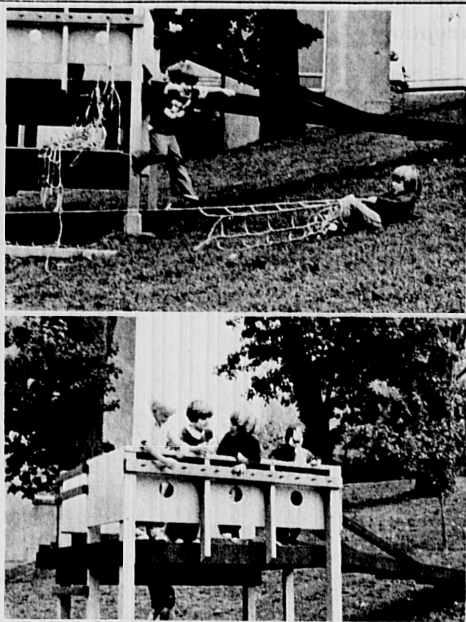

Drums will announce the time of the "preaching" and there will be a "coffee" reception in Gifford Hall afterward. All attending are encouraged to wear colonial dress and the public is invited to attend this unusual service.

Thanksgiving Day service at Christian Science Church

"Honour the Lord with Thy Substance, and with the First Fruits of All Thine Increase." This passage from Proverbs will be the "Golden Text" of the lesson-sermon read from the desk Thanksgiving morning at 10 a.m. at Christian Science Church.

The service at 114 Church St. will include the President's Proclamation, Clarence G. Feldmann of Thornberry rd., First Reader, and Marlene F. Johnson, Main st., Second Reader, will conduct the service. Testimonies of gratitude will be shared.

The prelude: Thou Crownest the Year with Thy Goodness, Burdett. While the Earth Remaineth, Tours. Ye Shall Dwell in the Land. Stainer, will be played by Ann Blanchard, the organist. The Soloist, Lyndal Andrews will sing Thanksgiving by O'Connor-Morris.

There won't be too many warm days left, so these youngsters from the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School make the most of a pleasant day on the jungle gym.

Unitarians to hold special T'Day service

Sunday, November 21, Family Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed at the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Sermon topic will be "The Great Harmony." Reverend Jack D. Zoerheide will preach.

The Sacred Dance Choir will perform, interpreting "All Good Gifts" from Godspell. The Junior choir will sing "Thank You" and "I Walk the Unfrequented Road." The Senior choir will sing "Praise the Lord" from Judas Maccaebus Handel. The fifth and sixth grades will present a poem: "Everlasting Life."

Organ recital set for Sunday

Victoria Ressmeyer Sirota will be giving an organ recital on Sunday, November 21, at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the

First Congregational Church. Mrs. Sirota is a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, and studied with Andre Marchal in Paris and Gustav Leonhardt in Amsterdam. She is Organist-Choir Director at the Church of the Epiphany, and is working towards a Doctor of Musical Arts degree at Boston University.

Her concert will be the second in this year's Musicae Series at the First Congregational Church. Mrs. Sirota will play works by Bach, Couperin, John Stanley and Olivier Messiaen.

Mothers to hear all about plants

Everything you always wanted to know about plants but were afraid to ask, will be the subject of the Mass. Mothers of Twins Assoc. Inc., meeting on November 29, at 8 p.m. at the Park Avenue Congregational Church, Arlington.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Ms. Meryl Charnow from Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm. Ms. Charnow has her degree in plant science from the Univ. of N.H. and her B.A. in environmental design from the Univ. of Mass.

All mothers, grandmothers and legal guardians of multiple birth children are invited to attend.

Anyone interested in the organization may write to MMOTA Founding Chapter, P.O. Box 25, Arlington Heights, MA 02175.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

Here are two tasty recipes featuring red wine, a very popular wine. In a small saucepan combine 1 1/2 cups Cruse Beaujolais, 1/2 cup Martell Cognac, and 3 lbs. lemon juice. Stir in 1 tsp. potato starch, mixed to a paste with 2 tps. water, and a pinch each of cinnamon and cloves. Bring the sauce to a boil and remove the pan from the heat. Add sugar to taste and serve the sauce hot. To 1/2 cup Cruse St. Julien wine, add 1 small onion, grated, 3/4 tsp salt, and 1/4 tsp. freshly-ground black pepper. Stir mixture and let it stand for

1/2 hour. Strain the dressing and add 1 1/2 cups garlic olive oil. Beat the dressing with a fork until it thickens.

"Keep Up Your Spirits With Spirit of '76 Products" handled exclusively by us at BUSA LIQUORS. We also handle a full selection of brand name liquor, imported and domestic wines and have a staff ready and willing to give you full assistance. BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington and Lexington, 861-1776 are open Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m.

Give Thanks at Our Table.

Have Thanksgiving Dinner with Us, at Dunfey's Tavern.

It's Thanksgiving time again. Time for you and your family to get together, to share in that traditional Thanksgiving feast. And this year, we'd like you to share that time with us.

On Thanksgiving Day, we'll be serving up all the warmth and festive spirit of a real old-fashioned family Thanksgiving, with a holiday dinner that'll beat the stuffings out of anything you've ever had before.

It wouldn't be Thanksgiving without a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. And to make sure you have a Thanksgiving dinner you'll long remember, we'll all be on hand to welcome and serve you.

This Thanksgiving, give thanks at our table. Join our family as we celebrate the joys and blessings of the holiday season.

THE ARMY CAN HELP YOUR SON OR DAUGHTER SAVE $8100 FOR COLLEGE OVER THE NEXT THREE YEARS.

INTRODUCING A NEW EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.

Starting January 1, 1977, your son or daughter can accumulate up to $8100 for college or vocational-technical school during just 36 months in the Army.

Under this Educational Assistance Program, they can save from $50 to $75 each month, with their savings matched 2 for 1! And that adds up.

FOR EVERY DOLLAR THEY SAVE TOWARD COLLEGE, TWO WILL BE ADDED.

By participating in the new program, a young person gets three dollars back for every dollar saved toward college or vocational-technical school—the dollar saved plus the additional two dollars of matching funds.

If the maximum of $75 a month is saved ($2700 over 36 months), $5400 will be added for a total of $8100. If the minimum of $50 a month is saved ($1800 over 36 months), $3600 will be added for a total of $5400.

HOW DO THEY COLLECT?

Assuming your son or daughter has finished the 36-month enlistment in the Army and has deposited, for example, $75 to the educational fund each month, the $8100 accumulated under the program will be paid in monthly installments of $225 for each month of college or vocational-technical school completed.

If they decide not to continue schooling after the Army, they get back all the money saved. The matching funds will be paid only if used toward completing up to four years of college or vocational-technical school. The extra $5400 matching amount becomes a strong incentive for a young person to continue with school.

THEY CAN ALSO GO TO COLLEGE WHILE IN THE ARMY AND WE PAY UP TO 75% OF THE TUITION.

If your son or daughter enlists in today's Army, all kinds of educational opportunities are open for earning college or vocational-technical credits right on post with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition. Under Project AHEAD, for example, a young person can enlist in the Army and enroll in college or vocational-technical school at the same time. Over 1400 colleges and universities around the country now participate in Project AHEAD. It's a great chance for a young person to get a jump on the future.

YOUR LOCAL ARMY REPRESENTATIVE IS THE PERSON TO TALK TO NEXT.

This new Educational Assistance Program, along with all of the other educational benefits the Army offers, will help your son or daughter serve their country better as soldiers now, citizens later. There's no better time to start getting that education than now. Your local Army Representative has full details on all the educational and other opportunities for young people in today's Army.

Or, if you'd like us to send the information to you, just mail the coupon. Or call 800-431-1976 toll free. In NY, call 800-243-5614.

Church urges fast for hunger relief

Many Winchester people will be experiencing hunger this week so that others in the world may experience the lack of hunger. Townspeople taking part will take only liquids for 24 hours concluding their fast with a common meal in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church, this evening at 6:30. Unitarians will conclude theirs November 21, with a meal together after Sunday service.

Fasting allows participants to:

1. demonstrate our concern for those who don't share in the earth's abundance which we will enjoy on Thanksgiving Day.

2. to experience a mode of spiritual expression that through the centuries many Christians have found meaningful.
3. to symbolize the need of people to adjust their life styles in the interest of a more equitable sharing of the world's harvest.

Funds are raised by donating what would otherwise have been spent for food or by soliciting sponsors who will pledge an amount per hour of one's fast. Contributions should be made payable to Oxfam-America and sent to The Rev. George W. Easton of the First Congregational Church, who is Winchester Co-ordinator for the fast.

Film at Epiphany deals with alcohol

An informative film, "Guidelines," dealing with the disease of alcoholism and its effects on the family, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church st. A question and answer period will follow. The public is invited.

Fire, brimstone Sunday's sermon

The colonial church service at Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church to celebrate Thanksgiving on November 21, at 10:45 a.m. will feature a sermon as preached in those days full of "fire and brimstone." After the sermon the congregation will question the minister on his talk and witness as to their experiences relating to his expressed thoughts.

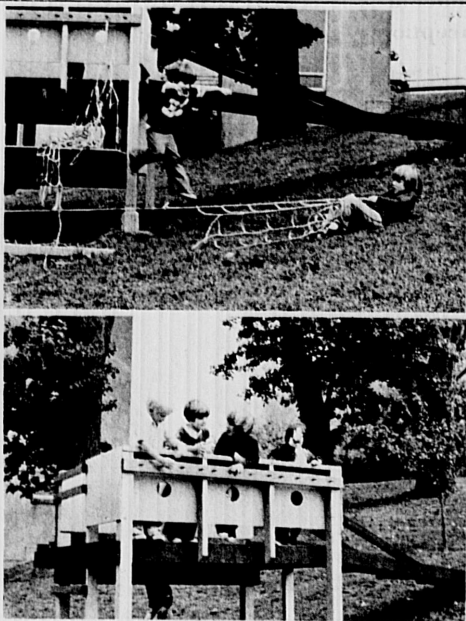

Drums will announce the time of the "preaching" and there will be a "coffee" reception in Gifford Hall afterward. All attending are encouraged to wear colonial dress and the public is invited to attend this unusual service.

Thanksgiving Day service at Christian Science Church

"Honour the Lord with Thy Substance, and with the First Fruits of All Thine Increase." This passage from Proverbs will be the "Golden Text" of the lesson-sermon read from the desk Thanksgiving morning at 10 a.m. at Christian Science Church.

The service at 114 Church St. will include the President's Proclamation, Clarence G. Feldmann of Thornberry rd., First Reader, and Marlene F. Johnson, Main st., Second Reader, will conduct the service. Testimonies of gratitude will be shared.

The prelude: Thou Crownest the Year with Thy Goodness, Burdett. While the Earth Remaineth, Tours. Ye Shall Dwell in the Land, Stainer, will be played by Ann Blanchard, the organist. The Soloist, Lyndal Andrews will sing Thanksgiving by O'Connor-Morris.

There won't be too many warm days left, so these youngsters from the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School make the most of a pleasant day on the jungle gym.

Unitarians to hold special T'Day service

Sunday, November 21, Family Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed at the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Sermon topic will be "The Great Harmony." Reverend Jack D. Zoerheide will preach.

The Sacred Dance Choir will perform, interpreting "All Good Gifts" from Godspell. The Junior choir will sing "Thank You" and "I Walk the Unfrequented Road." The Senior choir will sing "Praise the Lord" from Judas Maccaebus Handel. The fifth and sixth grades will present a poem: "Everlasting Life."

Organ recital set for Sunday

Victoria Ressmeyer Sirota will be giving an organ recital on Sunday, November 21, at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the

First Congregational Church. Mrs. Sirota is a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, and studied with Andre Marchal in Paris and Gustav Leonhardt in Amsterdam. She is Organist-Choir Director at the Church of the Epiphany, and is working towards a Doctor of Musical Arts degree at Boston University.

Her concert will be the second in this year's Musicale Series at the First Congregational Church. Mrs. Sirota will play works by Bach, Couperin, John Stanley and Olivier Messiaen.

Mothers to hear all about plants

Everything you always wanted to know about plants but were afraid to ask, will be the subject of the Mass. Mothers of Twins Assoc. Inc., meeting on November 29, at 8 p.m. at the Park Avenue Congregational Church, Arlington.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Ms. Meryl Charnow from Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm. Ms. Charnow has her degree in plant science from the Univ. of N.H. and her B.A. in environmental design from the Univ. of Mass.

All mothers, grandmothers and legal guardians of multiple birth children are invited to attend.

Anyone interested in the organization may write to MMOTA Founding Chapter, P.O. Box 25, Arlington Heights, MA 02175.

Taste Barrier Broken.

'Enriched Flavor' breakthrough ends struggle to bring taste to low tar smoking.

For years, dependency on tar for taste has created a taste barrier for low tar smoking.

Now that barrier has been broken. Broken for good by a remarkable new cigarette called MERIT.

MERIT is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

The result of a radical new discovery so successful at boosting flavor, MERIT actually delivers the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. of tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Tests Verify Taste

MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were involved. The majority report: even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT still delivered as much—or more—taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.

Governor Dukakis swears in Philip C. Hankins of Winchester as a member of the Mass. Advisory Committee on Computers and Data Processing.

Local man named to state committee

Philip C. Hankins, a local businessman and computer expert was recently appointed by Governor Michael S. Dukakis to serve on the state's Advisory Committee on Computers and Data Processing.

As a member of the committee, Hankins' responsibilities will be to advise state officials on its $88 million computer and data processing network and assist in planning, coordination and utilization of data processing resources.

In addition, the committee will also review the operation of the state's ten independent computer systems and recommend ways to save money, improve services, and eliminate duplication of equipment.

The governor directed the committee to explore the feasibility of centralized purchasing of equipment, currently contracted for by the ten cabinet secretaries. He also assigned it the task of monitoring the implementation of data processing reforms to be undertaken by the ten cabinet secretaries, which based their plans on recommendations by the Governor's Management Task Force. The Task Force forecast significant savings during the usual hours on Thanksgiving Day, next Thursday.

Members of the Advisory Committee include the three cabinet officers who oversee the bulk of state computer operations — Secretary of Administration and Finance John R. Buckley, Secretary of Public Safety Charles V. Barry and Secretary of Human Services Jerald L.

Stevens. Other members of the committee from the business community include: Charles A. Zrak, senior vice president, Mitre Corporation; George Schussel, vice president of information systems and services for American Mutual Liability Insurance Companies; and John di Targiani, corporate director of management information systems, Gillette.

Hankins, an engineer and mathematician who headed computer services at M.I.T.'s Draper Laboratory from 1965 to 1969, is president of Commercial Information Corporation, an Arlington data processing firm. He is a graduate of Cornell and has an M.S. from Harvard University. He is a member of the Association for Computing and the Data Processing Management Association.

He, his wife Barbara, and their three daughters live in Winchester. Mrs. Hankins is a member of the Winchester Board of Selectman.

ABCC permits sale of T'Day alcohol

The Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission has informed hotels, restaurants, taverns, and clubs that they may sell alcoholic beverages during the usual hours on Thanksgiving Day, next Thursday.

ICC Sodality set for Holly Fair Nov. 20, 21

Fitness program begins Nov. 22

Are you a seasonal exerciser? "If you're an average American, you are," says Fred Fallon, physical director at the North Suburban YMCA, "and right now you are coming into an off-season, and need to do something about it."

Winter finds the typical seasonal exerciser curled up in front of the television set with a bowl of popcorn. Make a resolution to exercise through the winter.

"Experience has shown that most people find it easier to exercise with someone." Social pressure is an excellent discipline to keep up an exercise program.

Fallon says, "It only takes four simple steps to join the more than 400 men and women who exercise at the new YMCA."

One...ask your doctor about exercise for you if there are special limitations in your case, he will tell you.

Two...once medical cleared, throw overboard antique notions of exercise and learn the endurance concept of exercise at the "Y."

Three...set aside three one-hour periods a week when you can and will create new energy.

Four...you are now ready to search for that top condition. Call the YMCA and register for the new fitness program starting November 22.

"Exercise," Fallon says, "strengthens your heart, lungs, and muscles; improves your circulation; and is nature's own tranquilizer. Exercise does this by putting your vital organs to work, something they don't do when you flop into an easy chair."

To be physically fit means everything you do is more fun, and if necessary you can roll better with life's punches.

Resident to sing in library show

Winchester resident David Brooks is a member of a barbershop quartet to be featured in the first of the Cambridge Public Library's Sunday Showcase series November 21. The show will begin at 3 p.m. in the Youville Hospital Auditorium, 1575 Cambridge St., Cambridge.

The first program will focus on American songs of the 1880's and 1890's. Both the Reading-Wakefield Chordsmen and the Haphazards Quartet, members of the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, will perform.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a Mini-College Program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

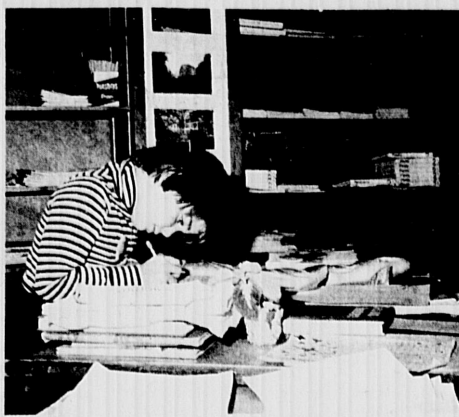

On Wednesday, November 24, there will be no program - Thanksgiving Holiday.

On Wednesday, December 1, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend:

Chatham College (Pennsylvania), Endicott College, University of Maine at Farmington, Nason College (Maine), United States Air Force Recruiter.

Gets degree

Lauren M. Wilbur, 76 Woodside rd., has received an associate degree at graduation exercises held at Bunker Hill Community College in Charlestown.

It is a serious affair to be a third grader, and Melissa Vullaggio has a full desk to prove it. Melissa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vullaggio of Winchester, is among the 16 Winchester students now attending Belmont Day School.

'Branded by the Devil'...

BY ELIZABETH
Star Correspondent

A new product was introduced in Boston in 1886. It is still found on every grocer's shelf. Advertising called the item "branded by the devil, but fit for the gods."

It is none other than William Underwood's deviled ham. The founder's son was expanding the cannery William senior had started in 1821 on a wharf overlooking Boston Harbor. Underwood cans of fruits, vegetables and preserves were among the provisions taken aboard ships sailing from Boston to distant lands.

One of the most memorable dinners I ever attended was a formal event celebrating the 100th anniversary of deviled ham, William Underwood, and Boston in the 1880s.

The new wealth of Boston, in that period made itself conspicuous in the form of vast mansions, fine horses, beautiful clothes and jewelry.

In the houses there were silken hangings at the windows, porcelain on the table, jade and carvings, treasures of teakwood and bronze, from Canton and Hong Kong. Dinner parties were elegant affairs.

At my dinner hostesses were long gowns and hosts donned formal dress of the period for dinner which was planned in the style of a private dinner in a grand home in Boston in 1886.

A twentieth-century French chef, Andre Mercier, used the native clam for an appetizer with a French touch for the first course. The clams Normande (with shrimp) were followed by turtle soup with sherry.

Chef Mercier devised a deviled ham and pate dressing for the breast of pheasant with bread sauce and wild berries. The dish was served with courses of wild rice and pignion nuts, braised celery, tomato with pureed lima beans, and salad of endive, boston lettuce and walnuts.

The "Indian pumpions" of the Pilgrims were commemorated in the dessert of branded pumpkin ice cream in pumpkin shells. Muster Day ginger cookies added a nice touch to the ice cream.

The event was even more memorable for another reason: I first met my future husband at the dinner reception. His quaint period garb didn't seem out of place in the setting.

The following recipe isn't a period piece, but it is an elegant appetizer featuring deviled ham. Seasonings may be altered to suit taste.

Mushroom Pastries
2 cups chopped fresh mushrooms
1 cup butter
1 can (4.5 oz.) deviled ham
2 teaspoons dried green onions
1/4 teaspoon fines herbes (a blend)
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
Nutmeg-cheese pastry
Sauté mushrooms in butter until golden. Remove from heat; stir in deviled ham until blended. Add green onions, and seasonings. Mix well. Using four-inch circles of cheese pastry, place heaping teaspoonful of mixture into the centers of 24 rounds. Fold over and pinch edges together firmly to seal. Place on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in a very hot oven (425 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes until golden. Slide onto wire racks to cool slightly. Serve warm.

Nutmeg-Cheese Pastry: Mix 2 cups flour, 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg into a large bowl. Cut in 2-3 cup shortening until mixture resembles the texture of small peas. Gradually add 1/4 cup water, blending until smooth. Roll pastry out 1/8-inch thick. Cut into 24 circles, each four inches in diameter.

Son for Petris

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Petri (Susan Thomas) of 42 Grove St. are parents of their second child and first son, Adam Michael was born on November 8 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas of 97 Taft St., Medford, and Mrs. Edith Harson, 7 Lewis rd.

Wile first baby

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wile (Kathy Butts) of 11 Tremont St., Woburn, are parents for the first time. Paul Garrett Wile was born on November 5 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Butts of Woburn, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wile of West Palm Beach, formerly of Winchester.

Youth swimming

Keep your children active this winter. Enroll your children in swimming lessons at the North Suburban YMCA.

The national YMCA progressive swimming program has six levels of achievement: Polliwog is for non swimmers. Minnow works on crawl stroke and back stroke. Fish works on breast stroke. Shark works on lifesaving skills; Porpoise works on advanced waterman skills.

All levels work on endurance, lifesaving and safety skills. There is a 12-1 student-instructor ratio.

Register today at the North Suburban YMCA, 137 Lexington St., Woburn. Classes start the week of November 22.

Gymnastics

The second session of our YMCA gymnastic program will begin the week of November 22. There are openings in classes for all levels of ability.

Gymnastics builds character. It is a sport where children use their bodies in all components of fitness; such as strength, flexibility and endurance, as well as learning new skills.

Children will learn how to move. When a child masters each new skill, he or she will achieve the satisfaction of learning that skill.

This YMCA program is based on simple fundamental moves and the program progresses then, to harder ones.

For further information call the North Suburban YMCA, 137 Lexington St., Woburn.

ART WORK McCALL JUNIOR H.

The imagination and artistry of McCall Junior High School students is on display in the window of the Winchester Shoe Hospital on Main street. This striking, unfilled lament to growing up is a pen and ink drawing by Nancy Dean, 6 Laurel Hill Ln. She is 14 and in the ninth grade.

Teachers stick to work-to-rule

Winchester teachers and the school committee may be on the verge of a fresh mediation session in their search for a new contract.

Fact-finder Lawrence Holden met with negotiators from the Winchester Education Association for four hours Tuesday night in an effort to better understand their positions on the various issues. Holden was scheduled to meet last night with the school committee, then with both groups at 11 p.m. to attempt to arrive at a settlement through mediation.

Cathy Sheridan of the Parkhurst School, head of the teachers' negotiating team, said her group was prepared to meet, if necessary, straight through to the opening of school this morning.

Meanwhile, teachers in Winchester continue their "work-to-rule" whereby they arrive a few minutes before their first class in the morning and leave as soon as their last contracted activity is complete in the afternoon. The WEA agreed to the action last week in an attempt to speed up the contract negotiations.

Negotiations, mediation and fact-finding have been going on now for about a year. According to Richard Conway, head of the WEA's action committee, support for the "work-to-rule" was nearly unanimous. Conway said the action would continue "as long as we feel it is necessary."

If mediation fails, Holden may ask the two parties to submit briefs outlining their positions. From the briefs, the fact-finder writes a non-binding report suggesting terms for a settlement. The teachers and the school committee would then go back to the negotiating table.

Two save man, summon aid

A. Joseph Scotti, 24, of 25 Robinhood rd., and Paul Dragone, 12, of 22 Hill rd., are heroes credited with fast-thinking efforts to save an elderly man who was unaware his house was on fire.

When Scotti and Dragone were looking for a house on Sussex road Sunday morning, they drove by the house at number 5 and noticed flames through the picture window of the house.

While the young Dragone ran to pull the fire box, Scotti broke into the house to alert any occupants. Ralph Fay was working in another part of the house and was unaware until Scotti told him that there was a fire.

Scotti and Fay futilely tried to douse the flames and fled from the house.

Firefighters responded to Dragone's box at 11:42 a.m. and remained for two hours. There was extensive smoke damage to the contents of the house, which Fay had just recently bought.

Miss Caroline Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Henry S. Kirk of 15 New Meadows rd., has completed a comprehensive course of study and passed a series of college-level examinations which gives her the title of a "Chartered Life Underwriter." She is employed as a private secretary to John C. Davis, an agent for Crown Insurance Agent in Denver, Colorado.

Martha Everett

Martha Kimball Everett was born in Winchester Hospital on November 4 to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Everett (Carol Crockett) of Kennebunk, Maine.

Grandparents are Mrs. Albert S. Crockett of Kennebunk, formerly of 137 Mt. Vernon st., and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Everett of 59 Wedgemere ave.

High school update

'The Man' is outstanding

By RICK PEARL

In a word folks, it was excellent. "The Man Who Came To Dinner," a three-act comedy performed by Winchester High School's Curtain and Cue Drama Society was a great success. After the final performance last Saturday night the 250-300 persons in attendance rose in unison to applaud the fine job done by, not only the actors, but the entire production crew, including C & C's first-ever full time director, Mrs. Hester Keller, who received a bouquet of roses and a poem from her appreciative cast.

The play, written by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, concerns an elderly jack-of-all-trades, Sheridan Whiteside who, apparently has done almost everything and knows almost everyone of any importance in the world. He is forced to spend his Christmas holiday in the house of a well-to-do couple in Ohio, as a result of an accident he suffers outside their home while arriving for dinner. What happens to that household as a result of the old so and so's brief stay shouldn't happen to your worst enemy.

Jim Girard, a natural comic talent if there ever was one, played the role of Whiteside to the hilt. It was a masterful bit of acting and he was so effective that the crowd cheered wildly whenever another character in the play attempted to put him in his place. "Jake" (as Jim is known) gave an impressive performance, one that only could be admired, as he rattled off a Whiteside spiel on the origin of one of his favorite towns without a flaw.

Some of the more humorous parts of the play were when Whiteside and his nurse, Miss Preen (Gina Alfano) got into one of their many debates. Ms. Alfano's mannerisms and quick-stepped gait were so realistic that she was rewarded with a loud outburst of applause on two separate occasions.

The main plot of the play concerns Whiteside's efforts to thwart his private secretary, Maggie Cutler (Julie Hamel), from falling in love with a dashing young newspaper reporter (or vice versa), who sweeps her off her feet. The old taskmaster tries to accomplish this by sending out a message for his glamour girl friend Lorraine Sheldon (Laura Parkhurst), to come quickly, hoping that the newsman (Marshall Coggiano) will soon forget all about Maggie.

All the while this is going on, there are numerous sub plots in which the children of the household, Richard and June Stanley (played by Hugh McKay and Carolyn Neipris, respectively) become quite attached to Whiteside and turn to him for advice rather than their parents. He tells Richard to go and see the world and develop his skills in photography (no pun intended) and gives June his okay of her plan to run off and get married to a labor leader whose cause is in direct opposition to her father's concerns.

Needless to say, that along with the sudden take-over of his house by the domineering Mr. Whiteside, these bits of "advice" don't sit too well with Mr. Stanley (Jim Wells), the unwilling and steadily-growing-impatient host, owner of the house. Despite protestations from his wife (Jessie Fidler) that, after all, Mr. Whiteside is a guest, Stanley and Sheridan Whiteside don't see eye to eye from the very beginning. Throw into this atmosphere a loony doctor (superb performance by Brad Finn) who is continually badgering Whiteside to critique his book; a weird old sister of Mr. Stanley's who darts in and out of rooms quite mysteriously, jabbering away the whole time (a burst of applause followed the final appearance of the talented Ann Reidinger) and a Marx brothers reject named Banjo (twitting about (Brian Zudek deserves an Academy Award for insanity) and you might be prone to think that "This house has she" gone crazy!"

Ms. Parkhurst was just as successful as Mr. Girard as far as believability went. In fact, upon appearance on stage, Laura heard numerous hoots and whistles from the male section of the audience and a tremendous shout of joy when she was finally "closeted" by Banjo (Zudek) when it was evident that she was out to ruin MAGGIE'S ROMANCE.

By far one of the more impressive performances was by Rodney Wilson, who in addition to his acting duties headed both the publicity and program staffs. Rodney, speaking and acting in a very proper British manner, did a hilarious take-off of a pompous British lord which brought the house down (including Jimmy Girard and Julie Hamel who each applauded his efforts on stage) and then sang a short piece while pretending to play the piano. Although the audience didn't know that Karen Anderson was actually playing backstage, this hardly would have affected the loudest and most spontaneous round of applause of the entire night which they afforded him.

If "The Man Who Came To Dinner" is any indication of what we can expect in forthcoming Curtain and Cue presentations, the people of Winchester would really be missing something if they didn't attend. At $2 I can think of no greater bargain for your entertainment dollar.

Congratulations gang, this is one favorable press clipping that's well deserved!

★ Letters

Share plan but they have been defeated. Again, this is one of the problems of a small community being tied in with larger ones.

In answer to a letter last week, may I say that the daily quota for Winchester is filled with a few on the waiting list. There are vacancies in the afternoon program. The evening program has about 80 adults from town. Those on the waiting list are considered for the afternoon program and for vacancies which may arise in the daily program.

We are mandated by law to provide vocational training. Northeast is a facility in which to take pride. Many attempts have been made to bring Northeast to the attention of residents-open houses, visits by counselors, flyers mailed to the homes, meetings of superintendents, and much newspaper publicity. I think that the Winchester guidance department is doing its job. I also feel that parents and students should not feel pressured. If they choose to remain in the academic high school, then that is certainly their prerogative.

If you haven't visited Northeast, why not plan to make reservations for lunch there - some day? The pleasant restaurant is operated by students in the culinary arts department.

Last week my wife and I attended a dinner-theater at Northeast. Uniformed students prepared and served an elegant seven-course dinner including smoked salmon canapés, quiche lorraine, saddle of hare, sherbet, roast beef, salad and French almond roll. Among the 500 present were Senator and Mrs. Walter Bovarni, Richard Montgomery Mason, Mr. and Mrs. David Brickman and Ed King, who spoke for the New England Council. Entertainment was provided by singing waiters

GaNung daughter

Steven H. and Catherine (Santo) GaNung of 59 Cross St. are parents of a daughter, Stacia Lizbeth, born November 5 at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. She weighed seven pounds two ounces.

Grandparents are Mary and Russ Weldon, 59 Cross St., and Jean and Grover GaNung of Nashua, New Hampshire.

Serving as godparents to Stacia were Barbara Uliano of Wakefield and Robert GaNung of Medford. Great-grandparents are Arthur Govostes, Sr., of Woburn; Joseph Santo of Winchester; Irene Tabor of Wakefield; and June Tetreault of Walpole.

Susan McCarthy

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. McCarthy (Cynthia E. Elliott) of 37 Canterbury rd. are parents of seven pound four ounce Susan Kathryn. Susan was born November 11 at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

Grandparents are Robert and Mary Elliott of 2 Dana Ave. and Joseph and Jean McCarthy of Wayland.

Susan has a sister, three-year-old Sheila Ellen.

Alcoholics Anon

Every Monday night at 8:30 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

and waitresses from Romie's Quarterdeck. With the proceeds, the seniors plan to go to Paris and Nice to study the culinary arts of that country.

Other gourmet dinners will be presented December 14, and in January and March. Some business concerns are planning parties on Dec. 14. It is hoped that Winchester residents will support this endeavor.

I hope this article acquaints residents with some of the things happening at Northeast. I shall continue to do my best to answer the mail and phone calls and to represent our town at the meetings.

Cruel method

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I recently wrote an article which told the story of the fight for humane legislation that bans the decompression chamber for killing animals in Massachusetts, making this state just one of two states in the entire country to ban this cruel method of killing animals in pounds.

It was used principally at the Animal Rescue League's five "shelters," but condemned by the MSPCA, which never attempted to stop its use, although they knew for years that the Animal Rescue League, with whom they worked closely, was using the decompression chamber to kill thousands of dogs, cats, puppies, and kittens.

The article also mentions the success of the bill that restores the ten-day holding period for lost dogs in public pounds, H. 4901. Dog owners pay for the care of these dogs with their license money, which goes into county funds for this purpose.

The ten-day holding period is more important than ever, since a rabid bat was found in Pembroke recently.

It takes ten days for rabies symptoms to show up in a dog who has been bitten by such a bat, so that the ten-day holding period is not only important for dog owners looking for a lost pet (and even the best cared for dog can get out and get lost), but it also relates to public safety.

My husband and I, and our son, Stephen III, spent many months at the State House, working with well-known humanitarian Dorothy Checchi O'Brien of Plymouth, and Mrs. Esther Nowell of Wakefield, working on H. 5210, the bill banning the decompression chamber and got H. 4901, the ten-day holding period bill, through with none of the problems we had in 1974 when we worked on this same bill with Dorothy O'Brien for the first time.

This small group had the solid backing of numerous local humane societies, including the Winchester SPCA, ABCAL, the Buddy Dog Humane Society, Dog Orphans, Inc. of Wellesley, the Standish Humane Society of Duxbury, Friends of Animals, and many others, as well as individual animal lovers who wrote or called the State House and attended hearings.

They were also supported by dog officers, notably the Massachusetts Police K-9 Officers Association, and by members of all the dog breed clubs they could contact.

Their efforts were rewarded by an outstanding victory for animal welfare.

Sacrifices

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

You know it is really too bad our Massachusetts people have to go to New Hampshire to save a small amount of money. Our own merchants need our cooperation and going over the line to New Hampshire is silly with gas as high as it is, unless of course you are out on a ride with your family.

After most people pay their bills weekly or monthly there is nothing left for clothes, shoes, etc. — not even a haircut. Things are so high. For example last year snow boots for an old lady were $10.50. Now they are from $12 to $16.

If things go up every year like this what in the world is going to happen? As it is now most small families are in hock by borrowing from Peter to pay Paul.

Some folks haven't even paid their last year's heat bill because they do not have any money and companies have cut them off so that now they will either go cold or let some other bills go to pay for heat, light, gas, telephone, food.

Clothes, shoes — forget it. I know this seems like gloom and doom but look around you. With Thanksgiving coming up, if you can help someone else, great.

Louise Chase

Police blotter

Police Chief John P. McHugh reminds all townspeople that cars illegally parked on streets or sidewalks will be ticketed and are subject to towing when they interfere with snow removal.

Cars may not be parked on the street for more than an hour between 1 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Officer Perritano and Lt. Andrew Crawford spent a day in Boston at a seminar conducted by the Massachusetts department of public safety. Beginning January 1, local information about crimes against a person (assault, manslaughter, rape, and such) will be given directly to the state, who will in turn pass that information along to the FBI every month.

As it is now, every local department passes the information individually to the FBI. Both Crawford and Perritano took an exam at the end of the seminar.

There were seven motor vehicle accidents caused by slippery driving conditions last week, including one in which a woman lost most of her front teeth. There were no other serious injuries reported.

Couples bowling

In the Winchester Couples Bowling Group, the team competition was won by the Clippers with a comfortable margin of 201 pins.

Significant contributors to the win were Dirk Stryker with 76 pins over average and Jean Bradley with 62 pins over average.

High women bowlers were Jean Bradley with a 494 series and 179 single and Angela Pollino with a 448 series and 164 single. For the men it was Guy Pollino with 516 and 194 and Stan Hart with 494 and 169.

Team standings are: Clippers, 26 points; Puzzlers, 13 points and Spinnakers, 9 points.

Ed and Jean Hurley were hosts to the 26 bowlers for after bowling festivities.

Winter arrived a little ahead of schedule last week, frosting the trees and icing over the Mill Pond.

HELPFUL HINT: A jar lid placed in the bottom of the double boiler will rattle S.O.S. when the water gets too low.

It's Thanksgiving time.

Send the FTD Thanksgiving Bouquet to the folks back home.

Sending a Thanksgiving Bouquet almost anywhere is as easy as a call or visit to your FTD Florist. (Most accept major credit cards.) It's a wonderful way to reach out and touch friends and loved ones no matter how far away. The FTD Thanksgiving is a flower harvest of fall colors in a keepsake woven mini-bushel basket. It says "I care," "I remembered," as nothing else can.

Thanksgiving usually available for less than $12.50
As an independent businessman, each FTD Member Florist sets his own prices.

Say FTD...and be sure.

A beautiful mum plant is another way to say Happy Thanksgiving. It's a specially selected FTD Green Ribbon™ Plant in a woven mini-bushel basket.

Raiders tip Sachems in mud bowl slosher

By John F. Parrell

The weather man dealt schoolboy football a shocking blow last week as the combination of snow, freezing weather and eventually mud, played a major role in many of last week's games.

Passers were particularly affected as is well shown by the comparatively poor performance of such usually gifted performers as Don Allard of the Sachems and Ken Morrison of the Woburn Tanners.

The mud made the pigskin both heavy and slippery and made it equally difficult for the receivers to get to the point intended for the reception. On the other hand it worked to the advantage of big, hard-running backs like Dave Falkenstrom of Reading and Fabiano Flori of the Watertown Raiders.

As a result of the Watertown victory, the Lexington defeat of Melrose and the loss of Woburn to the Reading Rockets, the Middlesex race now has a triple tie for first place among the Tanner, Minutemen and Watertown.

Things started off well for the Sachems as they backed the home team deep into their own territory as a result of some good kicking. They had possession at the Raider 12 midway through the first quarter but the attack fizzled and Watertown took over. However, the Sachems got the pigskin back on the second play as Mike Wise intercepted an aerial from Greenough at the 35. Anthony Davis then broke loose for a 29-yard gallop and a first down at the six. He added five more and then Don Allard went over to the touchdown. Brian O'Connor's high place kick made it Winchester 7, Watertown 0.

The Watertown receiver took the ensuing kickoff back 50 yards to move the ball deep into Winchester territory. This started a drive of about a dozen plays with the 220-pound Raider fullback Fabiano Flori and their gifted running back doing most of the carrying. However, the touchdown came early in the second quarter on a Greenough pass to Chris Berardi. Mark Papas added the extra point to deadlock the game.

The Watertown place kicker had a poor afternoon trying to kick the soggy ball and Chris Gill brought it to the 33. The Raiders did some good gaining on the ground but wasted many chances as they took to the air in attempts to move into the lead. From the sidelines it appeared as though with the good runners they had available they should have stayed on the ground.

The field was particularly bad in the center sections between the 30 yard stripes as a result of the weather and the fact that a junior high game had been played there on Friday. However, it was no handicap to the powerful Flori and did not hamper the speedy Lyle as much as one would expect.

The second half found Coach John Barbati restricting the attack to a minimum of passes and some workhorse carrying by both Flori and Lyle. However, the second touchdown was also scored through the air after the runners had lugged it into position. This time Greenough hit Bob Kelland with a 20 yard scoring shot and Mark Papas added the point for a 14-7 home team lead.

The Sachems fought back but were stymied by the slippery conditions and Watertown ground out yardage on the ground. Just before the end of the third period they pushed deep into Winchester territory and as the fourth quarter opened they had reached the Winchester two. An offside penalty moved them back to the seven and then Steve Lyle went wide to the left to make it 20-7. The try for two points failed and Watertown did no further scoring.

Late in the game the Sachems mounted a drive from midfield that penetrated inside the Watertown ten. Anthony Davis did some good running and Don Allard ran some and completed a couple of passes. But with their goaline being threatened the Raiders stiffened their defenses and held onto the ball for a 20-7 victory.

It was a hard played game under the most miserable conditions, but in all justice it must be stated that the better team won the game which might have ended differently under better conditions. They were physically superior and the field was far more adaptable to the type of offense they used.

Tanners top JVs

The Sachem J V football eleven lost a hard-fought game to their Woburn counterparts in a game played Monday afternoon at the Joyce Junior High field. The final score read Woburn J V 24, Winchester J V 7.

The Winchester touchdown came on a pass from Mark O'Neil to Brian O'Connor. O'Connor's kick from placement accounted for the extra point.

Pee Wee AA's bow to Stoneham team

The Winchester Pee-Wee AA's ran into a hot goaltending tandem from Stoneham as they lost their first game of the year 5-2, Saturday night.

Stoneham opened the scoring and held the lead until late in the first period when the Hawks tied it on a picture play. Capitalizing on a power play situation, the Hawks controlled the puck in the Stoneham zone. A Stoneham attempt to clear was intercepted by Steve Marino at the right point. Steve kept the puck inside the blue line and rifled a perfect pass to Tom Sullivan. Tom wasted no time as he sent an excellent pass across the Stoneham crease that was cleverly tipped home by Tony Celli.

The game remained tied at the close of the first period although the Hawks dominated much of the action in the Stoneham end and outshot the Spartans by a wide margin.

The second stanza belonged to Stoneham as their long slap shots accounted for three goals. Penalties hurt the Hawks during this period, with what proved to be Stoneham's winning goal coming during a power play advantage. The Hawks second and final goal was scored by Chris Parker as he scooped a zone clearing pass from Steve Marino and, on a clear breakaway, fooled the Stoneham goalie with a good fake. On another positive note, excellent forechecking by Paul White and good penalty killing by Marino, Parker and Mike Gorrasi highlighted the second period.

The Hawks could not regain their scoring touch in the third period although, once again, they outshot Stoneham by a wide margin — particularly in the last several minutes as they completely dominated the play but were thwarted by good Stoneham goaltending.

Pee Wee soccer games rescheduled

The early snows caused postponement of the final weekend of games at West Side Field. Hopefully, warmer weather this week will enable the Pee Wee Division to complete the regular schedule on November 20, and have two post-season games on November 21.

Teams scheduled to play November 13 will play each other November 20. On November 21, boys selected from each team will play post season games.

A team comprised of boys from the Red, Light Green, Gold, Maroon and Dark Blue teams will play boys from the Grey, Light Blue, Dark Green, Orange and Black teams.

Fourth graders will play at 1 p.m. and fifth graders will play at 2:15 p.m. Players should report to West Side Field 45 minutes before the game in which they are to play.

Dr. E. T. Blanch reelected Little League president

Dr. E. T. (Dick) Blanch, 16 Alden lane was elected to a second term as president of Winchester Little League, Inc., at the organization's annual meeting at the Elks Home, last Wednesday evening. Heading the slate of officers proposed by Nominating Committee Chairman James P. McGoldrick, Dr. Blanch will be assisted at the top by Charles A. Koch as secretary and James R. Stewart Jr. as treasurer.

In his inaugural address, Dr. Blanch stressed the need for the continued cooperation of the elected officers and directors with the team managers who will be selected by the league vice presidents. He looked forward to renewed efforts to produce even better field conditions under the town's new Department of Public Works with the full cooperation of the town manager, Thomas Groux.

Joseph H. Julian, Jr. returns to Little League, after a short absence, as American Senior League vice president, while John C. McPhail was reelected Senior National League vice president. In the Major-Minor League vice presidency are Joseph R. Costello for the American League and James J. Aylward, Jr. for the National League, both of whom are first-year men in this position, but with successful Little League managerial experience.

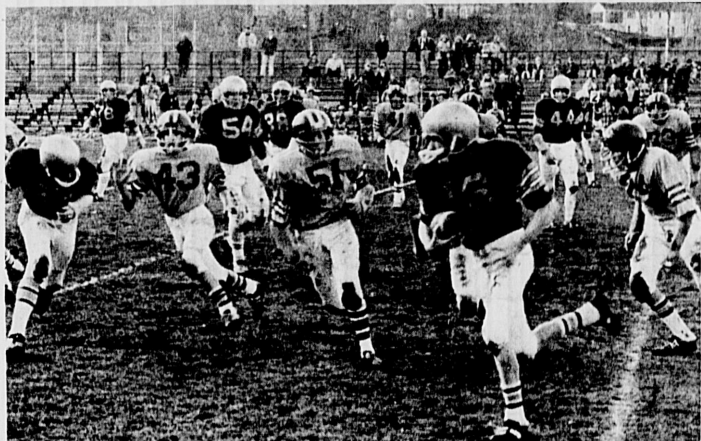

The player agent slots will be filled by the dean of personnel, Henry A. Petrillo and the popular Paul Landry in the American and National Senior Divisions, respectively.

Experience and know-how are also reflected in the election of Norman A. Stanton, American League, and Harry A. Rothmann, National League as player agents.

A special plea was made at the meeting for the return of Senior and Major League uniforms which are still outstanding from the 1976 season. All managers and players who have not brought back their uniforms to the Winchester Sport Shop were urged to do so immediately so that preparations could be started on uniforming and equipping the 1977 teams.

Several teams were singled out for pressure to return uniforms, including the number still missing from the Little League inventory - Indians - 11; Expos - 7; Phillies - 5; Cubs - 9; Browns - 12; Astros - 11; Reds - 5. Several other teams are missing one, two or three sets. Outstanding examples of cooperation are the Managers and members of the White Sox, Senators, Cardinals, Pirates and Red Sox all of whose uniforms were turned in months ago. It was hoped, by the new president, that all remaining outstanding uniforms would be returned to the Sport Shop within the next seven days. After that, the parents of those boys who have not returned their uniforms will be billed by the League for $20, each in accordance with the permission slip signed by the parents during registration.

It was voted to conduct the next Little League Directors meeting on Wednesday, January 26, at the Elks Home, 375 Cambridge st., starting at 7:30 p.m.

Ron Dokus goes around end for McCall in the first half of Monday's game with arch-rival Lynch Junior High. Teammate Steve Wolfe (No. 83) is about to throw a good block and help clear the way for McCall's 26-6 victory.

Sachems sixth in EasMass

With only four WHS girl swimmers entered in the Eastern Mass Championships their outstanding performances netted 67 points for a sixth place in total team points, out of 52 high school teams entered in this meet.

The four Winchester girls, doing their high school proud were Kathy Conley (Back), Bitser Dexter (Breast), Carol Minutoli (Fly) and Laurie Grant (Free). This medley relay team came in fourth in the finals with a time of 2:05.1 for a total of 20 points.

Carol Minutoli placed fourth in the 200yd and 500yd freestyle with times of 2:03.5 and 5:29.2, respectively for a total of 22 team points.

Laurie Grant placed fourth in the 50 yd freestyle with a time of 26.2, and sixth in the 100 yd breaststroke with a time of 1:14.5 for a total of 20 team points, and Bitser Dexter placed eighth in the 100 yd breaststroke with a time of 1:14.7 for a total of 5 team points.

The final standings for the first six high schools in Eastern Mass. were as follows 1. Acton-Boxboro 135, 2. Marblehead 108, 3. Bedford 85, 4. Dover-Sherborn 76, 5. Brockton 72, 6. Winchester 67.

What was most evident in this meet was the improvement of class swimmers in Eastern Mass. Five national records were set at the Attleboro High School Pool, on Saturday Nov. 13.

Fifteen-year-old Lissa McGrath from Marblehead set new national records in the 50 yd and 100 yd feestyle events with times of 25.29 and 55.01 respectively.

Sabrina Cronen of Bedford set a new national mark of 5:06.7 in the 500 yd freestyle. These records are an outstanding achievement of girls high school swimming in this part of the country.

Jan Oehm runs fourth in state

Jan Oehm, Winchester's top girl cross country runner competed in the state wide meet held last Saturday at Franklin Park. With a second place in the Eastern State meet

Bantam A's strong in goal

The 1976-77 Bantam A Team of Winchester Youth Hockey playing in the Middlesex Youth Hockey League is led by Captain Ian Donaghey and Alternate Captains Marshall White and Tony Donlon.

The Bantams are well supported by a hard hitting defensive group. Defensive pairings are Marshall White and Brad Johnson, J.M. Gagan and Tony Donlon, and Jerry Kimball and Joe Donlon.

One of the real strong points of the team this year has been the steady play in the goal by Steve Noble and back up Mark Kenney.

The Bantams won their third game in a row this week with a 3-1 decision over Melrose. Ian Donaghey had two goals and the other went to Jeff Lavey.

McCall whips Lynch 26-6

Coach Pat Ladd's McCall Spartans ended their season with a 26-6 victory to post an overall record of 5-1. Their only loss was to Kennedy of Woburn.

The annual intercity football classic was hard fought all the way but McCall's overall balance proved too much for Coach Sonny Lane's eleven.

Touchdown scorers included: Kerry Goodman (M) on a long pass from Ronnie Dokus, Charlie Capone (M) on a six yard run, Lennie Bellino (M) on a five yard run, Ronnie Dokus (M) on a two yard run, Billy Rogers (L) on a 20 yard run. Lennie Bellino booted a pair of extra points for McCall.

under her belt and a first in the Coaches' meet she faced the very best in the entire state this week.

She finished fourth in the statewide competition, only 24 seconds behind the winner. Lynn Jennings of Bromfield was the first place winner in 17:11, Johanna Forman of Falmouth finished second in 17:23, Cindy Stunn of Westfield was third in 17:31 and Jan was fourth in 17:34.

Her performance was a good one and with a little more distance she might well have emerged the winner.

Local skaters 'make' league all-star teams

Six members of the Winchester Blackhawks Pee Wee Hockey team were happy young men this week as they were chosen to the all-star teams of the Middlesex Youth Hockey League.

Steven Tucci and Bob Giarrizza were selected by the Jr. Whalers and will travel to Dalhousie, New Brunswick to participate in the Dominion Championship Tournament in March.

Tony Celli, Steven Marino, Chris Parker and Tom Sullivan were selected to play on the Jr. Braves and will travel to Quebec City in February to participate in the Quebec International Pee Wee Tournament, which is the most prestigious youth hockey tournament in the world.

In addition, the Jr. Braves will have an added thrill on Sunday, January 23 at the Boston Garden, where they will have a ten-minute televised scrimmage between the periods of the Bruins-Atlanta game.

All the boys are products off the Winchester Youth Hockey system, and the boys wish to thank their coaches throughout their hockey careers which has made this great season possible.

McCall hockey record 6-1-2

Coach Jan Keefe's McCall field hockey team played a scoreless tie with Muzzey of Lexington to close out a highly successful 6-1-2 record.

Gail Oram and Veronica Carp were the co-captains who led the team and the following were included among the players: offensive group: Lee Kimbell, Barbara Jacobs, Caroline Twomey, Pam McIntosh, Theresa DeConto, Alice Greene, Paula Deskin, Amy Fitzgerald, Kathy Looney, Jane Kent, Laurie Farrell, Laura Cunningham, and Leslie Koplow; defensive group: Kathy Welch, Susan Fitzgerald, Julia Gittleman, Elaine Pigott, and Robin Hill; managers: Lisa Dantes, Lisa Jackson and Julie Maher.

Mites win 3-2

The Winchester Mites had one of their most exciting wins of the early season, over a strong Stoneham team, 3-2.

Brian Griffin opened the scoring for Winchester in the first period. Petey Regan responded for Winchester during the second period, scoring the second and third goals.

Coach Ken Binding pulled off the win with excellent defensive help from Mike White, Derek Binding, Billy Coppins, and John Lampassi.

Goal tending by Jimmy Chute and Kevin Boyle kept the Stoneham score to only two goals.

After the league game, the Winchester team played at the Joyce Rink in Woburn, between the periods of the Bruins Old-timers' game. The Woburn and Winchester teams ended their match in a tie, each team scoring one goal. Winchester's was by Petey Regan.

Obituaries

Clyde M. Clark

Funeral services are planned this afternoon at the John R. O'Donnell Funeral Home in Arlington for Clyde Milton Clark of 33 Sutherland rd., Arlington. Mr. Clark, a former Winchester resident, died November 14 while on a hunting trip in Michias, Maine. He was 64. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

He had spent two years in Hawaii during World War II and with the Navy and was retired from Crane's Service in Somerville. He was a member of A.F.O.L. 1898.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Francis (Pauline) Tremberth of New Jersey, and Mrs. Ralph (Elizabeth) McAdams of Melrose; two brothers, Lemert of Exeter, New Hampshire, and Matt of Arlington, with whom he made his home. Also surviving are 13 nieces and nephews.

Bart C. Coyne

Funeral services were held Friday for Bart C. Coyne, a 25-year Winchester resident, who died suddenly at his home at 50 Myrtle terrace on November 9. Mr. Coyne was 59.

Rev. Roger Cormier officiated at the services for the master electrician. Burial followed at Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Coyne was born in Charlestown to John H. and Annie M. (Dorstorm) Coyne. He attended schools in Somerville and went to Somerville High School and St. John's Preparatory School.

For more than 30 years, until his retirement four years ago, Mr. Coyne was employed at the Boston Navy Yard. He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Coyne, husband of the late Mary E. (Martin) Coyne, is survived by five sisters, Mrs. James Scanlan of Westford, Miss Katherine Coyne and Miss Evelyn Coyne, both of West Hyannisport, Mrs. Joseph W. McAnney of South Windsor, Connecticut, and Mrs. William F. Brassil of Winchester.

Donations in his memory may be made to the American Heart Association, 112 Cypress st., Brookline. Funeral arrangements were by Lane Funeral Home.

Helen J. Everts

Funeral services were held this morning at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton for Helen J. (Miles) Everts of Newton, mother of Mrs. James T. (Betty) Sullivan of Winchester.

Mrs. Everts, wife of the late professor Edgar W. Everts of Boston University, was 76.

She is survived by her daughter and two grandchildren, James T. Sullivan, Jr., and Janet C. Sullivan of Winchester. Also surviving are granddaughters Mrs. Joanne Graves of Manchester, Mrs. Elaine Harrington of Beaverbrook, Ohio, three great-grandchildren; two sisters and a brother, all of New York.

Contributions in her memory may be made to the Regis College scholarship fund, Weston. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Amy G. Aitchison

Funeral services were held in Westford for Amy G. Aitchison, formerly of Winchester, who died in Westfield on November 3. She was 57.

Miss Aitchison was the daughter of Mrs. J. P. Aitchison and the late Mr. Aitchison. She also leaves three sisters, Gertrude Finley of Illinois, Mrs. G.S. Mustain of California, and Mrs. Shirley Rallo of Beverly; also a brother, Richard, of Auburn, Maine. Graveside services were held in Cambridge.

Register To Win Your Thanksgiving Turkey Now!

Each Store Listed Below Will Give Away
A Free Turkey

Right now your local stores are stocked with the best buys and the biggest selection ever. Don't leave everything until the last minute...you may be disappointed. Visit your local merchant first. ...he will give you more service and satisfaction for each dollar you spend.

CONTEST RULES

Pick up your free Thanksgiving Turkey coupon in each of the stores listed below.

All coupons must be deposited before 5 P.M. Saturday, November 20.

A drawing will be held to determine the winner of the free turkey in each store. There will be a free turkey given away at each store listed below.

You need not be present at drawings to win. Each winner will be notified. Winners will also be announced in this newspaper.

Anyone over 16 years of age (except employees of participating stores and this newspaper) is eligible to participate. Only one turkey may be won by a family. Decisions of the judges will be final. You do not need a coupon to enter. You may write your name, address and words "Turkey Contest" on plain piece of paper.

Key figure

Police arrest man in rug theft case

Lt. William Haggerty arrested Albert Mostardi, 26, of Framingham, in an office building in Boston, on November 16 in connection with a $300,000 Oriental rug ring.

Mostardi, a key figure in the two-month search for stolen rugs and other items, posted the $5000 bail set by Judge Francis Cullen in Fourth District Court. Mostardi is scheduled for trial on December 1. He is also scheduled for court appearances in Cambridge, Natick, and Framingham. Police in Belmont, Lincoln, and Weston also have warrants for Mostardi on stolen property charges.

Lt. Haggerty, with assistance from Framingham police and other members of the Winchester force, obtained warrants to search Mostardi's Framingham apartment and garage storage areas where they uncovered 61 stolen rugs, many of them taken in housebreaks in Winchester.

Winchester police also have a warrant out for the arrest of Sherman Horowitz, 827 Boylston St., Boston, an alleged accomplice of Mostardi's.

Mostardi, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of receiving stolen property, was born in Italy and has also lived in Florida, New York, and Pennsylvania.

FinCom to mail appeal to voters

The finance committee decided Monday night to go through with a mailing to all registered town voters expressing pros and cons on the school closing referendum December 7.

According to Carol Chan, member of the FinCom, the mailing will consist of one sheet, half devoted to arguments in favor of closing a school (a yes vote on the question), and half opposed (a no vote).

The committee will meet next Monday to write the opinions and put the sheet together. The majority of committee members are in favor of the closing of an elementary school, with Anthony Pelletier, David Donahue, and Richard Sayre opposed.

Task force reports on the schools

The Task Force as established by town meeting, brought forth a specific plan to action to accomplish the following:

- (1) Report to the town meeting on the available space in the town's 12 school buildings which could be utilized for the school administration or other town offices;
- (2) Report on two best alternate plans which could be used in relation to utilization of school buildings for at least the next five years; and
- (3) Recommend to the town meeting the best course of action as to the future of the Sanborn House property.

The following material reflects the Task Force's best estimate of available space in our 12 elementary schools:

Total elementary pupil capacity in our nine elementary schools:
A. Building Inspector Capacity	4145
B. 1970 Study Capacity (adjusted to include present Lincoln)	3547
C. 45 Square Feet	2845
D. Recommended Capacity by Administration	2764
E. Actual Capacity with Ambrose Unfinished and Lincoln at 500 is	2764

Ambrose Basement Finished. The actual elementary enrollment as of October 1, 1976 is 2330 pupils.

The actual enrollment in our two (2) junior high schools as of October 1, 1976 is: Lynch 568 pupils; McCall 736 pupils.

The actual enrollment in our High School as of October 1, 1976 is: 1315 pupils.

The capacity of our High School is 1500 with an enrollment of 1315.

The capacity of Lynch Jr. High School is 650 with an enrollment of 568.

The capacity of McCall Jr. High School is 900 with an enrollment of 736.

Empty seats in junior and senior high schools equal 431 seats.

The actual number of seats in each elementary school are: Ambrose, 220 (Ambrose basement unfinished); Lincoln 500 (The capacity is 600, but 500 is recommended); Muraco 500; Mystic 275 (Includes use of portable with a capacity of 45); Noonan 164; Parkhurst 300; Vinson-Owen 325; Washington 250; Wyman 230; Total 2764.

The actual number of pupils in each elementary school as of October 1, 1976 are: Ambrose 204; Lincoln 310; Muraco 363;

Mystic 271; Noonan 201; Parkhurst 215; Vinson-Owen 311; Washington 240; Wyman 251. Total 2330. The difference is 434 empty seats in elementary schools.

This gives a total of 865 empty seats in our twelve (12) schools.

Ambrose Elementary School has unfinished space of approximately 7,000 sq. ft. If renovated, this space could be used by the school department central offices.

The Lincoln Elementary School has unfinished space of approximately 11,000 sq. ft. If renovated, this space could be used by the school department central office and Division of Instruction.

The Muraco Elementary School has unfinished space which could be used for storage by either the school department or the town.

The school department has no present need for any of the space available in our twelve (12) school buildings.

It appears, also, that the town has no immediate need for this space available in

The minister's sermon will be

It was almost like being there two hundred years ago when a colonial Thanksgiving service was held Sunday at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

four hours next Sabbath: He will probably earn his monies

To the roll of drums, worshippers at the Crawford Memorial Church assembled Sunday to praise the Lord of the harvest for His providential goodness.

Garbed in the dress of the colonial period, they filed into the pews, women on the left side, men on the right. The deacons were announced by the lifting man and marched down the aisle, followed by the minister, to their places inside the altar rail.

Young people of the parish were transporting baskets of foodstuffs to the front of the sanctuary where they were displayed before being taken to the New England Home for Little Wanderers.

It could have been 200 years ago — except for the television cameras recording the event.

While prayers were offered, the congregation stood with arms raised to heaven. From time to time members of the church commented on the scriptures and sermon with an "amen" or "praise the Lord." But there was a "sleeper" here and there — soon to be awakened by a rap from the "beadle" whose watchful eye scanned the worshippers throughout the service.

There was no accompaniment for the singing in those days, so the "liner" sang a line of the hymn and the congregation repeated after him a cappella.

Tepid tempest, but...

Chairman calls police to teacher - thronged meeting of the school committee

School Board Chairlady Mary Pronski called the police up to Sanborn House Monday night when about 75 demonstrating teachers began to disrupt the school committee meeting.

The teachers, there to demonstrate support for their negotiators, grew restless when the committee refused to move the meeting over to the Ambrose School. Some of those out in the front hall began shouting that they could not hear what was going on in the meeting room; others clapped their hands in an apparent effort to force the issue.

Mrs. Pronski left to call the police, who arrived a few minutes later. One officer remained outside, another stood inside.

The teachers quieted down, then jammed into the meeting room, lining the walls, and remained silent until most of them left about halfway through the meeting.

The teachers had gathered outside the Ambrose School earlier to hear an update on the contract negotiations from Cathy Sheridan, head of the Winchester Education Association's (WEA) negotiating team.

A 24-hour, marathon mediating session last week led Fact Finder Lawrence Holden to conclude that the dispute could not be settled by mediation.

Crash crisis

Pond street residents appeal to selectmen: 'Do something'

Otto Schaefer and Carol Chan, both residents of Pond street and both in town government, appealed to selectmen at the Monday night meeting to "do something" about the dangerous driving conditions on Pond street, scene of several accidents in recent years, including one Friday night in which four Winchester teenagers were seriously injured.

Schaefer, a member of the planning board, urged that speed bumps, a white line, and better lighting might help curb the speeding on that road.

"There is a steady barrage of cars going out of control," he said. Referring to the sling shot effect of a smooth roadway, a shortcut between busy Main street and Cambridge street, a sharp curve and a relatively steep grade, Schaefer urged action by selectmen as soon as possible.

Carol Chan, a member of the finance committee, said that what is needed on Pond street, and other "speedways," is a traffic policeman to tag speeders.

"Whatever the cost of stationing a policeman on that street for maybe four hours a night for several weeks in a row, it is less than the cost of the accidents we have there," she said. She cited the cost of hydrant and lawn repair, electric poles, automobiles, "and the most expensive of all, injury and possible death."

Selectmen Chairman John Sullivan agreed that speeding goes on "all over town every night."

Police will be asked to give the board a listing of accidents in the past few years on Pond street and also the number of traffic citations given for speeding in the past four weeks in Winchester. "If that number is ten," Sullivan said, "we're in trouble."

Hit stone wall

Four youths injured in 'spectacular' car crash

Four local youths were injured in what Police Chief John P. McHugh called a "spectacular" one-car accident Friday night in front of 84 Pond St.

According to police, Donna Sullivan, 17, of 8 Hill St. lost control of the car she was driving at 11:07 p.m. and struck a fire hydrant on Pond street before smashing into a stone wall. She and passenger Sharon McNulty, 18, of 312 Cross St. were removed from the front seat by firefighters using the Hurst tool. The two had been pinned to the dashboard.

Ms. Sullivan's condition is listed as satisfactory by the Winchester Hospital. She received facial lacerations and a fractured leg. Ms. McNulty was taken to Choate Memorial Hospital with multiple contusions and a fractured leg. She is listed in good condition.

The two passengers in the back seat were John Gardella, 15, of 252 Highland Ave. and Michael Delgreco, 14, of 130 Mt. Vernon St. They were both taken to Winchester Hospital.

Gardella is in good condition with fractures of the leg and arm. Delgreco suffered fractures of the leg and jaw. He is in stable condition.

The impact of the crash was such that police and firefighters feared an explosion and fire, Chief McHugh said. There was some indication of fire in the car he added.

Gardella and Delgreco were removed immediately. Firefighters took out the back seat of the car with the Hurst tool and were then able to extricate Sullivan and McNulty.

Woburn police assisted the Winchester force.

Serratore named to building post

Dominic J. Serratore has been appointed building commissioner for the town of Winchester by Town Manager Thomas J. Groux.

Before service in the building department, Serratore worked in the town's engineering department. He has been associated with the town since 1963 when he was discharged from the United States Army.

Serratore graduated from Winchester High School and holds a B.S. in industrial technology-civil engineering from Northeastern University. In addition, he has attended the training program for building inspectors sponsored by the Massachusetts department of community affairs and holds a certificate of training from the Building Officials and Code Administrators.

Serratore has served as deputy building commissioner for the past one and a half years and has worked in Winchester's building department on revision of building and zoning codes on a part-time basis since 1971. Serratore is married and has two children. He lives in Reading.

Selectmen Chairman John J. Sullivan praised the efforts of Mary Murphy, chairman of the Winchester housing authority, seated, at the dedication of the elderly housing on Palmer street. It was the first time he could recall something in Winchester being named for a living person. (Staff photo by Karen Whittlesey-First)

High school update

National Honor Society holds its first annual induction

By Rick Pearl

The Aberjona division of the National Honor Society held its first annual induction ceremony in the high school auditorium last Monday night. Dr. Cliff Wheeler, the NHS Winchester advisor and also head basketball coach here, was the master of ceremonies of the affair, designed to honor the 79 newly-elected members. Also on hand was Principal Vincent Larocco; Michael McCully, last year's NHS student president; and Roger Connors, the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Advisor of the National Honor Society, and principal of Milton High School.

Mr. Connors was the guest speaker for the evening and his topic was "What the National Honor Society Means." After the ten-minute speech by Mr. Connors, Dr. Wheeler and Mr. McCully explained the meaning of the five candles on the podium. Alternately the pair described the significance of the Candles of Scholarship, Leadership, Charity, and Service. The fifth and final candle represented the Eternal Light of Knowledge.

Then the students were alphabetically called on stage where they were presented with either a certificate if they were elected both as seniors and juniors, or a certificate and membership card if they were elected as seniors. Here is a complete listing of the 1976-77 Aberjona division of the National Honor Society:

Elected as juniors and seniors:
Michael Cavaretta, Constance Currier, Nicholas Dangelo Jr., Erin Daugherty, Mary Ellen DeMars, Mary Dillon, Linde Feldman, Bradford Finn, Stephen Geary, Nancy Gountanis, Christopher Hall, Susan Hankins, Cynthia Hayes.

Patricia Hicks, Cathleen Hines, Margaret Kark, Francis Mazzucotelli, Eileen McCarthy, John McInnis, Ellen McKenney, Mary Melilli, Dawn Nunziato, Pamela Penna, Jonathan Pettee, Elizabeth Russell, Patricia Samoiloff, Kathleen Scandura, Margerita Shannon, Michael St. Michael, Loretta Walsh, Patricia Welch, Susan Yavner, William Zetler.

Elected as seniors:

Darren Abbanat, Catherine Arnott, Deborah Avazian, Aileen Barcus, Elizabeth Bishop, Asa Bjorngard, Richard Callahan, Annmarie Ciruso, Stephen Contompas, Valerie Dierco, Susan Duffy, Lisa Durland, Phyllis Errico, Jeffrey Estabrook, Leanne

Fitzgerald, Seth Goodman, Charles Granum, Julianna Hamel, George Hauenstein, Sarah Horne.

Mustafa Koprucu, Audrey Leach, Kyong (Sheri) Lee, Anthony Macinanti, Peter Mafera, Stephanie Martins, Robert McGrail, Douglas McKenzie, Anne Moda, Douglas Moody, Diane Mueller, Robert Noel, John Nolan, Marie Patti, Richard Pearl, Kathleen Pigott, Ginette Rand, Richard Redpath, Patricia Reidy, Norman Richburg, Paula Rooney, Peter Santos, Scott Swanson, William Tunnicliffe, Kim Valeri, Mary Whitney.

In order to be eligible for admission to the Honor Society, students must have a minimum grade average of 3.2. In addition, they must participate in some sort of service project. Such projects include tutoring and working in senior citizen homes.

This year's NHS Aberjona officers are Patricia Welch, president; Sarah Horne, vice-president; Charles Granum, secretary; and Stephanie Martins, treasurer. Ms. Welch, after the procession, then lit a candle from the flame of the Eternal Light of Knowledge and spread it among the newly-inducted members who each had their own small candle. The house lights in the auditorium were shut off at this time.

That ended the ceremony and all filed into the cafeteria to mingle and have refreshments. Mrs. Tabor and Mrs. McCully were in charge of the food and drink end of the affair, and Dr. Wheeler and the NHS members would like to thank them greatly.

All in all it was an impressive show put on by Dr. Wheeler and friends, and most assuredly one that this year's members will not soon forget.

Named all-state team member

A local Salem State College soccer player has been named to the 1976 All-Conference Soccer Team by the Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference.

Coach Dick Schneider's team finished at 5-2 in the Conference and at 7-4 overall. Sophomore Ron Vangell of Winchester was named as goaltender.

William F. Caci, president, Kiwanis Club of Winchester, buying 250 tickets from Father Lynch of St. Mary's Church, Winchester. The tickets are for the St. Mary's CYO Musical extravaganza, "It's a Small, Small World". The show is going to be presented on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, November 27, 28 and 29, 1976. The tickets will be donated by the Kiwanis Club to the Winchester Seniors and may be picked up, free of charge, at the Senior Center, located in the Lincoln School.

Winchester trails has 446 children in walks

tinger, church lay leader; Michael Hewitt, finance leader of the church; Donald Goodell, tithingman for the service; David Dettinger, liner of the psalm; Susan Hankins, flute soloist.

Serving as ushers were Robert Ackert, Lewis Snow, Carl Turnquist, and Terry Tinkel. Young people tending to the "victuals" were Alison Lowell, David Warnock, Peter Lawson, Debbie Arsenian, Ben Atkinson, Lindsay Ackert, and Steve Watts.

The drummers were Richard Champoux and Paul Austin (with an ecumenical thanks to Immaculate Conception for providing the drums). The town fathers were represented by Selectman Edward O'Connell.

The church was decorated for the occasion by Nancy Goodell and Carol Tinkel who, with Carolyn Morse, prepared the coffee hour following worship. This bicentennial observance was researched, written, and directed by Eloise Kadesch, a member of the church with a background of experience in theatre, television, and radio both as a performer and as a teacher. Boston channels 7 and 5 gave extensive coverage and telecast portions of the service on Sunday evening.

★ Task force

our schools. Any space needed by Town agencies can presently be met with town buildings, such as the Town Hall or buildings located at the Town Yard off Lake Street.

In developing a report on Task No. Two, we must first recognize that declining enrollment has left us with hundreds of empty seats.

In order to offer alternative uses of this excess space, we feel this space should be consolidated in a few places rather than spread throughout the Town. Therefore, the Task Force is attempting to develop a long range plan by which we will continue to operate our school system on a more efficient and educationally sound basis. We are examining several possibilities and would like to present the direction toward which we are working.

Our high school was built to accommodate 1500 pupils. We have projected the 1981 enrollment of grades 9 to 12 as 1507. Using these figures this committee feels either of the following two alternatives could be employed by our School system.

PLAN A
(1) One 4-year High School, Grades 9-12.
(2) Two 3-year Middle Schools, Grades 6-8 and a number of elementary schools suitable to accommodate our elementary students K-5 using the recommended capacity by the School administration.

PLAN B
(1) One 4-year High School.
(2) Two 4-year Middle Schools, Grades 5-8 and a number of elementary schools determined by the above criteria.

In developing these plans the Task Force wishes to emphasize the following:

(a) Enrollment projections - we have taken into consideration new house starts, total development under present zoning and in migration by using the "Retention Ratio" method as developed by Arthur Sarno.

(b) Maximum flexibility - by monitoring trends and evaluating our projections and capacities yearly. This is presently being done by the administration.

(c) Efficient building use - It is more economical to operate a building close to or at capacity.

(d) The Attitudinal Survey - which asks on page 30, Question 19 "which school organizational plan do you favor for the Winchester School system?" 43 percent favored a 10-12 High School; 45 percent favored a 9-12 with either a 6-8 middle school or a 7-8 junior high school.

(e) The enrollment study report, March 1976.

If the school administration chooses to close a school or schools at any point, some alternate uses of these structures would be:

A. Community use - such as Recreation or Cultural Center.

B. Leasing - private school, private foundation.

C. Selling entire property - use for nursing home.

D. Demolish building, use land for park.

It appears to this committee the best use for the Sanborn House property, at this time, is its present use by the School administration. The Task Force recommends that a local group of realtors be formed to examine the use of all Sanborn House property exclusive of the Ambrose School. If disposition of the property is considered at some future date, the following criteria should be addressed:

(a) The property was purchased with the Ambrose School in 1970. It's sale would involve some legal problems which could only be resolved by a special Act of the State Legislature (Town Counsel response).

(b) The number of times the School administration has moved and the ever increasing cost of moving.

(c) If a move into a vacated school building would reduce the flexibility regarding enrollment changes.

(d) We cannot discount the "intrinsic" value of the property to the Town. It is one of the very few "green areas" on the west side of Town. Sanborn House has many fine architectural features.

(e) If sold, the Town would realize a first year financial gain. However, it is very likely that future year's tax revenues might not offset the cost of services and education to the developed area.

In conclusion, we would like to emphasize the school administration annually revises its figures and now has a five-year projection method based on the retention ratio. This monitoring process allows for adjustment as new factors or trends develop.

Local son is new manager

Stephen M. Saslow, son of Andrew and Sylvia Saslow of 204 Forest st. and a native of Medford, has been chosen to manage a new Rathenon Data

Stephen M. Saslow

Systems branch office in Bellevue, Wash., just east of Seattle.

Saslow formerly worked at the firm's headquarters in Norwood. He is a graduate of Boston University with a degree in physics and has been with Raytheon since 1971.

He is married to the former Donna J. Hoff of St. Louis, Mo. and has a one-year-old daughter.

Two earn degrees from Northeastern

Two Winchester youths, Donald P. Covino and Kathleen S. Murphy, received degrees from Northeastern University this fall.

Covino, 22, is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Louis J. Covino of 164 Ridge st. He received his BS degree in criminal justice, graduating 24 years after his father did in 1952 with a degree in business administration. He is a 1972 graduate of Austin Preparatory School in Reading.

Miss Murphy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Murphy of 173 Forest st. She received her BS degree in nursing. She has worked part-time as a staff nurse at the Boston Alcohol Detoxification Project for one and a half years. A dean's list student at Northeastern, she plans to attend Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich. to work toward her MS.

Hazzard to lead Berklee concert

Former Winchester resident and Berklee College of Music faculty member Peter Hazzard, of 247 Beacon st., will be in the spotlight when he lifts the baton to conduct the Berklee Concert Band and Orchestra, in a program of symphonic music on Wednesday, December 1, at 8 p.m. in the Berklee Performance Center.

Hazzard, who will share the conducting honors with fellow faculty member Alan Hovey, is an alumnus of Boston University and the recipient of a B.M. from Berklee College. The gifted artist, who is currently co-director of the Arlington Philharmonic and a member of ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers), is also a composer of note, having had his works performed throughout the New England area.

Mr. Hazzard, who was recently married to the former Katharine Beers of Huntington, N.Y., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hazzard Jr., of Boston and Gloucester.

Tickets for the upcoming Berklee Concert Band and Orchestra performance are now available at the Performance Center Box Office.

Every Monday night at 8:30 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Dr. Lawrence Quigley, chairman of the board of health, was among those who received a flu shot at last Saturday's clinic.

★ Teachers

Holden will file a report within 45 days, according to Sheridan and school committee sources. The teachers plan to submit a brief outlining their position on each negotiated item within two weeks.

However, School Board Member Robert Frank, who heads the committee's negotiating effort, said he did not know if the school board would file such a brief.

"From our conversations with Larry Holden, we feel he has a good understanding of our positions, and of the teachers' positions, for that matter."

The teachers have meanwhile decided they will temporarily abandon their "work-to-rule" action (as of this past Monday). WEA Action Committee head Richard Conway told the teachers huddled in the cold beneath a spotlight outside the Ambrose School Monday night that his group would be developing a long-range action proposal concerning non-contractual activities.

After the fact-finder's report comes out, the WEA and the school board will go back to the bargaining table to hammer out a new contract. Negotiations began a year ago and went into mediation after 14 sessions. Four mediation sessions led to the recent attempts at fact-finding and the final mediation attempt last week.

Holden met with the entire school board beginning at 7 p.m. last Wednesday. The WEA negotiators arrived at 11, and Holden went back and forth between the two groups until seven-fifteen the following evening, when he at last gave up. There is some disagreement as to whose hands the ball was in when the mediation ended.

Ms. Sheridan asked the teachers Monday evening to be patient, alluding to Medford teachers, who recently settled after two years of bargaining.

"We will negotiate for as long as it takes to reach a settlement we can live with for the next two years," said Sheridan. She added that the final wording would be all-important. The fact-finder's report is not binding, and Ms. Sheridan noted that the WEA negotiators would not necessarily accept his findings.

Any contract will have to be settled as a whole, not piece by piece, according to Sheridan. Therefore, even though the two sides had come to some agreement on certain issues in fact-finding and mediation, the whole process is now back to a fresh start. However, Sheridan said the process had resulted in some progress.

Mrs. Pronski said she knew of the meeting planned outside Ambrose but did not know the teachers had planned to attend the school committee meeting. She complained of the teachers' disruption and said they had not given her sufficient notice to contact a custodian for the move to Ambrose.

However there is some indication that members of the school committee did know about the teachers' plans to attend. Notification of the plans was sent out to all Winchester teachers on Friday, according to Conway.

Conway commented that he as a resident and taxpayer was "disappointed" that he had to "bodily force his way into the meeting room" to attend a public meeting.

Editorial response ...

School closing would mean unnecessary educational loss

By DR. RICHARD PHARO

Dr. Richard Pharo is former school committee chairman and a resident of the Wyman district.

The School Department again finds itself in the midst of a turmoil - this time it is the question of whether one or possibly more elementary schools should be closed. And the opponents appear to be the School Committee against the Wyman parents. The School Department, whose budget represents more than half of the entire Town budget, and, therefore, becomes the most visible and vulnerable target for those bent on saving the Town money, receives barrage after barrage of criticism, suggestions and demands from all sectors of the Town to reduce expenditures in any and all ways possible, even if programs must sometimes be sacrificed.

After paring down the costs of textbook replacements, restructuring principals' responsibilities to take on a broader scope, meeting all of the conditions of the teachers' contract, examining the need for supplying hockey sticks, and meeting the State's requirements for voluminous reports with a minimal administrative staff, the Department finds itself with better than 500 presumably empty seats in the nine elementary schools, and says, "There is a place where we can save more money."

Although the Wyman parents resistance to closing an elementary school perhaps initially arose from an emotional base, they are now expressing a concern for an educational concept which will influence the entire Town. The "neighborhood school" is more than a neighborhood building where children go to learn. It is a sociological institution, developed in small towns across the nation, that carries with it the concepts of not only teachers educating students, but also parents feeling a closeness to the school; children getting to know their classmates in non-school settings by being able to play with them in the neighborhood after school; parents personally knowing all the teachers in the school and coming to the aid of one teacher, whether or not their child has that teacher, when a problem develops; close involvement of the parents with the school and having that feeling of closeness and the important position the school has in the family's priorities reflect to the children in an educationally positive way; the almost symbiotic relationship among parents, students, teachers, principal and school staff that unquestionably leads to a better educational environment for the products of our schools - the students.

The Wyman parents have asked the question for the Town, "Do we as a Town want to have this concept diminished to any extent?" And they have answered that question with a resounding NO. Does the elimination of one elementary school in fact significantly alter the neighborhood school in Winchester? Perhaps not. But it is the first of a programmed series of steps to do just that, motivated entirely by an urgency to save money. Before such a step is taken, a full evaluation of this educational philosophy must be made by the Town, and a positive decision made to change our school system in this direction. At some point, educational viability must resist further economic erosion, and perhaps this is the point.

The educational benefits which might ensue from closing an elementary school, as presented by the Department, are marginal at best. The savings to be realized, again ac-

School closing would mean important cost-efficiency

By ALICE K. MIRAK

(Alice Mirak writes as a town meeting member from Precinct 6)

Books not bricks, that is the issue. Since June 1975 we have effectively cut all the personnel for one school. We have reduced nine elementary principals to eight, cut a net of 10 1-3 classroom teachers plus three teachers' aides (a staff cut greater than the total staff of five of our nine elementary schools) and eliminated custodial and secretarial positions.

In the same period elementary school enrollments declined by 323 children. Now it remains to close a building to complete a cost-effective step toward consolidation for efficiency, savings, and the preservation of the high standard of education to which we are committed.

On October 18, the Finance Committee in supporting 10 to 1 the closing of one elementary school building (Wyman assumed) addressed four concerns: school capacity for the next 15 years, economies, viable alternative uses for the school building and the effect upon the quality of education. I shall review briefly a few of the facts pertinent to these areas of concern.

Capacity: Since our peak year enrollment in 1969 the steady yearly elementary enrollment decline now equals 654 children. The school department (retention ratio estimates) projects continuing average declines of 100 K-6 children per year for up to the next five years, followed by a leveling off period. Lexington's 1975 Long-Range Enrollment Study supported by many other local and national enrollment predictions indicates in the 1980's enrollment levels "will not continue to decline at rates characteristic of the 1970 decade but will remain relatively constant over the 20 years from 1980 to 2000."

The Task Force reports 434 available empty seats now in our nine elementary schools and 865 empty seats systemwide K-12. Ambrose and Lincoln have an additional 18,000 sq. ft. of unfinished space which renovated would provide 220 more seats, school administration offices or some of each.

Murak presently has considerable unused, unfinished space available for storage. Neither the school department nor the town has any present need for any of this available space. Since conservative estimates will double the current number of empty seats in our elementary schools alone over the next five years before leveling off, even an unanticipated dramatic increase in the birth rate or in housing starts would be accommodated throughout the next 15 years.

And contrary to some of the indications given at town meeting, updated town statistics offer no such evidence of increases. Rather, births to Winchester parents for 1975 and projections through 1976 hit new lows for the last ten years (1965 births - 230 vs. 1975 - 168, 1976 - 142 through Oct. 27). Housing starts (based on residential building permits issued) equal 31 through mid-November compared to an average number of 30 per year for the 1970-75 period.

Economies: Immediate annual gross savings if Wyman is closed range from $67,000 to $84,000, based on figures from Asst. Supt. Fallon's office. Assuming a very conservative annual increase

New congressman

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Dear Citizens of the 7th Congressional District:

As I complete my first two weeks in office, I wish to take time to thank you for the support you have given me and to announce the opening of my Congressional office in Boston.

Room 2100A in the J.F.K. Federal Building, Government Center, is now fully staffed and ready to assist you in dealing with Federal bureaucracies or in any other areas where you feel I can be of service. The phone number is 223-2781. In the coming months, constituent service centers will be opened within the 7th Congressional District to bring my office one step closer to you and your needs.

Then you for the opportunity you have given me to represent you in Congress. I welcome the challenge of the problems that face us in the 7th District and I look forward to working with you in solving those problems in the days ahead.

CONGRESSMAN EDWARD J. MARKEY

Help vets

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On November 11, Veterans' Day, the news media and many organizations paid special attention to veterans in the VA Hospitals in this area. I would like to remind those concerned about our veterans that there is a year-round need to show that we have not forgotten those who have served our country.

The Boston VA Hospital, 150 South Huntington Ave., an 815-bed teaching and research hospital, has great need for volunteers, both men and women of all ages, and has issued recently a booklet giving job descriptions of its many interesting volunteer opportunities. A copy of this is on file in the Winchester Red Cross office, and anyone with a few hours to give - weekdays or weekends or evenings - is urged to stop in at the Red Cross Office and see what is offered.

There are also ways to give financial assistance through the Red Cross, which supplies trays favors at special times throughout the year. Winchester will be responsible for the Christmas tray favors at the Boston VA - just a small token to the patients that they are not forgotten.

Grateful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I want to take the opportunity thru your Newspaper of thanking everyone, who took part in the election November 2. And my very sincere thanks goes to all the voters of Middlesex South District - Register of Deeds, who voted for Lester Bowen and helped me in so many ways.

To all the elected candidates, I wish the very best of success and wonderful years in elected office. And I hope they will often think of the people, who elected them and work for their good.

The only thing I am sorry about is that not only the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has become and still is a one party State, but almost the whole of the United States has now become a one party nation and government. I sincerely pray in two years from now there will be more Republicans around and that there will be many more Republican candidates to bring back and a two-party system of government.

UNICEF cards

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

UNICEF Cards are a most thoughtful Holiday Greeting. You can be an important part of a healthier and happier life for a needy child in Asia, Africa, and South America. Your purchase of cards helps provide medical care, better nutrition, clean water and basic education.

UNICEF Cards cost no more than ordinary cards and are among the most impressive available. This year's collection is particularly beautiful with designs ranging from realism to abstraction, religious to whimsical - all expressing the holiday spirit of joy and good will. They are a pleasure to send and to receive because they practice what they preach.

Buy your UNICEF Cards at the Post Office until Nov. 27 9-3:30, and then at the Star Market, Woburn Plaza Nov. 29 - Dec. 11, 10-4:30. Do assist the Church Women United volunteers in this most needed service.

Empty seats

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The taxpayers of Winchester are willing to pay for education but not for empty seats. Both proponents and opponents of an elementary school closing agree that there are presently 435 empty seats in the Winchester schools. If no school is closed, the taxpayers will be forced to spend education dollars to maintain empty seats. Empty seats do not contribute to the quality of education. This is a burden taxpayers cannot afford.

It has been suggested that closing one elementary school will destroy the neighborhood school concept. It is curious that this argument was not proposed when the old Lincoln was closed. Closing the old Lincoln school did not destroy neighborhood schools; closing an elementary school now will not destroy neighborhood schools.

At the referendum in December, taxpayers will have the opportunity to vote on spending tax dollars to support empty seats or to support education.

Virginia Hoefling
156 Forest St.

Safer in a bus

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The school committee and the superintendent have repeatedly justified the choice of Wyman as the school to be closed by the argument that most families in the Wyman area also live within a mile of Lincoln School and redistricting these families into Lincoln would still maintain the neighborhood school concept. I respectfully submit that distance is not the only determination of neighborhood; that safe and reasonable access is also an important consideration.

Ms. Pronski stated in her letter to the editor last week, "In my judgement redistricting a portion of the Wyman population to Lincoln School and the remainder of the population to Ambrose School is not deviating from the neighborhood school concept." Current school department figures on the capacity of the two schools indicate that there are 15 empty seats available in Ambrose. This means that the "portion of the Wyman population" which will be redistricted into Lincoln will consist of about 200 children, all coming from west of the center.

These children (approximately 50 of whom will be four, five and six-year-olds) will not be walking through their neighborhood, they will be negotiating an extremely dangerous route downtown. Almost all of them will be coming into town on Church Street. All those who live north of Church will have to cross Church between the BayBank and Craddock's. They will then have to cross Waterfield street at Craddock's. According to the police safety officer there will be one crossing guard to handle both crossings.

These children will then have to walk unattended down the east side of Waterfield, crossing the parking lot entrance, passing under the railroad tracks, crossing Thompson street and passing over the Abeyona at the bridge. They will turn the corner onto the Mystic Valley parkway and the next crossing guard to help them will be at the crossing of Main street and the parkway. There is not a single stop light on this route between the corner of Church and Bacon street and the corner of Main street and Mystic Valley parkway.

By no stretch of the imagination can these children be said to be going to school in their own neighborhood. Currently the Wyman students have reasonable access to their school. Many of them congregate there after school to play in the playground or to set up scratch football, soccer or baseball games for which their back yards are inadequate. Most of the younger children are not now allowed to walk down into the downtown area alone because of the danger. It is patently ridiculous to advance the argument that the dangers of the downtown area to small children will disappear when 200 additional children are redistricted into a school there.

Town watch ...

A change in the trains

By The Observer

Selectmen paid tribute Monday night to John ("Jake") Horn, a veteran who has been in charge of Memorial Day and Veterans Day observances in Winchester for many years. Barbara Hanks said, "You set a fine example to the townspeople and to our youth in a time of cynicism."

Arthur Dunbar said, "One of the deep privileges of public office is getting to know people like you."

Calling his wife "my right hand," Jake Horn said, "The town has never forgotten to honor her men and women who have fought on their country's behalf."

A formal letter of thanks was presented to Jake.

Though a lot of citizens have been informed on the subject from the start, the school closing issue is now to come before the whole town in a referendum.

So Monday night the board voted 4-1, Jack Noble opposed) to spend not more than $200 for mailing out a fact sheet on enrollments.

***

School Committee Member Catherine Fallon noted at Monday night's meeting that the Spirit of 766 van would be at Winchester High School December 7 and 8. The van is an information center: anyone interested may visit and find out about Chapter 766 and special education. On the eighth, Frank Bianco, Winchester's coordinator for special education, will be at the van to talk with parents and students.

Mrs. Fallon also noted Monday night that she had witnessed a rather moving ceremony, the induction of WHS students into the National Honor Society. There are about 70 members this year; 40 of them are tutoring their fellow students, continuing a program that has been much to their credit in the past.

***

December 1 is Winchester's night at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School. For all of you to whom the name is merely a mouthful, here's your chance to find out what the school is all about. There will be a tour of the school, a dinner prepared by students in the culinary arts program (several delectable courses, we understand), and entertainment to top it all off.

For ticket information, and reservations, contact the school in Wakefield.

***

December 1 is the deadline for abutting property owners to request that a private way be laid out as a public way.

The town manager's office announces that petitions may be presented to the board of selectmen, with a copy going to the engineering department.

The engineering department submits a preliminary form with estimated costs for the road and the abutters then decide if they want to absorb that cost and go ahead with the road.

In the mood ...

A day for remembering

By Karen Whittlesey-First

They're finally old enough to understand the bustle in the kitchen from this generally lethargic cook.

They're old enough to polish the silver and set the table and this year they can help with the cooking. Together we will turn out a gourmet delight.

The bird is huge but by the end of the week most of it will be gone. The cranberry relishes will garnish the platter as well as numerous turkey sandwiches for the next few days.

The creamed onions will be ready today, nibbled at overnight, and tomorrow squeezed into the oven somewhere left of the potatoes and right of the bird.

The kids will peel the carrots, string the beans, stuff the celery (you have to stuff twice as much as you need in order to have anything left for Thanksgiving), and, if I'm lucky, set the table.

Early Thursday morning, while the coffee perks, while I'm all alone in the kitchen and the birds are outside the window having their morning treat, the piece de resistance will be stuffed with two kinds of stuffing and set majestically into the oven, there to brown and gurggle and let loose some of the most delicious smells this household has smelled in a long time.

And for all the preparations, all the last-minute shopping trips (I always forget the pickles), they're old enough to know that the food hardly counts at all.

When we sit down, looking somewhat like a Norman Rockwell painting I suppose, it will be with relatives and maybe later in the day some friends will stop by.

Tomorrow we share thoughts. It is a day for recalling people important in our lives and for remembering events. Thanksgiving is one of those times we use to reckon the passage of the years.

"Remember, it was five Thanksgivings ago, when we all froze at that game, but we won!"

"Remember, oh it was about ten Thanksgivings ago, that Susan told us about Tom, and look at them now with their own family!"

"Remember that Thanksgiving when we had all that snow? We never thought we'd get here in time for dinner!"

Thanksgiving is a day for remembering. They're old enough to remember those they love who can't be at our table. They're old enough to remember those who love them.

We all have to remember and be grateful for what we are and what we have.

Have a very wonderful day. Share your thoughts and your foods. Some future November day, you might even talk about "Remember that Thanksgiving in 1976?"

will be no busing costs involved in this move." In my judgment the children would be considerably safer in a bus.

Vote no

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

After listening to some pros and cons regarding the Wyman School closing, I urge the people of Winchester to vote no on the closing Dec. 7.

As has been stated many times by opponents of the closing, 1) not enough long-range planning has been done, 2) projections can be wrong, 3) it is easier to tear down a school than rebuild it later, 4) the savings are of debatable size and might never reach taxpayers' wallets, 5) consolidation in our school system might make administration more efficient but will not improve the quality of our children's school experience, 6) neighborhood schools are one of Winchester's main assets.

My children attend Lincoln School. One of them is in a "split class." I do not think his education is suffering because of this cording to the Department, will be redirected toward other programs within the budget, and the taxpayers in fact will not see them.

The other arguments which have been raised against closing a school still stand: cost savings, reversal of population trends as is being projected now by several population experts, the need for buffer capacity in the event of a rapid development of the available large tracts in Town, geographic barriers presenting safety hazards, potential need for extensive transportation of students, large-family homes in Town, the list goes on. No one, including the School Department, can accurately predict the future. The recommendation being made to close a school is based on reasonable information available now. But the future is tenuous at best, and to take the directed steps to close a school is to permanently close our options, and may bring us face to face with a $6 million tab in five to eight years to correct our expedient and impetuous decision of 1976.

The School Department is to be commended for the extensive efforts they have made to reduce expenses in many areas using a variety of innovative techniques. Although the size of the budget may not indicate it, the carte blanche attitude of years past is now gone. Hundreds of hours are spent each year starting with zero-base budget in most cases, to provide the minimal budget for the existing programs.

But the step taken to close an elementary school on purely financial grounds, with no consideration given to the importance of a truly neighborhood school and all the intangible educational value that implies (perhaps as difficult to measure as any other indicator of educational productivity), is an even more significant philosophical change in the Winchester school system than that recently made by this same School Committee in reducing the educational options at the high school by deleting one period per day.

Can we live in the past? No. This does not mean, however, that we should rush head-long into a large-city school system. Let us learn from the past, use what is of value, and incorporate that in our continued creation of a modern school system, operated as economically as possible, with proper values placed on all aspects of the educational endeavor. Let us continue to educate our children for not only the economic market place, but also the sociological milieu in which they will live. Let us know what can replace the invaluable asset of neighborhood school and associated family involvement before we cut it out of our system.

of 6 percent in energy costs for fuel, light and power and wages and maintenance, these savings project to $85,000 and $101,000 by FY 1980 or approx. 50 cents on the tax rate. Secondly, because maintenance has been deferred for several years, if Wyman is to be used for any substantial period of time $55,000 in expenditures will be necessary for upgrading including carpeting over the 30-year-old floors, renovation of lavatories, new tile ceilings, window shades, safety covers for radiators and exposed pipes, etc. For 2.3 of this delayed maintenance cost the renovations of Ambrose and Lincoln could be completed. By closing Wyman we lose 230 seats; Ambrose and Lincoln renovations alone could restore 220 of those seats when and if they're ever needed.

No additional costs for school crossing guards or busing will be necessary. All Wyman children will fall within the one-mile walking limit of either Lincoln or Ambrose. The closing will in no way affect the "neighborhood" school concept if that is, by definition, a school within the one mile walk limit. In fact, only Muraco, Vinson Owen and Washington are outside a 1/2 mile radius of Wyman while five elementary schools are within 1/2 mile in any direction.

Finally consolidation would dramatically lower per pupil operating expenses including principals, sec-clericals, energy, custodial and maintenance. Lincoln at 62 percent of capacity now costs $348 per student whereas at 500 capacity, per student operating costs would drop to $180.

Alternatives:
The Task Force outlines four areas of alternative use for vacated buildings: community use, leasing, selling of the entire property, demolishing building, using land for a park. In neighboring communities which have already responded by closing schools, some of these alternate uses are in force. In Weston, one excessed school building is leased to a private Jewish school for rent equal to maintenance plus 10 percent. In Concord, one school building has multiple uses including a day-care center, recreation center, and town offices. In Wellesley, one school is now a community center and a second (fire damaged) property has been sold in its entirety.

Needham is turning one school building into non-subsidized rental housing for those over 55 with rents at full market value. Some of the adjacent grounds are being kept for playing fields. Their Selectmen took the initiative after contacting 100 different town agencies, service clubs and private organizations as to a possible use of the building. No positive response was received. They worked with a developer to create 35 units of housing for the leased property that will realize approx. $30,000 annually to the town.

Educational Quality:

Buildings with enrollments of 300-500 are deemed to offer the greatest potential for educational quality. This level allows optimum utilization of one principal per building for supervision and administrative needs. Teaching principals and principals with two schools are not in the best interests of quality education. They can be defended only as purely economic interim measures in underpopulated buildings — 200 pupils or less to reduce administrative overhead.

At the 300-500 level more flexible student placement options exist, i.e., a minimum two teachers, two classrooms per grade. The benefit here is clear for the child repeating a grade and for specific teacher-pupil or pupil-pupil frictions. The input of two faculty members per grade provides varied ideas and approaches thereby enhancing the teaching at each grade level. Enrollments over 300 minimize the number of split grades now all too common in our schools. Better teaching specialist utilization (less travel time between buildings and administrative reporting), and reduction of audio-visual material duplication and fewer but better stocked and better staffed libraries are further points favoring consolidation.

Currently the average school size in Winchester is 259 with enrollments in our four smallest schools at 215 or below. Each of these will fall below 200 students by 1980. By 1982 six buildings will be operating with enrollments below 200 and only Muraco is projected to maintain an enrollment over 300.

If spending taxpayers' dollars is the allocation of a scarce resource, let us improve the quality of education for all the children in Winchester while serving every citizen-taxpayer with cost efficiency. Your elected and appointed boards support this school closing.

The long-range plan for a four-year high school by 1982 will consider no further elementary school closings until 1980. Shouldn't we begin now to allow three years to put into operation this consolidation to evaluate the savings, emerging enrollment patterns and educational quality rather than ignoring the facts and facing a crisis in both educational quality and overhead by 1980. Too many schools, too small is not better education.

".....5 elementary schools in Winchester in 1982."
(Supt. MacDonald, Winchester Star, Oct. 14.)

One neighborhood school (little Lincoln) is already gone! School closing is irreversible and the building irreplaceable.

Many of us came to Winchester because we value the neighborhood schools...efficient, convenient and small enough so that children are not lost — physically and emotionally. NOW the administrators recommend centralization.

Bigger is NOT better — it isn't even cheaper. The combined operating cost of TWO small elementary schools is lower than that of the largest elementary school building.

Small schools are good for small children. Small school environment can be retained in the large schools by filling available space with administration offices. Savings can be realized by vacating and leasing Sanborn House.

Closing a school will not save a dime on YOUR tax rate. The administration has said it will be used elsewhere in the school budget.

WHS Career-Life Program praised by students, teachers

Winchester High School's new general student program is "off to an excellent start."

Such is the impression conveyed to the school committee Monday night by the administrators, teachers, and some of the students involved in the program, which began at the high school this fall.

Titled the Career-Life Information Program (CLIP), it was designed to offer a job-oriented course of study combined with actual work experience for primarily non-college bound students.

Assistant High School Principal Tom

Budrewicz and four of the teachers involved in the course, Thomas Walsh, Peggy Sullivan, Dave Miller and Diane Boettcher, presented the school committee with the results of a student survey which indicate improvement in attitudes, motivation, and achievement among the students and a general approval of the new program.

In their written report to the committee, the teachers state: "As a team, we feel that this CLIP Program has been successful in a number of areas. The materials the students (use) are both relevant and appropriate to their skills. They have a feeling of success and show a motivation to achieve."

The report continues: "We have noticed that the students frequently offer to help one another in class and a good relationship has developed among them. This past fall, the entire group nominated and elected five representatives to the student union. These students have become a group that we often consult regarding problems or enforcement of rules. Our approach to our students has been to accentuate the positive."

There are 60 students enrolled in the program: 32 seniors, 19 juniors, and 9 sophomores. They operate principally out of three rooms on the third floor of the high school, using a fourth room, the special needs area, on occasion for small group work under the direction of a special needs tutor, Mrs. Cesari. Afternoons are spent on the job.

"It's getting them to come to school," said Budrewicz, who noted that attendance figures have improved from an average absentee rate of seven days for the first quarter to four-and-a-half days.

Four of the students were present: Joan Dion, Chris Chandler, Mark Mandeville and John Parsons. They respond to questions from the school committee.

"The program's improved my attendance by about 100 per cent," Chandler said with a laugh. He added that the program is helping him find out where his skills lie. He also expressed satisfaction at knowing he was learning something useful nearly every day. "For example," he said, "today we learned how to read a paycheck."

Joan Dion commented that "Everybody's a lot more understanding; we can work in groups, and we get along a lot better."

"You don't get pressured so much to get your work done in a certain time," noted Mandeville. And Parsons said, "You learn things you can use in life."

One drawback in the arrangement came to light when Committee Member Jack Noble asked if the students felt a part of the total school: nearly all said no. The students admitted to feeling a bit confined within their third floor area.

Budrewicz said he hoped the group could get involved in a cafeteria, "doughnuts-and-coffee" type business within the high school. He added that running a business would provide more "hands-on" experience and involve the kids more with the rest of the high school.

Another shortcoming pointed out by Budrewicz was the student-teacher ratio, which stands at about 20-1. He noted that job supervision (all of the students have part-time jobs, some volunteer, most paying) was time-consuming. "We ought to accommodate the students who want to take the course, but we should also try to keep the ratio down to make the program more individualized," he said.

CLIP has also had an effect on parents. Board Member Catherine Fallon noted that an open house held September 30 for parents drew a good crowd and revealed a more positive attitude on their part toward the school.

The student survey reveals another aspect of parental involvement: when asked, "Has your experience in the program affected your relationship with your parents?" 28 of 47 respondents replied, "Yes, we have fewer hassles." (13 said it made no difference; six weren't sure.)

The survey responses were generally positive. With 47 of the students responding, some of the majority assessments included:

—Twenty rated the program as excellent: 21 very good; 5 good; 1 fair.

—Thirty-four said their attitude was greatly improved from last year; 13 somewhat improved.

—Twenty-seven said their attitude toward their teachers was greatly improved; 13 somewhat improved.

—Most said their attitude toward classmates and themselves had improved.

—Forty-one said they were learning more, their classes were more interesting, and they were doing more work.

—Forty-two said they had been in much less disciplinary trouble.

—Forty said their grades were better.

—Most found the material covered relevant and useful.

—While 41 felt they were having a successful year, most doubted they would without the program.

—All 47 said other students were willing to help them when they had difficulty and that they were willing to help others.

—Most agreed that student-teacher relationships were better.

—Forty-six said the opportunity to work and go to school was an important part of the program.

—And most indicated that the program should be a three-year program, with 44 saying they'd choose to be in the program again, should they return to the high school.

The teachers' report urged continuation of CLIP and development of a second year program. Other recommendations included a 15-1 student-teacher ratio; curriculum development for both the first and second year programs; budgeting for field trips (as was done this year), and for materials; and that sophomores in the program take-in school electives rather than participate in the afternoon work experience.

Budrewicz also noted that the teachers hoped to develop performance objectives for the program by the end of the year.

December 2-4 are Shop in Winchester days

More than 30 Winchester merchants plan to participate December 2, 3, and 4 in the "Shop in Winchester" days sponsored by St. Mary's School.

Proposed to be of mutual benefit to downtown merchants and the school, the three-day benefit event will encourage thousands of St. Mary's parishioners to concentrate their shopping in these local shops.

Announcement of the "Shop in Winchester" days was made to the St. Mary's parish last Sunday. It was explained that each participating merchant has designated a percentage of his sales made to St. Mary's parishioners during these three days to benefit St. Mary's School.

"It is hoped that this novel effort will generate welcome and timely extra business for Winchester and at the same time reshape buying habits of the many townspeople who may have been shopping out of town," says Pat Harrington from the St. Mary's School.

"Shop in Winchester" has been endorsed by the Winchester Business and Professional Association, of which Charles E. Fiske of Fitzgerald Fuel is president. As chairman of St. Mary's School Board, Richard F. Mueller has been in charge of the planning for St. Mary's School.

Northeast Superintendent John Connolly and District School Committeeman Gerard P. Donahoe of Winchester added their congratulations to the winners and the more than 300 student contestants.

This is the third year the contest has been conducted by the Northeast Social Studies Department. John X. Crowley, who heads the department, noted that the students are encouraged to draw parallels in areas of responsibility of student citizenship. As a result of contestants pointing out students' responsibility for public property, according to Crowley, there has been an increased awareness and marked decrease in vandalism among Northeast students.

An added dimension to this year's awards assembly was the appearance of Secretary Guzzi who discussed the recent national election and the referendum of Secretary Guzzi who discussed the recent national election and the referendum voting in Massachusetts. The social studies students had spent some time studying the referendum from material provided by Secretary Guzzi's office and demonstrated their knowledge in a lively question-answer session with the secretary.

Married October 30 in a candlelight ceremony at St. Mary's Church were Maryanne E. Buzzota of 24 Raymond pl. and Newburyport and Lawrence Lee Peak Jr. of Worcester.

The bride is the daughter of Police Sgt. and Mrs. Mario A. Buzzota of Winchester. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fritze of Worcester.

The reception was held at Montvale Plaza in Shobham, and the couple took their wedding trip to Bermuda.

The former Miss Buzzota attended Winchester public schools and Bunker Hill Community College. Mr. Peak attended schools in Worcester and also studied at Bunker Hill Community College.

After their wedding trip, the newlyweds plan to live on Mt. Pleasant street in Woburn. The bride wore a white gown, bianchi gown with a hooded headpiece embellished with natural seed pearls. She carried a cluster of ten carnations formed into one flower.

Her sister Carla was her bridesmaid. She wore a Nile green, hankerchief-style gown and carried a cluster of green carnations similar to those of the bride.

James Fritze, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Paul Buzzota, brother of the bride, Philip and Anthony Pizzo, both cousins of the bride, and Paul Dumouchel, the groom's brother-in-law.

En Ka Society sets fair date

At the recent fall meeting of the En Ka Society, Mrs. Henry Delaney, Jr., chairman of the 1977 Street Fair, "A Salute to Spring", announced the dates for the fair will be May 13 and 14. The location will be moved to Manchester Field because of construction in progress near the Town Hall parking lot.

Mrs. Robert Sharon and Mrs. Richard Dexter, chairman and treasurer of the 1976 Street Fair respectively, reported a profit of more than $19,000 from last year's fair.

Exchange Chairman Mrs. Winthrop Knox, Jr., announced that another busy year is underway as the shop at 736 Main st. opened for its 18th season.

The following are recipients of gifts from En Ka: Winchester High School Varsity Club, Winchester Youth Soccer, McCall Junior High dramatics, and the Winchester Senior Citizens' Association.

The Society paid tribute to recently departed members, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes and Mrs. James F. Jefferson. Mrs. Symmes had been a devoted member since 1935 and Mrs. Jefferson since 1968.

The meeting concluded with the annual Exchange fashion show featuring attractive clothes at bargain prices from the En Ka shop modeled by provisional members. Mrs. Bradford Bentley provided the commentary. Luncheon was served prior to the business meeting by Mrs. John J. Barcus and her committee.

Shaw-Berberian wedding held in Lexington November 20th

Lorinda Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Shaw of 6 Carol lane, Lexington, was married in an ecumenical service at the First Baptist Church of Lexington to Michael P. Berberian, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Berberian, 1 St. Augustine court.

The bride's mother and father gave her in marriage at the November 20 wedding. Dr. Alvin Porteous and Father McLeod officiated. A reception at the Sheraton Lexington Inn followed.

The bride wore a princess line gown of ivory silk organza. The long fitted sleeves and high neck were trimmed with cluny lace and pearls. The cathedral length train had a wide ruffle of lace and the two-tiered ivory silk illusion veil was trimmed with lace.

She carried white and peach colored roses with baby's breath and fern.

Leann Shaw was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a jacketed two-piece bitersweet polyester knit with long fitted sleeves and high neck. She carried a cascade of roses with pale orange and rust mums with brown velvet ribbon.

Bridesmaids, who wore gowns identical with the maid of honor's, were Rosanne LeBrun of Nashua, sister of the groom, Julie Berberian of Winchester, also a sister of the groom, and Dawn Wilson of Marblehead, cousin of the bride. They carried cascades of pale peach, orange, and rust mums with brown velvet ribbons.

Kenneth LeBrun of Nashua served as best man. Ushers were James Shaw and R. Woodman Shaw, both brothers of the bride from Lexington, and John A. Berberian, Jr., brother of the groom from Winchester.

Mrs. Berberian is a 1973 graduate of Lexington High School. She also attended Endicott Junior College and Middlesex

Mrs. Lorinda Berberian

Community College. She is employed by Children's Hospital in Boston.

Her husband, a 1973 graduate of Winchester High School, attended Middlesex Community College and is now attending Bentley College. He is employed at T.B. Donnelly Company in Boston.

The couple will be at their new home in Derry, New Hampshire, after December 1.

V-O Bowling

The first place Mums (Ann Sullivan, Adelaide McCaffrey, Barbara Rauceri, and Rosemarie Vita) continue their winning ways by taking six points from the Dandelions.

Bowling high for the Mums was Barbara Rauceri with a 272 and Myrna Cave with a 274 for the Dandelions.

Second place team of Daisies (Eileen Foley, Gloria Belden, Ann Redmond, and Florence Giangrande) split four and four with the Sweet Peas. Florence Giangrande bowled a 278 for the Daisies and Ann Pierce bowled a 277 for the Sweet Peas.

The Irises (Peg DiBlasi, Lauri Minnetti, Nance Blais, and Jean Day) won eight points from the Poppies. Nance Blais was high for the Irises with a 284 and Ginny Murray for the Poppies with a 266.

High single games were made by Myrna Cave 113, Florence Giangrande 111, Ann Pierce 103, Jean Day 102, and Barbara Rauceri 101.

Strikers were Myrna Cave, Florence Giangrande Ann Pierce, and Ann Redmond.

The standings are: Mums (48-16), 4 Daisies (44-20), Sweet Peas (34-30), Irises (30-34), Dandelions (22-42), and Poppies (14-50).

Shana MacConkey, age 4, takes a break in her tiger suit at rehearsal last week for the upcoming performances of "Pinocchio," to be presented by the Children's Theater December 10, 11, and 12 at McCall School. Shana's father built some of the props for the show, including the whale's ribs.

Crowley son

Sandra Cavallo, Mr. Knox wed in Lexington ceremony

In a morning ceremony on October 23 at Grace Chapel, Lexington, Sandra Lee Cavallo became the bride of Raymond Joseph Knox.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Cavallo of 27 Arlington St. and Marion. The groom is the son of Mrs. Doris Knox (and the late Captain Raymond J. Knox) of East Boston and Alton Bay, New Hampshire.

Rev. Gordon MacDonald officiated at the ceremony in which the bride's father accompanied her to the altar decorated with arrangements of dried and silk flowers. A reception at Anthony's Pier 4 followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a Victorian two-piece dress with cathedral train. The morning coat had a neckline entirely trimmed with alencon lace, with seed pearls on the bodice. She wore a matching picture hat trimmed with lace and veiling and carried a presentation bouquet of white dried and silk flowers. The bride designed her ensemble and that of her maid of honor, Ms. Donna Taylor of Bolton.

Ms. Taylor wore a gown of rust piana, which featured long sleeves and diagonal detachable peplum. She carried a bouquet of harvest colored dried and silk flowers.

Bridesmaids were Ms. Deborah Snow and Ms. Joyce Cavallo, the bride's sister, both of Winchester; Ms. Deborah Joyce of Duxbury; and Ms. Lori Calabrese of Cambridge, cousin of the bride. All the bridesmaids wore the same color and style gown as the maid of honor.

Mr. Knox was assisted by John Merullo of East Boston. Ushers were John Carney and Robert Nugent, both of East Boston; Robert Powers of Marshfield; and Robert Adler of Jackson Heights, New York.

The bride's mother wore a jade colored Bianchi gown trimmed with matching maribou. The groom's mother wore a two-piece apricot chiffon.

Following a wedding trip to Mexico City and Acapulco, the couple will be making their home in Somerville.

Mrs. Sandra Knox.

Mrs. Knox attended Lexington Christian Academy, as did her husband, the School of Fashion Design, and Katherine Gibbs.

Greens sale set by Garden Club

On December 1, the doors of the Parish Hall at the Crawford Memorial Church will be open at 10 for The Winchester Home and Garden Club's annual Christmas Greens Sale. At the sale there will be a selection of wreaths, swags, and assorted greens, as well as colorful bows and pine clusters for greens decorations.

There will also be a boutique table of assorted gifts for Christmas giving created by Mrs. Arthur A. Daniels and her committee. Another attraction will be the frozen hors d'oeuvres table where a delicious assortment of frozen appetizers for holiday entertaining created by Mrs. Walter L. Digham, Mrs. Henry R. Delaney and committee will be sold.

The Greens Sale will be from 10 to 1. At 1:30, Mrs. Hollis Gray, well known lecturer and flower arranger, will present the program, "Christmas in Williamsburg." Guest tickets for Mrs. Gray's program will be for sale at the door for a small fee.

Elks to host the R.C. Bloodmobile

The Winchester Elks will host the Red Cross Bloodmobile this Saturday, November 27, from 10 to 3:30.

This is the only visit of the Bloodmobile this year to the Elk's Chapter House, 375 Cambridge St., and a large turnout of Elks and their families and friends is expected.

"But any eligible donor is welcome," said John Mawn, the Lodge member in charge.

"The Saturday after Thanksgiving" says Mr. Mawn, "should be not only a convenient day for most family members to donate, but also an appropriate time to express one's gratitude for good health by helping the Red Cross in its service to those who are ill."

For an appointment phone Red Cross, 729-2300, or take a chance and be a drop-in."

Blood pressure clinic Saturday

This Saturday, November 27, the Red Cross Blood Pressure Clinic for this month will be held at the Chapter House, 39 Church St., from 10 to 12 noon.

Winchester residents have expressed their appreciation of the opportunity for a free blood pressure recording by an experienced nurse in this informal setting.

"We all thank Winchester Rotary for its gift of the medical equipment that makes possible this service," said Joseph Krajewski, Winchester Chapter chairman.

"Anyone whose blood pressure proves to be suspiciously high is encouraged to see his physician at once," continued Krajewski.

Appointments should be made by calling Winchester Red Cross 729-2300, but drop-ins will be accepted if time permits.

Mary O'Connell weds Christian McCarthy

Mary Elizabeth O'Connell of Belmont became the bride of Christian Mark McCarthy, 16 Ardley Rd., at afternoon services at St. Luke's Church, Belmont, on September 18.

A reception at the Cottage Crest Restaurant, Waltham, followed the ceremony at which Fr. Leonard O'Malley officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. O'Connell, wore a gown of silk organza with venise lace appliques. The matching headpiece featured a full length illusion veil and a shoulder length veil edged in matching venetian lace. She carried a cascade of white stephanotis and white roses with baby's breath.

Jane Marston of Waltham was maid of honor for her cousin. She wore a tahiti color knit sleeveless gown with a v-neck. An over-the-head cape and long flowing train to the floor completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade of sonya roses, yellow roses, and baby's breath. A wreath headpiece matched her flowers.

Bridesmaids, dressed similarly to the maid of honor, were Nancy Marston of Waltham, cousin of the bride; Janet McAdoo and Mark Kenney of Belmont; Sheila Bolardi of Wellesley; and Joyce O'Connell of Watertown, sister-in-law of the bride.

Jon McCarthy of Woburn was best man for his brother. Ushers were Richard Cotty of Lexington, Michael Sidowski of North Andover, Joseph Bowen of Winchester, and Mark O'Connell of Belmont and Vincent O'Connell of Watertown, both brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a straight-line peach knit gown with long sleeves. The groom's mother was in a lime green sleeveless chiffon gown with a cape.

Mrs. McCarthy is a 1972 graduate of Belmont High School. She graduated from the Boston University School of Nursing in 1976. Her husband, a 1972 Winchester High School graduate, is attending Northeastern University. He expects to graduate in 1977.

The couple will be making their home in Acton.

'It's a Small, Small World' to open Saturday at McCall

One last hectic week of rehearsals has the cast in readiness for opening night of "It's a Small, Small World".

More than two hundred Winchester youths will appear in the production.

Rev. Leo X. Lynch, producer of this year's extravaganza, has withstood the pressures of his first exposure to show people and has reacted like an old pro.

Again "Mr. Show Business", Ed Rooney, is directing as only he is capable. The choreographer, Peg McGlone has been able to choreograph some outstanding numbers. You'll find it difficult to believe they're high school kids.

This is a very popular weekend as many of the show's alumni are here at home for the holidays. Some of the cast have had family members involved continuously since the show started nine years ago. Show dates are November 27, 28, and 29 at the McCall Junior High School Auditorium. Curtain time for the evening performances will be 8 p.m. There will be a Saturday matinee performance on the 27th for the children with curtain time at 2. Tickets for this performance will be available at the door.

Tickets for the three evening performances are available from any cast member, at McCormack's Apothecary and O'Neill's Pharmacy or may be purchased by contacting Adrienne Kline or St. Mary's Rectory. There will be tickets available at the door.

This year's show promises to be one of the most spectacular productions ever presented in town. For an evening of unparalleled enjoyment and entertainment don't miss "It's a Small, Small World."

Leadership contest exams Dec. 7

Winchester High School will be one of several test sites for the 23rd annual General Mills Search for Leadership in Family Living, which gets underway December 7. The search is a $10,000 college scholarship program for high school seniors.

Participating students will join written knowledge and attitude examination which will determine individual scholarship awards of $500 to $5000.

Participants will compete in a 50-minute examination prepared and graded by Science Research Associates of Chicago, who are also responsible for all judging and selection of winners. Each local winner will receive a certificate from General Mills and will, together with other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

Women voters set to hold program planning meeting

On Wednesday, December 1, at 10 a.m. (instead of 12 noon) the Winchester League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting for State Program Planning, followed by a sherry luncheon at the home of the president, Mrs. Dianne Simpson, 10 Lawson Rd.

"This is a perfect example of grass roots participation," says Mrs. Simpson. "Through these meetings at the local level, decisions are made, after much discussion, pro and con, as to the suitability, necessity or interest in certain studies and issues. A consensus is taken and the final outcome is sent on to the Mass. League's Planning Board."

Of special interest to leagues in Massachusetts for future studies are such lively topics as civil service and collective bargaining; a strengthened regional structure to deal more effectively with inter-community issues; pension reform; and consumer protection. But members may also present for discussion subjects which interest them, for this meeting provides the forum for feedback to the state and national leagues.

Mrs. Simpson, who has represented Winchester at the League national conventions, points out that many problems studied at the local grass root level have later become issues of national prominence. "An issue or study, voted on by each member of the League, assumes a great deal of importance, as it determines the scope and content of future programming," says Mrs. Simpson.

Members are urged to attend this constructive meeting. For baby sitting, please call Ginny DelVecchio, 12 Dana Ave., no later than noon, Monday, November 29.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school, the Guidance Office will be conducting a Mini-College Program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Wednesday, December 1, the following institutions will be represented: Bridgton Academy

(Maine), Chatham College (Pennsylvania), Endicott College, University of Maine at Farmington, Nason College (Maine), United States Air Force Recruiter. On Wednesday, December 8, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Boston University, Chamberlain School of Retailing, Colby College (Maine), Dean Jr. College, Green Mountain College (Vermont), Lawrence University (Wisconsin), St. Michael's College (Vermont), Salve Regina College (Rhode Island).

New Quit It program set

A unique step-by-step quit smoking plan will now be offered in the Boston area beginning November 22. This plan — the Quit it Program — is being presented in conjunction with the University of Massachusetts-Amherst Psychology Department as part of the continuing investigation of the most effective and convenient currently available methods of smoking cessation.

The program is a daily, self-initiated plan to learn to control and subsequently quit smoking and does not require group meetings or involve aversive methods. Shown to be successful during trials in New York by the American Health Foundation, the Quit it program is designed for current smokers who want to "kick the habit" and have previously been unable to quit successfully.

The project director is Abraham Allen Frydman, a clinical psychology Ph.D. candidate at UMass-Amherst and a smoking cessation specialist in the Boston University Medical Center

Division of Preventive Medicine. For more information about this program please call 738-6673.

If you are going to Ireland, Dublin will be your headquarters for at least a few days of your vacation. It is Ireland's chief port and largest city. It is also the site of the largest single industrial plant, the Guinness Brewery is the world's largest covering forty acres, and has a single vat holding 90,000 gallons of good Irish stout. Just as important will be your visit to Dublin Castle, which was built between 1208 and 1220. It was the nucleus around which the city grew, and from there you can begin to understand this fascinating city.

You will enjoy your trip more when all of your plans are made with the assistance of MCGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE 14 Eaton Avenue, Woburn.

When visiting Britain, don't forget London. Tour the shops and street markets. Visit the museums and galleries. Stroll through the parks and cruise along the river. Dine out in famous restaurants. Relax at the theatre and unwind at the night spots. Call 935-0600. Open Monday-Friday 9-5 Saturdays & evenings by appointment.

Yule concert to end St. Mary's centennial

A Christmas Concert on Sunday, December 12, at 3 p.m. is the final event in St. Mary's celebration of its Centennial. The parish was founded in Winchester in 1876.

The concert will take place in St. Mary's newly renovated church with a collation following in the parish hall.

Bernard Barbeau, professor at New England Conservatory of Music and director of St. Mary's Choir, will direct the performance.

The choir will be augmented by students from the Conservatory with vocal, piano and organ and instrumental accompaniment.

The program includes selections from the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah," carols from European countries sung in German, French, Italian and Spanish, and a medley of familiar carols sung by choir and congregation.

The concert is free, and all townspeople are invited to attend.

Special Music at Unitarian Church

Christmas is a time for music. The music department at the Unitarian Church has prepared Morgan-musiken (morning musics devotions) for the four Sunday services leading to Christmas. On Sunday, Nov. 28, pianist Ellen Stoddard will play music by Schubert. Ms. Stoddard has studied piano, theory, solfège, and composition at Longy School of Music, Cambridge. She has received numerous awards and honors in piano, composition, voice and flute. Ellen Stoddard is active in the Winchester High School music program. She is a member of and performs regularly with the Winchester Music Club. Ms. Stoddard studies piano with Alice Wilkinson at Longy.

Student joins Fellowship

Marietta College freshman Kathy McKenna is a member of the Fisherman Christian Fellowship. The Fellowship is affiliated with the Inter-university Christian Fellowship, a nationwide organization for college students. Through regular prayer meetings, Bible studies, etc., the Fellowship promotes Christian growth in its members. Recently, Kathy was one of 12 Fellowship members who contributed their time to painting the Easter Seals Marietta Headquarters. As a spokesman for the Easter Seals commented, "It was an excellent job...and deeply appreciated."

A 1976 graduate of Winchester High School, Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Patrick McKenna of 49 Ledyard rd.

Quinns visit

Dr. James D. Quinn and Mrs. William J. Enright of St. Joseph, Mo., nephew and niece of Dr. Milton J. Quinn of Winchester, were guests in his home over the weekend. They left Sunday for Durham, N.C. to visit Mrs. Enright's daughter, a student at Duke University. They will then proceed to Lexington, Ky. for a visit with Dr. Milton Quinn's brother.

Obituaries

Giuseppe Michienzi

Giuseppe Michienzi of 124 Swanton St., who came to Winchester from Italy at the age of 19 and has lived here for the past 59 years, died suddenly at his home November 17.

Services were held at the Immaculate Conception Church, of which Mr. Michienzi was a member, last Saturday, with the Rev. George Murray officiating. Burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

Mr. Michienzi was the husband of Maria F. (Puri) Michienzi of Winchester and the father of Vincent S. of Belmont, and Catherine Maule of Girwood, Alaska. He is also survived by a nephew, Vincent Michienzi of Arlington, and nine grandchildren.

For 39 years Mr. Michienzi was a gelatin worker at the J.O. Whitten Company in Winchester. He retired in 1958.

A past president of the Christopher Columbus Society in Winchester, he had been that group's secretary and treasurer until his sudden death. He was also a member of the Columbus Club.

He was born in Italy July 27, 1888 to Vincenzo and Catherine (Provinzano) Michienzi. Funeral arrangements were by the Lane Funeral Home.

Helen MacDonald

Funeral services were held Saturday for Helen J. MacDonald, 76, a lifelong resident of Winchester. She lived at 968 Main St.

Miss MacDonald, daughter of the late Allan and

Catherine (Roberts) MacDonald, was with the New England Telephone Company for 40 years. She was a member of the Catholic Daughters of America, Pioneers, Senior Citizens, Grange of Nantucket, and a volunteer at Cottage Hospital of Nantucket.

Miss MacDonald is survived by a sister, Christine MacDonald, and brothers John and Augustine MacDonald, all of Winchester.

The funeral Mass at Immaculate Conception Church was followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. McLaughlin Funeral Home of Woburn handled the arrangements.

Irving E. Jennings

Private services were held for Irving E. Jennings, 76, who died November 15 at his farm in New Durham, New Hampshire. Mr. Jennings made his home for many years in Winchester and moved to New Hampshire in 1961.

He was a retired manufacturer and president of Litecontrol Corporation of Hanson, Massachusetts.

A World War I Navy veteran, Mr. Jennings also served as president of the Winchester Country Club. He was the first chairman of the Governor's Woburn Regional School Board in Woburn.

Mr. Jennings is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ellen (Cloutman) Jennings; three daughters, Mrs. John W. Taussig Jr., of Amherst and Woburn, Mrs. William B. Maley of Orange, Connecticut, and Mrs. Alice J. Castelli of Madison, Connecticut; also a son, Charles E. Jennings of Lincoln; a brother, Robert O. Jennings of California; 14 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Memorial donations may be made to the New Hampshire Historical Society, 30 Park St., Concord, N.H. 03301.

Ruth S. Kimball

A memorial service was held in St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Barnstable, on Monday for Mrs. Ruth Seabury Kimball, 73, who died November 11 in Hyannis. She was the wife of Dudley F. Kimball, a founding trustee of Brandeis University.

Born in Malden, Mrs. Kimball was a long time resident of Winchester before moving to 35 Stanley way, Centerville, Cape Cod.

Mrs. Kimball was a member of the Brandeis University National Women's Committee since its inception in 1948 and held permanent tenure on the committee's national board.

Her husband served as a trustee of Middlesex University of Waltham and played a key role in the transfer of that institution's charter land and original buildings to Brandeis in 1948.

Mrs. Kimball was an active member of the Winchester and Osterville garden clubs. She also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Frank (Janet) Webber and four grandchildren of Greenwich, Conn.

Contributions in her memory may be made to The Women's Committee Fund, Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass. 02154, or any charity of the contributor's choice.

Bettie Donald set for hectic Christmas

Bettie Donald is having her twentieth Christmas season. She always enjoys the holiday hustle and bustle even though the work is hard and often hectic.

The buying for this time of year begins in the early summer months. Only merchandise of the finest quality and style is chosen at values she knows will excite a discriminating clientele looking for the smart and unusual.

Men at this time of year find Bettie Donald's the answer to their Christmas dilemma and are aided in their gift selections by both Bettie and her very able assistant Maureen Hogan.

The store carries the largest choice of housecoats for miles around — warm robes, light robes, travel robes — and hostess gowns for entertaining. The shop is well-known for its beautiful lingerie made by the finest names in the business. Bettie loves her location in lovely Winchester terrace and the store's attractive display windows are admired by many window shoppers.

Resident wins company award

Thomas Bolivar, a resident of Winchester and an employee of New England Life Insurance Company, Boston, was one of 45 honored at the company's First Annual Insurance Education Awards Dinner October 27.

Bolivar, who is a member of New England Life's Underwriting department, completed Course I of the Life Office Management Association Certificate (LOMA). This is an intensive training program specializing in insurance management.

He was presented the award by New England Life President Edward E. Phillips. New England Life is the nation's 12th largest life insurance company.

the Canal, in place of the current one field running in the opposite direction. "It seems every game we play, the players have to compete with a strong wind off the water. We think the new plans should work out well," said Mr. Marrocco.

Help Sought to aid needy

Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries is seeking volunteers to join its annual "Santa Caravan" in distributing holiday gifts to elderly and lonely people, on December 13.

Mildred Churchill, director of Volunteer Services for Goodwill, announced that 3600 people in 109 nursing homes will be served by the eighteen-year-old program, designed to bring Christmas cheer to forgotten people during the holiday season.

"All of these men and women have lost family and friends, and receive no gifts at all," she said. "We try to make the holidays a little warmer for them. All those who can join us in doing so are more than welcome."

The gift packages contain such items as handknit slipper socks, made by Goodwill volunteers from recycled yarn, soap, powder, tissues and comb.

Interested persons should contact the Goodwill volunteer office at 357-9710.

Averof Restaurant--- atmosphere, good food

It's an escape. It's like walking into another country even though Porter Square Shopping Center is across the street. It's Averof Restaurant in Cambridge.

Averof's is more than a Greek delight—it's a rare find. The atmosphere, with tapestries, plants and paintings all in a Greek motif, welcomes guests from the moment they open the door.

There are few restaurants which still boast linen on the table, waiters who greet you at the door, constant pampering from the staff and prices that are very reasonable for large portions.

Luncheon, served from 11 a.m. till 3 p.m., ranges in price from $1.75 to $2.95. Entrees include shish kabab, baked lamb, pasticchio, omelets and various soups, sandwiches and salads.

Evening meals, served from 6 p.m. on, range in price from $3.95 to $7.50 and include such delicacies as kalamaria, moussaka, grape leaves, kafta kabab and tender beef. There's nightly entertainment in the form of exotic belly dancing, and the fun begins when audience participation starts.

Your hosts Raymond and John invite anyone who has never tried Greek food to taste the delicate, fresh variety of dishes at Averof. Most Greek food is either baked or broiled, and many are similar to Italian dishes. "Greek dishes are basically not hot or spicy," says Raymond. "They enhance your taste buds."

Averof's also caters to groups of any size either within the restaurant or off the premises at reasonable prices.

To top off your meal, the most famous Greek meal—the dessert, is prepared to your liking at Averof. Whether it be fresh baklava, kataif, creamy pudding or karidopeta, only the finest ingredients are used in the preparation of such specialties.

Averof's is located directly across from the Porter Square Shopping Center at 1924 Mass. ave. Plenty of free parking is available in the rear.

The owners and staff of Averof's extend a cordial invitation for everyone—visit from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Saturday. Sunday hours begin at 1 p.m.

SPIRITS OF '76

by DAN BUSA

German wines, it is interesting to note, are produced in the most northerly of all the more important wine-producing regions. The soil is volcanic in origin. It is broken up into a combination of slate and shale which has a heat-retaining quality that keeps the roots warm in the cold nights of late autumn. The wine-growing regions of Germany situated in the southwest have been important to the German wine industry for many centuries ever since the time when Charlemagne was the great power in Europe. If you need help in selecting wines or liquor stop by and see our experienced staff at BUSA LIQUORS. We have many famous brands as well as "Spirit of '76" products, which we handle exclusively. Wines, champagnes, cordials, whiskeys, vodka and gin are packaged under this label. See us at BUSA LIQUORS, Burlington or Lexington, 861-1776 for all your needs. Hours: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 10 p.m.

Linda Waitzman attends conference

Linda Waitzman, a senior at Winchester High School, has been chosen by Eastern Michigan University to attend a conference on student government organized by the United Council of Student Associations.

The purpose of the conference, being held at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, November 6-7, is to draw up standardized procedures for the use of student activity fees. At present these fees, used to sponsor a variety of student activities, from student government to sports, and an important part of the annual cost to students attending colleges and universities, are managed and controlled differently from school to school. Ms. Waitzman was chosen to represent Eastern Michigan University at the conference because of her active participation in student government and sports programs. She is currently a Governor of her dormitory and a member of the field hockey team.

Ms. Waitzman is majoring in special education and minoring in physical education. While her program is designed to prepare her for classroom instruction, her principal career goal is teaching physical education skills to children with special needs.

Linda Waitzman is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Waitzman, 15 Sussex rd.

Montouri awarded

Arthur A. Montouri, of 120 Main st., a veteran special agent in charge for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in New England, received a Special Achievement Award in Washington last week during the Treasury Department's Annual Awards Day ceremonies.

Montouri, 54, who joined ATF 28 years ago, received a sustained superior performance award "for outstanding supervision of 90 criminal investigators with support personnel covering the six New England States and 11 posts of duty." He also received a cash award of $500.

Montouri, who became special agent in charge for New England with headquarters in Boston in February of 1972, was cited for his service from Feb. 25, 1974, to March 24, 1975.

Well known throughout the Bureau, Montouri numbers among his accomplishments the idea for the ATF bureauwide Interstate Theft Reporting Program. He served as coordinator for the program in which interstate carriers were asked to report to ATF the theft of firearms in shipment. The program, which still is active, has been extremely successful.

Chatterbox Club plans Xmas party

The Chatterbox Club of Boston will hold its annual Christmas party Friday, December 3 at the Towne Lynx House in Lynnfield.

Cocktail hour begins at six with dinner served at seven. Chairlady for the function is Rose Gubellini of Medford. Lena DeMimico of Winchester is club president.

Mrs. Cronan in college whos who

Susan Cronan of Winchester is one of 44 seniors from the University of Vermont who have been selected to represent the university in the 1977 edition of "Who's Who Among American Universities, and Colleges."

To be eligible for nomination, the students had to meet several qualifications, including above average academic performance, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, positive contribution on and off campus, service to the university, and promise of future contribution.

Interesting study of Lincoln School youngsters, busily preoccupied in play on the school playground during recess.

NEW PROGRAMS FOR JANUARY

Drama Workshop—Grades 3-9
Roller Skating Grades 3-5
Basketball Clinic Grades 3-5

Winchester Youth Hockey begins winter program

Beginning Sunday, November 28, and running through March, 1977, an instructional youth hockey and game program will be conducted at the USA Rink.

Eligible boys are Winchester residents—age 5 as of January 1, 1976 and not older than 16.

Part I of the program will consist of skating and hockey instruction by Ed Sandford, (ex-Bruin) and Kevin Nolan, which will run several weeks. Part II of the program will consist of supervised games. All boys on all teams will play in every game.

Boys must provide their own skates and equipment and must wear helmets and mouthguards. Goalie equipment will be available. Jerseys will be provided to all boys, which they may keep.

The cost is $65 ($50 allocated to ice time and $15 registration fee). There will be a savings of $5 for the second child and $10 for the third child per family, etc. Checks or money orders should be made out to "Winchester Youth Hockey" and mailed with application to Mr. Kenneth Donaghey, 36 Eaton St., Winchester, Mass. 01890.

All boys should report, ready to skate, to the USA Rink in Winchester per the following schedule:

November 28, 7:30 a.m. ages 5 thru 11, Letters A-L; 8:30 a.m. ages 5 thru 11, Letters M-Z; 9:30 a.m. ages 12 thru 16, Letters A-L; 10:30 a.m. ages 12 thru 16, Letters M-Z.
December 5, 7:30 a.m. ages 12 thru 16, Letters A-L; 8:30 a.m. ages 12 thru 16, Letters M-Z; 9:30 a.m. ages 5 thru 11, Letters A-L; 10:30 a.m. ages 5 thru 11, Letters M-Z.

Fall soccer season winds up, Shamrocks, Patriots winners

The 1976 fall soccer season came to a close with the enthusiasm undampened by the cold winds. The winning Patriots lost 6-3 to a fighting Cardinal team. The Eagles upset the Warriors to take 2nd place away from them, and the Shamrocks rolled on to undisputed winners of the Junior Division.

Junior and Senior All Star games were played on Sunday afternoon, and the two games turned out to be a superb exhibition of good soccer, fine goal tending, good passing and powerful kicks combined with a very clean game.

Because of weather problems we were unable to have the classic game of "Coaches vs. All Star," and this has been rescheduled for Sunday, December 5, at 1 p.m. at MacDonald Field on Loring Avenue. If the weather does not permit the playing of a game on that date, an attempt will be made to play on December 12.

Winchester's Bob Giarrizzo, left, and Steven Tucci made the New England Junior Whalers an all-star hockey team. Steven Tucci is a Whaler center. Bob Giarrizzo is a Whaler goalie and last year competed in the Mini-One-on-One series. Both boys will appear on Rhode Island television, when they play in between some periods of the New England Whalers games. Also, in March, they will travel to Dal Housie, New Brunswick, where they will compete in the Canada Cup Series and the Dal Housie International Tournament.

WHSR-FM to broadcast game tomorrow at 10

WHSR-FM, Winchester High School Radio, 91.9 mhz., will broadcast the Winchester Sachems-Woburn Tanners Thanksgiving Day football game.

The game will be aired starting at 10 a.m. Jack Nolan, Jim Gerard, and Steven Geary will bring you complete coverage of this traditional sporting event.

Senior Service Line telephone hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call 728-2111.

Winter sports practice set

The winter sports program for the Sachem athletes gets under way next week. Track and basketball will get under way on Monday of next week.

Coach Dave Berman's hockey team will practice in two groups. The juniors and seniors will report Monday morning at six and the sophomores Monday afternoon at 3:50 at the Stoneham MDC rink. No boy will be able to take part in more than one of these sessions.

The girls basketball teams will report to new coach Barbara Hollis of Reading with Bette Crowley as assistant coach. Their first practice will be Monday evening.

Most teams will have the benefit of about three full weeks of practice with very few meets or games to be held before the start of the holiday season.

Honor students

Three local residents attending Malden Catholic High School have been named to the honor roll for maintaining an 80 percent or better average in all subjects for the first marking period.

They are Mark Fallon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fallon, 55 Wendell St., and Joseph G. Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walsh. Both are ninth graders.

Senior Brian H. Duffy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Duffy, 19 Dennett Rd. was also named to the honor roll.

Parrell's prognostication...

Winchester faces last year's champ absolute underdog

by John F. Parrell

Back in the early days of September there was a great deal of talk about how great a team Woburn had, how they probably would be in the Super Bowl again, how they didn't figure to lose, and for those who would care to wager on the Winchester game the Tanner proponents would be willing to give 25 points. This faded a bit after the opening game loss to Walpole but that was written off as a "lucky win" which wouldn't take place if the two teams ever met again.

The Sachems lost a heart-breaker in their opening game with Natick as a field goal with eight seconds to play sent them down to defeat in a game that they truly deserved to win. But then came the Burlington game and a 34-30 licking. Winchester had good scoring power but the defense was about the poorest shown by a Sachem eleven in many years.

Meanwhile Woburn continued to roll winning every game in very convincing fashion. However, the scores were not like last year and Steve McCue although playing well did not have the many long breakaways of 1975. The overly enthusiastic Tanner rooters had forgotten to figure that the backs need help from the line and that John Borgeson (220), Walter Bushmick (205), Mark Rae (200), and Steve Giordano (215) are missing from the forward wall from last year's team as well as good two way back John Allen (205). Such talented players aren't easy to replace and the Woburnites missed them more with every passing game.

Winchester kept on losing as their 7-6 lead melted in the last four minutes against Reading and they ended up on the short end of a 20-7 count. Playing at home the following week they gave the powerful Stoneham Spartans a good game as they deadlocked at 6-6 and might well have won the game the way they played offensively.

Going into the second minute of the fourth period trailing by 19-0 the Sachems stormed back against Coach Billy Tighe's Lexington Minutemen to seriously threaten them as they racked up 14 fourth period points and seriously threatened to win the game. Then came their best game of the season as they choked off the Wakefield offense and rolled over the visitors by 34-0. That day they seemed unable to do anything wrong. And still Woburn rolled along serenely.

Winless Belmont was beaten rather easily by 22-0 and a hard fought and interesting battle with the Red Raiders of Melrose found the teams even at 8-8 at the final whistle. The Winchester team had played well in both of these games and might have won both with a nod from Lady Luck.

Here the script changed as a rugged and effective Watertown team upset the Tanners who had previously been undefeated in Middlesex League play. It was a shock, but the Woburn fans figured that now that the pressure of the long league winning streak it would be easy sailing to the title with only so-so Reading and weak Winchester left to play.

Then came the snow, the cold, and then the mud of Saturday November 13 and on such a day almost anything could happen and did. The heavy and slippery football was hard to pass and both Don Allard of the Sachems and Ken Morrison of the Tanners were below par. The footing was also slippery and when the final scores were in Winchester had been beaten by the Watertown Raiders led by their heavy, hard running Fabiano Floiro — but shock of shocks Woburn was beaten 15-0 by Reading.

This threw the whole Middlesex League picture out of focus with Lexington and Watertown joining Woburn in first place. So, Thanksgiving is the day for decision and Woburn must win if it is to stay in the championship race. Belmont appears almost helpless against Watertown and Tom Meyer should direct the Minutemen to victory over Burlington if the Tighmen can check the running of Mike Sachem Co-Captains Jim Covino and Chris Gill.

Crocker.

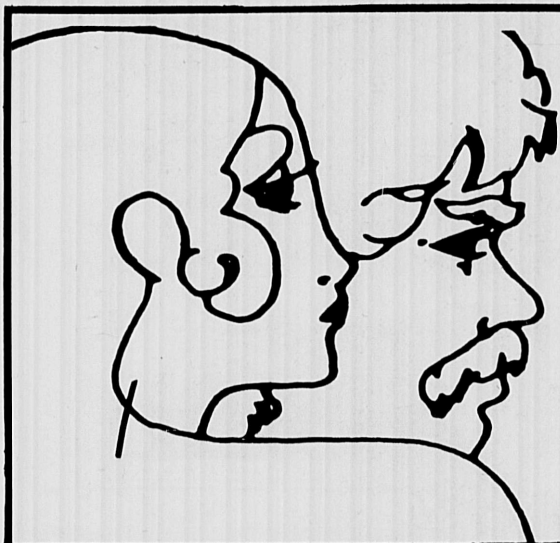

Winchester would like nothing better than to dethrone the Tanners in the process of winning the Turkey Day matchup of the arch rivals. The Sachems have certainly played well enough at times this season to pose a real threat for the Tanners and if they can eliminate a few mistakes and avoid costly penalties they will make it a real ball game.

Can they stop Steve McCue? Yes, if they carry out their defensive assignments they surely can limit his yardage gained. He needs about 140 yards for another 1,000 yard season and Co-captains Jim Covino and Chris Gill and their defensive mates are determined to stymie his efforts. They will also have to hit passer Ken Morrison early and hard to cut down on the effectiveness of the other major Tanner offensive weapon. The other backs are capable, but even as the Sachem offense is centered in a passer and a running back, so is the Woburn attack. Of course either of the lesser backs on either team could come up with an outstanding game, but it looks like Davis and Allard against McCue and Morrison.

So, where does all the foregoing leave us? Woburn is favored by the so called experts (especially in Woburn) to emerge as victor. However, the weather, the breaks and especially the desire of the teams will undoubtedly be factors.

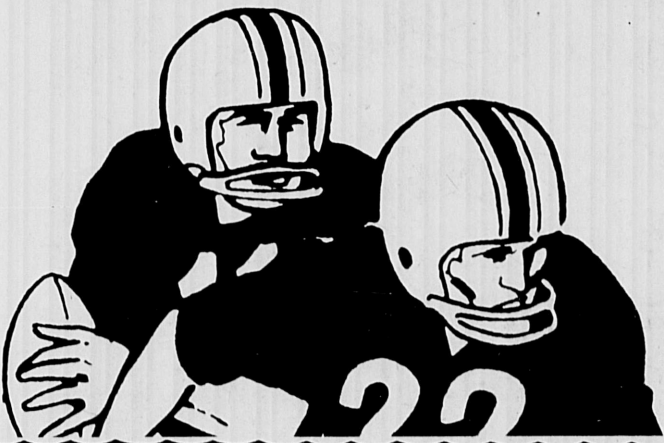

I am going out on a limb with the hope that the Sachems will peak as they did against Wakefield and bring back their first holiday victory in three years over the Tanners. It should be a great game, and may the winner come up with a clean cut victory!

Woburn scribe picks Tanners, but 'anything can happen'

By Mark Merenda
Woburn Daily Times Sports
Editor

WOBURN — I come to you as a turncoat. Born and brought up in Winchester, I now work in Woburn and have been covering the Woburn High football team this season. Now John Parrell wants me to pick a winner in the pages of The Winchester Star. He might as well have asked me for my head. I'm sure I won't be able to show my face in downtown Winchester after my prediction, because I have to call the Tanners the favorites.

The Woburn attack is not complicated. It is based on simplicity and execution, and it has worked well enough this season so that the Tanners come into their final game tied for the league lead.

They are superbly coached by Peter Sullivan and they are all products of the Woburn "system" which was installed by Sullivan when he came to Woburn three years ago.

Steve McCue, Woburn's star running back has something like 860 yards on the ground this year, and he'll be looking for those extra 140 to match last year's thousand yard season. If he can get them against the Sachems that will make it all the sweeter. Other Tanner offensive weapons to look for are QB Ken Morrison, a triple threat who can run, pass, and punt. Against Burlington, he had one boot of 71 yards. Also junior Mark Kinto, tight end George Stone, and fullbacks Dave DelMonico and Charlie McElhaney are worth watching out for.

The Woburn offensive line will be out to control the line of scrimmage where coaches say the game is won or lost. Co-Captain Doug Carnns is one of the best centers in the state and he occasionally doubles as linebacker.

The Tanner defense is equally effective. Defensive captain Dan Gillis is a fine ball-hawk in the secondary, while tackles Drew Crawford and Tony DiFrumolo put pressure on the passer. Sophomore Steve Canon is an extraordinary linebacker who can only get better in coming years.

The Sachems will need an superlative performance from star quarterback Don Allard, considered by many, myself included, to be one of the finest field generals around. A good day might favor the Winchester passing game, while mud and rain might favor the Tanners power running. Winchester will have to pass, and pass a lot, is my guess, and the percentages are against you when you are forced to go to the air.

All such predictions of course must be tempered by the old cliché that Thanksgiving Day games are a second season, and that you can throw the records out the window. Anything can happen when rival meets rival, and upsets are common.

The 1976 Woburn football team

Still, these things seem to run in cycles. A few years back the Sachems dominated the league. Now, we seem to be in the era of Woburn supremacy.

It doesn't look good for the Winchester Sachems come Thanksgiving morning.

Sachems handed their rivals a complete trouncing, 34--0

by John F. Parrell

Thanksgiving Day in 1951 found a situation similar to that of last year except in reverse. Where last year the Tanners were riding high and mighty and bound for the title the game found Coach Henry Knowlton's Winchesterites were undefeated and tied for the Class B title with Gloucester. In both cases the champions romped home well ahead with the final tally in 1951 reading Winchester 34, Woburn 0.

That season the Sachems had very little trouble with any team except for Stoneham whom they downed 13-6. The Tanners also started out like a ball of fire and whipped their first four opponents by a total point statistic of 91-14. But injuries to several key players cost them key operatives like "Slam Bang" Joe Soave, Butch McLaughlin, Paddy McKee, Harold Kerrigan and George Morgan.

Their starting lineup for the holiday clash had only one player who weighed over 165 pounds, three who weighed 140 and three others were a mere 135. Their heaviest back was 140 pounds. The Sachems averaged better than 170 pounds and their quarterback Jost Michelsen tipped the beam at 190.

With such a tremendous edge in weight and experience it was a foregone conclusion that barring a major modern miracle the Tanners wouldn't have a chance, and they didn't. They scrapped hard and held the Knowltonmen to just seven first downs, but three long runs sealed the verdict early in the game as the Sachems took a 14 point lead in the first quarter and were in front all the way.

The first series of downs found

Winchester unable to gain much and their punt went only to their own 40. Woburn took over and Joe Day picked up five yards as the Tanner fans on the west side of Manchester Field set up a veritable din. The followed a long pass from Danny Rosa to Dave Lundquist for a first down at the 14 of the Sachems. Louis Coiro carried to the ten but on the next play a Woburn back lost control of the pigskin and Winchester recovered.

Bob Johnson made 11 for a first down at the 21. On the next play feather footed Jocko Sericka took off and sped 79 yards for the opening score as the Winchester rooters went delirious. Co-captain Dick Errico booted the extra point and Winchester was on its victory course.

Moments later after the Tanner attack stalled Jocko Sericka gathered in a punt and went all the way to pay dirt. However, one of the Sachems was called for clipping Woburn moved into Winchester territory when Joe Day recovered a fumble but a few plays later Jim Griffin got the ball back for the Sachems on a pass interception at his own five.

Quarterback Michelsen then used Sericka, Griffin and Johnson to move the ball for three first downs to the Winchester 45. Then Jim Griffin broke away and shook off at least four tacklers as he raced 55 yards for the score. Errico once again split the uprights and the Sachem lead was now 14-0.

The Tanners moved into Winchester territory twice before the half but were stymied as they fumbled on one series and Bob Johnson killed off a major threat with a pass interception in the end zone.

Down by two touchdowns the Tanners gambled in an effort to make short yardage in their own territory and the Sachems took the ball. Four plays later Winchester had its third touchdown as burly Jost Michelsen skirted left end to cross the last white stripe. Co-captain Errico then booted his third extra point for a 21-0 lead for Winchester.

With a solid three touchdown lead Coach Knowlton replaced his starters with the reserves. This group tallied the fourth of the Sachem scores but had to do it twice before it was placed on the score board. Paul McGowan grabbed a pass for an apparent score but a holding penalty nullified it. After a punt into the end zone Woburn started a short drive which died on a fumble with Winchester recovering near the 30. Reserve signal caller Sid Thompson gave the Sachems six more points as he heaved a long pass to end Frank Carlton. This time the point after was spoiled as the snap from center was off its mark. It was now Winchester 27, Woburn 0.

After the ensuing kickoff Louie Coiro quick kicked with the ball travelling from his own 30 to the Winchester six. Bob Varney covered a Winchester fumble at the 18. The Sachem varsity group took the field in an effort to protect the shutout. A five yard penalty for delaying the game, and gains of two by Joe Day and Danny Rosa found Woburn just a foot short of a first down. They hit the line hard but couldn't get an inch against the powerful defensive efforts of the Sachems.

The Winchester forces just couldn't be satisfied without one more score and they got it in half a dozen plays. The touchdown came on one of the prettiest plays of the season as Co-captain Dick Errico broke through the center on a quick opener and dodged his way through a broken field for 60 yards. He put the frosting on the cake with another placement for a 34-0 victory over the arch rival Tanners, an undefeated season for Winchester, the co-championship of Class B, and an enjoyable Turkey Day feast for all loyal Sachem rooters.

Sachems get best of care

The Winchester football team has had excellent care during the entire season with both Dr. A.J. Guarente and Trainer Frank Provinzano catering to their every need. Fortunately there have been comparatively few injuries, but even the slightest thing which might require more constant medical care has been x-rayed.

For Dr. Guarente it has meant breaking a lifetime of devotion to Boston College's football team, but he has been so impressed by the desire of the Sachems that he hasn't missed one minute of the nine game schedule to date. Of course he does have his radio along to listen to the fortunes of the Eagles but his body and his heart are right on the sidelines for Winchester.

"Mr P" as Frank Provinzano is better known, ministers to the less serious needs of the players and supervises hydrotherapy, bandaging, minor equipment repairs and dispenses literally miles of adhesive tape.

Frank was a talented grid player during his own days at Winchester High and he offers the players advice about their injuries based on his own experience during his playing years. He always insists that any doubtful case should be seen either by the team physician or be seen by other doctors or treated at the hospital.

With such good care the Sachems have had only a very few major injuries. Early season troubles of John Della Grotte and Gerry DiBlasi and the more recent one to Tom Murray have been the principal ones and the players have been kept out of action until they have fully recovered.

The only place you can get a bargain on an Oriental Rug is in Bachtari — but Koko Boodakian can give you something better

No two Orientals are exactly alike. One 9 by 12 foot Kerman might cost you $1,500, another $4,000. That makes it difficult to shop by price. In fact, it's almost impossible to find a bargain unless you travel deep into the heart of Persia.

But, Koko Boodakian can give you something better. We can sell you an Oriental that will be a fine investment. Properly taken care of, most Orientals will appreciate in value. But you have to know exactly what you're buying and who you're buying from. We've been in business here in Winchester for over 38 years. We have a complete selection of fine Orientals for you to choose from. We even clean the rugs we sell. So, you see, we'd both lose if we tried to sell you a "bargain."
